RUFUS GEORGE FREDERICK CANDAGE

By EDWARD WILD BAKER, A.B., of Brookline, Mass.

RUFUS GEORGE FREDERICK CANDAGE, a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society from 1876, died at the home of his daughter in Gleasondale, in the town of Stow, Mass., 19 June 1912, at the age of 85 years and 10 months. He was born at Blue Hill, Hancock County, Me., 28 July 1826, the son of Samuel Roundy and Phebe Ware (Parker) Candage.

The name Candage was originally written Cavendish, which in the lapse of years became Candish and Candage. All of this name are believed to be descendants of the early Cavendishes, of good old English blood. Among the early settlers of Massachusetts was John Candage, or Candish, a shipwright and a landowner at Charlestown about 1670, and the name in all three forms is found in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries in records pertaining to several Essex County towns.

In 1766 James Candage and his wife Elizabeth, who are said to have come from Beverly, Mass., took up their residence at Blue Hill, Me., where white men had formed a permanent settlement only a few years earlier. They had three sons and three daughters, of whom all except the youngest daughter were born before the parents migrated to Blue Hill. Rev. Jonathan Fisher, the first settled minister at Blue Hill, wrote in his record about this James Candage: "His name was originally spelled Cavendish, but custom has changed it to Candage; he was one of the first settlers." James Candage died in 1788, his widow surviving until 1809. Their eldest child, James Candage, Jr., who was born 9 May 1753 and died 12 January 1819, married, 13 April 1775, Hannah Roundy, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Rea) Roundy, who was born at Beverly 3 August 1753 and lived to be over 97 years of age, dying 12 March 1851. John Roundy, together with Joseph Wood of Beverly, had founded the settlement in what is now the town of Blue Hill, 7 April 1762. To James, Jr., and Hannah (Roundy) Candage eight children were born. Their third child, Samuel Roundy, born 15 January 1781, married, 29 February 1816, the widow Phebe Ware (Parker)

Walker, who was born 29 November 1787, daughter of Simeon and Mary (Perkins) Parker. Her grandfather, Hon. Oliver Parker of Castine, Me., born at Worcester, Mass., about 1738, was from about 1800 to 1815 a judge of the Court of Common Pleas. Samuel Roundy and Phebe Warc (Parker) Candage were the parents of twelve children. Two sons and three daughters died in infancy, but seven sons grew to manhood and became shipmasters in the merchant service. The father died 23 December 1852, and the mother 3 October 1850.

Rufus George Frederick Candage was the seventh child and the sixth son in this family, and outlived his last surviving brother by a third of a century. His boyhood was spent on his father's farm, where his opportunities for education were limited to a few months' schooling in summer and winter and two terms in the Blue Hill Academy. At the age of eighteen he followed the example of his father and older brothers by taking up a seafaring life, sailing at first in vessels engaged in the coasting trade and later going on voyages to the West Indies and to European ports. When only twenty-four years old, he became master of the brig Equator, built for him by citizens of Blue Hill, and sailed in her from Boston to Valparaiso, Chile, his first "long" voyage. Later he was master of the ship Jamestown of New York and of the ships Electric Spark and National Eagle of Boston. During his twenty-three years of life as a sailor he doubled Cape Horn thirteen times, and sailed around the world three times, journeying in all more than 300,000 miles along the pathways of the sea. In 1867 he retired, and settled in Brookline, Mass., which continued to be his legal residence even after his removal to Glensdale in 1909.

Capt. Candage was connected with many fraternal, business, historical, and literary organizations, and held various positions of honor and trust. He was prominent in Masonic circles, and in the Boston Marine Society, which he joined in 1867, he held in succession the positions of secretary, vice-president, and president, and was a member of the board of trustees. In 1868 he was appointed marine inspector for the Record of American and Foreign Shipping, and in the same year he was appointed marine inspector by the Boston Board of Marine Underwriters, holding that office for ten years. In December 1882 he was appointed by the Bureau Veritas of Paris surveyor for the district of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. He was treasurer and, in 1873, president of the Boston Fire Brick and Clay Retort Manufacturing Company, and also, in 1881, president of the Boston Terra Cotta Company and of the Massachusetts Safety Fund Association. For seven years he was a director of the Franklin Fire Insurance Company of Boston, and he was a trustee of the Home Savings Bank. For twenty years he was to be found almost daily at his office in the old Merchants' Exchange Building, actively engaged in insurance and marine affairs.

In politics and in all that concerned public improvements and the general welfare of the community Capt. Candage showed a lively interest. For eight years he was chairman of the Republican Town Committee of Brookline, he was a member of the Republican State Central Committee from the second Norfolk district, and he belonged to several political clubs. Very frequently his fellow-townsmen called upon him to serve as moderator at the Brookline town-meetings. In March 1884 he was elected one of the assessors of Brookline, and served in that capacity for twenty-six years, during sixteen of which he was chairman of the Board. In 1880-1882 he was one of the selectmen of Brookline, and in 1882 and 1883 he represented the town in the General Court, being a member of the Committee on Harbors and Public Lands as well as of the Committee on Rules. In 1871 he was elected to the Brookline School Committee for five years, during three of which he was chairman, and for more than forty-one years he served as a trustee of the Brookline Public Library, being also treasurer of that institution between 1880 and 1883.

In historical and genealogical research and in literary work Capt. Candage took great delight, especially in his later years. He read much, and enjoyed social gatherings at which discussion of books found an appropriate place. In the New England Historic Genealogical Society he was a member of the Council for three years, 1904, 1905, 1906, and of the Committee on Epitaphs for the four years 1904-1907. He belonged also to the Bostonian Society, the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Bunker Hill Monument Association, and the Blue Hill (Me.) Historical Society, and was a corresponding member of the Maine Historical Society. In 1901 he was the principal organizer of the Brookline Historical Society, serving as its president for eight years and then receiving the title of president emeritus. He was also a member of the Brookline Thursday Club. He was the author of two volumes of verse, Gathered Autumn Leaves and More Gathered Autumn Leaves, but his historical writings usually appeared in the publications of the various societies with which he was connected.*

His religious affiliations were with the Baptist Church, and at various times he held office in that organization.

Capt. Candage's first wife, whom he married in Boston, 1 May 1853, was Elizabeth Augusta, daughter of Elijah, Jr., and Mary (Richards) Corey of Brookline. She was born 17 January 1829, and died 18 November 1871. He married secondly, 22 May 1873, Ella Maria, daughter of Benjamin and Sarah K. (Hall) White of Revere, Mass., who survives him. His six children, all by his second wife, are: George Frederick; Ella Augusta, wife of Watson * Capt. Candage contributed to the Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 4, pp. 129-137 (January, 1889), a brief genealogy of the Cavendish, Candish, or Candage family, from which most of the genealogical statements in this memoir have been taken. This genealogy was reprinted in pamphlet form at Bangor, Me., in 1889. See also Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 5, pp. 182-183.

S. Dolliver of Roxbury; Phebe Teresa, wife of William L. Raymond of Wayland; Robert Brooks of Seattle, Wash.; Sarah Hall, who died in infancy; Sarah Caroline, wife of Edward Thompson of Brookline and Gleasondale.

Capt. Candage was for many years a familiar figure on the streets of Brookline, particularly in the early morning, when he lingered on the sidewalk to greet his many friends. His tastes were so varied and his interest in every one so genuine that he touched others at many points. His life in a metropolitan suburb and his literary pursuits never banished the bluff but genial greeting of a sea-captain. Quick and generous with his sympathy, he could be gentle to a marked degree in dealing with those less fortunate than himself. His popularity was a natural outcome of his personal qualities, and his death removed him from a large circle of friends in every walk of life.

OLD BOSTON FAMILIES

THE DE BLOIS FAMILY

By Rev. ARTHUR WENTWORTH HAMILTON EATON, D.C.L., of New York City

THE founders of the three American branches of the De Blois family were Stephen<sup>2</sup> De Blois, who was born at Oxford, England, 24 July 1699 (vide infra, 2), and the two brothers Stephen,<sup>3</sup> Jr., and George<sup>3</sup> De Blois, who were born at Oxford in 1735 and 1740 respectively, sons of George,<sup>2</sup> who was born at Oxford in 1710. (Vide infra, 3, 6, and 7.) Stephen<sup>2</sup> lived first in New York, and then permanently in Boston; Stephen,<sup>3</sup> Jr., lived finally at Newport, R. I.; and George,<sup>3</sup> commonly called "George, Sr.," lived first at Salem, Mass., and then at Halifax, Nova Scotia. With Stephen,<sup>3</sup> Jr., at Newport, lived also his sister Mary ("Polly"), who was born about 1743, and died unmarried at Newport, 11 Dec. 1818, aged 75. In America the name of the family has almost without exception been spelled either Deblois or De Blois, though in the earliest mention of Stephen De Blois in the records of King's Chapel his name is given as Dublois. In the entry which he made in his Bible, as also in signing as a witness Governor Burnet's will and signing his own will, Stephen spelled his name clearly Deblois, and to this spelling many of his descendants have adhered. The name of his second son Stephen spelled Lewis, not Louis, though it is probable that the first Oxford ancestor of the family when he came to England spelled his name in the continental way. The ancient family Bible of Stephen De Blois is a treasured possession of Dr. Thomas Amory De Blois of Boston.

1. LOUIS<sup>1</sup> DE BLOIS, or LEWIS DE BLOIS, of Oxford, England, according to De Blois family tradition came to England as a Huguenot refugee as early as 1688, and was in King William's forces at the Battle of the Boyne in 1690. Beyond this tradition, which has not been verified, nothing whatever is known of his origin, except that it was undoubtedly French. Records of St. Clement's Parish, Oxford, state that his first wife, MARTHA, was buried at Oxford 24 June 1698, having borne her husband five children. The name of the second wife is not known, nor is it known when she died, but she bore her husband seven children. Louis de Blois was buried at Oxford in June 1739.

Children by first wife:

- i. MARY,<sup>2</sup> bapt. 25 Oct. 1688.
- ii. WILLIAM, bapt. 17 Feb. 1689/90.
- iii. ABRAHAM.
- iv. LEWIS.
- v. CONSTANCE, bapt. 22 June 1698.

Children by second wife:

- vi. STEPHEN, b. 24 July 1699.
- vii. FRANCIS.
- viii. SAMUEL, bapt. 9 July 1704; d. 1799.
- ix. SECUNDUS.
- x. LEZEE.
- xi. GEORGE, b. 1710.
- xii. JANE.

2. STEPHEN<sup>2</sup> DE BLOIS (Louis<sup>1</sup>), born at Oxford 24 July 1699, and baptized in St. Clement's Parish 21 July 1700, came to New York in Sept. 1720 in the ship Seahorse, commanded by Capt. Philip Dumaresq, in the retinue of Governor William Burnet. He married in New York, 16 Feb. 1721, ANN FURLEY, who was also in the household of Burnet and had come in the same ship with her future husband. Within the precincts of Fort George at New York, where Governor Burnet kept his stately court, their three children were born. Governor Burnet's removal to Massachusetts in July 1728 undoubtedly caused the transfer of the family to Boston, where Stephen De Blois connected himself, as did his patron the Governor, with the parish of King's Chapel. The earliest written record thus far found of Stephen De Blois is his signature as a witness to the will of Governor Burnet in New York in 1727, and the next is a vote of the vestry of King's Chapel on Easter Monday, 26 Mar. 1733, "That Mr Dublois be Organist for the year ensuing, at Forty pounds Salary." In the ledger of King's Chapel, also, is the following entry: "1735 July 2. To Mr Step<sup>a</sup> Dublois, for 1 qu<sup>r</sup> Sallery to 25th June 10.00.00." It was voted, 30 Mar. 1741, by the vestry of the Chapel that "Stephen De Blois, Organist," should receive "y<sup>e</sup> Same Sallery as last year, p £50." On 11 Apr. 1748, "Steph<sup>a</sup> Deblois, Orgainist," is said to have been paid "in full of his year's Sallery now due 35.00.00." (Annals of King's Chapel, vol. 1, pp. 421, 524, and vol. 2, p. 102.)* The first mention found of Stephen De Blois in property records is in Mar. 1736, when he takes a mortgage from Michael Asher, a tobacco and snuff manufacturer, on property situated at Chambers and Lynde Streets, including the snuff-mill and the stock of tobacco and manufactured snuff which it contains.

From the register of King's Chapel it appears that Mrs. Ann (Furley) De Blois died 4 July 1762, aged 75, her funeral being held three days later.

Stephen De Blois's will, dated 10 Aug. 1777 and proved 26 June 1778, mentions his sons Gilbert and Lewis; his daughter Sarah Wallis and her husband William Wait Wallis; the children, William, Elizabeth, Lewis, Francis, John, and Stephen, of his son Gilbert; the children, George, Sarah, Lewis, and Gilbert, of his son Lewis; his daughter Sarah Wallis's daughter Sarah; and his brother George in Oxford, and his sister Twycroft, presumably also in Oxford, both of whom had children. At the time of the making of his will both his sons were refugees in England, and he pathetically mentions the improbability of his ever seeing them again. In their absence he appoints his nephew Stephen De Blois of Newport, R. I., Mr. John Timmins of Boston, merchant, his son-in-law William Wait Wallis, and his daughter Sarah Wallis as his executors. If his sons, however, return before his estate is settled, he prescribes that they also shall be added to the list.* He and his wife are probably buried under King's Chapel in the De Blois tomb (tomb No. 11), which was built and owned jointly by his sons Gilbert and Lewis.

Children:

- i. SARAH,<sup>3</sup> b. 22 Apr. 1723; m. at Boston 28 Apr. 1743 WILLIAM WAIT WALLIS, son of Thomas and Grace (Wait), b. 14 Jan. 1721. She had children, one of whom, Ann, d. 27 Aug. 1748, aged 4 yrs., 4 mos., and 1 day, and another, Sarah, was living in 1777.
  - ii. GILBERT, b. 15 Mar. 1725.
  - iii. LEWIS, b. 9 Sept. 1727.
3. GEORGE<sup>2</sup> DE BLOIS (Louis<sup>1</sup>), born at Oxford in 1710, married ELIZABETH ———, who died at Oxford 17 Aug. 1780, aged 77. He died at Oxford in 1799. How many children he had is not known; but there were three who came to America, and there was also an Elizabeth who lived at Oxford and died there unmarried.
- Children, born at Oxford:
- i. STEPHEN,<sup>3</sup> b. 1735.
  - ii. GEORGE, called "Sr.," b. 6 Mar. 1739/40.
  - iii. MARY, b. abt. 1743; lived at Newport, R. I., with her brother Stephen; d. unm. 11 Dec. 1818, aged 75. She is buried in Trinity Churchyard, where her inscription may still be seen.
  - iv. ELIZABETH, lived and d. at Oxford.

*The will of Stephen De Blois seems to be in his own, a strong, clear, English handwriting, and is signed "Stephen Deblois," and endorsed: "The last will of me, Stephen Deblois. Not to be open'd till after my Burial." It begins: "I Stephen Deblois of Boston in the County of Suffolk and province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, Gentleman." He divides his silver plate among his three children. The name of his nephew Stephen of Newport he spells as he does his own name, "Deblois."

1725, between five and six o'clock at night, was undoubtedly named for Gilbert Burnet, the Governor's son. He married in Boston, 17 Feb. 1749, ANN COFFIN, fifth child of William and Ann (Holmes), who was born 15 Dec. 1730. Mrs. De Blois was a sister of Nathaniel Coffin, father of Admiral Sir Isaac Coffin, Bart., and also of Elizabeth Coffin, wife of Thomas Amory of Boston. Surviving her husband, she made her will 18 June 1807, and died in Dec. 1808.

Of the apprenticeship of Gilbert De Blois nothing is known, but in early manhood he became a successful importer of hardware and other foreign goods, for many years advertising conspicuously in the Boston newspapers. In 1756 his chief place of business was at the "Sign of the Crown and Comb," near the prison, in Queen Street; then for some years he had his warehouse at the head of Green's Wharf. In 1764, however, he abandoned the latter stand for a store at the lower end of King Street, on the south side, "adjoining Mr. James Apthorp's." During the smallpox epidemic in this same year he removed part of his large stock of hardware, groceries, and liquors to Weston, where he had "a commodious shop and store adjoining the house of Mr. Josiah Smith, inn holder (on the great road to Worcester), at the Sign of the Half-Moon, near the Meeting House." (Post Boy and Advertiser, March 19, 1764.) In 1773 he had a shop opposite School Street, near the late Rev. Dr. Sewall's meeting-house. Last of all he had a shop at No. 1 Corahill.

His latest dwelling-house was on Tremont Street, at the north corner of Bromfield Street, the whole property having been purchased by him in Jan. 1774 from Mr. John Timmins. With its fine garden about it, the house stood until it was burned, shortly before Aug. 1840, the property passing then by sale to Mr. Charles H. Eldredge. In 1865 Horticultural Hall was built on the site of the ancient house. In the Revolution this valuable property was confiscated, but Mrs. De Blois was soon afterwards permitted to buy it back. There this lady lived, and there her daughter, "Miss Betsey," also lived, probably until the house was burned.

Gilbert De Blois planted the so-called "Paddock elms" in front of the Granary Burying-Ground, buying them from Mr. James Smith, the wealthy sugar-baker and a warden of King's Chapel in 1722, who had imported them from England and placed them in his nursery at Brush Hill, Milton. In return for the trees he promised to name and did name a son for James Smith. (Letters of James Murray, Loyalist, Boston, 1901.)

Gilbert and his brother Lewis De Blois petitioned, 15 May 1754, for the widening of Queen (Court) Street, because they had bought a piece of land at the corner of Hanover and Queen Streets, two or three years before, and had since built a brick house there. They had given some of their own land to widen Hanover Street. (Boston Records, vol. 14, pp. 258, 261.) The building afterwards long known as "Concert Hall" was conveyed, 30 Sept. 1754, by Gilbert and Lewis De Blois, braziers, to Stephen De Blois, their father, for £2000 lawful money. In 1769 this property was sold by Stephen De Blois to William Turner, gentleman, for £1000 sterling, Turner at the same time mortgaging it to De Blois. It afterwards passed to the Amory family.* (Drake, History and Antiquities of Boston, pp. 641, 642.) Until the Revolution Gilbert De Blois's name appears in many records of transfer of real estate in Boston.

In 1774 he was an addresser of Hutchinson and in 1775 of Gage, being called a "shop-keeper in Cornhill." In Mar. 1776, with a family of four, he went to Halifax with Howe's fleet, and from there, probably in May, he sailed for England with other Loyalists. In 1778 he was proscribed and banished as an enemy of the state. In 1779, as one of a group of expatriated Loyalists in London, he addressed the King. Whether his wife Ann left Boston with him for Halifax is not known, but if she did she soon returned, and until her death she retained the oversight of her husband's business in Boston. In 1789 Gilbert De Blois revisited Boston for the marriage of his son Lewis with Ruth Hooper Dalton, and also, no doubt, to make his will, which bears date 3 June 1789, and was proved in Boston 28 Feb. 1792.

He returned to England, probably in the late autumn of 1789, and died at Peckham, a suburb of London, 27 Nov. 1791, aged 65. He was probably buried in London. The notice of his death in the Gentleman's Magazine, vol. 61, part 2, p. 1161, describes him as "Mr. Gilbert De Blois, late of Boston, New England, merchant."

He first appointed as executors of his will Oliver Smith, George De Blois of Boston, and Mr. Lewis De Blois, his brother, of London. But 11 Nov. 1789 he substituted for these his sons Lewis of New York and Stephen of Portland. In his will he mentions his wife Ann; his children Gilbert, William, Elizabeth, Lewis, Stephen, and James Smith; his nephew George, "of Boston"; and his brother Lewis, in London. Among his bequests were his pews in King's Chapel and Trinity Church. The agent appointed by the court, 29 Jan. 1779, to care for his estate, because of his absence in England, was Dr. Thomas Bulfinch, the well-known physician, who performed similar service for many other expatriated Loyalists, his old friends and fellow-worshippers at King's Chapel.

Gilbert De Blois was long one of the most prominent supporters of King's Chapel, his family from their first coming to Boston having worshipped in this church. For many years, until his death, he owned pews Nos. 20 and 72, and he owned two pews in Trinity Church. He was a vestryman of King's Chapel from 1763 to 1776, and a warden from 1769 to 1775. In his portrait by Copley, which was painted in London after the Revolution, he is represented as "sitting partly in profile, dressed in a brown coat, with a white wig. His right hand rests upon a table before him, holding a pen, and over his head is a crimson curtain, with sky in the background. It is a fine specimen of Copley's latest manner." (Perkins, Works of John Singleton Copley, p. 51.) This portrait was bequeathed to his * Concert Hall, a writer for a newspaper has stated, "was enlarged by Mr. Amory. The front hall, on the second story, was 60 by 30 feet; it was admired for its correct proportions and the richness of its architecture. In 1817 it was not only the best, but the largest, hall in Boston. The entrance was on Pemberton Hill, now Court Street. Its basement, on Hanover Street, was occupied by Peter Brigham, oysterman, who opened and sold fourteen oysters for fourpence, half-penny (6½ cents), that being a Spanish coin, the only silver money of that day. From this humble occupation and by prudence in affairs he became owner of Concert Hall, and laid the foundation of his large fortune, the major part of which he bequeathed to the poor of Boston."

son Lewis, and from him it passed to Lewis's daughter Charlotte, after whose death it was sold to Mrs. Augustus Thorndike Perkins.*

The baptisms of the children of Gilbert and Ann (Coffin) De Blois, except Stephen, are recorded in the register of King's Chapel. Stephen's baptism is found in the register of Trinity Church.

- vii. ELIZABETH, b. 16 Aug. 1761; d. unkm. at Roxbury 27 Oct. 1843; bur. in the family tomb in King's Chapel. "Miss Betsey" De Blois has passed into history as one of Boston's noted eighteenth-century belles. In her youth she was wooed by "the altogether unexceptionable" Mr. Martin Brimmer, but her mother disapproved of the match, and just as the wedding ceremony was about to be performed, entered the church (perhaps King's Chapel) and forbade the marriage. The town record of Boston marriages has this significant entry: "Mr. Martin Brimmer and Mrs. Elizabeth De Blois (forbid), July 24, 1777." In the REGISTER, vol. 11, pp. 75, 76, the story of the tragical ending of this romantic love-match is interestingly told, and a letter from Benedict Arnold to Mrs. Knox, wife of General Knox, is also given, in which, under date of 4 Mar. 1777, Arnold incloses a missive to "the heavenly Miss Deblois," with whom he also was evidently much in love. This letter from Arnold to Mrs. Knox is also printed in the REGISTER, vol. 26, p. 201. In her grandfather's will, as we have seen, Elizabeth De Blois's name occurs. It was placed there, however, not when the will was written, but in the early part of the succeeding year, 1778. In this insertion, which is made above the original line in the will, immediately after the name Elizabeth appears the word "Reconcil'd," and we have here, no doubt, unexpected testimony to the family's displeasure at the young lady's determination to become Mr. Brimmer's wife. When the match was finally given up, her family became reconciled to her and she found her proper place in her grandfather's will. Miss De Blois inherited almost all her mother's property, including the house on Tremont Street, and apparently lived there in "single-blessedness and high respectability" until well on towards 1840, when she removed to Roxbury. She is said to have remained almost to the last "a straight, tall, elegant woman." Her will, dated 27 Dec. 1830, is recorded at Dedham.

* A copy of this Copley portrait, made early, and other interesting portraits of his De Blois and Amory ancestors, besides a valuable painting of his uncle Thomas Amory De Blois, LL.D., of Portland, are in the possession of Dr. Thomas Amory De Blois of Boston. Dr. De Blois has also many letters written by members of the De Blois family in the earlier generations.

5. LEWIS<sup>3</sup> DE BLOIS (Stephen,<sup>2</sup> Louis<sup>1</sup>), born in New York 9 Sept. 1727, became like his brother Gilbert a successful importer of and dealer in hardware and other foreign goods in Boston. His place of business in 1756 and 1757 was at the "Sign of the Golden Eagle" in Dock Square, but in July 1763 it was at the foot of King Street. He announces, 24 Oct. 1763, that he has removed his stock of goods from King Street to his "late dwelling house on Dock Square." He announces also, 25 July 1763, that he intends to sail for England early in the next spring, and he wishes all persons indebted to him to settle their accounts. At this time he advertises for sale "a curious toned harpsicord just imported from London," which "is esteemed the master piece of the famous Falconer." He also advertises for church use an organ made by Mr. Thomas Johnston of Boston, formerly used in the Concert Hall. He calls for lumber, codfish, and mackerel. In 1774, when he becomes a "protester and addresser," he is called "Shopkeeper" in Dock Square. (Mass. Hist. Soc. Proceedings, Vol. 11, p. 392.) In Mar. 1776, with a family of two, he went with Howe's fleet to Halifax, from there, very likely in May, sailing with his brother Gilbert and other Loyalists for England. (Mass. Hist. Soc. Proceedings, vol. 18, p. 266.) With his brother he was proscribed and banished in 1778. He was a vestryman of King's Chapel from 1763 to 1776. In 1754 he exchanged his pew, No. 68, in the church with Samuel Withered for pew No. 66.

Lewis De Blois married first, in Boston, 4 Sept. 1748 (Rev. Timothy Cutler, D.D., officiating), ELIZABETH JENKINS, daughter of Robert and Elizabeth (Goddard), who was born 16 Aug. 1730 and died 16 or 17 June 1767. He married secondly, 25 Dec. 1770, ELIZABETH DEBUKE, who died in England 23 Nov. 1799, aged 74. He died in England 9 Feb. 1799, and in the Gentleman's Magazine, vol. 69, part 1, p. 173, appeared the following notice: "Very suddenly at his apartments in Holborn, after being out on that day, Mr. Lewis Deblois, late merchant in Boston, North America." He was probably buried in London. Administration of his estate was granted in Boston, 9 Sept. 1800, to his eldest son George.

Children by first wife :

12. i. GEORGE,<sup>4</sup> called "Jr.," b. 27 Oct. 1750.
  - ii. SARAH, b. 29 Dec. 1753; m. 25 Dec. 1771, in King's Chapel Parish, her father's first cousin, GEORGE<sup>3</sup> DE BLOIS, called "Sr.," b. at Oxford 6 Mar. 1739/40, founder of the Halifax, Nova Scotia, branch of the family. (Vide infra, 7.)
  13. iii. LEWIS, b. 10 Apr. 1762.
  - iv. GILBERT, b. 20 Dec. 1763; d. at Providence, R. I., June 1783, probably without issue.
6. STEPHEN<sup>3</sup> DE BLOIS, JR. (George,<sup>2</sup> Louis<sup>1</sup>), born at Oxford in 1735, came, it is said, in a warship to Newport, R. I., at the age of thirteen, and decided, like his brother George, to make New England his home. On the earliest stages of his business career no light is thrown; but in Sept. 1757 "Wickham and De Blois"* advertise in the Boston Gazette, at the "Sign of the Golden Eagle, opposite to Dr. Tweedy's," and at their store "opposite to Col. Malbone's brick house," a large stock of hardware, India goods, etc. In May 1763

* The name of this Newport firm was later "De Blois and Wickham."

Stephen De Blois, Jr., advertises a similar, though larger stock at his shop at the "Sign of the Golden Eagle," Dock Square, Boston, George De Blois, his brother, also announcing in the same advertisement a mixed stock of hardware, spices, silks, threads, canvas, hour-glasses, coffee-mills, etc., at his shop in Salem. (Boston Gazette, May 9, 1763.) It will thus be seen that Stephen, Jr.'s, place of business in Boston at this time was the same as that of his cousin Lewis, but what business connection there was between the two does not appear. In the News Letter of February 23 and March 15, 1764, Stephen, Jr., informs the public that he has opened a store in Dedham, at the house of Dr. Nathaniel Ames (the almanac-maker), where he has a large stock of hardware. He will take in exchange for new goods old pewter and brass. This temporary removal, like that of his cousin Gilbert to Weston at the same time, was made necessary by the epidemic of smallpox raging in Boston. How soon after this Stephen, Jr., removed permanently to Newport, R. I., is not known, but the Biographical Cyclopaedia of R. I., part 1, p. 114, says that in Newport he was first an importer of hardware, then a shipping merchant and ship-owner, altogether one of the most considerable merchants in the town.

In the Revolution he was a Tory, and for a while he left Newport for New York; but he resettled there in Aug. 1784, and in 1790 his household is described as consisting of one male over 16, two males under 16, six white females, and two slaves. His dwelling-house was on Thames Street, "opposite the old Ruggles house," and there he died, 15 Feb. 1805, in his 70th year. He was a vestryman of Trinity Parish, Newport, and is buried in Trinity Churchyard. The inscription on his tombstone calls him a "respectable citizen and merchant of Newport," and the Biographical Cyclopaedia says that he was generous, enterprising, public-spirited, and foremost in every movement for the prosperity and welfare of the town.

He married first,* at Newport, 9 Dec. 1767, REBECCA WICKHAM; and secondly, 15 Mar. 1779, JANE or JENNY BROWN, who died 8 July 1829, aged 78, and whose inscription may be read in Trinity Churchyard.

* This is believed to have been his first marriage.

George De Blois lived at Salem, but seems to have had business connections with his relatives Gilbert, Lewis, and Stephen De Blois, and was in business with George De Blois, Jr. Like his cousins in Boston he was an ardent Tory, and in 1774 signed addresses to Hutchinson and Gage. In Apr. 1775 he was obliged to flee from Salem, leaving behind him property valued at £438. 11. 5½, of which, however, he recovered a good deal. (Essex Institute Historical Collections, vol. 43, p. 302.) When he saw that it was necessary to leave Salem, he first planned to go to Boston, but this plan he found impracticable, and he therefore embarked for Halifax, 29 Apr. 1775, in the brig Minerva, with his own family, a Mrs. Cotton and her family, Dr. John Prince, and Mr. James Grant. He left Halifax, 14 June 1777, in the transport Catherine, for New York, where he staid for three years, until 28 July 1781, when he left New York harbor on the Britannic for Halifax, sailing 1 Aug. from Sandy Hook. He reached Halifax again 14 Aug. 1781, and establishing a commission business lived there, perhaps without again visiting the United States, until 1799. In the latter year, in very poor health, and accompanied by his daughter Sarah, he left Halifax, 4 May, in the schooner Mary for Boston. After eight days he reached Boston, and from there went to Newport, R. I. In Newport his illness increased, and he died, 18 June 1799, probably at his brother's house. In the churchyard of Trinity Church is a tombstone, on which is the following inscription:

"Sacred to the memory of George De Blois, Esq., a reputable merchant of Halifax, Nova Scotia, who departed this life the 18th of June, 1799, in the 59th year of his age; and of his sister, Mary De Blois, died December 11, 1818, aged 75 years."

On the 8th of May, 1802, a little less than three years after her husband's death, Mrs. George De Blois sailed from Halifax in the schooner Mary with her sons Stephen Wastie and William Minet and her daughters Lydia and Ann Maria, to make her home once more in Massachusetts. The next month the sons returned to Halifax, but the mother and daughters remained at Dedham. At Halifax the sons continued their father's business in the name of their mother, Sarah De Blois. It is not known in what year Mrs. De Blois herself returned to Halifax; but she died there at the house of her son Stephen Wastie, 25 Dec. 1827, "aged 74."

In 1785 he owned pew No. 55 in the Chapel; and in the same year pew No. 9, which as early as 1754 had been acquired by Samuel Wentworth, father of Lady Frances Wentworth, was sold to him by the wardens.

RUTH (HOOPER) JENKINS of Newburyport, Mass., widow of Lewis Jenkins. He died in Boston, 6 Sept. 1819, aged 69, and was buried in the De Blois tomb in King's Chapel. In pursuance of the widow's petition in 1819, administration of the estate of George De Blois was granted to George Lewis<sup>4</sup> De Blois, son of George,<sup>3</sup> a nephew and second cousin of the deceased, and the widow herself was appointed, 8 Nov. 1819, guardian of her two children.

At the time of his first marriage George De Blois was living at Newburyport. In a memorial to the British Government, claiming recompense for losses he had sustained in the Revolution, he says that at the beginning of the war he was settled in Newburyport, Mass., but that in April, 1775, he embarked with his family for the River St. John. When his uncle Gilbert's will was made he was probably living in Boston.

13. LEWIS<sup>4</sup> DE BLOIS, JR. (Lewis,<sup>3</sup> Stephen,<sup>2</sup> Louis<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston, 10 Apr. 1762, and baptized in King's Chapel, is said to have been in 1777 in the employ of Stephen De Blois of Newport, R. I. He married, but his wife's name is unknown. In his American Loyalists Sabine confuses Lewis, Jr., with his father Lewis; but Sabine's statement that after the peace Lewis was a merchant in St. John, N. B., and in 1795 a member of the Loyal Artillery there, properly refers to Lewis, Jr., and is undoubtedly true. He died at St. John, 9 Oct. 1801, "aged 39."

He was a prominent merchant at Halifax, Nova Scotia, and was at first attached to St. Paul's Parish. In the defection from that parish, 1824-1826, however, he withdrew, and connected himself with St. George's; and on the south wall of St. George's Church, the "Round Church," there is a tablet to his memory.

He died 26 Dec. 1848, and is buried in St. George's Church plot in Camp Hill Cemetery, Halifax, where his wife and other members of the family also lie. In all the relations of life Mr. John A. De Blois was a model man; he was one of the pillars of the Episcopal Church. He was a native of Boston, but has resided in this city since 1837, and has been actively engaged in the commission business as a member of the firm of Hall and De Blois, a firm which has contributed much to the prosperity of the city of Columbus by its extensive business relations with Northern manufacturers. Honest and upright in his business relations, social in his intercourse with his fellows, a model husband, father and citizen, he dies without leaving an enemy behind him, and his loss is deplored by the community as a public calamity."

In "A Letter to all my children," dated 17th day, 10 mo., 1675, Rev. Obadiah Holmes writes:

And now my son Joseph remember that Joseph of Arimathea was a good man and a disciple of Jesus and was bold and went boldly and asked the body of Jesus and buried it. My son John remember what a loving and a beloved disciple he was. My daughter Hope* consider what a grace of God hope is and court after that hope that will never be ashamed but hath hope of eternal life and salvation by Jesus Christ. My son Obadiah consider that Obadiah was a servant of the Lord and tender in spirit and in a troublesome time hid the prophets by fifty in a cave.

* Called Hopestill in the will.

My son Samuel remember Samuel was a chief prophet of the Lord ready to hear his voice saying speak Lord for Thy servant heareth.

My daughter Martha remember Martha although she was cumbered with many things yet she loved the Lord and was beloved of him for He loved Mary and Martha.

My daughter Mary remember Mary she chose the better part that shall not be taken away and did hearken to the Lord's instructions.

My son Johnathan remember how faithful and loving he was to David that servant of the Lord.

My daughter Lidiah remember how Lidiah's heart was opened her ear bored her spirit made to be willing to receive and obey the apostle in what the Lord required and was baptized and entertained and refreshed the servants of the Lord.

In the REGISTER, vol. 64, pp. 237-239 (July, 1910), evidence is offered to show that Rev. Obadiah Holmes was the son of Robert Hulme of Reddish, in the parish of Manchester, Lancashire, England, and was baptized 18 Mar. 1609/10. Additional evidence as to his English connections is afforded by his memoirs, in which Rev. Obadiah Holmes writes:

The twentieth day of the tenth month in the year 1675 I Obediah Hullme now come to the evening of the day being sixty nine years old or thereabouts.

He also says, in speaking of his parents:

Three sons they brought up aright to the University at Oxford.

A letter of Rev. Obadiah Holmes, which, unfortunately, contains no further genealogical information, ends with these sentences:

This for Mr John Angher, and my brother Robert Hullme, and brother in law, and sisters; with Mary Howly, . . .

For Robert Hullme at his house in Redish near Gorton Chapel in the parish of Manchester. In Lancashire.

In these sentences, therefore, Rev. Obadiah Holmes positively identifies Robert Hullme of Reddish near Gorton Chapel as his brother.

NATHANIEL MOTT OF SCITUATE AND HIS SONS

By G. ANDREWS MORIARTY, JR., A.M., of Newport, R. I.

NATHANIEL MOTT, one of the pioneers of Scituate, Mass., left a large and interesting family, which scattered into various parts of New England, some of them attaining eminence in various walks of life previous to the War of the Revolution; but, curiously enough, nothing about him except the meagre and imperfect account to be found in Austin's Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island and a brief and incomplete statement in Harris's James Mott of Dutchess County, N. Y., and his Descendants, p. 7, has ever appeared in print. The present article will deal with Nathaniel Mott and his sons, showing where they settled, giving their children, and tracing a few of his more distinguished descendants.

1. NATHANIEL<sup>1</sup> MOTT, of Scituate, Plymouth Colony, and Braintree, Mass., is first mentioned, as an inhabitant of Scituate, in the list of men able to bear arms in Plymouth Colony in 1643. In 1645 he was one of the eight Scituate men sent out in the expedition of Plymouth Colony against the Narragansett Indians, and he served thirteen days. He is next found in 1656 in the neighboring town of Braintree, where he married. The Middlesex court records mention him as living at Mr. Parker's farm, 22 Dec. 1663. The births of his children are all recorded in the Braintree records, and the same records state that he was one of the four Braintree men killed by the Indians, 23 Feb. 1675/6, when they made their incursion into that town. Nathaniel Mott seems to have been a man of humble position, for he nowhere appears in the Suffolk land evidence, and he left no will. He married at Braintree, 25 Dec. 1656, HANNAH SHOOTER, widow of Peter of Scituate.

Children, born at Braintree :

  2. ii. JOHN, b. 19 Aug. 1659.
  3. iii. NATHANIEL, b. 30 Aug. 1661.
  - iv. MARY, b. 15 Dec. 1664.
  - v. [Ly]DIA, b. 12 July 1666; possibly m. CALEB LITTLEFIELD of Braintree, Mass., and of Kingstown and New Shoreham, R. I., ancestor of the Rhode Island Littlefields.
  4. vi. SAMUEL, b. 25 Jan. 1668/9.
  - vii. ELIZABETH, b. 17 May 1671; m. 30 Dec. 1690 EDMUND LITTLEFIELD of Wells, Me., and Braintree, Mass., ancestor of the Littlefields of Norfolk and Bristol counties.
  - viii. EXPERIENCE, d. 24 Dec. 1672.
  5. ix. EDWARD, b. 11 May 1673.
  6. x. EBENEZER, b. 16 Sept. 1675.
2. JOHN<sup>2</sup> MOTT (Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>), of New Shoreham, R. I., and Lyme, Conn., born at Braintree 19 Aug. 1659, removed to New Shoreham, or Block Island, with his brother Nathaniel about the year 1680. His name appears in the list of freemen there in 1684. He sold land at Block Island 19 Dec. 1689, and again 27 Mar. 1693, when he is described as "formerly of this Island, but now of Lyme, Connecticut." This is all that has been gleaned concerning his career. He married, 16 Oct. 1683, MARCY TOSH, daughter of William and Jael (Sullivan) of Block Island. This William Tosh appears to have been the William MacIntosh who was among the Scotch prisoners shipped to New England by Cromwell in 1651, after the battles of Dunbar and Worcester, most of whom were sold to the Lynn and Braintree Iron Works. Tosh or MacIntosh married at Braintree, 7 Dec. 1660, Jael Swilvan, who was evidently one of the ship-load of Irish captives sent to New England in 1654. When the Braintree men set out to settle Block Island, Tosh was among the first settlers, and became a man of prominence there.

Children :

- i. ANNA,<sup>3</sup> b. at Block Island 9 Jan. 1684; d. young.
- ii. ANNA, b. at Block Island 8 Jan. 1685.

- iii. SARAH, b. at Block Island 19 Jan. 1688.
- iv. MARY [possibly a mistake for MARCY], b. at Lyme, Conn., 5 Jan. 1692/3.
- 7. v. MARCY, b. 1695.

3. NATHANIEL<sup>2</sup> MOTT (Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>), of New Shoreham, R. I., born at Braintree 30 Aug. 1661, followed his father-in-law Nathaniel Winsley of Salisbury, Mass., to Block Island, where he was a freeman in 1684. He became one of the leading citizens of New Shoreham and a large landowner. In 1695 and for many subsequent years he was town clerk, from 1700 to 1710 he was deputy from the Island to the Rhode Island General Assembly, and in 1710 he was lieutenant of the Block Island company. He married first, 29 Nov. 1682, HEPZIBAH WINSLEY, daughter of Nathaniel of Salisbury, Mass., and Block Island; and secondly, 23 Jan. 1693/4, SARAH TOSH or MACINTOSH, daughter of William and Jael (Sullivan) of Braintree and New Shoreham. Nathaniel Mott's will is dated 14 Nov. 1717, and proved 12 Dec. 1717. He is the ancestor of all the numerous Motts of New Shoreham.

Children by first wife:

- i. MARY,<sup>3</sup> b. 6 Mar. 1684.
- ii. NATHANIEL, b. 9 Oct. 1688; d. 4 Apr. 1706.

4. SAMUEL<sup>2</sup> MOTT (Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>), of Lyme, Conn., born at Braintree 25 Jan. 1668/9, was at Lyme as early as 6 Apr. 1692. He resided in that part of Lyme known as Joshua-town. He was a yeoman of large landed property. His will, on file at New London, is dated 20 Aug. 1751, and was proved 16 Apr. 1753. He married first, at Lyme, 6 Apr. 1692, MARY ———; and secondly MARGARET ———, who survived him.

- i. MARY,<sup>3</sup> b. 10 Mar. 1692/3.

5. EDWARD<sup>2</sup> MOTT (Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>), of New Shoreham, Kingstown, and Westerly, R. I., born at Braintree 11 May 1673, followed his brothers to Block Island, where he was a freeman in 1696, and constable in 1700. He married, 9 Dec. 1695, PENELOPE TOSH, widow of William, Jr. His family is the most obscure of all the Mott families of this generation. In 1702 he was at Block Island, but he had removed to Kingstown by Mar. 1713, when he was sued by Capt. John Greenman of Kingstown for trespass (Newport County Court Files).* He resided in that part of Kingstown which was set off to South Kingstown in 1723, and he is found there as late as 1727. He became a freeman of Westerly 1 May 1730. Administration on his estate was granted, 26 May 1735, to his widow Penelope, who was living as late as 29 Apr. 1751, when we find an account of the town of Westerly with Nathan Burdick for going to "ye presten" after widow Mott's goods. The births of his children appear nowhere in the vital records of the towns in which he lived, nor do the probate records of his estate furnish any complete list, but from certain deeds at Westerly, the record of the settlement of his estate, and various items in the town records, it can be shown that he had issue as below.

Children:

- i. JOHN,<sup>3</sup> of Stonington and Westerly.
  - ii. HANNAH, m. 5 Oct. 1732 JOHN MOTT of Lyme.
  - iii. SARAH, m. 16 July 1738 WILLIAM THORN of Westerly.
  - iv. SAMUEL, of Westerly, R. I. He was the father of the distinguished General Samuel Mott. b. at Westerly 31 Oct. 1736. The latter removed to Preston, Conn., where he became a very eminent citizen, a deputy, a magistrate, and an officer in the Revolutionary War, and d. at Preston 17 May 1813, "aged 78 years."
  - v. A DAUGHTER, m. bef. 27 Jan. 1731/2 JOHN LEWIS.
  - vi.? ABIGAIL [probably], m. 27 Jan. 1722/3 SAMUEL WORDEN of Kingstown.
  - vii.? PATIENCE [probably], m. 8 May 1726 NICHOLAS HOLWAY of Kingstown.
6. EBENEZER<sup>2</sup> MOTT (Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>), of Scituate, Mass., born at Braintree 16 Sept. 1675, is the only one of Nathaniel Mott's sons who remained in the original home of the family in New England. He removed from Braintree to Scituate, where he married, 19 Feb. 1699/1700, GRACE VINALL. He died 1 Jan. 1736. He is the ancestor of all the Motts of Scituate and the adjoining towns.
- Children:
- i. EBENEZER,<sup>3</sup> b. 26 Sept. 1700.
  - ii. GRACE, b. 17 Aug. 1702.
  - iii. JOHN, b. 11 June 1707.
  - iv. MARY, b. 24 Mar. 1712/13.
  - v. ELIZABETH, b. 17 July 1716.
  - vi. NATHANIEL, b. 23 June 1720.
7. MARCY<sup>3</sup> MOTT (John,<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>), born 1695 (gravestone), died 3 Apr. 1761. "Marcy Mott of New Shoreham" was married at Block Island, 1 July 1714, to CALEB LITTLEFIELD, JR., "of Kingstown." She is clearly the daughter of John and Marcy (Tosh) Mott, for the wills of Nathaniel and Samuel Mott eliminate them from consideration as her father, while Ebenezer Mott of Scituate married too late to be her parent. She must therefore be the child of either Edward or John Mott. Now Edward Mott was living at Kingstown at the time when she was called of New Shoreham. We find no trace of any daughter Marcy for Edward and Penelope Mott, and the names Edward and Penelope nowhere occur among her descendants. On the other hand, the first son of Caleb and Marcy (Mott) Littlefield was named John, a new name in that branch of the Littlefield family.

Her son, John Littlefield, Esq., was a prominent man at New Shoreham, being warden, deputy, and ensign. He married Phœbe Ray, and was the father of Capt. William Littlefield of Newport, R. I., a distinguished Revolutionary officer and senior warden of Trinity Church there, and of Catherine Littlefield, the wife of Major-General Nathaniel Greene. William Littlefield, Jr., son of Capt. William, was for many years collector of the port of Newport.

SOME RECORDS OF SAMUEL GOODWIN OF POWNALBOROUGH, ME., AND HIS DESCENDANTS

Communicated by Hon. HENRY SEWALL WEBSTER, A.M., of Gardiner, Me.

THE book from which the following records are taken was given to Hon. O. B. Clason of Gardiner, Me., by Mrs. Margaret Fenlason of Fort Kent, Me. Mrs. Fenlason is a daughter of the late Major William Dickey of Fort Kent, who was a prominent figure in Maine politics, and occupied a seat in the legislature for many consecutive years. On account of his complete control of his legislative district he was called "The Duke of Fort Kent." He married Lydia F. Bodfish at Gardiner, Me., 23 Oct. 1842.

Samuel Goodwin and his son Samuel were identified with the settlement and early history of Pownalborough on the Kennebec River, a town which included the present towns of Dresden, Perkins, Wiscasset, and a part of Alna. The elder Samuel was a member of the so-called Plymouth Company, composed of the proprietors of the Kennebec Purchase, who had obtained this grant originally from the Pilgrim Colony at Plymouth. Both he and his son were extensive owners of real estate in Pownalborough.*

In this book there are two series of entries. The first series is found only on the right-hand pages, and is written in a large, fair hand which might be compared to copperplate if the simile had not been so often employed. The rest of the writing, most of which is on the left-hand pages, is much inferior. Perhaps the first series was written by an experienced penman at Mercy Bodfish's dicta-

*For this Goodwin family see a paper read by the late Charles E. Allen of Dresden before the Maine Historical Society, 17 Mar. 1892, and entitled Some Huguenot and other early Settlers on the Kennebec in the present Town of Dresden. From this paper, which has been published in pamphlet form, it appears (p. 23) that John Goodwin, father of the elder Samuel Goodwin, was born "at Savers Dock, near London, England," 16 Mar. 1683, and came to Boston, Mass., in 1712, his wife, two sons, and a daughter following him to Boston the next year. The wife and daughter died soon afterwards, and John Goodwin married Lydia Sprague, daughter of Jonathan of Malden, Mass., the Boston records giving 25 Nov. 1714 as the date of this marriage. She died at Charlestown in 1739, aged 57 years. Samuel Goodwin, only son of John and Lydia (Sprague) Goodwin, was born "near King's Chapel, Boston," 27 Jan. 1716, this date appearing also in the record given below and in Boston Births, 1700-1800, p. 114, where the birth of "Samuel Son of John Goodwin and Lydia his Wife" is recorded. There is also something about this family in Wyman's Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown.

tion, while most of the second series is probably in her handwriting. There are breaks in the record, caused by somebody's having cut out parts of leaves, and these breaks have been indicated in the usual way, by a succession of periods. The entries in the first series are printed in order below, and are followed by those in the second series.

[Thomas Besbeech, baptized at Biddenden 3 Mar. 1589/90, younger son of John Besbeech, the testator of 1609, married there 14 Jan. 1618/19 Anne Baseden. They resided for a few years at Frittenden, where two daughters were born and his wife died. Later he lived at Headcorn and Sandwich. In the spring of 1635 he emigrated to New England, where he lived at Scituate and Sudbury, Mass., and died 9 Mar. 1673/4, leaving issue. His mother Dorothy, the testator of 1619, was daughter of Henry Austen of Biddenden and sister of Wacher or Walter Austin of Bethersden, the testator of 1600. She was married first to Thomas Foster of Biddenden, by whom she had, besides other issue, a son Richard Foster, who married Patience Bigg; the latter, with her son Hopestill Foster, went to New England in 1635 and settled at Dorchester, Mass. Hopestill Foster was thus nephew by the half-blood of Thomas Besbeech.

The Besbeech (originally Byxpitch) family is of great antiquity in the Weald of Kent, and numerous early wills of the family are extant; but extensive search has failed to establish the identity of John Besbeech, the testator of 1609, among the numerous individuals of that name.—E. F.]

The Will of JAMES IDDENDE of Cranbrook in the County of Kent, weaver, 30 July 1597. To be buried in the churchyard of Cranbrook. A note states that Robert Moore was sick of the plague when administration was granted to him and died within a fortnight, and Thomas Star and Thomas Turke testify that never any of the goods of the deceased came into the hands of the said Robert Moore. Inventory, £33 16s. 6d. George Nun of London, woolen draper, substituted in the bond for Thomas Star and Thomas Turke. (Ibid., fo. 57.)

3. JAMES IDDENDEX of Cranbrook, a weaver, the testator of 1597, was born probably at Cranbrook about 1557, and was buried there 30 July 1597, being probably one of the victims of the plague. He married at Cranbrook, 8 May 1586, AGNES MOORE, who survived him only a few weeks, dying probably of the same disease and being buried at Cranbrook 20 Oct. 1597. Administration on her estate was granted to her brother Robert Moore, who also died of the plague, and then to her brother Richard Moore.

She died probably before her mother, whose will names her son-in-law George Iddenden, to whom she gives a bequest "for his children." She names her six daughters, not including Sara, though she is named in her father's will. The name of George Iddenden's second wife has not been found.

He married first, at Cranbrook, 12 July 1625, ELIZABETH WELLER, who was baptized there 21 Dec. 1600 and was buried at Tenterden 2 Aug. 1631. He married secondly, at Maidstone, 1 Feb. 1631/2, ELIZABETH WIGHTMAN or WHITEMAN of Maidstone, aged about 25, as appears from the marriage licence. He emigrated to New England after 9 Aug. 1636, being at that date a witness to the will of Susan Curtis of Tenterden. In 1637 he was a proprietor at Scituate, Mass. He took the oath of allegiance in 1638, was free-man in 1641, and representative to the General Court in 1642. He removed to Boston. His widow is mentioned in the will of her brother John Weightman of Charlestown, Mass., dated 12 Oct. 1681, as "my sister Elizabeth Skiff," and bequests are left to her daughter Rebecca Edington and to her married daughters Sarah Rand and Hannah Cleesby.

The Iddenden or Edenden family also is of great antiquity in the Weald of Kent, having been associated with the cloth trade for which Cranbrook was famous; but although abstracts of many Edenden wills have been made, it has not been found possible to identify the parents of Stephen Iddenden, great-grandfather of Edmond Edenden the emigrant.

JOHN IDDENDEN of Cranbrook, tailor, the testator of 1587/8, whose relationship to the family described above is not known, died between 15 Mar. 1587/8 and 27 Mar. 1588. He married CHRISTIAN GLOVER, the testatrix of 1597, who died of the plague and was buried at Cranbrook 13 Aug. 1597.

[From the foregoing wills and entries it appears that Steven Huckstep of Tenterden, who was buried 20 June 1633, married 14 Feb. 1584/5 Winifred (Hatch) Wills, widow of Richard Wills and sister of John Hatch, the testator of 1628. Of their children John Huckstep was the testator of 1630, and Lydia Huckstep, baptized 11 Feb. 1587/8, was married about 1606 to Nathaniel Tilden and emigrated with him and their children to New England in 1635. (REGISTER, vol. 65, p. 331.) John Huckstep, the testator of 1624, was an uncle of Lydia (Huckstep) Tilden.

The will of John Hatch shows Puritan affiliations, and is rich in family history. Doubtless some of the early Hatch emigrants to New England were related to him.—E. F.]

THE TOWN RECORDS OF GOSPORT, N. H.

Communicated by JOSEPH WEATHERHEAD WARREN, M.D., of Bryn Mawr, Pa.

BESIDES the book containing "The Records of the Church of Gosport," which was in large part printed in the REGISTER, vol. 66,* the town of Gosport, N. H., had also a book containing the records of town-meetings together with a variety of other entries concerning the families of Star Island and to some extent of other of the Isles of Shoals and their affairs. In 1872 nearly the whole of Star Island, including all of the land belonging to the town of Gosport, passed into other, private hands, in order that a large summer hotel, the Oceanic, the proposed rival of the popular Appledore House, might be erected there. The town, which was incorporated 24 Dec. 1715, did not at once go out of existence. A kind of organization was preserved, some dwellers on other islands and other non-residents being generally taken in for that purpose, and from time to time, as late as 1876, a representative was elected to go to Concord and actually went. In the sessions of the House of Representatives in 1876 the question of excusing Gosport from sending a representative, which had been brought up at intervals ever since 1871, became fully ripe, and bills were introduced to repeal the act authorizing representation, or to take away the charter, and to annex the place to Rye. These passed the House 19 July, and the Senate concurred therein the next day. The act was to take effect 1 Sept. 1876. The next year another bill was passed, which established the district of Gosport in the town of Rye and gave to it certain powers as to police regulations and ordinances as though it were a duly incorporated town. It was also provided that all the taxes of the district, other than for state and county purposes, should be for its exclusive use and benefit. Two years later, in 1879, the district of Gosport was made liable for paupers and other demands as though an independent township. One may reasonably guess that the inhabitants of Rye had a hand in this somewhat remarkable legislation, fearing that old and decrepit Shoalers might acquire claims on the town and become a burden.

For some years the book of town records remained as a curiosity for the edification of the summer visitor at the hotel on Star Island. It then passed into the possession of the selectmen of Rye, until, under the state law for the preservation of old records, it was taken to Concord and put with the other documents now in charge of the secretary of state.*

The book has no title-page and no name, except on a strip of paper pasted on the back, but it is proper to call it the "Town Records of Gosport," although it contains many other things. It is of about the same form as the church book, 12½ by 8 inches, and has 458 pages. Formerly only a partial paging by folio numbers existed, but a few years ago all the pages were clearly marked, and this numbering is followed here. The book contains two kinds of paper; it is in fact really two books bound in one, and some pages clearly show that they were slightly trimmed in the process. Down to page 110 we evidently have a portion of what in some late entries is called the "old book," which was begun in 1731. Some of the records here are beautifully written, while others show evidence of much painful labor with the pen and a use of the English of the monarch of the moment calculated to make modern reformers of spelling blush at their moderation. A few of these remaining pages are much besmoked and brittle, as though the book had been in a fire. I am indeed informed that the Records were in the Atlantic House when this building and several others were destroyed in the great fire of May 1866. This was perhaps not the only exposure of the kind, for fires were not infrequent on Star Island. A part of this older book has been copied into the newer part of the existent book, but it is not possible to say how much was lost or destroyed. From page 111 on we have another kind of paper, bluish in color, and many of the sheets have the stamp of a crown over BATH in the corner. This part, I take it, formed at one time a separate "new" book. The earliest record on this kind of paper seems to be one of 1842 (p. 453), which is hardly an entry that would have been copied from the old book. The new paper or new book does not seem to have come into general use until several years later, and even then many entries continued to be made in the old book or part, possibly because it was more accessible. It will readily be seen that the utmost freedom was used, not only in the kind of entry, but also in the place where it was put. Even in the entries of the town-meetings there is much irregularity. This is in part due to the quite natural practice of writing first on the right-hand page and then on the left; but often the whim of the moment took the writer of other entries to some unexpected place. Some of the confusion may be attributed to misplacement of sheets for rebinding.

These Town Records are in some respects almost as remarkable for what they omit as for what they contain. There is no account of any meeting before 1731, although some must have been held, for we have elsewhere allusion to the selectmen of Gosport of an earlier date. It is a reasonable guess that the advent of Mr. Tucke had much influence in leading the town to start a regular book of records. None of these records, however, are in his hand, nor does he appear actively in any of the business of the town. There is also no entry for 1734 and none for the years 1741-45, 1765, and 1772. For one or two of these years there may be some confusion of the dates, but whatever the explanation, a number of records are not here. The pages containing them may have been damaged, and the copying of such pages may not have appealed to the copyist when other parts of the book were transcribed. Records of town-meetings are also entirely lacking for the years 1776-1802, unless the vague and undated entry on p. 87 belongs here. During the big gap from 1805 to 1844 it is certain that no meetings were held. For the year 1853 a meeting is called, but there is no record of its doings. Although there is a call for a meeting which seems to belong to 1855, there is no record of such a meeting that year or the next, but in the almanac of the period (New Hampshire Register) town officers appear and the town had a representative at Concord. The years 1860-61 are also lacking, and there is no record of a town-meeting after 1862, not even after the voluminous notice of one in 1863. There is plenty of outside evidence that meetings were held after that time, although probably with some irregularity; it is also possible that these records have been removed from the book, but the make-up of the book does not clearly show this. It is well known that at this time there was much disagreement in town affairs among the Gosportians, and many contentions arose, reaching even to the point of personal conflicts. It is also pretty clear to those familiar with the conditions of these stormy times that the existence of jealousies and quarrels made the inhabitants ready to sell out when the chance came, despite the fact that the place was well on the way to prosperity. These are, however, matters with which the Records have no immediate connection, and we are not now concerned with the history of Gosport save as it makes the book more clear.

*I gladly take this opportunity to acknowledge publicly the great courtesy and un-failing kindness shown me by the Secretary, Mr. Edward N. Pearson, and the staff of his office, particularly by Miss Sargent and Mr. Willis, in my frequent visits to that office for the examination of these and other records.

What appears here is in the main a faithful copy of the original. In using the material it should be remembered that although in many cases we can tell who made the record and thus gauge its accuracy, there are also many items which may be viewed with a judicious skepticism. It should also be borne in mind that many of the families are by no means completely recorded. Often an entry was made when the family was new or small, and no account was taken of the additions as they came along. In some entries having no evident historical or genealogical value a condensation of the record has been made, but all such changes I have endeavored to make quite clear. The pages of the original records have been indicated by numerals inclosed in brackets.

You are hereby requir'd in his Maj<sup>s</sup> name to summons the Inhabitants of the said Town of Gosport to Appear at the House of M<sup>r</sup> Tho<sup>s</sup> Lambert in said Town at 9 of the Clock in the Evening then & There to choose a Proper Agent or Attorney to Represent the said Town at his Majestys

*From the records of the meeting of 13 Dec. 1731 and of the meeting and letters of 28 April 1732 it would seem that Mr. Tucke had been at Gosport for some time, possibly ever since October. In the Church Records (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 144) he enters a marriage under date of 24 Jan. 1731/2 as though performed by him at that time. On the other hand some 25 baptisms of Shoalers stand in the records of the Church of Rye between 3 Oct. 1731 and 12 Apr. 1732, as copied by Mr. Tucke into the records of the Gosport church. These baptisms may have taken place on Star Island. There is also one Shoals marriage of 4 Oct. 1731 in the Rye record. It is not unlikely that Mr. Tucke had authority (as a justice of the peace?) to marry, but none to baptize, not being as yet ordained. This view would explain the entry in the Rye record of the baptism of four children of the Shoals as late as 9 July 1732, only a couple of weeks before the ordination. The "heavy Stroake of Providence" refers, I suppose, to the death of a son. Dow, in his History of Hampton, notes a son Benjamin as baptized 5 April 1731 and dying young. In Lane's Deaths in Hampton (REGISTER, vol. 58, p. 30) we read: "1732 march 13 mr. Tucks child died at the shore," and I am tempted to interpret "shore" as "Shoals." Another Benjamin was born in 1745.

It may be of interest to add that the Church of Gosport met at the house of William Muchemore 13 July 1732 and chose Mr. Tucke for their minister and voted "that his ordination should be at the time mentioned by the Town." The record continues thus: "The Ch<sup>h</sup> Voted y<sup>t</sup> Letters be sent to y<sup>e</sup> Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr Jabez Fitch of Portsmouth, y<sup>e</sup> Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr John Newmarch of Kittery, y<sup>e</sup> Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr Nat<sup>l</sup> Gookin of Hampton, y<sup>e</sup> Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr John Odlin of Exeter and y<sup>e</sup> Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr Nat<sup>l</sup> Morrill of Rye & to each of y<sup>r</sup> Ch<sup>h</sup>s praying y<sup>r</sup> Presence & Assistance at y<sup>e</sup> Ordination of y<sup>e</sup> Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr John Tucke."

* James Pitman of Portsmouth, butcher, had applied to the court sitting at Dover Sept. 1732 that the town of Gosport be summoned to pay charges for the care of Peter Punter, fisherman, for whom Pitman had cared many months. The town was said to be responsible for his care. It appears that news of an impending trial had just arrived, and this caused the selectmen to send out a notice of a meeting at this unusual hour. Peter Punter had fished for different persons on various islands, and his habitation was a matter of dispute. It is not evident that he was already dead.

† To fishermen on a small triangular island, some miles out at sea, a "leeward day" might be either a day so calm that the boats could not go out at all or a day with a wind altogether unfavorable to the fishing of the season. None of the dictionaries has a meaning of leeward that seems to fit here. Murray gives "calmness, peace, tranquillity" as rather unusual meanings of "lee," but has no corresponding meanings of "leeward." The same words also occur in the Records of the Church of Gosport nearly fourteen years later, on 19 Dec. 1746. There, at the end of a church meeting where the condition of the community was a matter of very serious and prolonged consideration, Mr. Tucke makes this entry: "The Ch<sup>h</sup> by a Vote adjourn y<sup>e</sup> Cth Meet<sup>s</sup> to be Held at y<sup>e</sup> Pastors House in a very Short Time on a Leeward Day."

‡ A pen mark of crasure is drawn through these figures.

THOMAS LEVET OF EXETER AND HAMPTON

By VICTOR CHANNING SANBORN, Esq., of Kenilworth, Ill.

A SURPRISING fact about the early settlers of New England is that so few records were kept of their English homes and ancestry. Where no identifying record has survived three centuries of time, a connection can often be traced through neighbors and friends in the first twenty years of sojourn here. But sometimes an early immigrant cannot thus be linked with a group. Then, unless the family name be uncommon, the search for English ancestry is blind indeed.

The name of Levet is not uncommon, and there is some doubt whether a connection exists between Thomas Levet of Exeter and Hampton and any group of early New England settlers. Thomas Levet was born in 1616, as appears from his death record and from a deposition of his, made in 1676 in the case of Drake v. Colcord (Mass. Ct. Assts., File No. 1566). He was thus born in the same year as William Wentworth, Christopher Lawson, and Edward Rishworth. He is first found among the signers of John Wheelwright's Exeter Combination of 1639, where his name appears between those of James Wall and Edmund Littlefield. For we must regretfully abandon belief in the Wheelwright Deed of 1629, where the name of "Thomas Levitt" appears as a grantee, with Wheelwright, Augustin Storre his brother-in-law, Thomas Wight, and William Wentworth. This fraudulent deed was brought forward in 1707 to support the anti-Masonian claims, but its only genealogical use is to connect the grantees, between whom a relationship was doubtless at that early date known to exist.

In tracing the English ancestry of our Thomas Levet, three clues present themselves: (1) The tradition connecting him with Wheelwright, the Hutchinsons, and Wentworth. (Wentworth Genealogy, vol. 1, p. 76.) (2) What is known of other early Levets in New England. (3) The affidavit of Abraham and Nathaniel Drake in 1691, that Colchester, co. Essex, was the English home of Levet's wife and, perhaps, of Levet himself. (REGISTER, vol. 21, p. 316.)

The Wheelwright-Hutchinson tradition points to Lincolnshire, since that county furnished the entire Wheelwright connection. Lincolnshire is singularly lacking in Levets, though a few references to the name are found. The will of John Hutchinson in 1644 mentions his "sister Levitt," and Ralph Levet was a witness (REGISTER, vol. 20, pp. 362-363). This led Col. Chester and Hon. John Wentworth to believe that our Thomas was a son of this Ralph Levet. But Canon Maddison found in the Bilsby transcript the marriage of "Ralfe Levit and Anne Hutchinson" on 25 Jan. 1631/2. Doubtless this Ralph Levet was rector of Grainsby, Lincolnshire, in 1635, and belonged to the Melton line, as we shall see. He was the father of Francis Levet, rector of Little Carlton, mentioned in the next paragraph. But he could hardly have been the father of our Thomas Levet, who was born in 1616.

In Suffolk Deeds, book 10, fo. 215, is a deed from John Wheelwright, 22 Oct. 1677, conveying to Richard Crispe all his messuage in Mawthorp, parish of Willoughby, Lincs, and lands in Burnethorpe and Hog-strophe, which were in the tenure of John Banister, and were purchased of Francis Levet, gent., of North Willingham, Lincs. This seemed a distinct clue, but the registers of North Willingham contain no Levet entries. Francis Levet, undoubtedly the son of Ralph of Grainsby, was rector of Little Carlton, Lincs, from 1662 to 1711. This was a Hutchinson and Thorndike parish. (REGISTER, vol. 51, pp. 120 et seq.) The transcripts of Great and Little Carlton have been searched, and from 1662 to 1710 those for Little Carlton are signed "Fran: Levet, rector." They show that "Francis Levett, Clerke, and Elizabeth Marris" were married 10 Dec. 1662. Their children were:

- i. ELIZABETH, bapt. at Great Carlton 15 Dec. 1663.
- ii. ANNE, bapt. at Little Carlton 11 Aug. 1667.
- iii. RALPH, bapt. at Little Carlton 18 Feb. 1669; bur. 10 May 1674.
- iv. MARY, bapt. at Little Carlton 9 Mar. 1670/1; m. at Great Carlton 22 Feb. 1693/4 RICHARD OGLE.
- v. THOMAS, bapt. at Little Carlton 1 May 1673; bur. 5 May 1673.
- vi. RICHARD, bapt. at Little Carlton 14 Feb. 1673/4; bur. 16 Feb. 1673/4.

On 18 Feb. 1673/4 Elizabeth, wife of Francis Levet, was buried; and 3 July 1711 "Mr. Francis Levett, Rectr," was buried. The will of Francis Levet is filed at Lincoln (vol. for 1711, fo. 60), and in it he leaves bequests to his three sons-in-law, Michael Johnson, William Eldinor, and John Harrison, and to his Johnson and Eldinor grandchildren. The will is sealed with the arms of the Melton Levetts.

A few scattered notes exist of other Lincolnshire Levets. The will of Robert Levitt of Lincoln in 1565 gives nothing of value, unless the bequest to Isabella Symkinson connects this Levitt with the Doncaster Simpkinsons. James Levit was ordained deacon by Thomas Cooper, Bishop of Lincoln, in 1583. At Foston and Allington in southern Lincolnshire was a family of Lovetts, which can be traced for a generation or two, but this gives no apparent clue.

William Wentworth of Exeter came from Lincolnshire, but was descended from the Yorkshire line. Near their ancestral home lived a Yorkshire family of Levetts, belonging to the lesser landed gentry, seated at Normanton for some generations, and acquiring in the fifteenth century a fair estate, though not the manor, at High Melton. These Normanton and Melton Levetts intermarried with the Wentworths. Their pedigree* appeared in the Visitation of Yorkshire of 1612, and is printed in Hunter's Deanery of Doncaster. It has been amplified by a descendant, Mr Milner-Gibson-Cullum, in 3 Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, vol. 1,† and is in part as follows:

* It would seem possible to construct a pedigree of the Normanton and Melton Levetts extending two centuries farther back than the pedigree printed herein. Thus we find in 1249 a Hamond de Lyvet. In 1272-1307 lived a Nicholas de Lyvet, who held from John de Vesci the manor of Hooton, later Hooton-Levet, as well as fees in Wickersley and Pickburn; he is mentioned in Kirkby's Quest. In 1327 we find a William Levet of Hooton-Levet, who married Constantia, daughter of Roger de Wickersley and granddaughter of Richard fitz Turgis, who with John de Busli founded the Cistercian Abbey of Roche. In 1377 John Levet, son and heir of William Levet, sold to Richard Barry of London all his ancestral rights in Roche Abbey. In 1392 lived William Levet of Tylse, who was a feoffee of Thomas de Barley. In 1429 William Levet and Elizabeth his wife lived in Hooton-Levet. These Levets sold Hooton-Levet to the Cliffords, and perhaps removed to Normanton, where we find a William Levet who was admitted in 1447 to be a tenant of the prior of St. John of Jerusalem. He it is who heads the pedigree of the Normanton and Melton Levetts.

† Many records also of this family, including (in a somewhat different form) some, but not all, of the abstracts given below on pp. 69-70, have been communicated to the same volume by Mr. Milner-Gibson-Cullum.

THOMAS LEVET of Exeter and Hampton

* This match is given by Brooke and Hunter; but I think that the husband of Margaret Lindley was really Thomas Levett of Sussex, who died at East Betchworth, Surrey, in 1616, leaving a will (P. C. C., Cope, 118) and a widow Margaret, sole executrix.

The last Levetts living at Melton were the children of the Thomas Levett who died in 1623. An abstract of his will follows, together with the answer of his son John to a Chancery bill, showing what became of the Melton lands.

The Will of THOMAS LEVETT of High Melton, gent., 7 October 1622. I give to my wife Elizabeth £40, over and above her portion of my goods. To Thomas Levett my son and heir apparent all glass and seeling in or about my house at Melton. To Ralph Levitt my second son £20, to be paid within one month after he shall commence Maister of Arts in one of the Universities of Cambridge or Oxford. And whereas I have a spetiall desire to have my two younger sons, John Levett and Peter Levett, to be educated and brought up at their books, whereby they be furnished with knowledge and learning to become profitable members in God's Clureh or the commonwealth of this land; I do hereby pray and desire my said wife, my eldest son Thomas, and my second son Ralfe to be aiding and assisting to the said John and Peter therein. And therefore, rather to allure them to their books and to assist them in their studie, I do bequeath to the said John Levett £20, to be paid to him w<sup>thin</sup> one month after he shall take the degree of Maister of Arts in Cambridge or Oxford. [Same bequest to Peter Levett.] To my daughter Jaine Levett £40, over and besides her portion. The bequests to my three younger sons to be raised out of lands in Cadeby purchased of Richard Waterhouse. If this devise be insufficient in law, then I do require my eldest son to consider how chargeable his own education hath been to me and how much to the hindrance of his younger brethren's preferment, and therefore I do pray him to give way to this devise. My wife to be executrix. My brethren Robert Mirin of Thureroft and William Levett of Bentley to be supravisors. To my good friend Henry Saxton,* clerke, 10s., in thankful remembrance of God's blessing by him as a secondary cause in the indoctrinating of my children. Proved 1 May 1623. (York Wills, vol. 37, fo. 234.)

WHITAKER v. FITZWILLIAMS, LEVETT et al., bill dated 26 October 1653: Thomas Whitaker, exr. will of John Whitaker, late of Melton-on-the-Hill, complains that John Levett, Dr. of Lawes, being seized of a capital messuage there, did on May 10, 1638, lease the same to the said John Whitaker for 21 years at £61 pr. ann. The said John Whitakers did continue tenant and much improved sd. farme and continued to pay his rent until he understood that the said Dr. Levett had conveyed the reversion thereof to Richard Berry, Dr. in Phisicke, since deed., after w<sup>ch</sup> time he did with the consent of Dr. Levett pay the rent to Dr. Berry. Sd. John Whitakers made his will and appointed your orator and John Whitacers his son exrs. and demised to your orator sd. farme and your orator pd. rent to Dr. Berry. Dr. Berry, dying about June, 1651, demised sd. farme to John Fountaine, Esq<sup>r</sup> † and since then your orator has pd. rent to sd. Fountaine, saying that sometimes by consent of Dr. Levett, Dr. Berry, and Fountaine your orator and his father pd. to Thomas Fitzwilliams of Doneaster £16 pr. ann., the interest on £200, lent on some small pt. of the farme by sd. Fitzwilliams. And after the death of his sd. father, your orator being an illiterate person brought up only to husbandry, the sd. Fitzwilliams, being an attorney and often Under Sheriff for the County of York, repaired to your orator and required him to seale some writings, which he said were only to secure the payment of sd. interest; but now he pretendeth they are bonds wh. he threatens to put in suit. The sd. Fitzwilliams did combine with the said Dr. Levett (who married Mary, one of the daughters and coheires of Emmanuel Mote deed.) and with Anne and Dorothy Mote, two other daughters of sd. Emmanuel Mote, so that Feb. 13, 1651, a bill was drawn by which the said Anne and Dorothy Mote claimed that the sd. Emmanuel Mote was seized in fee of the manor of Melton and of this farme; and upou the marriage of the sd. Mary to Dr. Levett, and his agreement to pay £500 to sd. Anne and Dorothy, the premises were settled on the sd. Dr. Levett; but the sd. Anne and Dorothy lately discovered that on July 30, 1635, their father conveyed the premises to sd. Fitzwilliams for £200. Prays writ of subpoena commanding defts. to appear and set forth the truth, etc.

* Henry Saxton was vicar of Conisbrough from 1615 to 1665 and is buried in Conisbrough church.

† John Fountayne of Melton married Elizabeth, daughter of Major John Monkton and a grand-niece of Dr. Richard Berry.

Answer of John Levett. Dr. of Lawes, one of the defendants. 9 February 1653/4: Defendant did at the time mentioned in the Bill believe that he was seized of the capital messuage and lands expressed in the Bill as in fee; for he did not know that Mr. Emmanuel Mote had mtgd. any part of them to the defendant Mr. Thomas Fitzwilliams; and deft. believeth that John Whittakers, compts.' father, was privy to the mortgage. The deft. leased said lands, etc., to the said John Whittakers, who continued as such tenant until such time as Doctor Berrie got his interest in it. The deft. upon trust and agreement with the said Dr. Berrie (then a great professor of his love to the Levets for Mr. Thomas Levett's sake, to whom he did acknowledge him-self behoulden for the greater part of his fortunes) did make a conveyance of his manors and lands in Melton (a part being the said messuage and lands) with other lands in Cadeby, Wildethorpe, and Bentley, unto the said Dr. Berrie for the securing of what money he had lent the deft. or his brother Thomas Levett, which loans were about £3300. And for the purchase of the said lands (in Melton only) deft. had £10,000 proffered him by Arthur Ingram the elder, as also by Sir John Melton, and indeed had sold them to the latter, but afterwards because he could not get his moneys in the sd. Sir John desisted from perfecting the purchase. After, the said Dr. Berry (contrary to the trust reposed in him) enrolled the conveyance and endeavored to eject deft., etc., and John Fountayne has ejected the Deft. (Chancery Proceedings, 1649-1714, Bundle 17, Bridges.)

Thomas Levett, the eldest son and heir of Melton, matriculated at Lincoln College, Oxford, in 1610, and proceeded B.A. 1612/13. In 1621 he was entered as a barrister at Lincoln's Inn, and he was still of Lincoln's Inn in 1626. According to Foster's Alumni Oxonienses he was B.C.L. of Orleans University, 1626.

The Calendars of State Papers (Domestic), James I, vol. 11, p. 433, contain an interesting letter from Matthew Dodsworth to Dr. More, dated 3 Jan. 1624/5. Matthew Dodsworth was chancellor to the Puritan Archbishop Toby Mathew of York, and was father of Roger Dodsworth the antiquary. Perhaps Dr. More was Robert More, Puritan vicar of Guisley, whose daughter married Capt. Christopher Levett. The letter states that Dodsworth is willing to accede to Dr. More's wish "that Thomas Levett, student of Civil Law, may share his patent as Judge of the Admiralty in the Northern Counties, being an able and honest man. It is said that the offices of Chancellor and Commissary of the Archbishop of York are now for the Tyne disposed of, but they say they are settled in trust for Mr. Levett, as they lately were for Sir Tobie Mathew" [the Archbishop's son]. Before 1633 Thomas Levett had moved to Tixover, co. Rutland, a small hamlet in the smallest county of England. Here, on 21 May 1633, he sued Richard Bullingham of Ketton (Chancery Proceedings, Series 2, Bundle 403, No. 95). Bullingham was the grandson of Bishop Bullingham, and had sold the tithes of Ketton to Levett for twenty-one years, but had previously charged the premises with certain payments, unknown to Levett. In 1639-40 Thomas Levett was high sheriff of Rutlandshire. The State Papers (Domestic), Charles I, vol. 15, p. 465, contain the following abstract of a letter from him to the Council, dated 17 Feb. 1639/40:

"Upon December 20 I received instructions for levying the ship money; and, on January 20, the Lords' second letter, requesting me to pay by February 20 such moneys as I should by that time have collected. I have lain sick here in London since Martinmas (November 11): Nevertheless I have by my agents been framing my assessment, and, I hope, by diligence, to bring in the whole money for my small county by April 1st."

Thomas Levett of Tixover is said in all the printed pedigrees to have married a daughter of John Lindley of Leathley. It is certain that in 1613 Margaret, the only daughter of this John Lindley, was married to

"Thomas Levitt, Esq.," who is named as son-in-law and supervisor in John Lindley's will, dated 31 May 1613 and proved 30 June 1614. (York Wills, vol. 33, fo. 144.) If this were Thomas of Tixover, it was an early marriage, for he was but nineteen at the date of the will, and had taken his B.A. at Oxford only very recently, on 8 Feb. 1612/13. But this marriage of 1613 would permit the birth of our Thomas Levett in 1616. In connection with Rutlandshire it is significant that this will of John Lindley mentions his "cousin Sir Guy Palmes," who represented Rutlandshire seven times in Parliament from 1614 to 1640. Arthur Lindley, the oldest son of John Lindley, married a daughter of Sir John Garrard, Lord Mayor of London. Two of her sisters married Lincolnshire men, one Sir John Reade of Wrangle, and the other Francis Hamby of Tathwell. It is curious to note that the granddaughter of this Arthur Lindley married the son and heir of Robert Hitch, Dean of York, and thus a grandson of Capt. Christopher Levett, the explorer.

Hunter's Deanery of Doncaster states that Roger Dodsworth, the antiquary, "was intimate with Levett of Tixover, who gave him a Chartulary of the Cluniacs of Pontefract." This was the Chartulary of St. John of Pontefract, published by the Yorkshire Archaeological Society. On this volume, in Dodsworth's own hand, is the record that it came to him "ex dono Tomae Levett de High Melton, in anno 1626-7." Probably Thomas Levett died at Tixover before 1655, for in Dugdale's Monasticon, of which the first edition was printed in 1655, is an abstract of a deed concerning Roche Abbey with this caption, "ex autographo penes Thomam Levett nuper de Tikesover in com. Rutland." The parish registers of Tixover were included with those of Ketton up to 1740. These have been searched, but no reference to Thomas Levett has been found. The registers have suffered much from damp, and the ink is so faint that many pages could not be deciphered.

John Levett, third son of Thomas Levett of Melton, was born about 1605. He was admitted pensioner at Christ's College, Cambridge, in 1623. Peile's Register states that he had studied at Conisbrough and Haughton. He proceeded LL.D. in 1633 (per lit. reg.), and became a somewhat celebrated lawyer at York, but he seems always to have been financially embarrassed. In 1636 he married Mary, daughter and coheir of Emmanuel Mote, who owned the manor of Melton. Through this marriage John Levett acquired a considerable estate, including the manors of Melton and Bentley, charged with payments to the sisters of his wife. A collection of abstracts of deeds in Topographer and Genealogist, vol. 3, pp. 519-526, shows that by 1637 John Levett had sold Bentley manor to Sir Arthur Ingram, who in turn sold it to Bryan Cooke of Doncaster. The manor of Melton was offered to Sir John Melton in 1640, but as he failed to complete the purchase it went to Dr. Richard Berry, together with the Levett lands in Bentley and Cadeby, in satisfaction of large sums of money which Dr. Berry had lent to John and Thomas Levett. Hunter's Deanery of Doncaster quotes many letters from Dr. Berry. In one of them, dated 7 Dec. 1649, he says that a general release has been sealed between him and Levett; and in one dated 4 Mar. 1650 he says that Dr. Levett had promised to remove his wife and children out of Melton Hall and to yield possession, with all the demesne lands. Dr. Berry was the son of William Berrie of Walsby, co. Lincoln, and was B.A. of Lincoln College, Oxford, in 1606, M.A. 1609, and B.Med. 1614. He also obtained a diploma from Padua in 1620, and seems to have been a man of means, though John Levett says "he was beholden to Mr. Thomas Levett for the greater part of his fortune." Dr. Berry married in 1637 Prudence, only daughter and heir of the unhappy Thomas Gargrave, and lived at Hodroyd, near Felkirk, where he acquired a large estate. His nephew, Major John Monkton, was the ancestor of the present Viscount Galway, and of General Robert Monkton, who was wounded with Wolfe at Quebec.

On 9 July 1640 James Morley sued John and Thomas Levett for £2700, for his interest "in certain cole mines lying in Harraton and Riccleston, co. Durlham." Morley claimed that he had in 1639 sold his interest for £300 a year for 21 years to Thomas Lewis of York and Thomas Levett of Tixover, and that they had "acknowledged a statute staple of £5000 in consideration thereof;" that in June 1639 Thomas and John Levett had agreed to purchase this £300 a year for £2700, but that Sir John Melton, John Levett, and Thomas Levett combined to deprive Morley of his money. (Chancery Proceedings, Charles I, Bundle M. 46, No. 18.) This matter of the Harraton collieries came before Cromwell's Committee for Compounding in 1651-2, and on pp. 2127-9 of the Calendar appears the petition of Thomas Wray et al. and the answer of John Levett and Josiah Primate. On 21 Jan. 1652/3 "John Levett, D.C.L., of York" begs an allowance for attending on the Committee.

Both John and Thomas Levett were probably Royalists, and they appear on the Calendars of the Committee for Advancing Money (pages 769 and 1142). In each case, heard in 1649-50, both brothers were cited to appear, but neither appeared, and the resulting fine was ordered to be levied by distress on John Levett's estate.

Ralph Levett, second son of Thomas Levett of Melton, was baptized at Melton 3 Jan. 1600. Following his father's wish, he matriculated at Christ's College, Cambridge, as a pensioner, in July 1617. This was the college of John Milton, and John Wilson of the First Church in Boston took his degree there, as did Ezekiel Rogers, the founder of Rowley, Mass., and Thomas Jenner of Roxbury, Weymouth, and Saco. Ralph Levett took his B.A. in 1620/1, and proceeded M.A. in 1624, in which latter year he was ordained a deacon at York. Perhaps he had a curacy in Yorkshire, but he was soon associated with Lincolnshire. It may be that he knew Wheelwright at Cambridge, for they were there at the same time, though Wheelwright took his M.A. at Sidney Sussex College in 1618, one year after Ralph Levett was matriculated at Christ's College.

On 25 Jan. 1631/2, as shown above, "Mr. Ralfe Levitt and Anne Hutchinson" were married at Bilsby.* She was a daughter of Edward Hutchinson of Alford and therefore a sister of the second wife of John Wheelwright. Perhaps Wheelwright himself performed the ceremony. In 1633-34 "Radulphus Levett, rector," signs the transcripts of Grainsby, Lincolnshire. On 3 Apr. 1635, when the former rector, Thomas Humphrey, was buried, "Ralph Levitt, M.A.," was presented to the rectory of Grainsby by Frances, widow of Sir William Wray†. (Lincoln Presentation * Canon Foster has found in the Bilsby transcripts some new data about John Wheelwright. On 22 May 1628 his daughter Susanna was baptized; she it was who married Edward Rishworth. On 18 May 1629, the day after the date of the Wheelwright deed, John Wheelwright's first wife, Mary Storre, was buried. Canon Foster has also found in the transcripts of Hogsthorpe, 6 July 1620, the marriage of Robert Towle and Elizabeth Lawson, and in those of Willoughby, 24 June 1624, the marriage of Georgius Dearebarne and Helena Robinson.

† These Wrays of Glentworth were a notable Puritan family of Lincolnshire, originating in Yorkshire and connected with the Wentworths and with the Melton Levetts. The father of Sir William was Queen Elizabeth's Lord Chief Justice, Sir Christopher Wray, who married a daughter of Nicholas Gurlington. The Gurlingtons were lords of the manor of Mumby, and of them John Wheelwright held land in Mumby. Frances Wray, a granddaughter of Sir William, married in 1640 the famous Sir Harry Vane, a lifelong friend of Wheelwright.

Deeds, 1635, p. 25.) The Grainsby transcripts for 1636-37 are missing. That of 1638 is signed "Radulphus Levet" and that of 1639 "Raph Levet." The transcripts for 1640-48 are missing. In 1649 the signature is "R. Levet, rector." The years 1650-63 are missing, and the year 1664 is signed by William Jackson. The transcripts show that on 6 July 1638 Thomas Levet was buried, and on 11 Dec. 1638 "Thomas Levet, son of Raph Levet and Ann his wife," was baptized. No record has been found of this Ralph Levet after 1649. He was the father of Francis Levet of Little Carlton, for whose marriage and children see p. 67 above.

Wheelwright was dismissed from his Bilsby vicarage in January 1632, and in 1636, with a party of relatives and friends, sailed for New England. What more natural than that Ralph Levett should entrust to his brother-in-law Wheelwright a near relative, perhaps his only nephew? John Levett's answer to the bill in Chancery shows that he and his brother Thomas had borrowed £3000 from Dr. Berry on the Melton estates. Evidently the family inheritance was beginning to go under the hammer before 1640, in which year Sir John Melton and Sir Arthur Ingram died.

If then we assume that Ralph Levett of Grainsby did entrust a near relative to his brother-in-law Wheelwright for the New England venture, what was the exact degree of relationship? Let us analyze the family of Ralph. His only brothers and sister were:

- A. Thomas Levett, the oldest son and heir, baptized at Melton 8 July 1594. (Vide supra.) My theory is that our Thomas Levet was his son, born in 1616.
- B. John, born about 1605 (vide supra); living in 1665; too young to have been the father of our Thomas Levet.
- C. Peter, born 1610-11. In Peile's Register we find that as the son of Thomas Levett of Melton he was admitted pensioner at Christ's College, Cambridge, 27 Jan. 1628/9. He had attended the Rotherham School under Mr. Thomas Bonner. He proceeded B.A. 1632/3, M.A. 1636, and became vicar of Cantley, near Doncaster, where he died in 1672. Perhaps in 1666 he was vicar of Boynton, co. York. He was too young to have been the father of our Thomas Levet.
- D. Jane, born 1607; married in 1627 Andrew Goodhand of Kirmond in Lincolnshire, near Grainsby. His great-uncle Nicholas married Judith Harneis, the sister of Thomas, who married Esther Hutchinson. Jane Goodhand died in 1632, and is buried at Melton.

In the next preceding generation of Melton Levetts we find that Thomas Levett, the father of Ralph, had only the following brothers and sisters:

- A. William Levett of Bentley, Yorkshire, born 1574; married Elizabeth Vickars or Wray (widow probably of Thomas Sheppard), who died 1635, leaving a will which mentions daughter Dorothy Sheppard, grandchild Thomas Sheppard, and nephew William Vickars. William Levett himself died 1638. His will is not extant, but his inquisition post mortem gives as his next heir his nephew Thomas Levett of Tixover, and says that William Levett made his will 14 May 1638; in it he left his lands to "my cozen Thomas Levet son of my brother Robert Levet." Apparently he had no children and did not wish his lands to go to his spendthrift nephew of Tixover.

- B. Robert Levett of Normanton, born 1576; married in 1605 Frances, daughter of John Nalson of Snyderdale, a hamlet of Normanton. His children are thus recorded on the Normanton register:

- i. KATHERINE, daughter of Robert Levett of Snyderdale, bapt. 29 June 1607; d. 12 May 1610.
- ii. THOMAS, son of Leavett of Snyderdale, bapt. 3 Sept. 1609.
- iii. ELIZABETH, daughter of Robert Levett of Snyderdale, bapt. 21 July 1611.
- iv. JOHN, son of Robert Levett of Snyderdale, bapt. 21 Sept. 1613.
- v. ELIZABETH, daughter of Robert Levett of Normanton, bapt. 9 Oct. 1617; bur. 3 Apr. 1625.
- vi. THOMAS, son of Robert Levett of Normanton, bapt. 1 May 1619. He is said in Mr. Gibson-Cullum's Levett pedigree to have married Joanna, daughter of John Jaques of Epworth, co. Lincoln, and to have been the progenitor of the Normanton Levetts and Hansons.
- vii. MARIE, daughter of Robert Levett of Normanton, bapt. 3 July 1621.
- viii. ROBERT, son of Robert Levett of Normanton, bapt. 7 Nov. 1622; bur. 19 Mar. 1625.
- ix. RALPH, son of Robert Levett of Normanton, bapt. 28 Aug. 1623; bur. 14 Oct. 1625.
- x. AGNES, daughter of Robert Levett of Normanton, bapt. 15 April 1627; bur. 29 July 1627.
- xi. JANE, daughter of Robert Levett of Normanton, bur. 29 May 1627.

Robert Levett himself was buried at Normanton 26 Jan. 1655/6. No will is extant. According to the records shown above he had two sons named Thomas, of whom one was born in 1609, and the other in 1619. If, as was sometimes the case, he had two surviving sons named Thomas, it is possible that one of them was our Thomas Levett; but his brother William, in his will referred to above, leaves his land to Thomas, "son of my brother Robert Levett of Normanton"; therefore in 1638 Robert had apparently but one son Thomas.

- C. Catherine Levett, born 1578; married William Strelley of Strelley.

- D. Elizabeth Levett, born ———; married John Morley.

Apparently in this generation there are no possibilities for our Thomas Levett, unless we assume that Robert had two surviving sons named Thomas, and that one of them was our ancestor—a rather violent assumption. The children of this generation would be cousins of Ralph Levett of Grainsby.

Going back one generation, we find that Ralph Levett of Melton, the grandfather of Ralph of Grainsby, had no brothers and but two sisters, Anne and Jane. There are no possibilities here, and the relationship is moved one degree farther off.

William Levett of Normanton and Melton, the great-great-grandfather of Ralph of Grainsby, married Elizabeth, daughter and coheir of William Wentworth of Sprotborough. No will is extant. His administration is on file at York. The son and heir, Nicholas Levett, born in 1524, survived his own son Ralph and died in 1598. We find no record of brothers or sisters.

Thus in five generations of the Melton Levetts there is apparently but one possibility for our Thomas Levett, namely: he may have been a son of Thomas of Tixover and a nephew of Ralph of Grainsby, the brother-in-law of John Wheelwright. The dates for such a theory harmonize so well, and the probability of a Wheelwright and Wentworth connection is so strong, that until proof to the contrary is shown I feel convinced that this is our line. Could the wills of any of the four sons of Thomas Levett of Melton be found, this theory might be confirmed or upset. But in spite of a careful search at both principal and diocesan registries, no probate proceedings for any of the four sons have been discovered. Probably Thomas and Ralph Levett died during the confused Commonwealth period, from 1650 to 1660. But John Levett was living in 1665, and Peter Levett, we know, died in 1672.

In the exhaustive search for Levetts in Lincolnshire and Yorkshire I desire to thank my friend Canon C. W. Foster, editor of the Lincoln Record Society. Canon Foster's suggestions have been most helpful, and have resulted in tracing the Melton Levetts into Lincolnshire. With his aid a thorough search has now been made of Lincoln Subsidy Rolls, Wills and Administrations, Institutions and Presentation Deeds, etc.

Among other early Levetts in New England the explorer, Capt. Christopher Levett, whose life has been so ably written by Hon. James Phinney Baxter for the Gorges Society, comes first. He bore the same arms as the Melton Levetts, and the Visitation of Dorset in 1623 gives his pedigree (2 Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, vol. 2, p. 354). There may have been a connection between the families, but Christopher was descended not from the Melton Levetts, but from another line, the Levetts of Bolton Percy.

The pedigree in the Visitation of Dorset began with "——— Levett of Harbord, co. York," who had three sons, Richard, William, and Percival. This undoubtedly means Harewood, in the West Riding of Yorkshire. William Levett of Harewood died in 1569. A Chancery proceeding was begun by his oldest son Matthew in 1570 (Levett v. Levett, Series 2, Bundle 116, No. 40). It recites that by his second wife William Levett of Harewood left four sons, Richard, William, Percival, and Charles. These are undoubtedly the sons of "——— Levett of Harbord," and Percival was the godson and cousin of Francis Levet of Bolton Percy, mentioned in his will of 1614/15. William of Harewood was probably* the son William mentioned in the will of his father Richard of Bolton Percy in 1567. This establishes the following pedigree:

1. JOHN LEVETT of Bolton Percy, whose will was proved 1526 (York Wills, vol. 9, fo. 364), married AGNES ———.

Children:

- i. WILLIAM; his will of 1546 mentions sons Guy, Francis, John.
- ii. JOHN, a clerk; under 23 in 1526; admon. in 1575.
- iii. ROBERT.
2. iv. RICHARD, executor of his father's will.
- v. ISABEL, m. ——— KENDALL.
- vi. ALISON, m. ——— PICKERING.
2. RICHARD LEVIT, of Appleton in Bolton Percy, whose will was proved 1567 (York Wills, vol. 17, fo. 759), married first ELLEN ———; and secondly CONSTANCE ———.

Children by first wife:

- i. HENRY, of Appleton; will proved 1597.
3. ii. WILLIAM.
- iii. KATHERINE.

* There was also a branch of the Levetts at Holme and Lund in the East Riding, in which Matthew and William were family names. It may be that William of Harewood came from this line, but their wills do not indicate this, and the mention of a godson Percival Levet in the will of Francis Levet seems to connect the line of Christopher with the Bolton Percy family.

- iv. ISABEL.
- v. ROBERT.
- vi. JAMES.
- vii. ELLEN.

Children by second wife:

- viii. THOMAS.
- ix. MARGARET.

3. WILLIAM LEVETT, of Harewood, married first ANNE ———; and secondly JOAN YNGLANDE. Admon. 6 July 1569 (Dean and Chapter Vacancy Act Book, 1568-70, fo. 165).

Children by first wife:

- i. MATTHEW.
- ii. ELIZABETH, m. WILLIAM NAWTE.
- iii. ANNE, m. JOHN WARDMAN.
- iv. KATHERINE, m. OTHO WARDMAN.

Children by second wife:

- v. RICHARD. Mayor of Doncaster. His will of 1618 mentions only one son, William. Alderman of Doncaster, whose will of 1643 mentions two sons, Robert and John, and four daughters.
- vi. WILLIAM, twin brother to Richard, of whom there is no further record.
- 4. vii. PERCIVAL, b. 1560.
- viii. CHARLES, probably of Scrayingham, m. GRACE AMPLEFORTH.
- ix. JOAN, m. THOMAS USHER.

4. PERCIVAL LEVETT, born 1560, was freeman of York 1581, inn-keeper, and sheriff of the City of York 1597. He was buried at St. Martin's, Micklegate, 13 Feb. 1625. He married ELIZABETH ROTHERFORTH, daughter and heiress of Alexander.

Children:

- i. MARY, bapt. 1581; m. JOHN SMITH of Cottingham.
  - ii. RUDDERFORTH, bapt. 1582; d. 1584.
  - iii. GRACE, bapt. 1584; m. WILLIAM TODD of York.
  - 5. iv. CHRISTOPHER, b. 5 Apr. 1586.
  - v. PERCIVAL, merchant of York; had nine children, but no child named Thomas.
  - vi. ANNE, m. (1) 1623 CHRISTOPHER TOPHAM of York, perhaps uncle of the Toppans of Newbury; m. (2) 1627 JOSEPH MICKLETHWAITE of Swyne, great-grandfather of Viscount Micklethwaite.
5. CAPT. CHRISTOPHER LEVETT, born 5 Apr. 1586. He is the well-known explorer who sailed to New England in 1623, and again in 1630, in the Porcupine, and died at sea in 1631. He married first MERCY MORE, daughter of Robert, rector of Guisley, York; and secondly FRANCES LOTTISHAM, daughter of Oliver, of co. Somerset.

Children by first wife:

- i. SARAH, b. 1610; m. ROBERT HITCH, rector of Normanton and dean of York.
- ii. REBECCA, b. 1612; d. young.
- iii. MARY, b. 1613; d. unm. 1644. Her will, proved 1644/5, mentions all her kindred (York Wills).
- iv. JEREMIAH, b. 1614; rector of Leyton in Essex; m. EDITH ———; d. 1650.

Children by second wife:

- v. TIMOTHY, b. 1617; of West Lydford in co. Somerset. Will dated 1650, proved 1669, mentions wife FLORENCE, children Mary and Joan.
- vi. ELIZABETH, b. 1619; d. unm.

Thus the line of Christopher Levett contained no near relative named Thomas. It may be that our Thomas Levet was a distant connection, but this is unlikely.

New information concerning Christopher Levett's last voyage to New England is contained in a Chancery proceeding begun in 1631 by his widow against Thomas Wright and Robert Gough of Bristol, owners of the ship Porcupine. The proceedings give in detail the sailing agreement and mention the grant of 6000 acres to Levett.

Concerning John Leavitt of Hingham, Mass., Mr. Sheldon Leavitt, Jr., writes that the earliest known record appears in Dorchester, Mass., where in 1634 land was granted to him by the town. In 1636 he was made a freeman of Hingham, where first a house-lot and in the course of time much other land was granted to him. His first wife (possibly, according to Pope, the Mary Lovitt of the Dorchester Church) died at Hingham 4 July 1646, and he married for his second wife, 16 Dec. 1646, Sarah, daughter of Edward Gilman, then of Hingham, Mass., and later of Exeter, N. H. For many years he was a deacon of the church at Hingham and a selectman of the town, which he represented for several sessions in the General Court. He died in 1691, leaving a will, filed in Boston, in which he calls himself "a taylor," and spells his name as above. Some of his children moved to Exeter, and became the ancestors of a distinguished family of Leavitts there, among whom was Dudley Leavitt, the compiler of an excellent Farmer's Almanac. I can find no reason for believing that any connection existed between these Leavitts and our Thomas Levet. Perhaps John Leavitt came from the Essex Levitts, for whom see the next paragraph.

The affidavit of Nathaniel and Abraham Drake (vide supra) has led some to believe that our Thomas Levet, like his wife Isabel Bland, came from co. Essex. In Essex there were several families of Levitts, one of which, the Levitts of Messing, had some connection with New England through the Whites. (REGISTER, vol. 55, pp. 22 et seq.) It may be that John Leavitt of Dorchester and Hingham came from one of these Essex lines, but a careful search of Essex wills reveals no Thomas Levet who could be our Exeter settler.

Thus a systematic investigation of these three sets of clues gives no positive proof of the ancestry of our Thomas Levet of Exeter and Hampton. The most probable line is that of Lincolnshire and Yorkshire, connected with both Wheelwright and Wentworth.

But if Levet were a protégé of John Wheelwright, he did not follow the Antinomian to Wells in 1642. The removal of their pastor scattered the Exeter settlers in that year, and in 1643 we find Thomas Levet at Hampton, next neighbor to Exeter, where his name is signed to a petition against Lieut. William Howard.

The list of grants and possessions in the old Hampton town records, made about 1644, in the beautiful handwriting of William Howard, the town clerk, shows that before that date Thomas Levet had married Isabel (Bland), widow of Francis Asten of Dedham and Hampton. The record follows:

II. 58. House lots and other ground granted &c. unto the several inhabitants of Hampton, compiled Anno 1644.

THOMAS LEVITT OF HAMPTON.

1. 5 a. of upland for a house lot granted unto Fras. Asten the former husband of Thomas Levitt's wife, lying betw. upland of Saml. Getchell, some-

- times Will. Hutton's, before that John Philbrook's to the West, and the upland of Thomas Sleeper's sometimes Chr. Lasone's.
2. 5 a. of upland granted to Thomas Levitt.
  3. 10 a. upland in the North plan of upland.
  4. 6 a. meadow granted to the above named Fras. Asten. former husband of Tho. Levitts wife, lying between the meadow & marsh of Timothy Dalton N.E. and Will: Howard S.W.
  5. 3 a. meadow bought of Anthony Taylor, betw. A. T. & Taylor's River.
  6. 6 a. salt Marsh granted unto him, betw. Widow Husse N., & Will. Maston S.
  7. 5 a. salt marsh bot. of Anthony Taylor.
- Additions to Anno 1658.
8. 5 a. bought, granted to Edw. Palmer.
  9. Granted to Tho. Levitt 2½ a. swamp betw. swamp of Sam. Getchell & Timothy Dalton.
  10. 5 a. salt marsh gr. to John Sanders.
  11. 4 a. upland bot. of John Samborne.
  12. 11 a. salt marsh beyond Falls River.

The Norfolk County record of the birth of James Levet in 1652 calls him "son of Thomas and Elisabeth Levitt," but this is a clerical error, repeated in Pope's Pioneers of Maine and New Hampshire. We may safely assume that the only wife of our Thomas Levet was Isabel Bland, daughter of John Bland of Watertown and Martha's Vineyard. John Bland was a stepson of Jeremiah Norcross, and his mysterious alias of "John Smith" has been explained by Dr. Charles E. Banks, in his History of Martha's Vineyard, vol. 2, pp. 41-46. It is possible that John Bland and the Hampton Drakes were of Yorkshire origin.

The old pronunciation of the family name was Lovitt. In spelling it our Thomas Levet seems to have used interchangeably "Levet," "Levitt," and "Levit." These are the forms in which the name of Ralph Levett of Grainsby appears: "Levet" when he signed his name, "Levitt" when others wrote it. In the case of our Thomas Levet the uncertainty of Colonial orthography is increased by the fact that apparently he could not write, and always signed by a mark, so that his name was spelled and written by some one else. It is "Levitt" in the Exeter Combination, written by his relative Wheelwright, and also in the record of a deed in 1659, in the "Wheelwright Deed," the Hampton record of 1644, and the Drake deposition. In signatures of 1654 and 1657 and in the Martha's Vineyard power of attorney it is "Levit." In the testimony in Drake v. Colcord, 1676, and a jury verdict of 1680 it is "Levet," and so distinctly in the wills of both Thomas and Isabel. In the Hampton petition of 1643 it was probably also "Levet"; a copy of this petition is in the Massachusetts Archives, and in it the scrivener has spelled the name "Livet."

In 1647, when Wheelwright was called to the Hampton church, Thomas Levet was already there. He lived in Hampton until his death in 1696, a quiet, useful citizen, seldom prominent in town matters. He was perhaps a tanner, though the only deed from him in the old records describes him as a "planter." He appears in 1654 with Robert Smith as an appraiser of the estate of George Haborne or Rabone, who was one of the Wheelwright group and probably a Lincolnshire man. In 1657 Thomas Levet and Godfrey Dearborn witnessed the will of Susan, widow of George Haborne and then the wife of Thomas Leader of Boston. Dearborn, who followed Levet from Exeter to Hampton, was a Lincolnshire man. (REGISTER, vol. 60, p. 308.) Levet's stepdaughter Isabel married Philip Towle,* who came to Hampton when Wheelwright was there.

* Towle was probably a Lincolnshire man, perhaps from Habrough. Many Towle wills are filed at Lincoln, but they throw no light on his ancestry. Several Towles are still living in Lincolnshire.

Thomas Levet served as selectman of Hampton in 1657 and 1667, and was constable in 1664. He served on several juries, and took the oath of allegiance to Massachusetts in 1678. He was "freed from Training" in 1681, probably on account of age or disability. In 1683, with eighteen others, he signed a petition that their poll-tax be abated, because of old age, "many about seventy, some above eighty, others near ninety, being past labour and work." In 1685 he signed Weare's petition against Cranfield. The Dukes County records show a power of attorney dated 16 Apr. 1691 from Thomas and Isabel Levet to their son John, authorizing him to deal with Isabel's share of the Bland estates in Martha's Vineyard. Apparently some dispute between John Levet and another coheir, Elias, son of Philip Watson, was settled by a division in 1699. John Levet's name in subsequent conveyances of the Vineyard land is spelled "Levit," "Lovet," and "Leavit." Thomas Levet died 28 Nov. 1696, "aged about* eighty," the town record says, and his will and inventory are on file at Concord, N. H. (Probate Records, vol. 2, p. 26, and vol. 3, p. 125.) An abstract of his will, dated 9 July 1692, is as follows:

To loving wife the thirds of all lands and meddows, etc., with housing convenient during her life. To wife two cows, two swine, three sheep, my brass and puter, the thirds of all my corn. To son Hezron Levet 100 acres at the new plantation, £20 formerly given him, and 5s. after my decease. To Hezron's son Thomas Levet £10, to be paid him at the age of one and twenty. Residue of lands and housing to sons Aretas and John Levet equally, John to divide and Aretas to choose. To son Aretas all in his house and half the wedges, half the cross cut saw, and half the tools about husbandry, with his house that he now lives in. To son [John] Levet the other half the tools mentioned with all carpenter tools and his house and ground. To son James Levet £10. To three daughters, Isabella Towle, Jemima Knowles, and Kezia Tucker, 5s. apiece. Executors: wife and son John Levet. Witnesses: Abraham Drake, Senr., Abraham Drake, Junr., Robert Drake.

Inventory, £210.1.0, includes all buildings, housing, barn, and house-lot containing 10 acres. 15 acres upland. 25 acres mead and marsh. 5 acres upland and swamp. 4 shares commonage. 60 acres in the North Division. 100 acres in New Plantation. Appraised by Abr. Drake, Senr., and John Smith.

Isabel Levet, widow, died 9 Feb. 1698/9, aged about 87, and her will and inventory are filed at Concord. (Probate Records, vol. 3, p. 165.) An abstract of her will is as follows:

To daughter Isball Toule one cow, one box of linen, and my wearing clothes. To daughter Jemima Knowls one cow and one sheep. To grandchild Sarah Knowls one sheep. To daughter Keziah Tucker 12s. All my puter and brass to be equally divided among my three daughters. Residue to son John Levet, sole executor. Witnesses: John Smith, Senr., and John Smith, Junr.

Inventory taken by Thomas Roby and John Tucke, £76.11.9, including "an estate at Mathes Vineyard."

The "three daughters," Isabel Towle, Jemima Knowles, and Kezia Tucker, were the three children of Isabel Bland by her first husband, Francis Asten.

The children and grandchildren of Thomas Levet may be arranged in a pedigree as follows:

1. THOMAS<sup>1</sup> LEVET had
  2. i. HEZRON,<sup>2</sup> b. 1644.
  3. ii. ARETAS, b. abt. 1646.
  4. iii. JOHN, b. abt. 1648.
  5. iv. JAMES, b. 10 Nov. 1652.

* The old record is torn here, so that it cannot be definitely stated whether it says "above" or "about."

2. HEZRON<sup>2</sup> LEVET (Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in 1644, according to a deposition, resided at Hampton, and died there 30 Nov. 1712. He was a tanner and shoemaker. He married, 25 Sept. 1667, MARTHA TAYLOR, daughter of Anthony of Hampton.

On 15 Feb. 1702/3 Hezron Levet and his son Thomas, who like his father was a tanner, made an agreement by which the son was to take over all his father's house, tanyards, and lands, and to maintain his father and mother in comfort "beside what my father shall get by his practis and my mother by stilling." The son also agreed to make certain payments to his four sisters. Both father and son signed their names "Levitt" to this instrument. (N. H. Deeds, vol. 13, p. 237.)

He married, 1 Aug. 1678, RUTH SLEEPER, daughter of Thomas, an early settler of Hampton. He was a farmer, and served in King William's war. No will or inventory of Aretas Levet has been found. On 25 Dec. 1710 he conveyed to his sons James and Thomas certain lands at Hampton. The estate of Thomas Levet, the father, was finally divided in 1725 by Sergt. John Levet and James, the son of Aretas. (N. H. Deeds, vol. 74, p. 154.)

His will, dated 23 Dec. 1726, is filed at Concord, N. H. (N. H. Wills, vol. 7, p. 638), and leaves to wife Deliverance the improvement of his estate; to daughter Deliverance, at age of 18 or at marriage, one-half the estate; if she has a male heir her share is to go to him; if not, it is to go to John Levet, son of "cousin" Thomas and grandson of Aretas. The estate, inventoried at £1029, included a halberd and some books.

Child:

- i. DELIVERANCE,<sup>3</sup> b. 6 May 1719; m. JEREMIAH CLOUGH of Salisbury.

5. JAMES<sup>2</sup> LEVET (Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born 10 Nov. 1652, died at Portsmouth, N. H., 4 Apr. 1718, and is buried in the Point of Graves Cemetery there. He married about 1692 SARAH PARTRIDGE, widow of Nehemiah of Salisbury and Portsmouth, a brother of Governor William Partridge. Her maiden name does not appear, but she was a kinswoman of Anthony Ellins, an early settler of Portsmouth, who in 1668 conveyed land at Portsmouth to Nehemiah Partridge and his wife Sarah, "my kinswoman."

Little has been known of James Levet, perhaps because he left no children, but he was the richest of his family. In 1668, at the age of sixteen, he removed to Portsmouth, then the most aristocratic settlement in the new province. There he was the clerk of Henry Dering, a Portsmouth merchant, and before that a tavern-keeper at Hampton. Dering soon removed to Boston, but James Levet remained at Portsmouth. His name was generally spelled "Lovet," that being the usual pronunciation of the name. He was selectman of Portsmouth in 1696/7 and again in 1708, deputy sheriff in 1694, coroner in 1697, and constable in 1706. In 1705 he was overseer of the will of Roger Rose. His will, dated 1 Apr. 1718 (N. H. Wills, vol. 10, p. 5), leaves all his property to his wife Sarah, and is witnessed by Thomas Beck, Jr., Elizabeth Furber, and Ann Barn. The widow Sarah Levet made her will 10 Nov. 1733 (N. H. Wills, vol. 14, p. 421), leaving bequests to grandsons Nehemiah Partridge and William Partridge, to granddaughters Sarah McBride and Abigail Chapman, to great-granddaughters Sarah Partridge and Abigail Partridge, to Sarah Braughton, daughter of Abigail Chapman, to great-granddaughter Sarah Beck, to granddaughter Mary Beck, to Mary, wife of Nehemiah Partridge, and to Mary, wife of William Partridge. The residue she left to Samuel Beck, who had married Mary Partridge. Her inventory is a long one and includes a silver tankard.

ROBERT HUCKINS OF THE DOVER COMBINATION AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS

By HENRY WINTHROP HARDON, A.M., LL.B., of New York City

1. ROBERT<sup>1</sup> HUCKINS was born probably in Devonshire or Cornwall about 1620.* He is first mentioned in any American record which has come to light as one of the forty-two signers of the Dover Combination, dated 22 Oct. 1640 (REGISTER, vol. 33, p. 93). In 1641 he was in that part of Dover then called Oyster River and now called Durham, and he signed the letter of the inhabitants of Northam, as Dover was then called, of 1641 to the Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony protesting against annexation to that Colony (N. H. State Papers, vol. 1, p. 128). In 1642 he had a grant of a twenty-acre lot, No. 16, on the Back River (REGISTER, vol. 7, p. 156, and vol. 33, p. 96). His name appears in none of the Dover tax lists, and this affords room for the inference that his estate was employed in catching, curing, or transporting fish, and was thus exempt from taxation (Hutchinson, vol. 1, p. 90, ed. 3).

* No relationship has been discovered between the family of Robert Huckins and that of Thomas Huckins, an early settler on Cape Cod. The compiler asks all readers who may have further information about any of the persons mentioned in this compilation to send it to him at 60 Wall Street, New York City.

"Old Mr. Huckins" was killed by the Indians at Oyster River 18 July 1694, according to Pike's Journal (REGISTER, vol. 33, p. 96; Quiut's Dover, pp. 81, 274, 277; Belknap's History, p. 138). The name of his wife has not been found.

Children, born probably at Oyster River:

2. i. JAMES,<sup>2</sup> b. abt. 1644.

ii. SARAH, b. 1654 (REGISTER, vol. 7, p. 156).

Probably others of whom no record has been found.

2. LIEUT. JAMES<sup>2</sup> HUCKINS (Robert<sup>1</sup>), husbandman and miller, was born probably at Oyster River, Dover, doubtless as early as 1644, for in 1664 he was taxed (REGISTER, vol. 4, p. 249).

He married, probably about 1671 (ib., vol. 7, p. 121), SARAH<sup>2</sup> BURNHAM, daughter of Robert<sup>1</sup> and Frances (N. H. Deeds, vol. 107, pp. 357, 359; N. H. Gen. Record, vol. 5, p. 190). She was born at Oyster River about 1654, for she deposed 31 Dec. 1673, "about 19 years of age" (N. H. Court Papers, 1672-3, p. 395). She married secondly, 17 Oct. 1700, Capt. John<sup>2</sup> Woodman (Lieut. Edward<sup>1</sup>) of Oyster River, who had been received as an inhabitant in 1657 (Quint's Dover, p. 33; Hoyt's Old Families of Salisbury and Amesbury, p. 366), and became successively commissioner, 1658, representative, 1684, delegate, 1690, and judge of Common Pleas, 1702-5 (REGISTER, vol. 9, p. 145). She is not mentioned in his will of 20 Dec. 1705 (N. H. State Papers, vol. 31, p. 545), and was probably then dead.

In 1676 Lieut. James Huckins was constable (Quint's Dover, p. 14), and in 1687 he was one of the two selectmen for Oyster River Parish (ib., p. 3).

He had a garrison-house, which stood in the outskirts of the Oyster River settlement, a few rods south of the house owned in 1908 by Andrew E. Meserve, east of the railroad and on the north side of the second road crossed by the railroad as it runs from Durham station to Dover. In Aug. 1689 the Indians ambushed and slew him and seventeen men belonging to the garrison while they were at work in the field which belonged in 1908 to the widow of Joseph W. Coe, and lay south-east of the garrison beyond Huckins's Brook. There they were all buried under a mound, which in 1908 still existed in the south-east corner of the field. The Indians then attacked the garrison-house, which was defended by two boys only and some women and children. They managed to set fire to the roof of the garrison, but the boys — "brave boys truly," says Mather — held out till the Indians promised to spare the lives of all. Yet they killed three or four of the children and carried away the rest of the inmates, except one of the boys, doubtless Robert<sup>3</sup> Huckins, who escaped the next day. (Mather's Magnalia, App. Art. vi.; REGISTER, vol. 7, p. 156; N. H. Gen. Record, vol. 3, p. 80.) The garrison-house was destroyed (Thompson's Landmarks, p. 173, note 2). Lieut. Huckins's widow was recovered after a year of captivity at Fort Androscoggin.

Children, born at Oyster River (REGISTER, vol. 7, p. 121):

3. i. ROBERT,<sup>3</sup> born probably 12 Dec. 1672, although the record, if correctly transcribed, says "Sarah."

ii. SARAH, b. 12 Dec. 1674; d. s.p.[?] 14 Oct. 1705 (N. H. Gen. Record, vol. 3, p. 145); m. JAMES<sup>3</sup> CHESLEY, son of Philip<sup>2</sup> (Philip<sup>1</sup>) and Sarah of Oyster River, b. at Oyster River 1672[?], d. 15 Sept. 1707.

- iii. JAMES, b. 16 July 1675; d. s. p. bef. 1699; m. MARY<sup>3</sup> WOODMAN, dau. of Capt. John<sup>2</sup> of Oyster River, who m. (2) ——— Thompson of Oyster River (Memoir of Judge Ebenezer Thompson, p. 7, note). Probably others, none of whom survived the massacre of 1689.

3. ROBERT<sup>3</sup> HUCKINS (James,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), yeoman, miller, born in Oyster River Parish, Dover, about 1672, married about 1692 WELTHEAN<sup>2</sup> THOMAS, daughter of James<sup>1</sup> and Martha<sup>2</sup> (Goddard) (N. H. Deeds, vol. 17, pp. 53, 55; N. H. State Papers, vol. 31, pp. 101, 138; N. H. Court Papers, 1692-3, pp. 149, 191, 243, 247-8, 353; N. H. Gen. Record, vol. 5, p. 190). She was born at Dover and married secondly, before 1 Apr. 1727, John Gray (REGISTER, vol. 33, p. 346).

Robert Huckins doubtless rebuilt the garrison-house on or near the old site. In 1701 he had a mill on Huckins's Brook, east of the house (Thompson's Landmarks, p. 109). In 1698, as "eldest son and heir of James Huckins, the only son and successor of Robert Huckins, deceased," he conveyed 6 acres on Cocheco Marsh which had been granted to Robert<sup>1</sup> Huckins in 1648 (N. H. Deeds, vol. 6, p. 206). In 1705 he had administration upon the estate of "Robert Huckins, his grandfather" (N. H. State Papers, vol. 31, p. 545). He was successively selectman, assessor, and constable at Dover.

He was baptized 17 Jan. 1719/20, in his last sickness (REGISTER, vol. 30, p. 59). His will, dated 9 Jan. and proved 2 Mar. of that year, mentions his wife Welthean and all his children, and his brother-in-law James Bunker, who had married Anne<sup>2</sup> Thomas, sister of Robert's wife (N. H. Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 162). The inventory includes his homestead of 70 acres, 30 acres of woodland, one-eighth of a saw-mill at Webster's Falls, and 4 guns, the whole amounting to £606. 14. 0.

Children,* born at Oyster River:

- i. MARY,<sup>4</sup> m. bef. 9 Jan. 1719/20 WILLIAM<sup>3</sup> DREW of Durham (N. H. Deeds, vol. 107, p. 557).

born at Oyster River. He is probably the "James Hucksins of Dover" who married, 6 May 1756, ABIGAIL SPENCER of Durham (Rev. John Adams's record). He was killed in the French and Indian War, 1755-63 (Quint's Dover, p. 263; Halls of New England, p. 163).

By his father's will he received "all my land on the south side of the [Dover] highway with the houses and buildings thereon," 30 acres, opposite the site of the garrison-house.

In 1740 he was a member of the Second Foot Company at Dover (N. H. State Papers, vol. 9, p. 175). In 1755 he was in Tasker's company for the Crown Point expedition (Adjutant-General's Report, 1866, vol. 2, p. 137), which took part in the Battle of Lake George, 8 Sept. 1755.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By JOHN ALBREE, Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 1 May, 1912. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 p.m., a quorum being present. In the absence of President Baxter, Mr. John Carroll Chase, Vice-President for New Hampshire, presided.

The minutes of the April meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Thirty-nine resident members were elected by ballot.

The Council submitted a report recommending the passage of the following, which was read, and it was unanimously

* According to statement of Mrs. Florence A. Crane of Des Moines, Iowa.

Voted, That the President and Treasurer by and with the consent of the Council be, and they are hereby, authorized to negotiate a sale of premises 18 Somerset Street, on such terms (whether wholly or partially for credit) and with such collateral agreements (whether reserving options for repurchase or otherwise) as said Council may approve; and said President and said Treasurer are hereby authorized to execute, acknowledge, and deliver any deed of said property approved by said Council and any other instrument relating to the sale thereof, including collateral agreements concerning said premises of every name and nature and all releases, partial releases, discharges, extensions, modifications, and the like of any mortgage back of said premises which may come to said Society; and the execution of any such deed or other instrument by said President and Treasurer shall be sufficient evidence to any other party to any such instrument of the approval of the Council and of the due execution of every other formality necessary on the part of this Society to make such instrument valid and effectual.

The Council submitted a report recommending the passage of the following, which was read, and it was unanimously

Voted, That the President and Treasurer be, and they hereby are, authorized to sign, seal, acknowledge, and deliver in the name and behalf of the Society an indenture with Charles P. Bowditch, Francis C. Welch, and Charles F. Atkinson, trustees under the will of Caroline K. Corder, owners of the property known as and numbered 4A on Allston Street, whereby the said Trustees release to this Society certain restrictions or conditions affecting property of this Society on Allston Place, and this Society in consideration thereof conveys to said Trustees a four-inch strip from the north side of its adjoining property known as and numbered 3 on Allston Place, together with the new wall on said strip, and whereby this Society further agrees to rebuild a certain portion of the old wall on the land of the said Trustees, and whereby a party-wall agreement is entered into between the said Trustees and this Society; all in a form satisfactory to the said President and Treasurer and to counsel of this Society; and execution of any indenture of this general nature by said President and Treasurer shall be sufficient evidence to all parties relying on said instrument that the same is satisfactory in form and duly authorized.

Notice having been given in the call for the meeting of a purpose to amend the By-Laws, it was on motion of John Albree unanimously

Voted, To amend Chapter iii, Article 1, of the By-Laws, by substituting for "last Wednesday in January" the words "first Wednesday in February," so that the article as amended will read: "The Annual Meeting of the Corporation shall be held on the first Wednesday in February of each year in Boston, notice of which shall be sent to Resident and Life Members by the Recording Secretary, one week in advance."

The paper of the afternoon was by Rev. William Elliot Griffiths, D.D., L.H.D., of Ithaca, N. Y. Dr. Griffiths, making use of stereopticon slides, spoke first of conditions in Holland, social, economic, and religious, and then showed how the results of these conditions were and still are found in the States of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware. He commented on the manner in which the early history of the Dutch in New York has been perverted by confidence being placed in Irving's delineation, which was written as a burlesque and not as history.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served to the large number present.

2 October. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the May meeting were approved, and the reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, and Historian were accepted.

The resignation of Mrs. Adeline F. Fitz as a member of the Council was announced.

Forty-two resident members were elected by ballot.

The Committee in memoriam Capt. George Augustus Gordon, through its Chairman, Samuel Merrill, submitted the following report, which was ordered recorded, and it was also voted that a copy be sent to the family of Capt. Gordon:

The New England Historic Genealogical Society places upon its records this testimonial to the great personal worth of one who was for years active in the Society's affairs, and to the fidelity and rare intelligence with which for seventeen years he performed the duties of Recording Secretary.

As a member Capt. Gordon possessed in a high degree interest in the subjects for the study of which the Society was formed. His own work in this field began in his boyhood, and ended only with his life. He inspired in others greater zeal in genealogical research, and assisted many by helpful suggestions. As an officer he was painstaking and systematic, and the records of the Society as he left them are a model of order and completeness. Many will recall his participation as recording officer in the Society's meetings, and the prompt dispatch of business which his orderly methods rendered possible. The Society's books of record will show to future members the important part he took in the conduct of its affairs, and for this service the Society will ever remain his debtor.

Capt. Gordon was born in Dover, N. H., July 17, 1827, and died in Somerville May 3, 1912. After graduation from Dartmouth College he adopted the profession of civil engineer, and was active as such in the construction of cotton mills in Lawrence, Manchester, and Lewiston. Later, in charge of mines in Georgia, North Carolina, and Virginia, he continued his service in the same profession. Always entertaining positive views on every public question, Capt. Gordon found in journalism, however, wider opportunities to make his influence felt, and as an editor he engaged zealously in the political conflict which culminated in the Civil War. He was a firm believer in the doctrine of States' Rights, and as an editor of newspapers in the North and in the South he promulgated his beliefs with characteristic vigor. His ancestor, Alexander Gordon, a Scotch Highlander, fought for the Royalist cause in the English Civil War, and was sent to New England as a prisoner of war by Cromwell. George Augustus Gordon in his turn, when the American Civil War began, fought with musket as he had fought with pen for a cause which he believed to be right. He was commissioned captain in the Confederate Army, and for more than two years wore the uniform of gray.

Capt. Gordon was a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society for thirty-five years; he was recording secretary from 1893 to 1910, and a member of the Council at the time of his death. In all the relations of his life, whether in the Society or in the broader fields in which his earlier years were spent, his keen sense of right made him faithful to every obligation, and this fidelity was never shaken by motives of expediency or selfishness. This tribute is justly due from a Society with whose interests he was for many years closely associated.

Mr. Charles S. Jackson, Principal of the English High School, Lynn, read a paper on The Old-Time Gateway of the North. This is the region between the Hudson River and Lake Champlain, which was a route of travel even before the advent of Europeans. The speaker localized many of the stirring historical incidents, and illustrated his paper with stereopticon slides which he had made of the beautiful scenery.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Arthur W. H. Eaton, it was Voted, That the Society expresses to Mr. Jackson its thanks for the enjoyable paper, in which so many historic facts have been presented with poetic grace and with the added charm of personal enthusiasm.

After adjournment at 4 P.M. refreshments were served.

6 November. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., John Carroll Chase, Vice-President from New Hampshire, presiding.

The minutes of the October meeting were approved, and the reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, Historian, and Council were accepted.

On recommendation of the Council, the following vote in amplification and amendment of a similar vote passed 3 April, regarding a mortgage on the Society's building, was adopted, a quorum being present and voting:

Voted, To authorize the President and the Treasurer to borrow on behalf of the Society a sum or sums not exceeding in the aggregate eighty-five thousand ($85,000) dollars, and to give the note or notes of the Society therefor payable in not more than ten (10) years from the dates thereof, with interest thereon at a rate or rates not exceeding five (5) per centum per annum; and to execute, acknowledge, and deliver in the name and behalf of the Society a power-of-sale mortgage or mortgages (whether the same be first or second mortgages), with such special provisions, if any, as they may deem expedient, of the real estate of the Society lying on or in the rear of Ashburton Place, Allston Place, Allston Street, and Somerset Street, in said Boston; and execution of any mortgage by the said officers shall be sufficient evidence for any lender in good faith that the mortgage so executed is authorized hereunder; this vote being passed in amplification and amendment of a similar vote passed on April 3, 1912.

The paper of the afternoon was read by Mr. Charles Edward Mann, Clerk of the Massachusetts Board of Railroad Commissioners, and was entitled From the Stage-Coach to the Parlor-Car. The address was replete with incidents, information, and extracts from the records concerning transportation facilities in the old days. Rev. Mr. Titus, in moving a vote of thanks, spoke of the fact that many members of the Massachusetts Legislature, after attending the obsequies of President John Adams of Quincy, visited the Quincy railroad in order to satisfy themselves that a railroad was possible.

The tellers reported the election of the following as members of the Nominating Committee: Francis Noyes Balch, Lawrence Brainerd, Edmund Ingersoll Leeds, Charles Edward Mann, Mary Ella Stickney.

At 3.50 the meeting adjourned.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

The Committee on English Research desires to state, however, that although the Society has no official representative in England the Committee is employing Miss French for a part of her time as a searcher of records there along special lines for the benefit of the REGISTER.

PARENTAGE OF MRS. REBECCA (PARKER) HUSE.—Rebecca Parker Huse died at Harvard, Mass., 14 Sept. 1869. In the town record of her death it is alleged that she was a daughter of Ebenezer and Dinah Parker and that her age was 104 years, 2 months, and 12 days. On her gravestone her age is given as 103 years. This note records the results of a search for the parents of Mrs. Huse, a discussion of her probable age at death being purposely omitted.

Several writers have presented evidence to show that the father of Mrs. Huse was a soldier in the Revolution. (See Boston Evening Traveller, October 27, 1865; Fitchburg Sentinel, July 27, 1867; Green's Groton Historical Series, vol. 3, pp. 108, 481; also Green's Facts relating to the History of Groton, recently published, p. 166.) Dr. Green suggests that Mrs. Huse was a daughter of Oliver and Ennice Parker, born at Groton 22 Nov. 1760. One Oliver Parker of Groton was a soldier in the Revolution, but no one of his daughters was named Rebecca. Oliver Parker, father of the Rebecca who was born at Groton 22 Nov. 1760, removed about 1770 to Stoddard, N. H. He was not a soldier in the Revolution. On the contrary, he was a Tory, and fled from the country during the war. We must seek elsewhere for the father of Mrs. Huse.

Eleazer Parker married at Hollis, N. H., 3 Feb. 1763, Dinah Farnsworth. It is a firm tradition among their descendants that after marriage they lived a few years at Groton, and it is on record that in 1774 and early in 1775 they were residing at Plymouth, N. H. He was one of fifty-three residents of Plymouth who petitioned in 1774 for the privilege of sending a representative to the provincial legislature, and in Mar. 1775 his name appears in a division of the town into school districts. On the removal of his wife and children from Plymouth he did not accompany them. It is probable that he had joined the army. His family next appear at Douglas, Mass., and according to a custom of the time they were duly warned. The warrant was issued 28 Aug. 1775, reciting that "Dinah Parker, wife of Eleazer Parker, with children Sarah, Rebecca, Dinah, Eleazer, and Phineas, came from Plymouth, N. H., to Douglas in May or June 1775."

In 1777 Eleazer Parker and his family were living at Harvard, and there he enlisted in the Continental Army for the term of three years, serving in Capt.

Joshua Brown's company of Col. Timothy Bigelow's regiment from 14 Apr. 1777 to 14 Apr. 1780. About 1800 he removed from Harvard to Bloomfield, Me., where he was living as late as 1834. In his application for a pension, in 1813, he says that he is 77 years of age, that he served three years in Capt. Joshua Brown's company of Col. Timothy Bigelow's regiment, and that he was then a resident of Harvard. In a supplementary statement, in 1820, he names his wife Dinah, and states that she is 78 years of age. While in the service, his name on one company roll is written "Ebenezer Parker." His application for a pension is signed "Eleazer." The pension was granted to "Ebenezer," but paid during his life to "Eleazer." No reason for the use of the name Ebenezer is found.

Rebecca Parker, a daughter of Eleazer and Dinah (Farnsworth) Parker, the date of whose birth is unknown, was married in Dec. 1795 to John Denison Huse. He died in Harvard 6 Aug. 1840. They had five children. The writer has had in his temporary possession a file of letters, dated from 1830 to 1834, written at Bloomfield, Me., signed Eleazer and Dinah Parker, and addressed to "our children John D. and Rebecca Huse of Harvard."

AYERS BIBLE RECORDS.—The following entries are found in an old family Bible now in my possession. Comparison with some town records proves that it belonged to John Ayers of Portsmouth, N. H., whose wife was Mary Hunking. (REGISTER, vol. 24, p. 16.) The names of the children suggest the probability that John Ayers was a son of Edward and Alice Ayers; her gravestone exists in the Portsmouth "Point of Graves," and is recorded in Locke's Portsmouth and Newcastle Cemetery Inscriptions, p. 8, and in New Hampshire Genealogical Record, vol. 1, p. 16. The late Mr. Whitmore's paper on Capt. John Ayres of Brookfield shows reason to suppose the line to have sprung from him.

HARRIS-HAYNES.—On page 124 of the Hammatt Papers is a little paragraph purporting to give the record of an early Thomas Harris of Ipswich, whose widow Martha married (2) about 1683 Samuel Burnham, and whose children were Thomas, John, Elinor, Aquilla, and Mary. No evidence of the existence of such a family is found in the records. If "Haynes" is substituted for "Harris" and "Buckman" for "Burnham," it will be found to be an accurate record of the family of Thomas Haynes of Amesbury. (See Hoyt's Old Families of Salisbury and Amesbury, vol. 1, p. 197.)

Given under oath. the Adams party being notified to be present. before me Ozias Pitkin just. a peace Opened in Gen<sup>l</sup> Court May 21st 1726.

Test Hez: Wyllys Secretry.

The John Adams referred to was son of Jeremy Adams, one of the original proprietors of Hartford; for him and his descendants see REGISTER, vol. 59, pp. 315-320. The Richard Risley who deposes that he married one of the daughters of John Adams was a son of Richard Risley, another of the original proprietors of Hartford. From other documents we learn that Richard Risley married the daughter Rebecca, Edward Higbee of Huntington, L. I., the daughter Abigail, and John Brush of Huntington, L. I., the daughter Sarah. Up to this time even the name of the wife of Richard Risley has been unknown, as witness the Risley Genealogy, p. 42.

Both Jeremy Adams and his son John had grants of land at what became Colchester, from the General Court of Connecticut, and the document given above was offered in evidence by the Adams heirs in a dispute over title with the town of Colchester.

JENKINS.—In the REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 272, I confused four people named Mary, each of whom was the wife of a Joel Jenkins. Joel<sup>2</sup> Jenkins married three times instead of once, as stated. He married secondly (intention recorded 28 Jan. 1720/1) Mary Harnet or Harvell of Malden. By some unaccountable slip I credited this marriage to his son Joel,<sup>4</sup> who was too young for marriage at that time. That the latter married a Mary, however, is shown by his will, and in Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 66, p. 260, and vol. 47, p. 481, is proof that the Mary who married Samuel Graves was Mary, widow of Joel, Jr., and not of Joel, Sr. Joel,<sup>3</sup> the father, married thirdly, 5 Apr. 1733, Mary, widow of Dea. Thomas Taylor (Middlesex Co. Probate Files, No. 22.241) and daughter of Samuel and Mary Damon (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 25, p. 676). Her son or grandson, Thomas Taylor, was appointed administrator of her estate 10 Feb. 1767. (Middlesex Co. Probate Records, vol. 44, p. 77.)

Sarah<sup>4</sup> Jenkins (Joel<sup>3</sup>) married first (intention recorded at Boston 23 July 1732) James Harvell, who died before 8 Mar. 1754. She married secondly Samuel Killam of Wilmington. Children by first husband: 1. James, b. 7 Sept. 1733; d. 1 Mar. 1735. 2. James, b. 23 Dec. 1736. 3. Mary, b. 3 Oct. 1740. 4. Joel Jenkins, b. 8 Aug. 1745.

ELLA F. ELLIOT.

THE ANCESTRY OF ROGER WILLIAMS.—In Book Notes, a publication edited by Mr. Sidney S. Rider of Providence, R. I., under date of May 25, 1912, there is an article entitled The Ancestry of Roger Williams, now for the first time accurately and conclusively shown. In this article, which covers some seven closely-printed pages, Mr. Rider attempts to overthrow both Mrs. Bates's statements and my own statements on the matter in hand, and ends — by arriving at exactly the same conclusion as that reached by me in an article in the News-Sheet for April 1, 1912! Basing his argument upon a Chancery case, of whose existence the eminent genealogist, Henry F. Waters, Esq., was aware in 1889, and which he recommended at that time for examination, Mr. Rider decides that Roger Williams of Providence was a son of James and Alice (Pemberton) Williams and a brother of Sidrach Williams of London. This is exactly the conclusion which I accepted in the article in the News-Sheet and which Mr. Waters made known some twenty-three years ago, although much to his regret his work for the New England Historic Genealogical Society did not allow him at that time to undertake a special investigation in the matter. (REGISTER, vol. 43, pp. 290-303, July, 1889.) This Chancery case of 15 Aug. 1644, upon which alone Mr. Rider bases his argument, does not by itself prove anything in regard to the ancestry of Roger Williams, but it adds another strong link to the chain of evidence so ably forged by Mr. Waters.

Mr. Rider has failed to give an exact copy of the most important part of the Chancery proceedings, although he quotes the rest of the case at length. In his article (Book Notes, vol. 29, p. 87) he writes: "In April 16-35 [probably meant by Mr. Rider for April 16, 1635] he [Williams] refused to swear to an oath before a magistrate in Court. It was the same thing done by the Roger Williams before the magistrate of the Chancery Court in London in August 1644." This refusal on the part of Roger Williams to take oath is by far the most important point in the case, next to the fact that Roger and Sidrach are shown to be sons of Alice Williams. The desirability of having an exact quotation of the words of the Chancery proceeding relating to this refusal is apparent when one reads the following passage in the REGISTER, vol. 43, p. 301: "In his 'George Fox' (page 413), speaking of judicial oaths, Williams refers to 'eases that have befallen myself in the Chancery in England &c. and of the loss of great sums which I chose to bear through the Lord's help (rather) than yield to the formality (then and still in use) in God's worship; though I offered to swear as F. H. mentions they have done, and the judges told me they would rest in my testimony and way of swearing, but they could not dispense with me without an act of parliament.'"

Mr. Rider is entitled to credit for having followed up the Chancery suit, as was suggested by Mr. Waters, and for having thus added another link in this chain of evidence; but in view of the facts disclosed by Mr. Waters in 1889, some twenty-three years ago, he cannot justly claim that he has "now for the first time accurately and conclusively shown" the ancestry of Roger Williams. All, however, must concede that Roger Williams of Providence was son of James and Alice Williams and brother of Sidraeh Williams.

In regard to Roger Williams of Virginia, there were two persons of the name who emigrated to that colony, but neither of them could have been the Roger who was brother of Sidraeh Williams of London. One of these was Roger Williams, a servant, who came in the Southampton in 1622, aged 20 (Hotten's Original Lists, p. 233). As Roger, brother of Sidraeh Williams, was made overseer of the will of Ralph Wightman of London, dated 27 Dec. 1623 and proved 9 Feb. 1623/9 (REGISTER, vol. 43, p. 293), he could not have been in Virginia at that time. The other Roger Williams embarked for Virginia in the Constance, 24 Oct. 1635, aged 19 (Hotten, p. 137), and he is clearly not the Roger who was son of James and Alice Williams, for on 1 Aug. 1634 the latter was "beyond the seas" with a wife and daughter (Will of Alice Williams, REGISTER, vol. 43, p. 292).

In the Herts Genealogist and Antiquary, vol. 3, p. 242, in an article entitled Pemberton of St. Albans, is found an indenture, dated 10 Jan. 7 James I (1610/11) between Roger Pemberton of St. Albans, Gent., his son John, and James Williams, citizen and merchant of London, on the one part, and William Angell, citizen and baker of London, and Robert Angell, citizen and merchant of London, on the other part, for certain lands for the use of John Pemberton and Katherine Angell for their lives. For the marriage of John Pemberton and Katherine Angell see News-Sheet, April 1, 1912.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

THE NEW BUILDING OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.—The new building of the Society at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, the corner-stone of which was laid by President Baxter with appropriate ceremonies on 18 Mar. 1912, was occupied by the Society on Forefathers' Day, 21 Dec., and the valuable collection of printed genealogical works and the priceless manuscripts of the Library are now safely housed in a fire-proof structure, conveniently situated with reference to state, county, and city records, and so designed as to offer to every department of the Society the best facilities for the prosecution of its special work.

The first number of vol. 67 of the REGISTER is issued from the ROBERT HENRY EDDY MEMORIAL ROOMS in the new building, which are henceforth to be the home of the editorial department of the Society. These rooms have received their name, by vote of the Council, in grateful recognition of the generosity of the late Robert Henry Eddy, a portion of whose munificent bequest to the Society has been set apart as the Eddy Town-Record Fund and makes possible the participation of the Society in the work of printing the Vital Records of Towns in Massachusetts.

To those officers and members, past and present, of the Society who have given so unsparingly of their time, counsel, and resources in order to provide for the Society and its treasures a safe abode, and to those generous friends of the Society and of genealogy whose financial aid has contributed so largely to the success of this undertaking, all those interested in the preservation of family records are under lasting obligations.

MARYLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—The Maryland Historical Society, of Baltimore, is making efforts to obtain, by subscriptions from members and by state aid, funds for the construction of a new and commodious fire-proof building and also an endowment to provide for the maintenance of the library and the publications of the Society in perpetuity. Those who are familiar with the excellent work which the Society is doing in the fields of history and genealogy and with the high rank held by its quarterly publication, the Maryland Historical Magazine, among periodicals devoted to these subjects, will hope that means may be found to erect a suitable home for the Society and to ensure the continuance of its publications.

FERRY-FERRE-FERÉT.—The Ferry-Ferre-Ferét Family Historical Association of America, made up of descendants of Charles Ferre, who settled at Springfield, Mass., in 1660, was organized at Boston 4 June 1912. The office of the Association is at 912 Penn Mutual Building, 24 Milk Street, Boston, Mass., and the secretary-treasurer is Rhoda Emma Ferry, from whom and also from Aaron Ferre Randall, acting-president, circulars describing the purpose of the organization and giving information about the immigrant ancestor may be obtained.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Cooper.—Dea. John of Cambridge, Mass., who was baptized at Dedham, co. Essex, England, 14 Mar. 1618, and died at Cambridge, Mass., 22 Aug. 1691, by Miss Hattie B. Cooper, 1 Kensington Park, Roxbury, Mass.

Devereux.—John of Salem and Marblehead, Mass., 1630-1636, by Mrs. F. M. Angellotti, San Rafael, Cal.

Newcomb.—Andrew of England (probably Devonshire) or Wales, who was born about 1618 and died at Boston, Mass., in Nov. 1686, by B. M. Newcomb, 200 Davis Street, San Francisco, Cal.

HON. JOSEPH BURBEEN WALKER, A.M.

By FRANKLIN BENJAMIN SANBORN, A.B., of Concord, Mass.

JOSEPH BURBEEN WALKER might be described under many appellations, all honorable to himself, but in regard to the subjects of our Society's research, history and genealogy, he was both an historian of much learning, industry, and facility of communication, and in himself an historical antiquity of New Hampshire. This characterization of him is warranted by the peculiar circumstances of his birth, genealogy, residence, and life-long connection with the history, the jurisprudence, and the charitable and civilizing institutions of that State, at whose capital he was born, lived, and died.

His great-grandfather, Rev. Timothy Walker, born at Woburn, Mass., 27 July 1705, son of Samuel and Judith (Howard) Walker of Woburn, grandson of Dea. Samuel and Sarah (Reed) Walker of Woburn, and great-grandson of Samuel Walker of Reading and later of Woburn,* was graduated at Harvard College in 1725, and was the first settled minister of Concord, N. H., while it was known by its earlier names of Penacook and Rumford. That was his only parish, and there he labored from 1730 to his death, 1 September 1782. He married, 12 November 1730, Sarah, daughter of James and Mary Burbeen of Woburn and granddaughter of John Burbeen, a native of Scotland, who came to Woburn as early as 1660. She was born 17 June 1701 and died 19 February 1778.†

Rev. Timothy Walker's only son Timothy was born at Concord 26 June 1737 and died there 5 May 1822. He was graduated at Harvard in 1756, studied theology, and preached for some ten years, but was never settled as a minister over any parish. At the time of the Revolution he held a commission as colonel in the New Hampshire Militia and was a prominent patriot, and from 1777 to 1809 he was a justice of the Court of Common Pleas. He married his * REGISTER, vol. 57, pp. 350-352, 355, 356. Joseph Burbeen Walker was the author of a monograph in which he sought to prove that this last-mentioned Samuel was son of Capt. Richard Walker, who settled at Lynn, Mass., in 1630, and was later of Reading.

† An Account of John Burbeen . . . and . . . his Descendants, by Joseph B. Walker, Concord, N. H., 1892. Rev. Timothy Walker's Diaries, edited and annotated by Joseph B. Walker, were published at Concord, N. H., in 1899.

cousin Susannah, daughter of his uncle, Rev. Joseph Burbeen of Woburn, and his wife Esther (Pool). She was born 11 April 1746 and died 28 September 1828.

Among the fourteen children of Hon. Timothy and Susannah (Burbeen) Walker the youngest son was Joseph, who was born at Concord 12 January 1782 and died 3 March 1833. He was a captain in the New Hampshire Militia, and married, 22 March 1820, Ann Sawyer, born 21 June 1786, daughter of Dea. Moses and Ann (Fitz) Sawyer of Salisbury, Mass., and a descendant of William Sawyer of Salem, Wenham, and Newbury, Mass.*

Upon the home-lot of his worthy ancestor, Rev. Timothy Walker, and in the house of his father, Capt. Joseph Walker, Joseph Burbeen Walker, named for his other clerical great-grandfather, Joseph Burbeen, was born, 12 June 1822. On that estate, which he inherited, he lived all his life; and there, in the earlier house of Parson Walker, he died, 8 January 1913, at past the patriarchal age of ninety.

His mother, Ann (Sawyer) Walker, died 25 December 1824, before he had attained the age of three years, and his father died when the boy was only ten; but his inherited estate was carefully managed by his guardian, Richard Bradley, and after attending the Concord schools as a boy, he was sent in 1833 as a lad of sixteen to Phillips Exeter Academy, where he graduated in 1841, and immediately entered Yale College, graduating there in 1844. In the meantime, in 1839, on the advice of the celebrated surgeon, Dr. William Perry of Exeter, he intermitted study there, and at the age of seventeen went South for the winter of 1839-40, traversing the southern Atlantic States to Charleston, S. C., and after some time there, going on to Savannah and Cuba. His health and his knowledge of mankind were improved by this early experience of travel, and when, fifty years later, he went to visit his married daughter, Mrs. Charles M. Gilbert, at Savannah, he was a guest at the same Charleston hotel at which he had resided in 1839-40.

In 1844-45 he studied law for a time at the Harvard Law School, but completed his law studies in the office of Hon. Charles Henry Peaslee of Concord, a congressman from New Hampshire, and one of the most active advocates in the Democratic party of the establishment of the excellent Asylum for the Insane at Concord. Of this institution Mr. Walker became a trustee in 1847, at the age of twenty-five, and continued as one of the trustees for sixty years.

Mr. Walker was admitted to the New Hampshire bar in March 1847, but in 1853 he gave up the practice of law, having inherited the Parsonage farm, a very large one, which he carried on scientifically and profitably for many years, being also bank director, railroad director, and an active participant in the political affairs of his native city and state. He served on the Concord School Board and on the Board of Aldermen. In 1866, as a member of the New Hampshire House of Representatives, he reported the bill establishing the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, and secured its passage, and he was a trustee of this institution for many years. In 1883 he began a long period of active service on the Board of Forestry Commissioners, and he was a member and at one time the president of the Board of Agriculture. In 1889 he was a member of the New Hampshire Constitutional Convention, and in the fall of 1892 he was elected to the State Senate.

While still a very young man he manifested a lively interest in historical matters. Ever after 1845 he was an active member of the New Hampshire Historical Society, serving as its librarian for five years (1845-50), its recording secretary for four years (1849-53), its vice-president, and finally its president for two years (1866-68). He lived to see it established in the year 1912, through the munificence of one of its members, Edward Tuck of Exeter and Paris, in a noble hall, in which, perhaps, some of his valuable records and family portraits may find shelter.

These portraits, along with views and landscapes in Germany, were left to Mr. Walker, her cousin and one of her business agents, by the last Countess Rumford, Sarah Thompson, at her death at Concord late in 1852. They include three portraits of Count Rumford (an oil-painting, taken in London about 1783, representing him in the uniform of a British colonel; another, by the German artist Kellerhofer, painted in Munich about 1797; a third, the most cherished by his daughter, taken in colored chalk by Lane in 1809); a portrait in oil of the Countess Sarah, and another of Capt. Lefevre, supposed to be her half-brother; portraits in oil of the Countess Baumgarten, mother of Count Rumford's alleged daughter, Sophy, and of her only sister, the Countess Nogarola; and a colored-chalk portrait of the Baroness de Kalbe. There are, besides, German water-color landscapes, presented to Count Rumford for his services in keeping Munich clear of the allied armies; views in the English Garden at Munich, a creation of Rumford's; a pencil-sketch of his friend, Pictet, the naturalist; and an engraving of Baron Hompesch. I have omitted the most stately of all, Kellerhofer's oil-portrait of the Elector of Bavaria, Karl Theodor, in a fine frame. These remain in the ancient house of the Walker family at Concord.

The Rolfe house, built for the Count's first wife, Mrs. Rolfe, at the time of her marriage to Col. Rolfe, was occupied by her and Maj. Thompson, after her second marriage in 1772, till Thompson left Concord in the late autumn of 1774, in consequence of the popular odium into which he had fallen because of his intimacy with Gov. Wentworth and the other Loyalists of New England. It is still standing, a mile or two from the Walker estate, and has long been occupied as a home for orphan girls, according to arrangements originally made by the Count in 1797, but materially modified by his daughter in her will, and carried out by her executor, James F. Baldwin of Boston, and Mr. Walker. The latter had much to do with the care of this estate and charity during the past sixty years, and one of the many public services he rendered was to help administer and make known this endowed orphanage, the Rolfe and Rumford Asylum, for the poor and needy, particularly young females without mothers.*

Mr. Walker's relation to the family of a Bavarian count of the Holy Roman Empire was a part of his own family inheritance. After the return of Parson Walker and Col. Benjamin Rolfe from England, where they had obtained from the King in Council a reversal of the unjust decision of the New Hampshire courts against the land-titles of the early settlers of Rumford under a Massachusetts land-grant, as hereafter related, Col. Rolfe, a wealthy citizen, pleaded for the hand of the Parson's daughter, Sarah, as his second wife, and they were married, with great disparity of years, in 1762. Col. Rolfe died a few years later, leaving his young widow with a young child, a fine estate, and a brave new house, the largest in Rumford. Benjamin Thompson of Woburn, coming up the Merrimac Valley to teach school in the thriving town, captivated the heart of the rich widow, and they were married a little before the American Revolution. He was handsome, accomplished, with a turn for military life, and was made a major in the local militia by Gov. John Wentworth, the last of the royal governors of the flourishing Province. When the Parliamentary oppression of New England began, Wentworth (the real founder of Dartmouth College) sided with the Parliament, and Thompson inclined the same way, enough, at least, to raise animosity against him in New Hampshire, and particularly in Rumford, where he was threatened with indignities by the mob. Escaping from home by night, he took refuge with his friends in Massachusetts; and though they brought evidence that he was not an enemy of his native country, he thought it expedient after the fight at Bunker Hill to abandon the patriots and take shelter in besieged Boston. Thence he crossed the ocean to London, where he found favor with King George, who knighted him, and sent him to the Elector of Bavaria, who wanted a man of science to reorganize his artillery. For this and other good service the Elector made him Count Rumford, Thompson taking his title from his father-in-law Walker's parish. Mrs. Thompson, the first Countess Rumford, was Joseph Burbeen Walker's great aunt, being sister of his grandfather, Judge Walker; and he was therefore first cousin once removed of Sarah Thompson, second and last Countess Rumford, who received that title as Sir Benjamin Thompson's daughter after her mother's death. She survived in Concord till her cousin Walker was thirty years old, and she entrusted much of the care of her bequests in that town to him. The town had long before changed its name and had become the capital of the State.

As an historian Mr. Walker specially devoted himself to matters concerning his native state and its seat of government, the city of Concord, both before and after it became the state capital. His great-grandfather, a pastor there for more than a half-century, was involved, together with his son-in-law, Col. Rolfe, in a famous controversy with the Wentworths of Portsmouth, provincial governors, and their kindred and friends, who had given town charters and made settlements, after the true boundary between New Hampshire and Massachusetts had been established by the King in Council about 1740, in districts previously granted by the Massachusetts authorities. In the territory of Rumford and the region round about all the residents held their lands by titles drawn either from original Indian purchases or from charters given by Massachusetts. In 1727, however, only two years after the Massachusetts government had granted Rumford to Col. Rolfe and his associates, who later called and settled young Timothy Walker as their minister, most of this territory was granted by the authorities of New Hampshire, under the name of the town of Bow, to members of the Wentworth family and others, and they endeavored to collect fines and taxes from the older settlers. The "Bow Controversy," of which Joseph Burbeen Walker wrote the faithful history,* soon began, but did not come to an issue until twenty years later, when, the New Hampshire juries having given verdicts practically dispossessing Rolfe, Walker, and their townsmen, the original "Proprietors of Rumford" met, voted 100 pounds to pay the cost of an appeal to George II, and sent Parson Walker to London to engage counsel and press the appeal. This was in 1753. He went abroad in 1754, was fortunate enough to engage Murray, afterward Lord Mansfield, as counsel, and obtained in 1755 an order of the King maintaining the rights of the original settlers. This was disregarded by the Wentworths, who now brought suit against Col. Rolfe personally, and again the local juries decided for the wealthy plaintiffs. This time both Col. Rolfe and his minister (soon to be his father-in-law) went to London, in 1762; and following the advice of Mansfield, now on the bench and unable to appear as counsel, they won the suit, and obtained a decree from the young King, George III, reaffirming justice in the case.

Many papers by Mr. Walker were read before the New Hampshire Historical Society within the past sixty years; many reports of the New Hampshire Hospital for the Insane (its present title) were written or edited by him, and it has enjoyed for the space of two generations the advantages of his zeal, discretion, and wide experience.*

Mr. Walker's connection with the New England Historic Genealogical Society began in 1874, when he was admitted to resident membership. For sixteen years, 1878-1893, he held office in the Society as Vice-President from New Hampshire, and in 1907 his name was placed on the roll of corresponding members.

Dartmouth College in 1883 and Yale University in 1891 conferred upon Mr. Walker the honorary degree of Master of Arts.

Mr. Walker married first, 5 May 1847, Sarah Adams, daughter of Rev. Dr. Daniel and Caroline (Sawyer) Fitz of Ipswich, Mass. She was Mr. Walker's first cousin once removed, was born 30 June 1827, and died 21 November 1848. He married secondly, at Concord, N. H., 1 May 1850, Elizabeth Lord, daughter of Hon. Nathaniel Gookin and Betsey Watts (Lord) Upham of Concord. She was born at Concord 18 August 1830, and survives her husband. They were the parents of six children: Charles Rumford, A.B. (Yale College) 1874, M.D. (Harvard University) 1878, a well-known physician of Concord; Susan Burbeen, wife of Charles M. Gilbert, formerly of Concord and now of Savannah, Ga.; Nathaniel Upham, A.B. (Yale College) 1877, a lawyer of Boston, residing in Brookline, Mass.; Mary Bell, deceased; Eliza Lord, of Concord; and Joseph Timothy, formerly of Savannah, Ga., and now business manager of St. Paul's School, Concord.

Mr. Walker's death ended an illness not very long, following a period of robust old age, in which almost daily he walked some three-quarters of a mile down to the State House and the State Library and home again, regardless of the weather, and often took much longer walks. Because of deafness he avoided public gatherings during the last few years, and withdrew from general society; but he was able to hear and enjoy conversation in his own house and among his rare and cherished books, and he was still interested in historical studies, a high authority on all that relates to New England history or the religion of our ancestors. Among his own ancestors he counted more than the usual number of parish ministers, judges, schoolmasters, and civilizers of every sort; and to their memory he paid that wise regard and filial respect which consist in setting forth the worth of their character and the results of their lives.

OLD BOSTON FAMILIES

THE FAMILY OF CAPT. JOHN GERRISH

By Rev. ARTHUR WENTWORTH HAMILTON EATON, D.C.L., of New York City

A CONSPICUOUS Boston family of the eighteenth century was the family of Capt. John<sup>3</sup> Gerrish, merchant and ship-owner, a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and one of the original proprietors of Long Wharf. John Gerrish was a grandson of Capt. William<sup>1</sup> Gerrish, of Newbury in 1639 and of Boston from 1678, and his first wife Joanna, daughter of Percival Lowle and widow of John Oliver. Of the Gerrish family in general no complete genealogy has ever been printed, a brief record by John J. Gerrish, published at Portland, Me., in 1880, and some valuable materials given in the Essex Institute Historical Collections, vol. 5, pp. 25-30, being the chief contributions towards a genealogy of this family that have as yet appeared.*

Of the ten children of Capt. William<sup>1</sup> and Joanna (Lowle) Gerrish, John,<sup>2</sup> the eldest, born 12 Feb. 1645/6 (Bible record in REGISTER, vol. 51, p. 67), married 19 Aug. 1667 (ib.) Elizabeth Waldron, daughter of Maj. Richard of Dover, N. H., and settled at Dover, where in 1672 he was appointed captain in the militia, in 1683 was chosen high constable, in 1684 was elected a member of the special assembly convened by Gov. Cranfield, in 1689 and 1690 was representative from Dover to the convention that met after the overthrow of Andros, in 1692 was a royal councillor of New Hampshire, and in 1699 became assistant justice of the Superior Court. William,<sup>2</sup> the second son, born 6 June 1648, was a physician in Charlestown, Mass. Joseph,<sup>2</sup> the third son, born 23 Mar. 1649/50, was graduated at Harvard in 1669, married about 1670 Anna Waldron, sister of his brother John's wife, and in 1674 entered on a pastorate of forty-six years over the church at Wenham, Mass. He had six children, the eldest of whom was Elizabeth,<sup>3</sup> born 18 Dec. 1673, and married 16 Mar. 1698/9 to Rev. Joseph Green, who was born 24 Nov. 1675, was graduated at Harvard in 1695, and for eighteen years was minister of the church at Salem Village, now Danvers.† Another of his children was

† Of the eight children of Rev. Joseph and Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> (Gerrish) Green, Joseph, the third, who was born 12 Dec. 1703, was a well-known merchant of Boston and owned a valuable estate on Hanover Street, which he purchased in 1734 for £3600 from Gov. Jonathan Belcher. His portrait was painted by Copley. His brother Benjamin, seventh in the family, who was born 1 July 1713, married 24 Nov. 1737 Margaret Pierce of Portsmouth, N. H., daughter of Joshua and Elizabeth (Hall) and sister of his brother Joseph's wife. Hon. Benjamin Green was at first a merchant in Boston, but in 1745 he acted as secretary, with military rank, to Sir William Pepperrell at Louisburg, remaining after the capture of that fortress in Cape Breton as Government secretary until the island was restored to France. In 1749 he removed with his family to Hal-

Samuel,<sup>3</sup> the well-known bookseller and town clerk of Boston, and register of deeds for Suffolk County. Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> the fourth son of Capt. William, born 13 Jan. 1651/2, became collector of customs at Salem, and founded an important family there. Moses,<sup>2</sup> the fifth son, born 9 May 1656, married Jane Sewall, sister of Chief Justice Sewall, and lived at Newbury. Many references to him will be found in Sewall's Diary.

The parents of Capt. John<sup>3</sup> Gerrish of Boston were Judge John<sup>2</sup> (William<sup>1</sup>) of Dover, N. H., and his wife Elizabeth (Waldron). Judge John<sup>2</sup> Gerrish left a family Bible, in which he had recorded in his own handwriting the births of his eleven children.* Of the sons of this family, John<sup>3</sup>, as we have seen, settled in Boston; Richard lived at Portsmouth, N. H.; William lived in that part of Dover, N. H., which was later incorporated as the town of Somersworth; Nathaniel lived first at Berwick, Me., and then at Portsmouth, N. H.; Timothy settled at Kittery, Me.; Benjamin lived first in Boston, where in 1704 he joined the Old South Church, was a captain in the militia, was admitted to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1714, was made a sergeant therein in 1715, for a time served as clerk of the market, and then, about 1740, removed to Charlestown, Mass., where he died 23 June 1750, in his 64th year;† and Paul lived and died at Dover, N. H.

fax, there being admitted to the Council. In 1757 he was appointed military secretary to the commander-in-chief of H. M. forces and colonel of the Nova Scotia Militia. Later he became treasurer of the Province, and at one time as senior councillor he administered the government. He died at Halifax in 1772, his eldest son, Benjamin, Jr., succeeding him in the treasurership. His widow died in 1779. (REGISTER, vol. 15, pp. 105-109; Percival and Ellen Green, by Samuel Abbott Green, M.D.; Nova Scotia Archives, vol. 1.)

* REGISTER, vol. 51, pp. 67, 68, where this record, communicated by Mrs. Lucy Hall Greenlaw, is printed. The Bible containing the record was given at some time by a member of the family in New Hampshire or Maine to the late Mr. William Gerrish of Chelsea, Mass., from whom it passed to one of his sons. Unhappily it was burned in the Chelsea fire of 1908.

† Benjamin Gerrish of Boston and Charlestown m. (1) 28 June 1716 Martha Foxcroft, daughter of Francis of Cambridge, who died 14 Apr. 1736; m. (2) 22 June 1738 Abigail Bunker, who died 10 Mar. 1749, aged 70.

of Richard and Elizabeth (Page or Paige), who was baptized in St. Bartholomew's Parish, Crewkerne, co. Somerset, England, but came to live in Boston with her uncle Nicholas Page or Paige and his wife Anna, who were residents of Rumney Marsh, then belonging to Boston, but later a part of Chelsea. Richard Hobbes and Elizabeth "Pagge" were married at Crewkerne 13 June 1671, and the baptisms of the following children born to them are recorded there: John, 16 July 1673; Margaret, 20 Oct. 1674; Sarah, 14 Nov. 1676; Elizabeth, 4 Oct. 1678. Mrs. Nathaniel Oliver of Boston, whose Christian name was Martha, was a niece of Nicholas Paige and probably a sister of Sarah (Hobbes) Gerrish. (Somerset Parish Registers, vol. 5, p. 40, and information obtained from Crewkerne by Prof. Barrett Wendell; Chamberlain's History of Chelsea, vol. 1, pp. 659-660, vol. 2, p. 75.)

Concerning the family of the first wife of Capt. John Gerrish information has been difficult to obtain. John Watts, her father, was probably a sea-captain living at the north end of Boston, and it is likely that it is he whom Pasco Palmer mentions in a deposition, 8 Aug. 1677, as owning the barque Prosperous, in which Palmer had shipped as master, Watts accompanying him, on a fishing voyage to Cape Sable. (Suffolk Court Files, MS.) Lydia Watts, probably mother of Lydia (Watts) Gerrish, was a witness to the will of Samuel Shrimpton, 5 June 1697, there being probably some connection between the Wattses and the Shrimptons. (REGISTER, vol. 43, pp. 161, 162.) John Watts was not of the Chelsea Watts family, for that was founded by Edward Watts and his wife Rebecca, who came in 1710 from the parish of St. Botolph, Aldgate, London, to Winisimmet. (Chamberlain's History of Chelsea, vol. 1, pp. 352, 353.) It is yet to be discovered whether or not John Watts, merchant, of Boston and Arrowsic Island, Me., who married Elizabeth, daughter of Peter Butler, built a large brick house at Arrowsic, and removed thither from Boston in 1714, was John Watts, Jr., brother of Lydia (Watts) Gerrish. It is, however, significant that John and Elizabeth (Butler) Watts, who had three children, had a daughter Lydia baptized 15 Dec. 1717, shortly after her father's death. John Watts of Arrowsic was a partner in business with John Penhallow of Portsmouth, and was attorney in New England for Sir Bibye Lake, Bart., who was probably a relative of his wife. After John Watts's death, which occurred 26 Nov. 1717, John Penhallow married Watts's widow Elizabeth, who bore him three children. When Elizabeth died, Penhallow married secondly Ann, daughter of Jacob and Sarah (Oliver) Wendell, by whom he had no children. From the will of this John Watts we learn that he owned property not only at Arrowsic but also at Charlestown, Mass., and also in the parish of "Westharrock," co. Essex, England. (REGISTER, vol. 21, pp. 47-51; Suffolk Co. Probate Records; Penhallow Genealogy.)

Col. Nicholas Paige, merchant, uncle of Sarah Hobbes, second wife of Capt. John Gerrish, was in Boston as early as 1660, and again in 1665, coming from Plymouth, co. Devon, England. In Boston he became colonel of the Suffolk Regiment and a commander in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery. He had a valuable property, and his social position is indicated by references to him in Sewall's Diary. In the building of King's Chapel he was one of the largest contributors. He married Mrs. Anna (Keayne) Lane, daughter of Benjamin Keayne and granddaughter of Capt. Robert Keayne, whose valuable estate at Revere became Anna's property. On her mother's side Mrs. Anna Paige was a granddaughter of Gov. Thomas

Dudley, and niece of Gov. Joseph Dudley. She died 30 June 1704. and Col. Page died 22 Nov. 1717. (Sewall's Diary, vol. 2, p. 109; Chamberlain's History of Chelsea, passim.)

The 5th June 1700 Nicholas and Anna Paige, "in consideration of a marriage lately had and solemnized between John Gerrish of Boston, aforesaid, gun smith, and Sarah his present wife, our beloved kinswoman, formerly Sarah Hobbs, and for the advancing of a marriage portion with her," conveyed to John Gerrish "all that our messuage or tenement with the appurtenances and all the land whereon the same doth stand and is thereunto belonging and adjoining, situate lying and being over against the Exchange in Boston aforesaid now or late in the tenure and occupation of Alexander Bulman and Samuel Bill." At a town-meeting held 19 Dec. 1709 proposals were offered by Dr. Oliver Noyes, Daniel Oliver, James Barnes, John George, John Gerrish, and Anthony Stoddard, concerning the building of a wharf "from the Lower end of King Street, down to Low Water marke," and the selectmen were appointed a committee to consider these proposals and make report. The report was presented at a town-meeting held 13 Mar. 1709/10, and was accepted, the gentlemen named above engaging at their own cost to build the wharf. This was the origin of Boston's well-known "Long Wharf." (Boston Town Records, 1700-1728, pp. 66, 67.) In June 1734 a petition to be allowed to extend the wharf from ten to fourteen feet was signed by James Allen, Samuel Sewall, Thomas Fitch, Jacob Wendell, Andrew Faneuil, William Blin, John Gerrish, James Bowdoin, Jr., Thomas Hill, Andrew and Peter Oliver, Habijah Savage, and S. Boutineau. In 1736 we find John Gerrish's name in the long list of subscribers to Prince's Chronological History of New England.

Capt. John Gerrish died intestate 21 Feb. 1737/8 (REGISTER, vol. 51, p. 68), and 3 Mar. 1737/8 administration on his estate was granted to his son-in-law Daniel Hinchman and his elder living son Joseph Gerrish. His estate included a large amount of property belonging to him personally and a large amount belonging to the firm of John and Joseph Gerrish, of which he was the senior partner. The inventory of his personal estate included his mansion-house on King Street, valued at £2500, his "warehouse and interest on the Long Wharfe," £1250, land at Nottingham, N. H., valued at £300, a third of a farm called Davenport's Farm, £140, half the ship Cæsar, £2750, three-sixteenths of the ship Greyhound, £468. 15.0., a fifth of the sloop Raven, then at Nantucket, £100, a stock of gun-maker's tools and firearms, and a large stock of household furniture. His partnership inventory comprised chiefly a stock of dry-goods. The total value of his personal estate was £8661.4.0.; of his partnership estate £4591.7.2.

John Gerrish with his family lived, as we have seen, on King Street, and worshipped at the South Church. The property on King Street on which his mansion-house stood was probably acquired by Capt. Gerrish for £440 by deed from William Holberton, mariner, and his wife Mary, dated 1 Feb. 1711. The property transferred by this deed is described as "all that their moyety or easterly half part of a certain brick messuage or tenement and of the land appertaining thereto, belonging, lying, situate in Boston aforesaid, being parcel of the mansion house of the late Honoble. John Leverett, Esq., deceased, which they lately purchased of Ann Hubbard, widow, one of the daughters and coheirs of the said John Leverett . . . 120 feet in depth to be measured from the front of the house abutting north upon King Street, and so backwards southerly, the whole house measuring in length at the front fifty-one feet, eight inches, little more or less from the outside of both the end walls, and in the rear fifty-four feet, three inches little more or less, and in breadth about thirty-five feet, butted and bounded easterly by the land of Simeon Stoddard, southerly by a lane or passage way of ten feet wide, laid out within a foot of the said Stoddard's land into Leverett's Lane, so named."

At what date John Gerrish and his son Joseph entered into partnership we do not know, but soon after the death of the father the business must have been closed.

The title "Captain," which John Gerrish commonly bore, designated his rank in the militia; in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, to which he was admitted in 1700, he was made third sergeant in 1702/3, ensign in 1712/13, and lieutenant in 1714/15.*

Daniel Henchman. In 1728 he established at Milton the first paper-mill in Massachusetts, and in 1749 he caused the first edition in America of the English Bible to be printed, but "with a false title page, to evade the right of the King's printer." Gyles Dulake Tidmarsh of Boston, uncle of Giles above, probably an Englishman, made his will 23 Nov. 1737. In displeasure at his nephew he leaves him "one shilling and no more," this, however, in his mind being too much. How early Giles and Margaret (Gerrish) Tidmarsh settled at Halifax, N. S., we do not know, but in 1776 we find Giles one of the magistrates there. Children, born in Boston: 1. William,<sup>3</sup> b. 30 May 1733; A.B. He was for many years a deacon of the New North Church. His portrait by Copley represents him as dressed in a suit of olive-colored cloth and seated beside a table, his right hand holding a pen and his left hand resting on his knee. Mrs. Barrett's portrait also was painted by Copley, and she is represented by the artist "as wearing a robe of olive brown brocaded damask, with a dark green cloak ornameuted with scarlet. The dress is cut square in the neck, over which is thrown a muslin kerchief; embroidered muslin sleeves, a muslin cap and a pearl necklace complete the costume." John and Sarah (Gerrish) Barrett had eleven children, whose names are given in REGISTER, vol. 42, p. 263. Among these children were: Samuel,<sup>5</sup> b. 17 Jan. 1738; graduated at Harvard in 1757; m. S., after 1754; * and secondly, at Halifax, 3 Sept. 1768, MARY CRADOCK, eldest daughter of Hon. George and Mary (Lyde) of Boston, who was born 18 May 1723. The Boston Gazette for Monday, 10 Oct. 1768, has the following notice: "Halifax, September 8, Saturday last was married Hon. Joseph Gerrish, Esq. to Miss Mary Cradock, of Boston; a lady possessed of every agreeable accomplishment necessary to make the married state happy." (Reprinted in REGISTER, vol. 8, p. 28.)†

After Joseph Gerrish's death Mrs. Mary (Cradock) Gerrish was married, 6 Sept. 1779, as his second wife, to Rev. John Breynton, D.D., who was chaplain on an English warship at the first siege of Louisburg, and from 1753 until 1789 was rector of St. Paul's Church, Halifax, the mother Anglican church of Canada. In Sept. 1785 Dr. Breynton and his second wife, previously Mrs. Joseph Gerrish, sailed for England, and although Dr. Breynton retained the rectorship of St. Paul's for almost five years longer, he never came back to Halifax, and both he and his wife died in England.‡

Mary (Cradock) Gerrish bore no children to either husband.

At the time of his father's death Joseph<sup>1</sup> Gerrish was his partner in business. He was commissioned ensign, 14 Feb. 1744, in the Third Massachusetts Regiment, of which Hon. Jeremiah Moulton was colonel, and with this regiment he went to the siege of Louisburg in 1745. In this same regiment was also Joseph Fairbanks, who like Mr. Gerrish, after the siege, instead of returning to New England, settled in Nova Scotia. In the winter of 1746-7 Joseph Gerrish was at Minas, King's Co., N. S., and in an engagement there with the French received a severe wound. For a short time after this he was perhaps in Boston, but in 1760 his name appears on the plan of an intended town at Horton, King's Co., he having drawn land there. Before 1759 he was appointed naval storekeeper

* Hon. Jahleel Brenton of Newport, R. I., had twenty-two children, fifteen by his first wife, Frances Cranston, and seven by his second wife, the widow Mary (Neargrass) Scott. This second wife of Hon. Jahleel Brenton was the Mary Neargrass who with her sister Susanna was baptized in Trinity Parish, Newport, 26 Nov. 1721, Mary marrying (in Trinity) 19 Aug. 1732 George Scott, and Susanna marrying 3 July 1735 Daniel Ayrault, Jr. They were probably daughters of Edward and Rebecca Neargrass or Newgrass, who, it is believed, were Huguenots and originally named Niengrass, Niengros, or even Niencroix. Rebecca, the mother, was born about 1687, and married (1) Edward Neargrass, and (2) 17 April 1737 Daniel Ayrault, Sr., father of Daniel, Jr. (Rhode Island Vital Records, vol. 10, pp. 517, 462.) Jahleel Brenton, Jr., son of Hon. Jahleel and brother of Mrs. Mary (Brenton) Gerrish, became a rear-admiral in the Royal Navy, and had a son, Jahleel, 3d, born at Newport 22 Aug. 1770, who was knighted. Mrs. Gerrish's half-sister, Susannah, born 22 Apr. 1747, was married 4 Jan. 1767 to Dr. John Halliburton, who settled as a Tory refugee at Halifax, and had a son, Hon. Sir Brenton Halliburton, Kt., the eighth Chief Justice of Nova Scotia. Sir Brenton married at Halifax 19 Sept. 1799 Margaret Inglis, elder daughter of the Rt. Rev. Charles Inglis, the first Bishop of Nova Scotia, and his wife Margaret (Crooke). (See Eaton's History of King's County, N. S., and his monograph on the Inglis family.)

† Important notes on the Cradock family may be found in REGISTER, vols. 8, 9, 10, 17, 19.

‡ When Miss Sarah Cradock of Boston, Mrs. Breynton's sister, made her will, 10 July 1798, Dr. Breynton and his wife were living in Edgeware Road, Marylebone, London. In her will Miss Cradock leaves to "Rev. Dr. John Breynton, of Great Britain," a mourning-ring of the value of two guineas, and to her sister Mary, Dr. Breynton's wife, a mourning-ring and half of all her wearing apparel. In Dec. 1799 Dr. Breynton was dead.

at Halifax, with a salary of a hundred pounds a year and a clerk at fifty pounds. On 16 Aug. 1759 he was made a member of His Majesty's Council, and 5 Apr. 1760 was also appointed a judge of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas for Halifax.*

He died at Halifax 3 June 1774, and was buried three days later in St. Paul's Churchyard. The inscription on his tombstone reads: "Beneath this stone lies interred the body of Joseph Gerrish, Esq., late Naval Storekeeper of his Majesty's Navy Yard at Halifax, N. S., and for many years member of his Majesty's Council for the said province, and judge of the Court of Common Pleas. He departed this life June 3, 1774, in the 66th year of his age. His widow and children have erected this monument as a testimony of their affection and gratitude, and his [The rest of the inscription is broken off.]"

An admirable portrait by Copley, which was in the possession of the late Maj. S. C. Barrett of Chicago, is probably a portrait of Hon. Joseph<sup>1</sup> Gerrish.

The will of Hon. Joseph Gerrish was proved at Halifax 8 June 1774. All his real estate in Nova Scotia or elsewhere he leaves to his well-esteemed friends, Hon. Henry Newton and Messrs. John Burbidge and Philip Knaut, in trust for his heirs. His wife Mary is to have one-third of his estate in lieu of dower, during her life; and the remainder is to go, one-third to his grandchildren, the children of his daughter Mary Gray and his son-in-law Joseph Gray, namely, Elizabeth Brenton, Joseph Gerrish, Mary, Amelia Ann, Benjamin Gerrish, Lydia Hancock, and such other children as they may have, for their use, support, maintenance, and education, and the remaining third to his daughter Susannah, wife of Ephraim Staunus, for her and her children's use and support. After his wife's decease her share of the estate is to go, one-half to the children of his daughter Mary, share and share alike, when the youngest has attained the age of twenty-one years, or after the decease of their parents, and the other half to his daughter Susannah and her heirs. To his wife he leaves his negro man, Joe, and his gold watch. To William Nesbitt he leaves £50 for the latter's kind offices. The executors, who are the aforementioned trustees, also receive sums of money.

* "About 1764, Mr Joseph Gerrish, of His Majesty's Dockyard, laid out an extensive garden in the north suburbs [of Halifax] and imported fruit trees at great expense. This was a private enclosure, extending from Lockman Street to the beach, south of the Dockyard; his dwelling house stood in the centre and faced the harbour. Part of the old wall a year or two since was to be seen in Lockman Street." (Akins's History of Halifax City, in Collections of the Nova Scotia Historical Society, vol. 8, 1895, pp. 218, 219.) Gerrish Street, in Halifax, begins at Water Street, at or about the site of the above-mentioned Gerrish property, whence the name of the street. A building on this street known as Gerrish Hall was built early in the nineteenth century by Rev. Mr. Jackson, an evangelist, who held meetings there for several years. Subsequently the hall was purchased by the Free Church, Presbyterian, and was used as an academy and college for that body. After the union of the various Presbyterian bodies in Canada the hall was bought by St. John's Presbyterian Church and used as a Sunday-school house. Later it became the headquarters of the Presbyterian Divinity School, and so remained until "Pine Hill" was purchased by the Presbyterian Synod.

Rebecca (West)*, b. in Boston 19 July 1729, bapt. the next day, d. either at Halifax or at Windsor, N. S., 1893, "aged 74." He is said by Sabine to have been a Loyalist, but this is incorrect; he went to Halifax some time before the Revolution, and seems to have been successively of the firms of Proctor and Gray, and Gerrish and Gray. Children (list probably complete): 1. Mary,<sup>3</sup> b. 14 Jan. 1769; d. young. 2. Rebecca, b. Jan. 1761; d. young. 3. Elizabeth Brenton, b. 24 Dec. 1761; m. John Fraser. 4. Joseph Gerrish, b. 31 Jan. 1763; drowned 20 July 1785. 5. Mary Gerrish, b. 4 May 1765; m. Loftus Jones. 6. Amelia Ann. 7. William Spry, bapt. 13 Dec. 1767. 8. Benjamin Gerrish, D.D., a well-known Anglican clergyman at Halifax, N. S., and St. John, N. B., b. 22 Nov. 1768; m. ii. THOMAS, b. 22 Aug. 1742; doubtless d. young.

iii. SUSANNAH, m. EPHRAIM STANNUS; according to her father's will she had children, but their names are unknown. Her husband was no doubt the Ephraim Stannus who received his captaincy in the 64th British Regiment (serving in America) 12 Nov. 1763. (REGISTER, vol. 49, p. 166).†

3. HON. BENJAMIN<sup>4</sup> GERRISH (John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 19 Oct. 1717 and baptized the next day (records of the Old South Church), married in Boston (intention 19 Apr. 1744) REBECCA DUDLEY, who was born 28 May 1726, daughter of Hon. William and Rebecca (Davenport), granddaughter of Gov. Joseph, and great-granddaughter of Gov. Thomas Dudley. He was settled at Halifax, N. S., before July 1752, for the census of that date gives him as a resident of the town. He became at Halifax a prosperous merchant, the head of the firm of Gerrish and Gray. He was appointed, 31 May 1760, captain of a company of Halifax Militia, was admitted to the Council, 27 June 1768, and a member of the Council he remained for the rest of his life. He was also a judge of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas, and from 1760 commissioner for Indian Affairs.

He owned property in different parts of Nova Scotia, acquiring it either by grant or by purchase. One of the most important of his acquisitions was a farm at Windsor, Hants Co., where he erected a house, known as Gerrish Hall. The street running directly from the front door of this house to the entrance to Judge Haliburton's grounds was known as Gray Street. As has been said, one of the four parallel streets of Windsor is named Gerrish Street. Mr. Gerrish's property was later owned by Hon. Judge Wilkins, and later still Dr. D. B. Fraser erected a large house on the site of the old one, calling it also Gerrish Hall. This house was burned in the Windsor fire of Oct. 17-18, 1897.

Of the birth or death of any child of Benjamin and Rebecca * Joseph Gray and Rebecca West were married in Boston by Rev. John Webb 22 Aug. 1728. Rebecca West, b. at Bradford, Mass., 20 June 1706, was fifth daughter and fifth child of John and Mary (Webster) West. She was admitted to the church at Bradford 1 Aug. 1724, to the North Church in Boston, by dismissal from the church at Bradford, 25 May 1729, and to the Old South Church, Boston, 22 Sept. 1734. She died before 1762.

† Stannus bought property in Windsor, N. S., settled there, and gave his name to a street in the town. Windsor's four parallel streets are named, respectively, King, Gerrish, Stannus, and Albert.

(Dudley) Gerrish no record has been found, but in Boston Town Records, Miscellaneous Papers, it is stated that Benjamin Gerrish, his wife and daughter, and a servant, arrived 24 Oct. 1765 from Halifax. If Benjamin Gerrish had a daughter, she must have died young; but we venture the supposition that the "daughter" referred to in this record was a niece or some other relative of Mrs. Gerrish, and not her daughter.

From the Boston records we also learn that Mrs. Benjamin Gerrish arrived 3 May 1763 in the schooner Dove from Halifax, and that Mr. Benjamin Gerrish, gentleman, arrived 4 July 1766 from London in the brigantine Lydia. During all his Halifax career Mr. Gerrish evidently kept in close touch with Boston, and when the Congregational churches of Nova Scotia were helped by the Boston churches, he and Mr. Malachy Salter, another Boston merchant settled in Halifax, were asked to distribute the money. Both these gentlemen were no doubt prominent members of the Congregational church called Mather's Church, founded in Halifax very soon after the city began. (Eaton's History of King's County, N. S., p. 275; Collections of the Nova Scotia Historical Society, vol. 16, p. 166.)

Hon. Benjamin Gerrish died at Southampton, England, 6 May 1772, and was probably buried in England. His widow, with Giles Tidmarsh as her attorney, in 1773 settled her husband's estate. Mrs. Rebecca (Dudley) Gerrish was married secondly, at Halifax, 14 Oct. 1775, to John Burbidge, Esq., M.P.P., a native of Cowes, Isle of Wight, who with his first wife came to Halifax in 1749, and after living there a few years removed to Cornwallis, King's Co., N. S., where he was for many years a person of the highest importance. (Eaton's History of King's County, N. S., pp. 473-476.) He was one of the most liberal patrons of St. John's Church, Cornwallis, and in the old churchyard of that church he and presumably both his wives were buried. Mrs. Rebecca Burbidge died at Concord, N. H., while on a visit there, 30 Jan. 1809. Mr. Burbidge died at Cornwallis 11 Mar. 1812.*

A portrait of Mrs. Rebecca Gerrish was owned in 1892 by Mrs. H. H. Bradlee. Hon. Benjamin Gerrish's portrait was painted by Copley, and from his sister, Mrs. John Barrett, who owned it after her brother's death, it passed to her youngest son John. The portrait is of life-size and of three-quarters length (30 inches long by 25 inches wide). It represents the sitter in a brown coat, with laced cravat and ruffles, and wearing a powdered wig. The date of the painting of this portrait is not known.

Mr. Gerrish's will was made in Boston, 1772, and proved in Boston 7 Aug. 1773. The witnesses were Samuel Quincy, Samuel Clap, and Increase Sumner, Jr. The chief part of his estate he devises to his wife Rebecca, his nephew Benjamin Gerrish Gray, however, to receive his farm in Falmouth, Hants Co., known as Dudley Park Farm, consisting of a thousand acres, a grant to him from the Nova Scotia Government, and sundry pieces of land lying near it, including sixty acres of marsh which he had dyked at his own expense. Legacies of more or less value he leaves to his sister Margaret Tidmarsh and her husband Giles, his brother Joseph, his sister Sarah Barrett, and his grand-nephew Benjamin Gerrish Barrett, son of his nephew Nathaniel of Boston. He requests his wife at her death to remember his poor relations.

[The records of Mr. Chase begin here, but entries later than May 1819 must be by another.]

A record of John and Mary Caswell's family

* 1809 seems to be written over 1810. She was Susanna Haley by birth, a daughter of the first Samuel Haley, and the widow of Josiah Stevens, the much-loved missionary on Star Island. On the gravestone there the date of her death is given as 7 Dec. 1810.

† On the margin is written "Jan.," and on his gravestone on Smutty Nose Island the date is 7 Feb. 1811.

‡ On the margin is written "Jan."

§ There is some uncertainty here. The Columbian Centinel (Boston) of 6 Feb. 1811 notes among recent deaths: "In Portsmouth Mr. John Newton of the Isle of Shoals, Æt. 47." Locke in his Inscriptions has an inscription from the North Cemetery (Portsmouth) for John Newton, a native of Gosport, died 26 Jan. 1811, aged 48. These records fit the John (son of John Newton and Sarah Currier) who was baptized in Mar. 1763 and was the husband of the Sally Newton who died in 1804, as recorded above. The other man appears to be his son John, who was born probably about 1784 and is presumably the John Newton noted in the History of Rye as marrying Mary Haley of the Shoals 23 July 1804, the marriage doubtless taking place at Rye, there being just then no preacher at the Shoals, for Mr. Stevens had died early in July. This Mary Haley I take to be the daughter of John Haley (a son of the first Samuel, baptized in 1767), who married Mary Bellamy of Kittery in 1789 and died on the Shoals in 1803, as recorded above. John Newton, Jr., is to be counted as an elder brother of the Newton children baptized by Morse in 1800 (p. 90). There is no record of the children of this couple, nor does Mary Newton, as a daughter of John Haley, appear in the settlement of the estate of his father Samuel in 1814 and later.

|| In a petition of 12 Jan. 1818 to the General Court of Massachusetts Samuel Haley, the son of the first Samuel, whose death is recorded above, gives a different story of this wreck. The vessel was a Spanish ship, which he calls the "Conception from Cadiz." The captain was "don Juan Coxara" (?). One man was found 15 Jan.; 6 men on 17 Jan.; 21 Jan. 5 more were found, one of them "grappled up in Hog Is. passage"; 27 Jan. 1 man "grappled up in Hog Is. passage"; 8 Aug. "picked up 1 man." The wreck occurred at night in a violent snow storm. Nothing was known of it until the next day, and all were lost. According to the Boston Gazette, 18 Jan. 1813, it was a vessel of from 300 to 400 tons. A later account says that she was old and rotten, but built of mahogany and cedar, and supposed to be laden with salt. She went entirely to pieces in a very short time. The first fragments came ashore Thursday morning, 14 Jan. There really was a Spanish ship Sagunto which arrived at Newport from Cadiz a couple of days before the wreck on Smutty Nose. No explanation of this confusion of names has been given. Both accounts agree that the number of men found was fourteen. These bodies were buried on Smutty Nose. The graves are still barely discernible and are marked by small stones.

Caleb Chase A.M. was employed by a few benevolent persons in Newburyport to keep school on the Isles of Shoals in 1819. He came to these Isles February 23<sup>d</sup> and continued twelve weeks. While here he kept school tho' it was too late in the season for the business in this place; for several of the scholars were soon obliged to leave the school to attend to fishing. If the school had begun six weeks sooner, the benefit to the scholars would have been much greater.

He endeavoured to ascertain the ages of the people generally, but many of them had lost their ages for the want of a record. The ages of the young could mostly be ascertained. He, therefore, made the record on the three preceeding pages for the benefit of those families. It might be well for everyone, who may be employed as an instructor here to do something for the people in this way.

When he came to these Isles there were on Star Island eleven families and two solitaires—fifty two souls. On Smutty Nose five families and one solitary—twenty six souls, and on Hog Island one family—eight souls; in all eighty six souls.

* This family appears to have been entered again in a more correct form elsewhere in the old book, and a copy of that record was made by R. L. Randall on page 169. The name of the mother is there given as Sarah P., which according to the only survivor of the family is the correct form.

† These two names are crossed out. As it stands here the record of Hannah is inconsistent with that of her brother Lemuel, but both girls have different dates in the revised version (p. 169). The entry for Hannah is meant for Hannah Maria Titcomb, and the date of her birth is correctly recorded on p. 169. A playmate of Hannah recalls (1912) that, to plague her, the other children called her Hannah Maria Titcomb, but she does not know why they used these names. It is quite possible that she really had this long name and disliked it. Below the record is written in another hand: "I dont think much of those who scratched their names of this book if they do live some were else — — Yours [—?]." The signature is an illegible monogram.

JOHN PEIRCE OF LONDON AND THE MERCHANT ADVENTURERS

Communicated by J. GARDNER BARTLETT, Esq., of Boston, Mass.

THE first patent granted by the President and Council of New England to the company of Merchant Adventurers with whom the Plymouth colonists were associated was dated 1 June 1621,‡ and was taken in the name of Mr. John Peirce, "Citizen and Cloth-worker of London," and his associates, "by reason," says Gov. Bradford, "of acquaintance, and some aliance that some of their freinds had with him. But his name was only used in trust. But when he saw they were hear hopfully thus seated, and by y<sup>e</sup> success God gave them had obtained y<sup>e</sup> favour of y<sup>e</sup> Counsell of New-England, he goes and sues to them for another patent of much larger extente (in their names), which was easily obtained. But he mente to keep it to him selfe and alow them what he pleased, to hold of him as tenants, and sue to his courts as cheefe Lord." (History of Plymouth Plantation, p. 167 of the edition published by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.) This second patent was obtained *"Met in" is probably a trial shot at Meeting House.

†The entire record of this meeting is much faded, but it stands between 1752 and 1754.

‡Published, with an introduction by the late Charles Deane, in 4 Mass. Hist. Soc. Colls., vol 2, pp. 156-163, and reprinted in various other publications. The original patent is preserved in Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth, Mass.

by Peirce 20 Apr. 1622, and is no longer extant. In that same year Peirce set out, in the ship Paragon, on a voyage to New England, to bring relief to the colonists at Plymouth, but the ship was twice disabled by storms and compelled to abandon the voyage, and Peirce incurred great financial loss (ib., pp. 166-169). Controversies arose between Peirce and the Adventurers, as appears from the Records of the Council of New England,* and the Adventurers induced him "to assigne over y<sup>e</sup> grand patente to y<sup>e</sup> companie, which he had taken in his owne name, and made quite voyd our former grante. . . . But his unwillingnes to part with his royall Lordship, and y<sup>e</sup> high-rate he set it at, which was 500<sup>l</sup>. which cost him but 50<sup>l</sup>., maks many speake and judg hardly of him." (Ib., p. 168, letter from England to the Governor, dated 9 Apr. 1623.) It does not appear that the Adventurers paid the high price which was asked by Peirce for the surrender of this patent of 20 Apr. 1622, and Peirce himself states that he received no consideration for its surrender (vide infra, p. 152), but it is clear that the patent was cancelled. (Palfrey's New England, vol. 1, p. 210, note; Records of the Council of New England.) Peirce, however, in the words of Bradford, "was never quiet, but sued them in most of y<sup>e</sup> cheefe courts in England, and when he was still cast, brought it to y<sup>e</sup> Parlemeute. But he is now dead, and I will leave him to y<sup>e</sup> Lord." (History of Plymouth Plantation, pp. 168-169.†)

The following Chancery Bill, preserved in the Public Record Office in London (Chancery Proceedings, Bills and Answers, Bundle P. 44, No. 43), presents Peirce's side of the dispute, with many interesting details not given elsewhere:

ADDITIONAL FACTS ABOUT THE ENGLISH SHERMANS

By THOMAS TOWNSEND SHERMAN, A.B., LL.B., of Rye, N. Y.

FOR many years it has been supposed that Henry Sherman of Dedham, co. Essex, whose will is dated 21 Aug. 1610 (REGISTER, vol. 50, p. 285), married Susan Hills, as in his will he mentions "Gilbert Hills my brother in law." Susan Sherman, Henry's widow, in her will dated 31 Aug. 1610 (ib., p. 286), refers to "my brother Gilber Hilles." But Mr. Clarence A. Torrey of Chicago has discovered in the parish register of Moze, co. Essex, p. 27 of Crisp's edition, a record as follows:

"Henry shermā & susan Lawrance were Maryed y<sup>e</sup> 14 of Junij 1568."

Moze is about ten miles southeast of Dedham. This must be the marriage of the Henry Sherman in question, for he also mentions in his will "my brother Lawrence of Esthorpe" (co. Essex). Gilbert Hills probably married a sister of Susan, Henry Sherman's wife. The Moze register does not show the baptism of Susan Lawrance, but gives the baptism of Ann, daughter of John Lawrance, 21 May 1548, and of Thomas, son of John Lawrance, 21 May 1551. Perhaps Susan was a daughter of John. It also records the burial of Joane Hills, daughter of Gilbert Hills, 17 Dec. 1560, and the baptism of Gylbart Hill, son of Gylbart Hill, 21 Oct. 1554. There are other Hill entries. Several entries relate to members of the Gallaway family, and "my cousin Edmund Gallaway" is mentioned in the will of Henry and in that of Susan Sherman. Henry Sherman's first child Phebe, who married Simon Fenn of Dedham, was baptized at Dedham 1 May 1570 (REGISTER, vol. 50, p. 415).

The will of Thomas Wace of Eye, co. Suffolk, yeoman, dated 22 June 1533 and proved 5 Mar. 1538 (P. C. C., Crumwell, 12), mentions his wife Elene, brother Simon Wace, and John, Simon's son, appoints Robert Kene of Thrandeston and Thomas Sherman of Yaxley executors, and gives to his goddaughter Dorothy Kene and his godson Henry Sherman a legacy of 6s. 8d. each. This is Thomas Sherman of Yaxley, co. Suffolk, whose will is dated 20 Jan. 1550/1 (REGISTER, vol. 54, p. 153); and Henry Sherman is his son, afterwards of Dedham and Colchester, whose will is dated 20 Jan. 1589/90 (ib., vol. 50, p. 281).

An article by the late Charles A. White (REGISTER, vol. 51, p. 357) describes the tombstone in the churchyard at Dedham, England, of Edmund Sherman, who died in 1742, and the Sherman arms thereon, which are similar to those of the Yaxley Shermans, and states that the vicar shows an amusing letter from Gen. William T. Sherman about this stone. The subject of the tombstone was not an ancestor of the General, who was descended from Edmund's brother Samuel. In answer to an inquiry about the General's letter, his son, Hon. Philemon Tecumseh Sherman, writes as follows:

"I have no record of the story about the Dedham tombstone, but merely my recollection of my father's story, which was as follows: Once when especially pestered with demands upon his purse, my father received a letter from the Rector or Curate of Dedham, stating that the tomb of my father's supposed ancestor, Edmund Sherman, in the churchyard, was out of repair, and asking him for a small contribution to restore it. My father answered impatiently that he could not be held responsible for the tombs of his ancestors back to Adam, that he believed that by that time Edmund Sherman didn't care whether he had a tombstone or not, but that he would be satisfied if his grave was undisturbed, and moreover that when he (my father) was in England, he had looked for Dedham and couldn't find it. That letter was written on a full sheet of paper, with the heading 'Head-quarters, Army of the United States,' neatly filled the center of the sheet, and was subscribed 'W. T. Sherman, General,' and consequently was in the most desirable form for an autograph. In due time my father received a letter from the minister at Dedham thanking him for the letter, and saying that it had been sold for £2 for an autograph, which money had been applied towards restoring the tombstone. Doubtless I have the story more or less incorrectly; but you may use it if you wish, as it is substantially true."

A water-color emblazonment of a coat of arms, which has descended to the writer from his great-grandfather, Hon. Roger Sherman, who died in 1793, has beneath it this description: "He beareth Or, a Lion rampant Sable between three leaves proper. Crest, on a wreath, a Sea Lion Or, by the name of Sherman." These arms are practically the same as those of the Dedham and Yaxley Shermans.

Messrs. Lea and Hutchinson have recently sent the following additional Sherman entries from the parish register of Dedham, co. Essex:*

PRINCE-WOOD AND BRENTON BIBLE RECORDS

THE PRINCE-WOOD BIBLE

THE Bible from which the following record has been copied was published in 1716, and was at one time owned by Isaac Prince of Newport, R. I., who died in 1719.† The Bible afterwards passed by marriage into the possession of Caleb Godfrey of Newport, and when his daughter Elizabeth Godfrey was married to Capt. Peleg Wood of Newport, it came into the latter's hands. Capt. Peleg Wood married first the above-mentioned Elizabeth Godfrey, secondly Mary Wickham, and thirdly Mrs. Margaret Cooke. In the Wood family the Bible descended to the late Commander John Taylor Wood, C. S. Navy, a grandson of President Zachary Taylor. Commander Wood, who had married and lived in the South, served in the Civil War on the staff of his uncle by marriage, Jefferson Davis, and commanded the Tallahassee. After the war he found an asylum at Halifax, N. S., where he died in 1904. The Bible is now in the possession of Commander Wood's daughters.

The Woods of Newport, unlike their Brenton, Wickham, and † Isaac Prince of Hull, Mass., son of Elder John, married Mary Turner, and had a son Isaac, born 9 Oct. 1682 (Hull Vital Records, p. 31). Whether this last-mentioned Isaac was the Isaac of Newport who owned the Bible has not yet been determined.

Halliburton kindred (vide infra, p. 161), took service on the side of the Colonies in the Revolution.

The record in this Bible is in a somewhat mutilated condition. Words that are missing in the text have been restored, so far as possible, either from information afforded by the context or from other authentic records, all such words being enclosed within brackets. Brackets are also used to enclose the numbers of the pages of the original record.

Spousors, Thomas Wickham, Hanna Wickham, Sarah Wickham and Lydia Stevenson." Arnold, therefore, in Vital Records of Rhode Island, vol. 10, p. 535, gives the Trinity Church record incorrectly when he represents both these daughters (Elizabeth and Mary) of Peleg Wood as his daughters by his wife Elizabeth, whereas, although the two were baptized on the same day, one was by his deceased wife Elizabeth Godfrey and the other by his then living wife Mary Wickham.

THE BRENTON BIBLE

The Brenton Bible, from which the following brief record has been copied, was owned by William Brenton of Newport, R. I., a brother of Rear-Admiral Brenton of the British Navy and an uncle of Sir Jahleel Brenton, both natives of Newport. He belonged to a Loyalist or Tory family, and the Wickhams, his wife's family, were also Loyalists. The dates of the births of William Brenton's children show that towards the close of the Revolution he left Newport, and after a sojourn in New York proceeded to Halifax, N. S. The Bible afterwards passed into the possession of the Wood family, and descended to the late Commander John Taylor Wood, the owner of the Prince-Wood Bible.

[On the foregoing will and entries and on the records of Taunton, Mass., the following Austen pedigree is based:

1. STEPHEN AUSTEN, or ASTEN, of Staplehurst, co. Kent, laborer, born probably about 1520, was buried at Staplehurst 17 Nov. 1557. He married first, 18 Nov. 1544, MARGARET WRIGLEY, the two being described in the parish register as "yong folkes." She was buried at Staplehurst 2 May 1550, and he married secondly, 16 Nov. 1551, ELIZABETH BASSOCK, who married secondly, at Staplehurst, 14 Jan. 1561/2. William Eden, by whom she had one child, Mary, baptized there 28 Dec. 1562. William Eden was buried at Staplehurst 1 Apr. 1564, being described as "a poore-householder." No will or administration has been found pertaining to the estates of Stephen Austen, William Eden, or Elizabeth Eden. Although more than one hundred Austen wills and administrations have been examined, the surname being one of the most common in Kent, the parentage of Stephen Austen has not been discovered, nor has a single will bearing on this particular Austen family been found. Stephen was probably nearly related to James, William, and Thomas Austen of Staplehurst.

- vi. JARVIS, bapt. 16 July 1554.

[From the foregoing and other records, especially from numerous entries in the registers of the parish of St. George, Canterbury, the following pedigree has been prepared, extending and correcting in some details what has hitherto been published about the paternal ancestry of Capt. Edward Johnson of Woburn, Mass. For the maternal ancestry of Capt. Edward Johnson see the Pordage records given below, pp. 173 et seq.

1. WILLIAM JOHNSON of Canterbury, painter, possibly identical with William, son of Garard Johnson, the testator of 1506, was born probably about 1500, and was buried at St. George's, Canterbury, 9 June 1576. He married first, about 1523, ALICE FOREFLODE, daughter of John, a hatter, and a freeman of Canterbury, and by this marriage William Johnson became a freeman. He married secondly ELIZABETH, who was buried at St. George's 17 May 1575. Her burial is recorded twice: in one entry the record reads, "Elizabeth wife of William Johnson," but in the second entry the words "Grandfather to William Johnson parrish clarke" have been added. Either William Johnson added these words during his term of office as parish clerk (he was probably too young to have held so responsible position in 1575), or else when the register was copied, probably about 1598, he had the words added.

Children by first wife:

2. i. JOHN, b. abt. 1531.
  - ii. A DAUGHTER, m. abt. 1562 CUTHBERT WRAY, painter, who became freeman by marriage.
2. JOHN JOHNSON (William) of Canterbury, painter, born about 1531, was probably buried at St. George's, Canterbury, 10 May 1598. He became a freeman by birth in 1552. He was churchwarden of St. George's in 1582 and 1583. He married first, at St. George's, 23 May 1551, JOANE HUMFREY, who was buried there 15 May 1584. The further history of this man is uncertain. Alice, wife of John Johnson, who was buried at St. George's 12 Dec. 1592, may have been his second wife or the wife of his son. The marriage of John Johnson, painter, and Dorothy Terry, virgin, for which a licence was issued 21 Oct. 1594, may be that of either of the Johns, if the younger man was also a painter. Of this marriage a son John was born, who was baptized at St. George's 14 Dec. 1595 and was buried there 20 Feb. 1596/7. Administration on the goods of John Johnson was granted 7 June 1598 to his widow Dorothy.

Children by first wife, baptized at St. George's, Canterbury:

- i. JOANE, bapt. 11 Apr. 1552; m. at St. George's 1 May 1578 THOMAS BARKER.
  - ii. JOHN, bapt. 25 May 1556, Thomas Bull and John Miller being godfathers and Mistress Rand godmother; freeman by birth in 1583; further history uncertain. (See record of his father.)
  - iii. BARTHOLOMEW, bapt. 4 Dec. 1558.
  3. iv. WILLIAM, bapt. 1559 [month and day not given].
  - v. ALICE, bapt. 2 Apr. 1562.
  - vi. AGNES, bapt. 25 May 1564.
  - vii. MARY (twin), bapt. 13 May 1565.
  - viii. THOMAZINE (twin), bapt. 13 May 1565; bur. at St. George's 16 June 1566.
  - ix. DANIEL, bur. at St. George's 4 Oct. 1574.
  - x. SISLE, bapt. 12 Sept. 1570; m. at St. George's 12 Apr. 1591 RALFE LEA.
  - xi. JOYCE (son), bapt. 8 Oct. 1574.
3. WILLIAM JOHNSON (John, William) of Canterbury, joiner, baptized at St. George's Church in 1559, was freeman by birth in 1583, and was at one time parish clerk of St. George's, where he was buried 27 Dec. 1637, administration on his goods being granted 13 Apr. 1640 to John Buck, his principal creditor. It is probable that his son Edward conveyed to him for life the house in the parish of St. Alphege, "over against the Bishop's Palace," which, as George Johnson, son of Edward, states, "was left me by my father, Edward Johnson, after the decease of my grandfather, William Johnson." He married first, probably about 1587, SUSAN PORREDGE, daughter of John of Westgate Court, Canterbury. She was baptized at St. Dunstan's, Canterbury, 20 Jan. 1565/6, and was buried there 10

Apr. 1604. He married secondly, 24 [sic] Aug. 1617, by licence dated 25 Aug. 1617, ANN COBB, widow, who was buried at St. George's 27 Sept. 1637.

Children by first wife, all except the first three baptized at St. George's:

- i. CATHERINE, b. abt. 1588; bur. at St. George's 6 Nov. 1610; the testatrix of 1610.

- v. GEORGE, bapt. 2 [month missing, probably January] 1594; d. young.
- vi. GEORGE, bapt. 18 Jan. 1595/6; mentioned in the wills of his uncles Henry and Edward Pordage; d. after 1616, without issue, as property in which his brother Edward had a reversionary interest failing issue of George, came to Edward.
4. vii. EDWARD, bapt. 16 [17 in transcript] Sept. 1598.
- viii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 6 Sept. 1601; bur. at St. George's 14 Sept. 1601.
- ix. THOMAS, bapt. 8 Aug. 1602; d. young.
- x. DANIEL (twin), bapt. 18 Mar. 1603/4; d. young.
- xi. BARTHOLOMEW (twin), bapt. 18 Mar. 1603/4; d. young.

4. CAPT. EDWARD JOHNSON (William, John, William), joiner, of Canterbury, England, and Woburn, Mass., was baptized at St. George's Church, Canterbury, 16 Sept. 1598, was admitted freeman by birth in 1623, emigrated to New England with his wife and seven children about 1637, and settled at Woburn, Mass., where he was a very prominent citizen, holding many important public offices and commanding the local military company. He is famous as the author of the "Wonderworking Providence of Sion's Savior in New England." He died at Woburn 23 Apr. 1672.

He married about 1620 SUSAN MUNNTER, but the record of the marriage has not been found, although the registers of every parish in Canterbury have been searched. She was born about 1598, and died at Woburn 7 Mar. 1689/90.

Children, all except the first two baptized at St. George's:

- i. EDWARD, bapt. in the parish of St. Mary Magdalene, Canterbury, 18 Feb. 1620/1; d. at Woburn 15 Sept. 1692; m. at Woburn 10 Jan. 1649/50 KATHERINE BAKER, sister of John of Boston, b. abt. 1625, d. 7 Jan. 1700/1. Four children.
- ii. WILLIAM, b. probably in 1622; bur. in the parish of St. Mary Magdalene 26 Jan. 1622/3.
- iii. GEORGE, bapt. 3 Apr. 1625; came to New England with his parents in 1637, but returned to England, where he was a merchant, and was admitted a freeman of Canterbury by birth in 1655; later he removed to Somerset Co., Md., where he d. in 1681, leaving issue; m. KATHERINE ———.

- viii. JOHN, bapt. 10 May 1635; d. at Canterbury, Conn., after 1712; m. 26 Apr. 1657 BETHIA REED, dau. of William and Mabel of Woburn, d. at Canterbury, Conn., abt. 1718. Seven children. He lived at Woburn, Mass., and later at Canterbury, Conn.

An Esdras Johnson of Westgate Parish, Canterbury, had children: Thomas, Margaret, Esdras, William, Edward, Bartholomew, John, Nicholas, Frances, and Mary. His son Edward, baptized in 1585, married in 1612 Mary Silke, widow. He was a husbandman, and lived in Dover Lane, St. George's Parish. The registers of St. George's give the baptisms of the children of "Edward Johnson husbandman" as follows: Thomas, 20 June 1613; Mary, 7 Apr. 1616; Elizabeth, 29 Mar. 1618; Edward, 7 Nov. 1619. A child William, buried 23 May 1625, was probably also his child. Another Edward Johnson, of St. Martin's Parish, had John, baptized 25 Feb. 1616/17, and Edward, baptized 31 Oct. 1624.

PORREDGE

The Will of THOMAS PORRAGE of Brendley in the parish of Boughton under Bleane, in the County of Kent, yeoman, 2 January 1548/9. To be buried in the churchyard of Boughton under Blean. Whereas my cousin John Porrage of Rodmersham has £60 due me at a certain time or else I and my heirs are to have forever an annuity of £4, I give the said £60 to be equally divided among three of my sons, Richard Porrage, William Porrage, and Stephen Porrage, to Richard as soon as it be paid and to William and Stephen at twenty years; in the meantime said sum to remain in my wife's hands. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol 56, fo. 1.)

[On the foregoing wills the following Porredge pedigree is based. The maternal ancestry of Capt. Edward Johnson of Woburn, Mass., is herewith made public for the first time. From his Porredge ancestors he derived his wealth and prominent position and also, apparently, his fervid religious temperament.

1. THOMAS PORRAGE of Brendley in the parish of Boughton-under-Blean, co. Kent, born probably about 1500, died between 2 Jan. and 2 Mar. 1548/9. He probably married twice, his second wife being JOHAN, living in 1556/7, when she was mentioned in the will of her son Robert Porredge. The ancestry of Thomas Porredge has not as yet been proved. He was connected with the Porredge family of Rodmersham, as he mentions in his will a cousin John Porredge of Rodmersham. His own sons are also called "kinsmen" by later Porredges of Rodmersham in their wills.

Child, probably by first wife:

2. i. JOHN, b. probably abt. 1522.

Children, probably by second wife:

ii. ALICE, m. THOMAS POTTER.

iii. ROBERT, the testator of 1556/7, m. ROSE ———, and had sons Thomas, Richard, and Sampson, all minors at the time of his death, and daughters Alice and Margaret. He lived at Boughton-under-Blean.

iv. RICHARD, living at Sandwich in 1593, when he was mentioned in his nephew Henry's will, as was also his son Gabriel of Richborough; he had other sons.

v. WILLIAM, the testator of 1564, d. betw. 3 Dec. of that year and 13 Apr. 1569; m. WIDOW BARBARA MARSHALL, and had a son Lawrence. He lived at Faversham.

vi. STEVEN, the testator whose will was proved in 1574, m. ELIZABETH ———. Children: Joseph, Robert, Richard, Caleb, Elizabeth, and Margaret, all minors at the time of his death. He lived at Ashe.

2. JOHN PORREDGE (Thomas) of Westgate Court, Canterbury, the testator of 1582, born probably about 1522, the son of his father's first marriage, was buried at St. Dunstan's 16 Sept. 1582. He married first a sister of Thomas Denne or Deane of Adisham. She was, perhaps, the Katherine buried at St. Dunstan's 2 Aug. 1566. He married secondly, at St. Dunstan's, 5 May 1572, WIDOW MARGARET RUCK, the testator of 1582, who was sister of George Carter. She had a large family by her first marriage, and two of her sons married two of her stepdaughters. She was buried at St. Dunstan's 11 May 1583. A large house called Westgate Court is now standing just without the Westgate, Canterbury. It is not ancient enough to be the house mentioned in John Porredge's will, but it stands probably on the same site. John Porredge was a man of strong religious convictions, as is proved by his will.

Children by first wife:

i. JOANE, m. RICHARD SMYTH; d. probably before 1582, as she is not mentioned in her father's will; her granddaughter Joane Stokes contested the will of her great-uncle Edward Porredge in 1616.

ii. EDWARD, the testator of 1616, m. KATHERINE COPPIN; d. s. p. betw. 5 June and 22 July 1616. He was a large landholder in various parishes of Kent, and lived at Beakesbourne, where he was buried.

iii. HENRY, the testator of 1593, d. unm. betw. 7 Nov. 1593 and 13 Feb. 1593/4, and was bur. at Beakesbourne, where he had lived. He was a man of education, as his Latin verse shows, and like his father of deep religious convictions, with a strong tendency toward Puritanism. His wish to be buried in Canterbury Cathedral was not fulfilled:

- iv. ELIZABETH, b. before 1561; m. at St. Dunstan's 17 Jan. 1585/6 ARTHUR RUCK, her stepbrother; d. probably before 1593, as she is not mentioned in her brother Henry's will.
- v. THOMAZINE, m. at St. Dunstan's 14 Nov. 1580 THOMAS RUCKE, her stepbrother; d. probably before 1593, as she is not mentioned in her brother Henry's will.
- vi. SUSAN, bapt. at St. Dunstan's 20 Jan. 1565/6; m. WILLIAM JOHNSON of St. George's, Canterbury; bur. there 10 Apr. 1604. (Vide supra, pp. 171, 172.)

He married in 1724 (?) ABIGAIL<sup>3</sup> EDGERLY, daughter of Thomas<sup>2</sup> and Jane (Whidden) (REGISTER, vol. 34, p. 282), who was born at Oyster River Parish in 1695. John Huckins and wife Abigail were admitted to the church at Oyster River 5 Sept. 1725 (ib., vol. 23, p. 298). He died 30 July 1789, aged 85 years (tombstone).

He had 30 acres in Oyster River woods under his father's will. In 1745 he was living "at the cross-roads" at Madbury (N. H. Deeds, vol. 30, p. 241). He removed with his son John to Barrington and settled on lands overlooking Bow Lake, about 1773. The part of the Mallego River in Barrington is called Huckins's Brook (Thompson's Landmarks, p. 137).

In 1740 he was a soldier in Captain Millet's company at Dover (N. H. State Papers, vol. 9, p. 173). In 1745 he was captain of scouts (ib., vol. 5, pp. 365, 384, 766, 768, vol. 16, p. 906). In 1758 he was selectman at Madbury (town records).

In 1734 he was of Durham, and was constable there in 1740. In 1757 he was of Nottingham, and was living there as late as 1765. By his father's will he received the homestead of 40 acres on the site of the old garrison-house at Oyster River. In 1734 apparently but 3 acres of this remained, and he sold the northerly half to his brother Thomas,<sup>4</sup> reserving the house and the mill. He acquired enough more land adjoining to make up 50 acres, and sold it all in 1757 to Dr. Joseph Atkinson, and bought at once 50 acres in Nottingham. (N. H. Deeds, vol. 26, p. 330, vol. 52, p. 434, vol. 60, p. 259, vol. 79, pp. 34, 46.)

The minutes of the November meeting were approved, and the reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, Historian, and Council were accepted.

One corresponding member and thirteen resident members were elected by ballot.

The report of the Nominating Committee was accepted.

The President appointed as auditors Charles Irving Thayer and Morgan Hewitt Stafford.

The paper of the afternoon, Who won in the War of 1812? was by John Charles States Andrew, A.M., S.T.B., of the English High School, Lynn. After summarizing the causes assigned for the War, none of which were removed at its close by the Treaty of Ghent, the speaker discussed the geographical distribution of the supporters of the War in Congress and the prominence given in debate to the acquisition of Canada. The victory of Perry on Lake Erie was needed in order to cut the lines of communication between Canada and the portion of the North West Territory that was then in British occupation. After remarks by J. H. Stark, Esq., quoting from Josiah Quincy of Boston on the War, it was on motion of Mr. Albee

Voted, That the Society expresses to Mr. Andrew its enjoyment of his interesting presentation of the results of his research.

At 3.50 the meeting adjourned.

1 January, 1913. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 p.m., President Baxter presiding. This was the first meeting of the Society in its new building.

The minutes of the December meeting were approved, and the reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, Council, and a supplementary report of the Nominating Committee were accepted.

Three corresponding members and nine resident members were elected by ballot.

The address, by Austin Baxter Keep, Ph.D., of the Department of History of the College of the City of New York, was on Colonial Libraries, their Patrons and Founders. The speaker told of his extensive study of the origin of the early libraries, of the personality and varied experiences of the founders, and of their earnest and serious endeavors, the results of which are enjoyed in the libraries of the present day. The numerous lantern-slides showed portraits, buildings, title-pages, and manuscripts illustrating the theme.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served in the smaller hall.

It is here entered as a matter of record that the general comment of the audience which filled Wilder Hall was that of approval and satisfaction with the accommodations afforded in the new building.

5 February. The annual meeting of the Society was held this day, agreeable to article 1, chapter III, of the By-Laws; for a report of which see the Supplement to the present number of the REGISTER.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

The Committee on English Research desires to state, however, that although the Society has no official representative in England the Committee is employing Miss French for a part of her time as a searcher of records there along special lines for the benefit of the REGISTER.

DE BLOIS: ADDITIONS.—Since the publication of the article entitled "The De Blois Family," in the present volume of the REGISTER, pp. 6-21 (January, 1913), the following additional information about that family has been found. In each case the pedigree number of the person concerning whom statements are made and the page of the REGISTER on which that person's record is given have been inserted.

The house of Gilbert De Blois (4. p. 9), on the northeast corner of Tremont and Bromfield Streets, was destroyed by fire as early as 1833, perhaps earlier. On the same site was built the Boston Museum, which later became a publishing house, still later the Montgomery Hotel, and finally Horticultural Hall. This in time was supplanted by a new Horticultural Hall.

The following information about this Gilbert De Blois (4. pp. 8 et seq.) is printed in an address by Rt. Rev. Thomas M. Clark, Bishop of Rhode Island, entitled "An Historical Discourse delivered in St. John's Church, Providence, R. I., in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the Parish," Hartford, 1872, p. 35, Appendix:

"The close of the war left this Church indebted to Mr. Gilbert Deblois for the organ, who was at this time residing in London. It would seem that he had served a process upon the parish for payment, and a committee was appointed to write him and ask that 'he would give orders for withdrawing the process which had been commenced,' and, in consideration of their diminished means, consent to some abatement in his claim. 'We mean not, Sir, to obtrude a lengthy Epistle: possessing as you do the same holy Religion we persuade ourselves that your intention is not to distress the Church: having so long experienced the utility of an organ in Divine Worship, we should deeply deplore its loss.'

"Mr. Deblois replies, under date of London, Broadstairs, July 27, 1791. 'I wish you had settled that business with me while at Boston and in my power to favor the Church more than can now do, but after all my solicitations nothing was done that I could accept the offer, which obliged me to leave the matter unsettled with my sister, for altho' the notes were taken in my name, it was wholly my Father's Property and a part of his Estate, wh<sup>ch</sup> to prevent falling into the Virtuous hands of the Committee of Confiscation at his Death, he made a will, and left his two Tory Sons five shillings each, giving the rest of his estate to their children, who since the Peace gave it back to self and Brother Lewis, who has agreed with me that you should pay Mr Amery Two hundred Pounds Sterl<sup>s</sup> and his fees, and to give up to the Church the remainder of the Interest of the s<sup>d</sup> notes wh<sup>ch</sup> is a large sum, and when you consider that not a shilling has been paid. either principal or interest, you must acknowledge the sums now fixed are generous. I heartily wish your Church to increase, and advise not to suffer any Unexperienced Person to clean your Organ, wh<sup>ch</sup> is equal to any of the size now in this Kingdom.'

"A subscription was made, amounting [to] £277.13s. 4d., and the matter was satisfactorily settled."

Gilbert De Blois (8, p. 15) married Elizabeth ———, the Boston Independent Chronicle and Universal Advertiser of 9 Jan. 1794 announcing the death of "Mrs. Elizabeth Deblois, wife of Mr. Gilbert Deblois, aet. 34."

Augusta Smith De Blois (9, v, p. 15) was married not to James but to Charles Magee. She had one child, Margaret Magee, who was married to John A. Walker, son of Judge William Walker of Lenox, Mass., to whom she bore four children: 1. William, who died young. 2. Mary Magee. 3. Elliot, who married in 1890 Alice Macy, daughter of the late Gen. Nelson Macy, and left three children, Nelson, Charles Elliot, and Margaret Walker. 4. Louisa Huntington.

Thomas Mcville De Blois (9, vi, p. 15), according to information supplied by his niecc, Miss Sarah Louisa Huntington, after his apprenticeship with Bowie & De Blois entered the civil service of the British government and was in the customs department of the post office, living at the various places named. When in the early fifties he left the customs service to go to California, he was in the direct line for promotion to the collectorship of the port of Quebec. On his return from California in 1862 or 1863 he spent some time at Salem, Mass., and then settled at St. John, N. B.; where he established a merchants' reading-room. This was burned in the great fire at St. John, and although he re-established it, it never flourished so well again. In his birthday-book may be found the names of many of the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick De Bloises.

Caroline Louisa De Blois (9, vii, p. 16) bore to her first husband, Charles C. C. Tucker, the following children: 1. Elizabeth, died young. 2. Richard Dalton, born 29 Jan. 1833, spent much of his life at Manila, in China, and in London, and died at Salem, Mass., in Apr. 1899. 3. Louisa, died young.

Lewis De Blois (10, p. 16) and his brother Francis (4, viii, p. 11), with others, arrived at Boston from London in the ship Union, 25 Sept. 1784. (Boston Records, Miscellaneous Papers.) This Lewis De Blois had a son, not recorded on page 16, as the following obituary notice from the Boston Independent Chronicle and Universal Advertiser of 18 July 1793 proves: "At Philadelphia, Master Dalton Deblois, only son of Mr. Lewis Deblois, merchant, of that city."

The wife of Nathaniel James De Blois (11, vii, p. 17) was Angélique Louise Virginie, daughter of Jean Claude and Anne (Onfré) Rousse, who was born in Virginia 22 July 1820. The Rousse family subsequently removed to Augusta, Ga., and later to Columbus, Ga. She married (1) in 1837 Homer Hurd, probably from Milwaukee, Wis., who died about 1839. The only child of this marriage was Emily Elizabeth Hurd, who was born in 1838 or 1839 and died unmarried 2 June 1909. Mrs. Hurd lived with her sister, Emily Jane Rousse, who was married 2 Jan. 1843 to John Amory De Blois (19, p. 20). About 1845 Mrs. Hurd married (2) Nathaniel James De Blois, younger brother of John Amory De Blois, her sister's husband. Nathaniel James De Blois died s. p. at the United States Hotel, Boston, 13 Aug. 1858, aged 52 years, 7 months, 28 days; and his widow married (3) at Newport, R. I., 6 Sept. 1864, as his second wife, Dr. Edward Linzee Cunningham of Boston, whose first wife was Adeline Elizabeth Amory. Dr. Cunningham was born in Boston 2 Jan. 1810, and died at Newport, R. I., in 1905, the last surviving member of the class of 1829 of Harvard College. His wife, Mrs. Angélique L. V. Cunningham, died at Newport 7 June 1898. The two brothers, John Amory and Nathaniel James De Blois, were at one time in the cotton business in the South, the former during the winter months purchasing cotton at Columbus, Ga., and sending it down the river, and the latter shipping it by sea from Appalachicola, Fla. (Information of Dr. Thomas Amory De Blois of Boston; REGISTER, vol. 55, p. 422; Heraldic Journal, vol. 4, p. 41.)

Catharine Laughton, the first wife of George De Blois (12, p. 17), was daughter of Henry Laughton.

According to Arnold's Vital Record of Rhode Island, vol. 15, p. 30, the wife of Lewis De Blois, Jr. (13, p. 17) was Betsey Lawton, the Providence Gazette of 25 Dec. 1784, as quoted by Arnold, recording the marriage of Lewis Deblois "of this town, merchant, and Betsy Lawton, daughter of Isaac, late of Newport, at Nova Scotia." This Isaac Lawton was one of the five or six Lawtons who settled in New Brunswick during or at the close of the Revolution. (Sabine's American Loyalists, vol. 2; N. Y. Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 37, p. 211.) Lewis De Blois apparently had a daughter Sarah (perhaps the name Mary on p. 17 of the present volume of the REGISTER should be Sarah), for in the first Trinity Church at St. John, N. B., there was a tablet with the following inscription: "Sacred To the Memory of SARAH DEBLOIS, Late Superintendent in Trinity Church Sunday School, Who died 1st June. 1869, in the 78th Year of her Age. . . ." It is said also that Lewis De Blois had a son Gilbert.

It is said that Rev. Henry Despard De Blois (16, vi, p. 19) was born 7 Dec. 1830, and that 13 Oct. 1831 is the date of his baptism.

The Columbian Centinel of 26 Jan. 1805 announces the marriage of Francis Gilbert De Blois (17, p. 19) as follows: "In Philadelphia, on the 6th inst. Mr. Francis Deblois, to Miss Millicent Conner, both of this town."

ARTHUR WENTWORTH HAMILTON EATON.

In June 1743 William Plaisted of Somersworth, mariner, bought 13 acres there of Thomas Tibbetts and Olive his wife (N. H. Deeds, vol. 27, p. 478). In June 1768 he conveyed 16 acres there (ib., vol. 96, p. 32), and in Jan. 1774 his wife Judith released her right of dower in the same 16 acres, where she and her husband "now" live (Strafford Deeds, vol. 1, p. 131). Tate records in his manuscript diary (p. 84) that "Wed. Feb. 21, 1774, Mr William Plaisted & son Wm & families mov'd from Somersworth for a place called Moulton's Gore." In Dec. 1779 he bought 50 acres in the northeasterly corner of New Hampton, on the easterly slope of Pettee Hill, adjoining on the south lands of his son William and on the west lands of his son Samuel (Strafford Deeds, vol. 4, p. 159).

He is probably the William Plaisted who in 1776 was second lieutenant in the Moultonborough company (N. H. State Papers, vol. 12, p. 8, vol. 14, p. 296).

Children of William<sup>4</sup> and Judith (Ricker) Plaisted, born at Somersworth, N. H. (Tate's MS. Diary, p. 15): Hannah, 14 May 1745(?); William, 1750(?), for whom see below; Olive; Samuel, 1757.

William<sup>5</sup> Plaisted, son of William and Judith (Ricker), born about 1750, married (1) 1 Aug. 1769 Anne Ford, daughter of John, who was born probably at Berwick, Me. (Tate's MS. Diary, pp. 43, 49); he married (2) 29 Nov. 1781 Hannah<sup>5</sup> Huckins, daughter of Joseph and Mary (Fernald). By his first wife he had: Daniel, born at Somersworth in 1770; Naomi, born at Somersworth 26 Sept. 1771; a child, born at Somersworth 14 Oct. 1773, died on the same day; Ford, born perhaps at Moultonborough in 1775(?), said to have married ——— Ames and to have removed to Canada or to Philadelphia (ib., p. 43). For children of William<sup>5</sup> Plaisted by his second wife, vide supra, p. 183.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

DEDICATION OF THE NEW BUILDING OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.—The new building of the Society at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, in which the work of the Society has been carried on and its meetings have been held since 21 Dec. 1912 (vide supra, p. 91), was formally dedicated at 3 P.M. on Tuesday, 18 Mar. 1913, the sixty-eighth anniversary of the incorporation of the Society. The exercises were held in WILDER HALL, the spacious auditorium which perpetuates the name of the late Marshall Pinckney Wilder, LL.D., President of the Society during the years 1863-1886. After prayer had been offered by Rev. James De Normandie, D.D., of Roxbury, Mass., President Baxter briefly recalled to the minds of his hearers the names of those who in former years labored for the building up of the Society and of those to whose aid in more recent years the Society is especially indebted for the new fire-proof structure. He then presented Hon. John Davis Long, LL.D., of Hingham, Mass., who delivered a scholarly address pre-eminently appropriate to the occasion. At the conclusion of the exercises refreshments were served in the smaller hall to the many members and friends present. A full account of the dedicatory exercises, with the addresses of President Baxter and Governor Long, will be published by the Society.

LAPHAM.—The Lapham Genealogy, by Emory D. Lapham, East Rochester, N. Y. (vide REGISTER, vol. 64, p. 377), is nearing completion, and will be published, it is hoped, in 1914. It comprises many lines of descendants of John Lapham of Devonshire, England, Providence, R. I., and Dartmouth, Mass., and will make a volume of about 500 pages.

PARLIN.—A Parlin Genealogy, giving the descendants of Nicholas Parlin of Cambridge, Mass., on which Frank Edson Parlin, 3 Forest Park, Cambridge, Mass., has been at work for several years, will be published before the end of April, 1913. It contains from 250 to 300 pages, and includes female as well as male lines of descent.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Simmons.—Moses (Moyses Symonson), born probably at Leyden, Holland, but of English descent, by Henry A. Simmons, Box 754, Northampton, Mass.

Worden.—Peter, who was born probably at Clayton, Lancashire, England, about 1569, and died about 1639, by Edward Chauncey Worden and Anna (Breitsman) Worden, Milburn, Essex Co., N. J.

DAVID FLOYD

By CHANNING HOWARD, Esq., of Winthrop, Mass.

DAVID FLOYD, a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society from 1898, and since February 1912 the chairman of its Committee on Collection of Records, died at his home at Winthrop, Mass., 17 March 1913. He was born at Winthrop 26 October 1854, the son of Edward and Lucretia (Tewksbury) Floyd, and a descendant of Capt. John Floyd, who was living at Lynn, Mass., in 1662, and later lived at Malden, near the old Chelsea line, and served in 1676 as a lieutenant in King Philip's War.* Among David Floyd's ancestors were early settlers of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and Mayflower Pilgrims of Plymouth, as well as soldiers of the Revolution.

Edward Floyd, the father of David, had four other children. He was a man of parts in his time. He held several town offices, being a member of the legislature in 1851, treasurer of North Chelsea before Winthrop was set off in 1852, and for many years the first treasurer of the new town. He was known as "the Squire," and such he was, being a justice of the peace, writing deeds, and measuring land, in addition to tilling his small farm, after the manner of a true village squire of fifty years ago; for then Winthrop was a small country town, and agriculture was the principal occupation of the inhabitants.

David Floyd had the schooling of the time in the Winthrop public schools, which was not liberal, but in spite of this he became a scholar through much reading, contact with the world, and travel. He went to a business college in Boston, and later he took the full Chautauqua course. He married, 9 June 1886, Belle A. Seavey, who survives her husband. They had no children. His home was always in Winthrop. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which as an organization was much benefited by his varied services.

On the death of his father in 1879 he took charge of his business, pursuing in a moderate way and gradually increasing his real estate and conveyancing business until 1889, when he established himself in the general business of real estate, insurance, and conveyancing at Winthrop and at 34 School Street, Boston, occupying the same offices and carrying on his work with ever increasing energy until the day of his death. By his unusual ability, and with his strict habits of industry, Mr. Floyd became a successful business man. He was a director in the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, vice-president and director of the County Savings Bank, and a director of the Winthrop Coöperative Bank. He was a trustee of much property and of many interests, and in general was adviser and helper not only for various persons and estates in a strictly business way, but also for the widowed and fatherless in Winthrop and outside. Probably none of his fellow-citizens knew how far his helpfulness reached in all directions.

Mr. Floyd early became a conspicuous town officer, serving his town in various capacities and with superior ability, as assessor for seven years, treasurer for eleven years, treasurer of the sinking-fund for twenty-five years, moderator at various town-meetings, and a member of numerous committees for investigation and report on many matters vital to the town's interests and policy. Among the most important of his services for his native town were those connected with the establishing and building of a sewerage system, those rendered as a member of the appropriations committee which made up the annual budget for the town's expenditures and practically planned its financial policy for many years, and also his services as chairman of the committee to investigate the establishment of playgrounds for the town, an investigation which he conducted in a most exhaustive and thorough manner, with very happy results. The methods reported and adopted in relation to this matter attracted state-wide attention, and the Boston Transcript said of the report that it "is one of the best civic documents of the year."

In 1883 Mr. Floyd, with five others, was appointed to establish a reading-room and library in the town. This was the beginning of the Winthrop Public Library, of which Mr. Floyd was a trustee continuously from that time until his death, serving as secretary or chairman the entire period. He excelled all his associates on the library board, not only in length of service, but also in the extent and quality of his work, no cause, perhaps, being closer to his heart. An excellent library building, well set in spacious grounds, was built in 1898, Mr. Floyd's good judgment never failing, whether the matter in hand was one of construction or of selecting employees or pictures. The historical room commenced at that time, with its splendid collection, stands as the fruition of his dreams and a monument to his effort and ability.

He was chairman of the trustees of the Winthrop Improvement and Historical Association, was a foremost and much-appreciated worker in behalf of its varied activities in the interests of the town, and acted as chairman of the committee which obtained the funds for the purchase of the old Deane Winthrop House. In 1902 he took a conspicuous part, both as library trustee and as a member of the general committee, in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the town. In 1912 he headed a committee which conducted a celebration in connection with the old Gibbons Elm, it being the two hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the original allotments of land at "Pullen Point." Among the many minor duties which he assumed was the presidency of the Winthrop Law and Order League, at a time when he thought that the good name of the town was at stake.

Mr. Floyd was representative to the General Court in 1887 and 1888, was a member, and chairman for a considerable term, of the Winthrop Republican Town Committee, and sometimes served on important State commissions.

In 1897 he joined the Massachusetts Society, Sons of the American Revolution, became one of the original members of its Old Suffolk Chapter, and held important official positions both in the local chapter and in the state society. He was also prominent in Masonic circles.

On historical, civic, and local topics Mr. Floyd was a writer of no mean ability, and contributed numerous articles for publication along these lines. From time to time each year he furnished to the Winthrop and to the Boston papers a digest of the growth and activities of Winthrop, particularly in relation to its real estate interests. He also aided Judge Mellen Chamberlain and the Massachusetts Historical Society in preparing the Documentary History of Chelsea, the home of his ancestors, which embraced the Winthrop region.

Sometimes he "broke out in verse," but this was usually for the benefit of his more intimate friends or for special occasions. He was broad in his reading, knew books better than the average business man, perused the best English literature, and had a true sense of humor. He often spent one to two hours a day in browsing in the book-stores, to find the best books for the use of the Winthrop Public Library or a book of which some person was in particular need. He knew the historical and legendary scenes of New England as few others know them.

He never indulged in any conspicuous or extreme pleasures, although he knew how to enjoy the good things of every-day life every day. His physique, like his mind and spirit, was most excellent; he had a good body, well proportioned, a strong build, an erect carriage, a quick step, and a cheerful and restful countenance. His sincerity, candor, and constancy beamed out from his magnetic personality at every angle of his many-sided life.

He was the leading citizen of Winthrop. He was lavish of his services toward all civic, patriotic, philanthropic, and intellectual movements, many of which appealed to his busy life. He had a fairness of temperament, a clearness of understanding, and a firmness of character that made him a good judge of the problems of every-day life, our times, and our people. He was a man of vision, who could by the eye of experience and faith look far into the future. He was at all times an optimist. His manifold activities and his qualities of heart and life bound him with close ties to many people in the varied work and various walks of life.

OLD BOSTON FAMILIES

THE SAVAGE FAMILY

By LAWRENCE PARK, Esq., of Groton, Mass.

1. THOMAS<sup>1</sup> SAVAGE was born, probably in England, in 1607 or 1608. He embarked from London in the ship Planter, Nic<sup>o</sup> Trarice, master, in Apr. 1635, having been certified by the minister of St. Albans, Hertfordshire. In the list of the ship's passengers he is called a tailor, and his age is given as 27, which corresponds with his age as given by him in a deposition dated 26 (9) 1664, in which he states that he is about 57 years old (Essex County Files, vol. 10, p. 59). According to his descendant, Hon. James Savage, the noted antiquarian of Boston, he was a son of William Savage, a blacksmith of Taunton in Somersetshire, and was apprenticed by his father 9 Jan. 1620/1 to the Merchant Taylors Guild of London. Aside from this statement, I have found nothing to show that Thomas Savage had any connection with William, the blacksmith of Taunton. In his will, dated 28 June 1675 but probably written some years earlier, Thomas Savage leaves money to "my coz Leonard Savage in Barbadoes" and "to my sister." The sister's name is written in the will, but it is difficult to decipher. It is, however, apparently "Perking." These two bequests, together with another to his son Arthur, who was probably dead when the will was dated, are interlined in the original, and do not appear in the copy of the will on file in the Suffolk Registry of Probate in Boston. In the registers of the church of St. John sub-Castro at Lewes, co. Sussex, is recorded the burial, 9 Nov. 1617, of Leonard Savage, mercer and householder. In the will of Henry Crabbe of St. Gregory, London, merchant tailor, dated 25 Nov. 1620, mention is made of William, Margaret, and Anne (all under 21 years), children of Leonard Savage, deceased, "my late master," who is doubtless the same man who was buried at Lewes in 1617. In 1784 a great-grandson of Thomas Savage, Samuel Phillips Savage, compiled a chart of the family from information given him before her death in 1755 by his grandmother Hannah (Gillam) Phillips, a granddaughter of Thomas Savage, and by Mrs. Joshua Wells (Sarah Savage), another granddaughter. Mrs. Phillips was born in Boston in 1662, twenty years before her grandfather Savage died, and doubtless derived the information directly from him. In this chart, which is now in the possession of a descendant of the compiler, it is stated that Thomas Savage was a linen draper (mercier) and had two brothers in England, one of whom was Arthur, "Dean of Carlisle," while the other, name unknown, lived about fifty miles from London, which is the distance between London and Lewes. Arthur Savage, I find upon investigation, was not dean of Carlisle, but a prebendary or vice-decanus of the Cathedral of Carlisle, and in his will made in 1698 he bequeathed money to Arthur, James, and Elizabeth, the children of his nephew James Savage, a saddler of Lewes. Arthur Savage matriculated at Oxford 16 Mar. 1637/8 at the age of 16, and in the catalogue of Oxford University graduates he is called a son of John Savage, Esq., "of Wootton Hall in the County of Salop." It seems impossible to identify this estate, and researches thus far have not disclosed any will of a John Savage in Shropshire. If Thomas Savage's father was named William, it is a little strange that he gave his father's name to none of his twelve sons. He did, however, call one son Arthur, a name which has since been frequently used in the family, and named another Richard, which was also the name of a Savage who married at Lewes in 1673.

In the January after his arrival Thomas Savage was admitted to the church in Boston. In the following month he was given seven acres of marsh ground at Muddy River, now Brookline, Mass., "for the keeping of his cattle (being in number, five)" (Boston Records), and on 25 May 1636 he was made a freeman of the town of Boston, upon whose records his name appears with frequency during the remainder of his life. In the religious controversy in which his mother-in-law, the famous Mistress Anne Hutchinson, became involved, Savage was one of her adherents, and previous to her trial was disarmed and obliged to leave Boston, as he did apparently late in 1637. With William Coddington, William Hutchinson, and others, Savage purchased Aquidneck of the natives, and began the settlement of Rhode Island. Soon after his arrival at Aquidneck Savage recanted, and was allowed to return to Boston, where he was again settled, probably as early as June 1638. In 1637 he became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, where his name stands fourth on the roll of membership, and in 1651 he succeeded Capt. Robert Keayne as captain of the Company, holding this position again in 1659, 1668, 1675, and 1680. In 1651 and 1652 he was the recorder or town clerk of Boston, and a selectman in 1652. On 12 Mar. 1653/4 Savage, with one other, was chosen to represent Boston in the General Court, holding that position until 1657. He was again a representative from 1659 to 1662, and in 1677 and 1678, and held the office of assistant from 1680 to his death. In 1669 he was one of the founders and members of the Third (Old South) Church, and was a liberal contributor toward establishing a free school in Boston. In 1673 he, with others, erected a barricade in Boston Harbor for protection against an expected attack upon Boston by the Dutch. This barricade eventually grew into Long Wharf, portions of which have ever since been owned by some of his descendants. In 1675, at the beginning of King Philip's War, Savage was appointed to the chief command of the Massachusetts forces, Denison, the major-general, being prevented by illness from participating, and on 28 June he set out upon the campaign at the head of a force numbering about three hundred men. Upon their arrival at the Wampanoag country in the northeastern portion of Rhode Island they found that Philip and his forces had fled, and peace being soon declared, Savage and his men returned to Boston, where the army was disbanded. Philip, however, was soon again upon the war-path, and in the spring of 1676 Savage was once more placed at the head of the Massachusetts troops and acquitted himself with distinction during the remainder of the war.

According to the Book of Possessions, Savage's house and garden were on the north side of the present Bennet Street, near Scarlet's Wharf, where afterwards stood the King's Head Tavern. At the same time he was the owner of a farm in Braintree, containing about 65 acres, 26 acres of which he sold early to James Everill of Boston. He afterwards increased his holdings in Braintree to nearly 2500 acres. In 1656 Savage built a new house "between the drawbridge and the conduit," on the southerly side of the present North Street, near Dock Square, on land which he had purchased two years earlier for £130. In the deed of this purchase he is called a "merchant," and his shop stood on what is now the easterly corner of Washington Street and Adams Square.

He married first, probably in Boston in 1637, FAITH HUTCHINSON, who was baptized at Alford, co. Lincoln, England, 14 Aug. 1617, and died in Boston 20 Feb. 1651/2, daughter of William and Anne (Marbury), who came to Boston in 1634. He married secondly, in Boston, 15 Sept. 1652, Increase Nowell officiating, MARY SYMMES, who was born at Dunstable, co. Bedford, England, 9 Apr. 1628, daughter of Rev. Zechariah of Charlestown, Mass., who came to Boston in 1634 in the same ship with the Hutchinsons.

Maj. Savage died suddenly in Boston 15 Feb. 1681/2, and was buried in the burial-ground now adjoining King's Chapel, where his tomb, upon which are engraved the arms of the Savages of Rock-Savage, may still be seen. On 28 June 1675 he dated his will, by which he appointed John Hull and Isaac Addington overseers, and his sons Thomas, Ephraim, and Perez his executors, and disposed of property amounting, as shown by the appraisal of his estate, to nearly £3500. Among the items of the inventory are arms and armor valued at £5; plate, gold, and rings, £29. 10s. 1½d.; servants, £83; pewter, £11. 9s. 6d.; books, £2. 10s.; and debts of £644. 8s. 6d. In the real estate are included his house and land in Boston, land at the South End of Boston and a "parte of the out wharfe," Hog (now Breed's) Island, a farm at "Romly Marsh," and lands in Braintree and Lynn. His portrait, showing him in military dress and painted in 1679 by an unknown artist, is in the possession of a descendant, and is reproduced in Winsor's Memorial History of Boston, vol. 1, p. 318.

Maj. Savage's widow, who became a member of the Third Church in 1674, was married, between 7 Dec. 1683 and 10 Apr. 1684, as his fourth wife, to Anthony Stoddard, who, when he died on 16 Mar. 1686/7, was called by Sewall "the ancientest shop-keeper in Town." Mrs. Stoddard died in Boston 18 July 1710, and was buried, the day following her death, in the Savage tomb. In her will, made 5 Feb. 1697/8 and proved 21 July 1710, she gives to her daughter Sarah Higginson her "Molatto Girl named Ann and also all the wrought plate;" to her son-in-law John Higginson her "Great bible;" to the two children of her grandson John Higginson, Jr., a silver spoon each, of the value of fifteen shillings; and the remainder of her estate is to be equally divided between her six grandchildren, the five children of John Higginson and the daughter of her deceased son Ebenezer Savage. She appoints John Higginson and his wife Sarah her executors.

His three oldest children were bapt. at the Third Church, but in 1686 he, with a few others, founded King's Chapel, the first Anglican church in Boston, where his younger children were bapt. On 29 June 1689 he was chosen one of its wardens. In Apr. 1689 he was imprisoned for sympathizing with the policies of Gov. - vii. PEREZ, b. 17 Feb. 1651/2, and bapt. at the First Church five days later. He enlisted as an ensign in Capt. Mosley's company in King Philip's War, was badly wounded in the thigh at Swansey, R. I., during the first week of the war, and was again wounded in the "Great Swamp fight" in the Narragansett campaign on 19 Dec. following, when he had become lieut. of the same company. A "young martial spark" Hubbard quaintly calls him.† and a "noble heroic youth" says Capt. Benj. Church. Later he carried on trade between Boston, London, and Cadiz. He was in London in Sept. 1690, about to sail for Malaga, and in the following Nov. he was in Deal, "waighting A faire wind to go to sea: for Mal-lago and here Againe." He was again in London in Oct. 1691. A contribution was taken up in the Dorchester churches on 28 Jan. 1693/4 for the purpose of ransoming Savage and his nephew Thomas Thacher, who had fallen into the hands of Barbary pirates. Just when this capture took place has not yet been discovered, but Savage and his nephew and other members of the ship's crew were imprisoned at Mequinez (now Meknez), Morocco, and there on 24 May 1694, "in my Sick Bed," Savage made a will, and probably d. soon after. He never married. When Savage was in London, 8 Sept. 1690, "being bound out on a Voyage to Sea," he made a will, by which he left £10 each to his brothers Thomas, Ephraim, and Benjamin, and to his sisters Hannah Silvester, Mary Thatcher, Dionitia Ravenscroft, and Sarah Higginson, and to each of them a ring of 20 shillings in value; to his nephew Thomas Thacher £50, and to his brother Thomas Savage "my Silver hilted Rapier which was left me by my Father." All the remainder of his estate, after the debts and above-mentioned bequests had been paid, he left to his brother Thomas, and appointed him his executor. This will, which was witnessed by Rob<sup>t</sup> Granvill, David Kally, Tho<sup>s</sup> Thatcher, and Jo<sup>n</sup> Towne, was signed at "Snelgroves dock Wapping," and was proved at Boston 18 Apr. 1695, nearly a year after Savage's death. In his later will, made in Morocco 24 May 1694, he leaves to "Robert Carver a French Lewes, to Henry in the Jewdree a ducat of Gold, To John Borch & Elias Fortune a Ducat in Silver a piece, and Elias a Jackett & to Joanas, the Thirty three Bla<sup>ts</sup> [blankets?] as he Owes me," and the remainder of his estate. "that lyes now in the hands of M<sup>r</sup> Rich<sup>d</sup> Hill Merch<sup>t</sup> in Cadix or London, New England or any other part where I am concern'd," is to be given to his nephew Thomas Thacher. This will was proved in London 11 May 1702. On 10 Nov. 1708 the first will of Perez Savage was revoked in favor of the Mequinez will by Judge Addington of the Suffolk Probate Court, Addington having been the register under Judge Stoughton who granted letters of administration on the first will thirteen years previously. Later, however, Elizabeth (Scottow) Savage, widow of Thomas, the executor mentioned in the first will, instituted proceedings in the Court of Arches in London before Sir Charles Hedges, which resulted in a reversal of * John Stark Ravenscroft, b. 1772, d. 1830, a great-great-grandson of Samuel and Dyonisia (Savage) Ravenscroft, was the first Bishop of North Carolina.

† "Ensign Savage, that young martial spark, scarce twenty years of age, had at that time one bullet lodged in his thigh, another shot through the brim of his hat, by ten or twelve of the enemy discharging upon him together, while he boldly held up his colours in the front of his company." (Hubbard, Narrative of the Indian Wars in New-England.)

the decree of Addington in support of the second will and established the right of the appellant under the first or Boston will, "perhaps," says Savage, "with the concurrence of Thacher." (Savage's Gen. Dictionary, vol. 4, pp. 25-6.)

Children by second wife, born in Boston:

He was deputy from Salem, 1685, 1689 and 1691, and a member of the Council from 1700 until his death. He was also county treasurer and justice of the Court of Common Pleas. He was commissioned ensign in 1675 and promoted until in 1701 he ranked as colonel." (Descendants of Rev. Francis Higginson, by Thomas Wentworth Higginson, 1910.) 2. HABIJAH<sup>2</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 1 Aug. 1638 and baptized at the First Church 12 Aug. 1638, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School as early as 1647. He entered Harvard College 17 July 1655 and was graduated in 1659. On 14 Mar. 1658/9 he, with two other students, was openly "censured in the Colledge Hall" for the part he took in the previous January in "a great disorder in Cambridge in the night and fighting betweene the schollars and some of the tounne." (Sibley's Harvard Graduates, vol. 2, pp. 11-12.) In 1665 he became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and on 3 May 1665 he was admitted freeman, and soon became captain of a militia company in Boston.

He married in Boston, Gov. Endicott officiating, 8 May 1661, HANNAH TYNG, born in Boston 7 Mar. 1639/40, daughter of Capt. Edward and Mary of Boston. He died in 1669, while on a trip to Barbadoes in connection with his business as a trader, and administration on his estate was granted 24 May 1670 to his widow, his estate being appraised at £443. 17s. 1½d. At some time between 1681 and 1685 his widow became the second wife of Maj.-Gen. Daniel Gookin of Cambridge, Mass., born in co. Kent, England, about 1612, died 19 Mar. 1687, by whom she had one daughter. By his first wife Gookin had a son Nathaniel, who married a daughter of Habijah Savage. Mrs. Hannah (Tyng) Gookin died at Cambridge 28 Oct. 1688.

On 16 Dec. 1685 he was ordained as the first settled minister at Dunstable, where he remained until his death. 3. THOMAS SAVAGE<sup>2</sup> (Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston and baptized at the First Church 17 May 1640, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1649. He became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1665, its first sergeant in 1674, its ensign in 1681, and its lieutenant in 1686; he was also an officer in the Boston militia, rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel of a Boston regiment in 1702, and held this position until his death. He served during King Philip's war, was an officer in Sir Edmund Andros's army, and became a freeman on 12 Mar. 1689/90. In 1678 he testified that he was master of the barque Dolphin, engaged in trade with the West Indies. In Aug. 1690 he, with two others, was sent to Albany by the Government to negotiate with the Maquas Indians in an endeavor to enlist them on the English side against the Eastern Indians, and in the same year he led one of three regiments in Sir William Phips's unsuccessful expedition against Quebec, being the first officer to land. On 7 Oct. 1690 his ship ran aground in the St. Lawrence River, within gunshot of the shore, but was floated by Sir William. He returned to Boston with the expedition on 19 Nov., and wrote "An Account of the late action of the New-Englanders under the command of Sir William Phips, against the French at Canada," which was published in London in 1691.* He became a merchant in Boston, and in many deeds calls himself, or is called, "Shop-keeper." He became a member of the Third (Old South) Church in 1702, his wife having been admitted to this church two years earlier. He was one of the executors of his father's will, and was attorney for his brother Perez, who was often absent in England and Spain. He lived on Ann (now North) Street, and had a warehouse adjoining on Scottow's (now Scott) Alley, which in 1732 was sold by the other heirs to his son Habijah.

He married about 1664 ELIZABETH SCOTTOW, baptized 1 Aug. 1647, "aged about 2 days," died in Boston 29 Aug. 1714, daughter of Capt. Joshua and Lydia of Boston.

He died in Boston 2 July 1705, and three days later was given a military funeral, with the "Street," says Sewall, "very much fill'd with People all along." He was buried in his father's tomb in King's Chapel Burial-Ground. His will, made 23 Feb. 1697/8 and proved 21 July 1705, appoints his wife sole executrix and leaves his property both real and personal to her for her life, and after her death it is to be equally divided between his six children. If, however, his wife should remarry, then one half of the property is to be divided between his children and the other half is to go to his wife for her life and to be disposed of by her among his children and grandchildren. To his son Thomas he gives "my Silver hilted Sword that was my Fathers and my fringed Scarfe," to his son Habijah "my Seal Ring that was my Fathers," and to his son Arthur "my little Birding piece."

In 1728 he purchased from the heirs of his wife's grandfather, Capt. Joshua Scottow, the Cammock Patent for land at Black Point in Scarborough, and after retiring from business in 1753 he removed thither and lived there until his death. 4. EPHRAIM<sup>2</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 20 July 1645 and baptized at the First Church in Boston 27 July 1645, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1654. He ended

Harvard College in 1658, and was graduated in 1662, and at the time of his death was the oldest living graduate of that institution and the sole survivor of his class. He was made a freeman 15 May 1672, took the oath of allegiance 11 Nov. 1678, and became a trader in Boston. In 1674 he became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and in 1683 was elected its captain, after holding minor offices in the Company. On 5 May 1676 he was ordered by the General Court to march to Brookfield, Mass., with provisions for the relief of the garrison there, and to take command of the garrison. At the session of 22 Oct. 1677 he was appointed ensign in his father's company of militia, and on 17 Mar. 1681/2 succeeded his father as captain of the company. At the session of 10 Oct. 1683 he was "added vnto the committee for the ouersight of the repajres of the Castle." About 1688 he removed to Reading, Mass., the home of his second wife, where he became the wealthiest and most influential citizen of the town. In July 1690 he was appointed captain of a company of men from Reading and elsewhere in Middlesex Co., under Maj. Nathaniel Wade of Medford, in Sir William Phips's expedition against Quebec; and in the assault upon the town on 10 Oct. his ship, with sixty men on board, "ran a-ground upon the North-Shoar, near two Miles from Quebec," but, although attacked violently by two or three hundred of the enemy, escaped capture. He was, however, so badly wounded in his left thigh that his life was despaired of, and in Mar. 1697 the Province voted him a yearly pension to date from the day on which he was wounded. He probably returned to Boston from Reading in the late spring of 1692, and in that year was elected town clerk of Boston, an office which he held until 1696, being also a selectman, sealer of weights and measures, and an assessor of the town. On 12 Mar. 1703/4 he was one of a committee chosen by the inhabitants of the district of Muddy River (now Brookline), Mass., "to consider and draw up" a petition to be presented to the General Court praying "that they may be dismist from the Town of Boston, & become a Township of themselves." In 1703-8 and again in 1710 he represented Boston in the General Court, and in 1709-10 was once more elected a selectman. He was for several years an officer in the Boston militia. On 11 July 1707, as captain, with fifty men under his command, he arrived at Casco Bay in the frigate Ruth, and joined the campaign under Col. John March of Newbury, as general, in an abortive attempt to reduce Port Royal, supposed to be headquarters for privateers in carrying on an illegal business with the Indians. In a few weeks this expedition returned to Boston. In Nov. 1714 Savage presented a petition to the justices of Suffolk Co., praying for an allowance for serving as the sheriff of the county, and for taking care of the "Goal" of the county "and the prisoners therein." The great fire of 1711 started in one of his out-buildings, near his house in Savage's (now Williams) Court. Late in 1717 or early in 1718 he removed from Boston to some place as yet unknown, but this absence was probably of short duration. In a letter from Governor Shute to Father Rale, under date of 21 Feb. 1717/18, Savage's conduct as magistrate in punishing Indians is excused on the ground that "If the Indians or French come into our towns, they must observe the laws of the land and that he did not otherwise with the Indians than he would have done by English people in like circumstances."

He married first, about 1670, MARY QUINCY, born 4 Mar. 1649/50, died in Boston 7 Oct. 1676, eldest daughter of Edmund and Joanna (Hoar) of Braintree, the latter being a sister of Leonard Hoar, President of Harvard College from 1672 to 1674/5. He married secondly, in Boston, Maj. Thomas Clarke officiating, 26 Feb. 1677/8, Mrs. SARAH (HOUGH) WALKER, daughter of Rev. Samuel and Sarah (Symmes) of Reading, and widow of Obadiah, a Boston merchant. Her mother was a daughter of Rev. Zechariah Symmes of Charlestown, Mass., and a sister of Ephraim Savage's stepmother. She was born at Reading about 1652, and died in Boston, according to Sewall, 12 Jan. 1686/7, of smallpox, which "came out upon her about a week ago two or three dayes after her Travail." She was buried on the following day in the Savage tomb in King's Chapel Burial-Ground. He married thirdly, in Boston, 12 Apr. 1688, Mrs. ELIZABETH (NORTON) SYMMES, daughter of Capt. Francis and Mary of Charlestown, and widow of Timothy, who was a brother of Ephraim Savage's stepmother. She was born probably at Charlestown about 1643, and died in Boston 13 Apr. 1710, being buried about sunset on 16 Apr. with "Winthrop, Sewall; Addington, Sergeant; Walley, Belchar" as bearers. This third marriage was solemnized by Rev. Charles Morton of Charlestown, and is one of the earliest of the New England marriages of which there is any record at which a clergyman officiated. He married fourthly, in Boston, 8 Jan. 1712/13, Mrs. ELIZABETH (BROWNE) BUTLER, daughter of Abraham and Elizabeth (Usher) of Boston, and widow (with six children) of Peter, mariner and merchant of Boston. She was born in Boston 17 Nov. 1664, but the date of her death is unknown. Soon after this marriage Savage was appointed guardian of his wife's minor children.

He died in Boston, and was buried there 2 Mar. 1730/1, in his eighty-sixth year. He was one of the executors of his father's will, and probably the last survivor of his father's children. His own will, made 3 Dec. 1730 and proved 22 Mar. 1730/1, leaves the principal part of his property to his wife Elizabeth and a gold ring to each of her three children by her former husband, besides remembering his three daughters.

5. THOMAS<sup>3</sup> SAVAGE (Habijah,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 19 Oct. 1664, a goldsmith and silversmith, was admitted a freeman on 22 Mar. 1689/90. He became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1693, its first sergeant in 1700, ensign in 1701, lieutenant in 1703, and captain in 1705. On 12 Mar. 1693/4 he was chosen a clerk of the market for the ensuing year, and on 8 Mar. 1696/7 a constable. At the end of 1705 or early in 1706 Savage removed with his family to Bermuda, for in Feb. 1705/6, and again as late as May 1713, he is called "of Bermuda." Probably in 1714 he left Bermuda permanently, and on 30 Oct. of that year he was back in Boston. In Mar. 1716/17 he and his wife are "of Boston," and sell land on Pudding Lane to Mrs. Savage's brother, Samuel Phillips. On 14 June 1725 Savage was chosen by the town to serve as sealer of weights and measures, an office which he held until, "being grown infirm," he was relieved of his duties 19 Mar. 1735/6. On 2 July 1738 he was dismissed from the First Church in Boston "to a chh in Newbury Mr Lowell Pastor," but he had probably removed to Newbury at least a year or more before his dismissal from the Boston church. There, living near his married daughter, Mary, he passed the remainder of his life.

He married in Boston, 5 Feb. 1689/90, MRS. MEHITABEL (PHILLIPS) HARWOOD, born in Boston and baptized 21 July 1667, died at Newbury, Mass., 6 June 1737, daughter of Henry and Mary (Dwight) of Boston, and widow of Benjamin of Boston, mariner, to whom she was married prior to 1687 and by whom she had two children.

Thomas Savage died at Newbury 23 Aug. 1749, and was buried beside his wife in the Old Hill Burying-Ground, where their gravestones may still be seen. No record of any will or of any settlement of the estate either of Thomas Savage or of his wife appears. At least one example of his craftsmanship exists in a silver caudle-cup owned by the First Congregational Church of Quincy, upon which is found his mark, T S, with a star below, the whole enclosed in a heart.

He was a sea-captain engaged in the trade between London and Boston from 1724 to 1737, when he removed to Newbury. Here he became a prominent member of St. Paul's Church, and held various church offices. In 1748 he was granted permission by the town to build a rope-walk. 6. THOMAS<sup>3</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 2 Aug. 1668, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1677. In a "List of Inhabitants in Boston in 1695," Savage is called "mariner," but later being prominent in the military affairs of Boston and colonel of the Boston regiment, he was commonly known by his military title. He became a freeman 22 Mar. 1689/90, and was then called a captain, and, as "Coll. Thomas Savage," he was chosen a selectman of Boston 8 Mar. 1702/3, 13 Mar. 1703/4, and 10 Mar. 1711/12. On 9 Mar. 1701/2 he was chosen a constable, to serve for the ensuing year, and in 1714 he was granted permission to sell liquor at retail "without doors."
- He married, probably at Charlestown, Mass., about 1693, MARGARET LYNDE, born at Charlestown 24 or 31 Jan. 1668/9, died in Boston between 21 Mar. 1720/1 and 5 July 1721, daughter of Hon. Joseph and Sarah (Davison) of Charlestown. He died in Boston 3 Mar. 1720/1, and Sewall notices his funeral at length in his Diary, saying that he "was buried in his Grandfather Savage's Tomb in the old Burying place" (King's Chapel); but the editors of the Diary have fallen into the common error of confusing him with his cousin of the same name (vide supra, 5). The inventory of his estate, in which he is called a merchant, amounted to £3899, and included an Indian man valued at £60, 232 oz. of silver valued at £139. 4s., and 8 tons of Spanish iron. The real estate included a brick house and stable in Dock Square, a lot of land on Boston Neck, a brick house and land on Union Street, together with a wooden house on that street and a shop and land on Marlborough Street. Administration on his estate was granted 21 Mar. 1720/1 to his widow and his sons-in-law.

7. HABIJAH<sup>3</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 10 Sept. 1674, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1684, and was graduated from Harvard College in 1695. He became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1699, and besides holding minor offices, was its captain in 1711, 1721, and 1727. In 1711 he was styled "apothecary." He became a member of the Old South Church in Jan. 1708/9, his wife having been admitted to this church in Feb. 1704/5. In 1717 he was chosen major in the Boston regiment, and in 1727 lieutenant-colonel. From 1715 to 1718 he was a selectman of Boston; represented the town in the General Court in 1717, 1718, and 1732; was auditor of the town's accounts in 1731; moderator of the town-meeting in the same year; was appointed a justice of the peace in 1728; was reappointed in 1732; on 15 Dec. 1732 was appointed a special justice of the Court of Common Pleas for Suffolk County; and in 1737 was county treasurer. He was largely interested in lands in Maine, and was one of the Pemaquid proprietors.

He lived in a brick house on Ann Street, near the corner of Scottow's Alley, his property running to Scottow's Alley; and his warehouse stood on land at the rear of his house, upon the Town Dock.

He married in Boston, Rev. Ebenezer Pemberton officiating, 8 July 1703, his first cousin once removed, Mrs. HANNAH (PHILLIPS) ANDERSON, born in Boston 8 Mar. 1680/1, died there 27 May 1751, daughter of Samuel and Hannah (Gillam),* and widow of David, Jr., a Charlestown sea-captain, to whom she had been married in 1699.

He died in Boston 16 Sept. 1746, having by his will, dated 24 Oct. 1743, appointed his wife and his sons Thomas and Arthur executors. Mrs. Savage made a will 28 May 1748, dividing her property equally between her three children, after £50 had been paid to each of the children of her son Arthur and her daughter Hannah. Portraits of Habijah Savage and of his wife, painted about 1715, are now at Belfast, Me., in the possession of the widow of a descendant.

- i. HABIJAH,<sup>4</sup> b. 17 Feb. 1703/4; d. unm. in Boston 14 June 1743, "after a long and painful Indisposition." He was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1711 or 1712; was graduated at Harvard College in 1723; in 1733 became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company; and in 1738 was elected its fourth sergeant. In 1733 he was elected a constable of Boston, but was excused from serving.

* Hannah Gillam, wife of Samuel Phillips, was daughter of Benjamin and Hannah (Savage) Gillam (vide supra, 1, iii). Samuel Phillips, bapt. in Boston 2 Nov. 1662, d. there 24 Oct. 1720, son of Henry and Mary (Dwight), was the well-known bookseller of Boston, "at the Brick-Shop at the West-End of the Town-House." He was a large dealer in books, many of which, says Thomas in his History of Printing, were consigned to him by John Dunton, who was his factor in London; and he published several books which were printed in London. Dunton in his Life and Errors mentions him as his "old correspondent," and says that "on visiting him in Boston he treated me with a noble Dinner, and, (if I may trust my Eyes) is blest with a Pretty, obliging Wife . . . he's very just and (as an Effect of that) very Thriving. I shall only add to his Character that he's Young and Witty and the most Beautiful Man in the Town of Boston." His son Henry was graduated at Harvard College in 1724, and in July 1728 fought on the Common, "near the water-side," the first duel in Boston. His opponent, Benjamin Woodbridge, son of Hon. Dudley Woodbridge of Barbadoes, was killed; and Phillips, aided by Peter Faneuil, whose sister Mary married Gillam Phillips, a brother of Henry, escaped on board the man-of-war Sheerness, then lying in the harbor, and sailed immediately for La Rochelle, France, where he died in the following year.

Child by first husband: 1. Edward, mentioned in 1743 in his grandfather Savage's will and in 1748 by inference in will of his grandmother Savage; probably d. soon after 1748.

12. iii. THOMAS, b. 5 Jan. 1709/10.

13. iv. ARTHUR, b. 19 July 1715.

v. SAMUEL, b. 16 July 1717; d. in Boston 16 Aug. 1717.

8. ARTHUR<sup>3</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 29 Mar. 1680. was at the time of his marriage (1710) a merchant dealing in West India goods, with a shop on Long Wharf, but very soon he became a sea-captain and ship-owner, in the trade between Boston and London. He arrived at Boston in Nov. 1712 from a twenty-nine days' passage from Falmouth, England. In May 1714 he was in command of the ship Province Galley and a part-owner, sailing from Boston to French, Portuguese, Dutch, and Mediterranean ports.* On 6 Apr. 1716 he arrived at Boston from London, where on 24 Feb. he had, says Sewall in his Diary, stood upon the scaffold on Tower Hill and witnessed the beheading of Lords Derwentwater and Kenmure for complicity in the late Jacobite uprising.† In 1716/17 Savage was appointed a constable of Boston. In Apr. (probably the 19th) 1720 he was appointed naval officer of the port of Annapolis Royal in Nova Scotia and also secretary of the province, thus becoming the first provincial secretary of Nova Scotia. To him as well as to the collector of customs all masters of vessels arriving at or departing from Annapolis Royal were required to report. On 6 May 1720 a council was formed at Annapolis Royal, of which Savage was made a member. On this council, among others, were also Savage's brother-in-law, Gillam Phillips, Paul Mascarene, and Cyprian Southack of Boston. Savage's immediate successor as naval officer has not been discovered nor is it clear just how long he remained a member of the council; but the following extract from

* On 9 Nov. 1713 the General Court of the Province voted to sell the vessel known as the Province Galley, "with or without her Guns," and in 1714 John Oulton and Savage's brother-in-law, Cornelius Waldo, both merchants of Boston, were owners of three-quarters of this vessel, Savage being the commander. In May 1714 Savage, under orders from Oulton and Waldo, sailed in this vessel from Marblehead with a cargo of fish for Gibraltar, Lisbon, and Bilbao. He was to proceed to London or elsewhere, if he found it necessary in order to procure a good freight. On 18 May 1716 Oulton and Waldo brought suit in the Inferior Court of Common Pleas against Savage to recover damages of £2000 sterling, he according to their statement having "misapplied and Embezzled the Plants [Plaintiffs'] money In that Also he put into Fvall, Majorea, Minorea, Saloe, Tarragonia, Mattero [Mataro] Also by Loading Salt 1st from Juasa to Villa Franco Second Load of Salt from Azzue in Barbary to Holland, and in Sailing to and from and touching at Marseilles Toulon and Several other Ports & places in the Streights without any manner of freight or freights," and "it manifestly appears That the Plants are truly damnified by the Defts. Breach of Orders the Sum of one thousand fifty-two pounds nine Shillings Sterling. The Nonpaymt whereof is To ye Damage of ye s<sup>d</sup> John Oulton and Cornelius Waldo as they say ye Sum of Two Thousand pounds Sterling." (Suffolk Court Files.) Savage was ordered by the Court to pay £184. 12s. 3d. 11. He appealed to the Superior Court of Judicature, which confirmed the decision of the lower court. (Lewis Coll., MSS., in the Library of the N. E. Historic Genealogical Society.)

† The following advertisement appeared in the Boston News Letter of 31 Mar.-7 Apr. 1718: "All Persons having the Curiosity of seeing the noble and Royal Beast the Lyon, never one before in America, may see him at the House of Capt. Arthur Savage near Mr Colman's [Brattle Square] Church, Boston, before he is transported for London. But to prevent all disputes with the negro at the Gate who constantly attends each Person (whether seen him before or not) is desired to pay to the said Negro six pence a piece."

Niles's History of the Indian and French Wars (4 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 5, p. 341) proves that he was in Annapolis Royal in 1722:

Captain Savage, Captain Blin, and Mr. Newton, were at this time coming from Annapolis; and . . . went into Passamaquoddy for water. They were no sooner ashore, but they found themselves hemmed in by a great body of the savages; the French basely standing by, and suffering them in their insults. Captain Savage got off, and returned to Boston. Those he left behind, after some difficulty and expense, were released.

Savage was living in Boston in 1725, in which year he bought pew numbered North 23 in Christ Church. In 1728 he was appointed a coroner in Boston, and in May 1729 we find that he took oath as a marshal of the Court of Vice-Admiralty for Rhode Island. In "The New-England Weekly Journal" for 8 Apr. 1728 he advertises "Choice New Coffee To be Sold . . . at his House in Brattle-Street, Boston for Eight Shillings per Pound." In 1702 he became a member of the Third (Old South) Church, but as before stated he bought a pew in 1725 in Christ Church. This pew remained in his possession until his death, and in 1732 he presented a silver christening basin to this church, which still owns it.

In 1710, six days before his marriage, he bought of Elizabeth, widow of Thaddeus Mackarty of Boston, land on the westerly side of Brattle Square, with the house standing thereon, known then and for many years afterwards as the "White House,"* which was his home for the remainder of his life, with the exception of his absence in Nova Scotia, when he rented a house in Annapolis Royal.

He married in Boston, Rev. Ebenezer Pemberton officiating, 27 June 1710, FAITH PHILLIPS, his first cousin once removed, born, probably in Boston, in 1690, died there 6 June 1775, daughter of Samuel and Hannah (Gillam)† and sister of his brother Habijah Savage's wife.

He died in his house in Brattle Square, Boston, after a long illness, 20 Apr. 1735, and was buried three days later. In his will, dated 10 Dec. 1733, Savage appoints his wife executrix; and in a codicil, dated 6 Jan. 1734/5, he desires that a tenth part of the annual income from his estate be given to the poor in quarterly payments. The will was proved 3 June 1735. The inventory shows property, real and personal, amounting to £5263. 7s. 5d. The real estate consisted of his "Mansion House" in Brattle Square, together with a house and land adjoining, half of a brick house and land in Cornhill, "fronting ye Town House," and 20 acres of land in Dedham. Among the items of personal property are the following: 10 "mas-satinto Pictures" of the Royal Family; a model of a ship; a leather chaise, and a white horse; "a China [Chinese] Bedstead"; a silver-hilted sword and belt; a blunderbuss; a pair of pistols; 260 oz. 4 dwt. of wrought plate; a negro man named Sharper and a negro woman named Nancy, each valued at £75; a silver watch, valued at £20; and a pair of silver spurs.

* Afterwards occupied by Hon. William Bollan, who married a daughter of Gov. Shirley, and still later by John Adams, when he first moved to Boston from Braintree. (Life and Works of John Adams, vol. 1, p. 85.)

† Vide supra, p. 212, note.

His widow was married in Boston, 13 May 1736, to Hon. Daniel Russell, born at Charlestown in 1685, died there 6 Dec. 1763, son of Hon. James and Abigail (Curwen) (Hathorne) of Charlestown, by whom she had no issue. Her second husband had previously married Rebecca Chambers, only daughter of Hon. Charles of Charlestown, and had several children. During her second husband's life she lived at Charlestown, but after his death she lived either with her son Samuel at Weston or with her niece Mrs. Moses Bass in Rainsford's Lane, Boston. In 1773 she went to live with her younger son Arthur in Auchmuty's Lane (now the southern part of Essex Street), where she died suddenly during the siege of Boston, and was buried in King's Chapel Burial-Ground, 9 June 1775.

Children, born in Boston:

15. ii. ARTHUR, b. 9 Oct. 1731.

ADDENDA

Of the many unplaced Hotchkisses whose records come to hand only the following need be considered here:

(1) TIMOTHY HOTCHKISS of Cheshire (perhaps identical with 27, iii. who was born at New Haven 16 Mar. 1742) married, 4 Mar. 1762, LUCY ANDRUS, who died 27 Apr. 1772.

Children:

- i. SAMUEL, b. 14 Dec. 1762; m. 12 Feb. 1784 MIRIAM<sup>6</sup> HOTCHKISS, daughter of Amos (54), b. 10 Jan. 1764.
- ii. AMBROSE, b. 14 Jan. 1765; m. 25 Dec. 1791 LUCRETIA BALDWIN.
- iii. ANER, b. 24 Dec. 1766.
- iv. BRIANT, b. 31 May 1769.
- v. LUCY, b. 23 Apr. 1772; d. 6 May 1772.

(2) The descendants of John Hotchkin of Guilford, sometimes supposed (despite the spelling of the name) to be brother of Samuel<sup>1</sup> Hotchkiss, are given in REGISTER, vol. 58, p. 281. One branch, which settled in New Haven, is not carried out there, and is given here in order to prevent any confusion between this family and the New Haven Hotchkisses.

Children:

- i. ELIAS,<sup>6</sup> b. abt. 1783; d. at New Haven 17 Aug. 1824, leaving children: 1. Charles,<sup>7</sup> b. abt. 1810. 2. Mary Ann, b. abt. 1812. 3. Amanda Charlotte.
- ii. TABITHA, m. ——— GASTON.
- iii. LOVINIA, m. ——— KINGSLEY.
- iv. ABIGAIL, m. ——— DUDLEY.

(3) A Hotchkiss family settled in Norfolk, Conn., about 1763, but it was not connected with the line of Samuel<sup>1</sup> in time to be inserted in its proper place. It is now nearly certain that James, Enos, and Samuel, the heads of the Norfolk branch, were two sons and a grandson of Samuel<sup>3</sup> (12) of East Haven.

12. viii. JAMES<sup>4</sup> HOTCHKISS (Samuel,<sup>3</sup> Samuel,<sup>2</sup> Samuel<sup>1</sup>), born at East Haven 13 Jan. 1728, married DOROTHY ASPINWALL of Norfolk.

Children:

- i. LEVI,<sup>5</sup>

- ix. PHEBE, bapt. 19 June 1774.
- x. IRA, bapt. 14 June 1778.
- xi. CHARLOTTE, bapt. 16 Apr. 1780.

12. ix. ENOS<sup>4</sup> HOTCHKISS (Samuel,<sup>3</sup> Samuel,<sup>2</sup> Samuel<sup>1</sup>), born at East Haven 13 May 1731, married, 5 Feb. 1756, ELIZABETH

SHEPARD. The birth of their child Elihu is recorded at East Haven, but unfortunately the name was given as Enos in Dodd's East Haven Register, and this error was followed in the account given above (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 330). Elihu, Elizabeth, and Ruth, children of Enos and Elizabeth, were baptized at Norfolk 2 Oct. 1763, together with three children of James and Dorothy, a fact which serves to identify Enos and James as the East Haven brothers.

Children :

- i. ELIHU,<sup>5</sup> b. at East Haven 1757; bapt. at Norfolk 2 Oct. 1763.
- ii. ELIZABETH, } bapt. 2 Oct. 1763.
- iii. RUTH, }
- iv. A CHILD, d. 17 Jan. 1733.
- v. JOHN, bapt. at Norfolk 17 June 1764.
- vi. ENOS.
- vii. STEPHEN.
- viii. HANNAH, m. JONATHAN FINCH.
- ix. SAMUEL, b. at East Haven 1778.

Children :

- i. CHLOE,<sup>6</sup> bapt. 12 Apr. 1778.

- vi. JAMES, bapt. 22 Jan. 1791.
- vii. ABIGAIL, bapt. 12 July 1798; perhaps the child who d. July 1798.
- viii. ELIZA AURELIA, bapt. 13 June 1802.

JOSIAH HOTCHKISS, perhaps the oldest child of James (12, viii), married ASENATH ———.

Children :

- i. OLIVER, }
- ii. JOSIAH, }
- iii. ASAHEL, } bapt. 15 Oct. 1799.
- iv. ASENATH, }
- v. DANIEL, }
- vi. CYRUS, }
- vii. A CHILD, d. Apr. 1790.
- viii. CHARLOTTE, bapt. 27 Aug. 1801.

(4) THOMAS<sup>4</sup> HOTCHKISS (18, i) was probably the man reported dead or captured in the French War, 7 Sept. 1756. If so, his family may not have removed from Hamden as supposed. It will be noted that he had a son Samuel, born 7 July 1732. In 1816 the estate of Samuel Hotchkiss, Jr., of Hamden was distributed to his children Samuel, Amasa, and Sarah, and the children of his daughter Mary, deceased.

(5) Thanks to the courtesy of Mrs. F. A. Sanford of Westfield, Mass., it is possible to make additions and corrections in the line of DEA. GIDEON<sup>4</sup> HOTCHKISS (36). Descendants are certain that the twelfth child attributed to him, Asahel,<sup>5</sup> was in reality the child of Gideon's eldest son, Jesse.<sup>6</sup> Gideon's daughter Olive (36, xviii) married William Jones.

He married first, 21 Nov. 1763, ABIGAIL DOUGLAS, daughter of Alexander and Sarah (Ballard), who died 5 Apr. 1775; and secondly, 5 July 1775, PENINAH (PECK) TODD, daughter of Timothy and Lydia (Lines), and widow of Charles. *The words, "In order to get a lottre granted them for to have a pear helt [i. e., pier built] in the town of gosport," which are found at the top of p. 62 of the original records, seem to be a continuation of this record, being a restatement of a part of the last sentence. Such a petition to be allowed to establish a lottery for the purpose of building "a pier or bason at Gosport" was actually prepared. It was dated 25 June 1766, and had 77 signatures, which are copied with a few errors by Jenness in his History of the Isles of Shoals. Of these names about 45 are those of Shoalers, the other signatures being those of friends on shore, and among them are names of great weight in the province. The petition was presented 1 July 1766; but not until Aug. 1767 was permission given to bring in a bill, which was presently passed. In Oct. 1768 the managers of the Shoals lottery, having sold few tickets, asked the Assembly for further directions. It was agreed that owing to the scarcity of money there was no prospect of carrying out the project. Early in 1770 Daniel Rogers and other managers of the lottery petitioned for an allowance for expenses and charges before such money as had come in should be returned to the buyers of tickets.

†This seems the proper interpretation of the date, which is indistinct and at first glance looks much like 1767; but the date on p. 62 is very clearly 1767, and that on p. 65 is 1768. It was the custom to write first on the right-hand page.

† At first glance this seems to be a contemporaneous record of the death of Mr. Tucke. It does not, however, resemble the other records of the time in the character of the writing or in the ink used. It is not the writing of the younger Tucke, if the entry on p. 73 of the original records be in his hand. Nor is it like the writing of Rev. Jedidiah Morse on later pages. It does resemble the hand of Josiah Stevens, as it appears on p. 99. It has been pointed out elsewhere (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 299) that on 15 Aug. 1773 Mr. Tucke recorded the baptism of twins and that the notice of his death first appears in the issue of the New Hampshire Gazette (Portsmouth) of 3 Sept. 1773. An entry in the records of the church at Epsom, N. H., in some measure confirms the conclusion reached regarding the time of the death of Mr. Tucke. Mr. J. M. Moses of Barnstead, N. H., writes that it was the custom of the younger Tucke during his pastorate at Epsom (1761-1774) to administer the communion four times a year, the first Sunday in September being one of those appointed times. In 1773 this service was held on 3 Oct. instead of 5 Sept., the regular time for it. The preparatory lecture was given on the preceding Friday by a neighboring minister and a meeting of the church followed. A vote passed at this meeting is entered in the records in the handwriting of the pastor, and he adds: "N. B. My father's death was the cause of our Sac<sup>t</sup> being delayed from the 1 [i.e., first Sunday] of Sept. till now. Attest J. Tucke Pastor." Had the father died on 12 Aug., it would probably have been unnecessary to make such a postponement. The death of Mrs. Tucke, the mother, is noted in the News-Letter of 10 June 1773.

* From the proximity of the records it seems probable that this is the Sarah Mutchmore who is noted in the will of John as the sister of the above-mentioned John, Richard, and William. If this be true, she married later, 1754, Geoffrey Currier (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 146).

† Presumably the Ambrose who was baptized 11 Apr. 1742.

‡ The Mary of this family was baptized 4 Sept. 1715. As this baptism was at New Castle, or performed by a minister from there (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 300), the name would seem to fit this case. The birth of 1713 may be that of the Martha Sanderson who married John Clary 4 Oct. 1731. Some of these children do not appear in the lists of baptisms, probably because of early death.

§ The church book records the baptism, 17 Apr. 1737, of "Samuel Son of Samuel Currier & of Abigail his Wife." (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 153.) Samuel Currier lived on Hog Island, so that unfavorable weather might have delayed the baptism.

Thamas Mace|| was married to Hannah Rendall both of Gosport alias Star
 Island, by Jed<sup>h</sup> morse V.D.M.

* 1731/2. He was baptized 12 Apr. 1732 (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 303). Early in Mar. 1737/8 Vowdy married the widow Lydia Currier. The Church Records name eight children of this union.

† The Church Records give her baptism on 26 Apr. 1761.

‡ In the baptismal record these also are entered as children of Henry and Elizabeth Shapley.

§ The Church Records (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 146) give the marriage as 5 Sept. 1756.

|| Probably the Thomas Mace who was baptized 22 Sept. 1765 (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 225).

Richard Rendell* was married to Nabby Robison, both of Gosport, by Jed<sup>a</sup> Morse V.D.M.

The two couple above mentioned had been published eight or ten years (but not married) & cohabited together since, & had each a number of children. Mr. Mace had been formerly married to another woman who had left him, & cohabited with her uncle, by whom she has a number of children. No regular Divorce had been obtained. Considering the peculiar deranged state of the people on these islands, & the ignorance of the parties, it was thought expedient, in order as far as possible to prevent future sin, to marry them

[An entry in the hand of the Rev. J. Morse.]

1799 Sept The Reverend Jacob Emerson of Reading (Mass) visited the Isles of Shoals, by desire & at the expence of "The Society for propagating the Gospel among the Indians & others in North America," established at Boston, and spent three Months on the Isles, preached thirteen sabbaths & taught a small school.

* Probably the Richard Randal who was baptized 17 Mar. 1771 (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 297). Nabby is the Abigail who was baptized 15 Aug. 1773.

† In the Church Records (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 295) the date of these baptisms is 1 Nov., possibly a belated entry.

‡ From the general carefulness of Rugg's entries it seems that this child was a Bragg, not a Rugg.

§ The entry on p. 446 differs somewhat from this. He was probably the father-in-law of William Robinson (p. 164).

The Society were induced to send Mr Emerson to these Islands by a letter communicated to them from Dudley A. Tyng Esq. of Newburyport, describing in a most affecting manner the destitute & wretched situation of the inhabitants as to religious & moral instruction.

1800 Aug 6th The Rev<sup>d</sup> Jedidiah Morse of Charlestown, near Boston, arrived at the Isles of Shoals. He was sent by the Society for propagating the Gospel to enquire into the state of the people of these isles as to the expediency of sending a Missionary or Schoolmaster to that place. He was furnished by the Society & other benevolent persons with the following books to be distributed among the inhabitants viz. ———

Furnished by the Society for propagating the Gospel

6 Bibles, 12 Testaments, 24 Spelling books, 12 Primers, 12 Little Truths, 8 Wall Catechisms,

6 Doddridge's Sermons to young people,

4 " Rise and Progress.

By Dudley A. Tyng Esq. 3 Psalm books.

By J. Morse. 12 Deven's Sermons on y<sup>e</sup> Witness of y<sup>e</sup> Spirit, 3 Cummins Sermons, 2 Friendly Visits in the house of mourning, 1 Morse's Elements of Geog<sup>y</sup> 3 Morse's Sermon on y<sup>e</sup> death of Mr. Russel, 4 Address of Convention

Mr. Morse spent five days on the Islands, preached four times to the inhabitants, catechised their children, & distributed the books committed to his care. He found on Smutty Nose Island three families, viz. Mr. Samuel Haley S<sup>r</sup> & his two sons Sam<sup>l</sup> Haley Jun<sup>r</sup> and John Haley. In these three families were 20 souls.

On Star Island alias Gosport he found 15 families containing in all 92 souls, the most of them in a state of great poverty and wretchedness such as to force the tear of commiseration, & draw from the human heart every effort to afford relief.*

He baptized the following children, viz. ———

* Hog Island, now called Appledore, was entirely deserted at this time. Early in the Revolutionary War Massachusetts, to which Hog Island belonged, was able to cause all the inhabitants of this island to remove to the main. New Hampshire endeavored to clear Star Island in the same way, but without success.

† A hint as to the ages of these children may be found in the U. S. Oracle of the Day (Portsmouth), 20 Dec. 1800, where appears as a recent death at the Shoals "Miss Phebe Newton aged 11."

† Probably the Edward and Mehetabel Downe who were married 24 Dec. 1772 (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 148).

‡ The William R. and John F. of other records.

§ The Rev. Origen Smith was at Gosport until the latter part of the year 1842, when poor health obliged him to withdraw. It is curious that this man and Reuben Smith, whose family was here for a time about 1735 but belonged in Hampton Falls (they also were not real Shoalers), are the only bearers of the name who appear in the records of the Shoals, as dwelling there, since the so-called discovery of the islands by Capt. John Smith in 1614.

|| This entry seems to refer to watering an ox and putting him in a stall or bin; but whose ox, and why? Ayers is otherwise unknown. Mathias is possibly the Abraham Matthews who was baptized 30 Dec. 1750. (REGISTER, vol. 66, p. 217.)

In the year 1775, after the American Revolutionary War commenced, the prosperity of these Islands began to decline. Many of the most wealthy & respectable inhabitants through fear of the enemy, left the Island, & never returned. After the death of that worthy & good man the Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr Tooke, the Rev<sup>d</sup> Jeremiah Shaw preached here a great part of the years 1774 & 1775. Since that time the inhabitants have had only occasional preaching. Towards the close of the war Mr Tooke's house was taken down, & carried to Old York by his Son in law. And about the year 1790 some of the people of the baser sort, not having the fear of God before their eyes pulled down, & burnt the Meeting house, which was a neat & convenient building, & had been greatly useful not only as a place for religious worship, but as a land mark for seamen approaching this part of the coast. The special judgments of Heaven seem to have followed this piece of wickedness, to those immediately concerned in it, who seem since to have been given up to work all manner of wickedness with greediness.*

(Rentals and Surveys, Portfolio 5, No. 21.)

[From the foregoing data and other records the following pedigree has been compiled :

1. THOMAS HATHORNE of Bray, co. Berks, was born probably about 1490. The first mention found of him is in a subsidy or tax-list of 1523-4, when he paid 2s. on his goods at Bray. In 1533 he was appointed collector for the lands called Chaunters, held by John Bysshop at a yearly rental of 20s. 9d. In 1535 John Bysshop held four closes at Crychefeld abutting on Crychefeld land and another field adjoining the land of Thomas Horthon. (History of the Hundred of Bray.) Crychefeld is in the extreme southern part of the parish of Bray, and adjoins the northern part of Warfield, at Hawthorn Hill, connected with which there is a legend about the finding of two pots of gold. In the above-mentioned subsidy for 1523-4, besides Thomas Horthorn Robert Horthorn is mentioned, who may have been father or brother of Thomas. In this same subsidy there are mentioned eight Horthorns in Warfield, and abstracts have been made of many wills of the Warfield family. Thomas Hathorne appears in subsidies for 1545-6, 1548-50, 1549-51 and 1549-50, and also in one without date, but probably about 1530. No mention of Hathornes at Bray has been found earlier than 1520, when a John Horthorn died, leaving a son and heir Henry, although many documents of an earlier date have been examined and James Hothorne, the testator of 1559 or 1560, states that his "auncetors" were buried at Bray. "Thomas Hawthorn my father-in-law" is mentioned in the will of Jone Hawthorne, widow of Thomas Hothorne, in 1575. The administration on the estate of a Thomas Hathorn in 1557 is indexed in the Act Book for the Archdeaconry of Berks, but like most of the other administrations of that period it is missing. It may refer to this man.

Children :

2. i. THOMAS, b. probably abt. 1520.
- ii. JAMES, the testator of 1559 or 1560, d. s.p.
- iii. ROBERT, the testator of 1561/2, d. s.p. betw. 24 Jan. 1561/2 and 22 Mar. 1563/4; m. ELIZABETH ———, who survived him and proved his will.
- iv. JONE, m. ——— FINCH, and had four daughters, Jane, Jone, Alice, and Christian, all under eighteen in 1559.
- v. ALICE, m. ——— VANOR, and had three children, Joyce, Thomas, and Henry, all under eighteen in 1559.
- vi. JOHN, had sons Thomas, b. before 1559, and William, b. betw. 1559 and 1561/2.
- vii. WILLIAM, living in 1561/2.
- viii. HENRY, living in 1561/2.
- ix. ELIZABETH, living in 1561/2, probably unm.

*The Manor of Bray included East Ockley or Oakley, Water Ockley, Bray town, Braywicke, Fifield, Maidenhead, Holyport, Touching or Tatchen, Allwood, and Strood.

2. THOMAS HATHORNE (Thomas) of East Ockley or Oakley in the parish of Bray, on whose estate administration was granted 16 Jan. 1565/6, was born probably about 1520. He is found in subsidies for 1548-50, 1549-51, and 1549-50. He married JONE POWNEY, widow, the testator of 1575, who had by her first husband a son, Richard Powney. The parish registers of Bray do not now exist for an earlier date than 1652, and wills furnish the only information about this family.

Children, mentioned in the wills of their uncle Robert and their mother:

3. i. WILLIAM, b. probably abt. 1545.
  - ii. CHRISTOPHER, unm. in 1575.
  - iii. THOMAS, unm. in 1575; probably the testator of 1616.
  - iv. JOHN, b. betw. 1549 and 1559; unm. in 1575.
  - v. JANE, m. before 1575 WILLIAM WINCH.
3. WILLIAM HATHORNE (Thomas, Thomas), yeoman, of Bray and Binfield, the testator of 1620, was born probably about 1545 and died not later than 22 June 1626. He married, probably at Binfield, 25 June 1570, AGNES or ANNE PERKINS, and in this way he became connected with Binfield. Though there were Hathornes at Binfield earlier than this, no William appears there until this marriage is recorded, nor has any connection been established between the branch with which this pedigree is concerned and the early Hathornes of Binfield. Although the first child, Joane, was baptized, and probably also born, in the mother's home, as was customary, the family does not seem to have lived at Binfield until the next generation. Anne Hathorne, wife of William, and the testatrix of 1626, survived her husband only a few months, dying not later than 12 Feb. 1626/7. William Hathorne is found in subsidies for 1585-6, 1592-3, 1596-7, 1600-1, and 1610-11, as well as in an undated subsidy of the last decade of the reign of Elizabeth, being also one of the assessors of the three last-mentioned subsidies. In 1586 he held property called Wises at East Oakley in Bray and property called Chambers and Bellows at Water Oakley. This part of Bray is on the River Thames and is very beautiful. William Hathorne was a substantial citizen of the best class of the yeomanry. He was churchwarden in 1600-2, a trustee of a church charity, and one of the lessees of Queens Lease in Bray, an estate of sixty-six acres. His children married into some of the best families in the neighborhood, those of Winch, Bishop, Loggins, and Lawrence.

Children:

- i. JOANE, bapt. at Binfield 5 Jan. 1571/2; m. RICHARD WINCH, perhaps a first cousin, and had before 1620 Richard, Joane, John, George, and Judith; d. probably before 27 Sept. 1652, as her brother Nathaniel mentions in his will "my three own sisters."
4. ii. WILLIAM, b. probably abt. 1576.
- iii. NATHANIEL, the testator of 1652, probably m. (1) ANNE LOGGINS, d. s. p. before 1623, daughter of Silvester;* m. (2) MARTHA (WHISTLER) MATTINGLY(?), daughter of John of New Windsor, * Not daughter of Gilbert, as the History of the Hundred of Bray and REGISTER, vol. 38, p. 203, state. See Visitation of Berkshire, 1623 (Harleian Society's Publications, vol. 56, pp. 107-8), where she is said to have been married to a Hawthorne. In Nathaniel Hathorne's will, 1652, her brother Thomas is called brother-in-law.

- Esq.,* and probably widow of a Mattingly, by whom she had a son William; had children, names unknown.
- iv. ELIZABETH, m. RICHARD DELLAR, and in 1620 had children Anne, Richard, Margaret, Elizabeth, Joane, and June; mentioned in the will of her brother Nathaniel in 1652.
  - v. MARY, m. GEORGE BISHOPP of Bishopp's Farm (which had been in his family since 1288 and which still bears the name), East Oakley, Bray, d. 1649; mentioned in the will of her brother Nathaniel in 1652. Children: Robert and George, both born before 1620.
  - vi. ANNE, m. (1) ——— WINCH; m. (2) JOHN LAWRENCE. She and her second husband are mentioned in her brother Nathaniel's will in 1652.
4. WILLIAM HATHORNE (William, Thomas, Thomas), yeoman, of Bray and Binfield, the testator of 1650, was born probably about 1576 and was buried at Binfield 16 Oct. 1650. He married, probably about 1605, SARAH ———, the testator of 1655, whose maiden name has not been learned. She was buried at Binfield 8 Sept. 1655. William Hathorne probably lived at Bray until about 1608, when he removed to Binfield, where his father had a house, of which he doubtless allowed his son the use. This house probably came in 1626 to William Hathorne as his father's eldest son and heir. Children, all except the eldest baptized at Binfield:
5. i. WILLIAM, b. probably at Bray late in 1606 or early in 1607.
  - ii. ANNE, bapt. 25 Sept. 1608; m. HUGH SMITH, and had children Elizabeth and William; mentioned in her mother's will in 1655.

Children: 1. Joyce, b. 1636; d. 1642. 2. Robert, b. 1638; d. 1655. 3. Sarah, b. 1640/1; d. before 1655. 4. Anne, b. 1643; living 1655. 5. Katherine, b. 1644; living 1655.
  - iv. ELIZABETH, bapt. 6 May 1614; emigrated to New England, probably with her brother William; d. 24 June 1678; m. CAPT. RICHARD DAVENPORT of Salem and later of Boston, b. abt. 1606. He was captain, deputy, and commander of the fort on Castle Island, Boston Harbor, where he was killed by lightning 15 July 1665. Children: ‡ 1. Capt. Nathaniel, b. probably at Salem; killed in King Philip's War, 19 Dec. 1675; m. Elizabeth Thacher, dau. of Rev. Thomas, who survived him. 2. Truecross, b. probably at Salem, 1634 or 1635; d. 3 Aug. 1692; m. 10 Nov. 1654 Stephen Minot of Dorchester, d. 16 Feb. 1671/2(?); had issue. 3. Experience, bapt. at Salem 27 Aug. 1637. 4. John, bapt. at Salem 19 Sept. 1641; m. 1 Nov. 1667 Bridget Watkins; had issue. 5. *Capt.   - v. ROBERT, the testator of 1689/90, bapt. 12 Apr. 1618; d. betw. 15 Feb. 1689/90 and 16 Feb. 1691/2. He was of Bray, and it was his

ix. EDMUND, the testator of 1652, bapt. 1 Mar. 1628/9; d. unm., probably in London, betw. 15 June and 26 June 1652.

5. MAJ. WILLIAM HATHORNE (William, William, Thomas, Thomas) of Binfield, co. Berks, England, and of Salem, Mass., was born probably at Bray, co. Berks, late in 1606 or early in 1607, for he deposed at Salem 2 Dec. 1658, aged about 51 years. He emigrated to New England, probably taking with him his sister Elizabeth and his brother John, appears at Dorchester as a proprietor in 1634, and was admitted a freeman on 14 May of that year. In 1636 he was at Salem, where he became prominent in public life.† He married ANN —,‡ who survived him. He died in 1681, his will, dated 17 Feb. 1679/80, being proved 28 June 1681, the inventory of his estate having been taken 10 June 1681.§

‡ The will of Richard Smith of St. Dunstan's West, London, Cook, dated 13 January 1660/1 and proved 17 January 1661/2, mentions sister Ann Hawthorne, her sons John, Nathaniel, and William Hawthorne, and lands in Wokingham, co. Berks. See longer abstract in REGISTER, vol. 40, p. 45. It is possible that this Ann Hawthorne is identical with the wife of Maj. William. It is also to be noted that Lydia Bankes, daughter of John of Maidstone, co. Kent, in two letters written in 1646 calls Maj. Hathorne "brother," and in a letter of 18 Apr. 1648 refers to his wife as "my deare sister;" but these expressions may indicate merely brotherhood and sisterhood in the church (ib., vol. 29, p. 112).

HOLMAN

FROM THE REGISTERS OF SWYER, CO. DORSET, 1588-1644

Marriages

- 1595 Richard Davidge and Mary Holman 29 February [1595/6].
- 1596 Morgan Holman and Alice Odberre 24 October.
- 1622 Robert Holman and Edith Bishop 29 November.
- 1644 Robert Holman and Hellen Strood 4 November.

HOWSE

THE Will of THOMAS HOWSE of the parish of St. Stephen in Coleman street, London, a Citizen and Brownbaker of London, 18 October 1643. All debts being paid, the residue of my estate is to be divided into three parts according to the laudable custom of the City of London, one share of which I give to my wife Elizabeth, one third to my son Samuall Howse and the child my wife now goeth withal, and the other third portion to pay the following legacies: To my brother John Howes £20, and to each child he shall have living at my death 50s. If any die during minority, reversion to the survivors. To my brother Samuall Howse £20, and to each child he shall have living at my death 50s. apiece, to be paid for their uses to my said brother Samuall Howse within one year next ensuing my death. And if any of them die in minority, the legacy of him or her so dying to remain to the survivor of them. To my sister Pininna Lynnell £10, and to every child she shall have living at my death 50s. If any child die in minority, reversion to the survivors. To my sister Drucilla Plyer £10, and to every child she shall have living at my decease 50s. £10 to be distributed among the needy poor at the discretion of my friends Praise Barbon* and William Grainger the elder. To Mr. John Goodwine, minister of the word of God in the parish of St. Stephens, Coleman Street, 50s. And if I die in London and he make my funeral sermon, 20s. more. To my son Samuall Howse £100 at the age of twenty-one, and also my adventure of £50 which I have disbursed for lands in Ireland. All the residue of my goods to be divided into two parts, one part to my wife Elizabeth and the other part to my son *Praisegod Barebones or Barbon, the well-known preacher and politician in the time of the Commonwealth.

Samuell and my unborn child. If either die during minority, reversion to the survivor. And if both die, one half of all their legacies to my wife and one half to my brothers' and sisters' children, equally divided. And if my wife be deceased or married, all to my brothers' and sisters' children. Executrix: wife Elizabeth. Overseers: brother-in-law Symon Player and Prayse Barban, and to each 50s. [Signed] Thomas Howse. Witnesses: John Brokell and Ra: Hartley. Codicil, 15 October 1644, mentions daughter Elizabeth, born since will was made. To son Samuall Howse my house in Ashford in Kent. William Grainger being dead, I appoint Mr. Samuall Hyland with Praise Barbone to dispose of the £10 to the poor and to be another overseer, and to him 40s. to buy him a ring. Proved 23 December 1644 by Elizabeth Howes, relict of said deceased. (P. C. C., Rivers, 17.)

[The testator whose will is given above is clearly Thomas Howse, son of the Rev. John Howse who was rector of Eastwell, co. Kent, and brother of Samuel Howse of Scituate, Mass. (See REGISTER, vol. 66, pp. 356-8, where it was suggested that Thomas Howes, or House, of Yarmouth, Mass., might have been brother of Samuel, a conjecture which is now proved to be erroneous.) This testator is the one referred to in the Aspinwall Notarial Records, pp. 10, 224-5, although he is there called "Watchmaker" instead of "Brownbaker," as in the will. The "sister Pininna Linnell" was the wife of Robert Linnell of Scituate and Barnstable, Mass., immigrant ancestor of the Linnells of New England. Rev. John Lothrop in his Scituate Church Records calls Linnell "my brother," because the latter's wife and Lothrop's first wife were sisters.—E. F.]

[Eltweed Pomeroy appears at Dorchester, Mass., and was freeman 4 Mar. 1632/3. He was afterwards of Windsor, Conn., and of Northampton, Mass. It has been claimed by descendants that he was closely related to a famous armorial family of the name in Devon, but the fact that his mother (for there was but one family of the name in Beaminster) and his brother Henry were both parish charges and that the latter was buried at the expense of the church seems to make this claim baseless.—E. F.]

EMINENT NOVA SCOTIANS OF NEW ENGLAND BIRTH

CAPT. THE HON. CHARLES MORRIS, M.C.

CAPT. the Hon. Charles Morris, surveyor-general of Nova Scotia for over thirty years, a member of the Council and a judge of the Supreme Court of that province, was born in Boston 8 June 1711 and baptized in the Brattle Street Church parish 10 June 1711. His father, Charles

* This entry stands between entries dated Nov. 1789 and Nov. 1790.

Morris, who, according to tradition, was born at Bristol, England, and was son of Charles and grandson of Rev. Charles, a Welsh clergyman, emigrated to Boston, where he became a prosperous sailmaker and married, 5 Sept. 1700, Rev. Benjamin Colman of the Brattle Street Church officiating, Esther Rainstorpe or Ranstop. Her father, James Rainstorpe, also a sailmaker and, according to tradition, from London, was an inhabitant of Boston as early as 1695, and deposed there 6 Apr. 1699 (Early Suffolk Court Files, Brown v. Whitehorne).

Between 7 May 1701 and 3 Feb. 1718, according to town and church records, nine children were born to Charles and Esther (Rainstorpe) Morris, namely, Sarah, Ann, Esther, Mary, Dorothy, Charles, James, John, and Elizabeth. Charles Morris, the father, died 8 Nov. 1730, in the fifty-fourth year of his age, and was buried in the Granary Burying-Ground. Administration on his estate, both at Boston and at Hopkinton, Mass., where also he owned valuable property, was granted 7 Dec. 1730 to his widow, Esther Morris. The estate in Boston was appraised at £2462. 19s. 5d., among the items being three negroes, Jack, valued at £60, Rose, at £40, and a boy named Boston, at £70. On his farm at Hopkinton he had two negroes, Toby (Tobias, as the church records give the name) and Pompey. The widow Esther Morris died 12 Sept. 1755, aged seventy-nine years, and was buried beside her husband. Their daughter Mary had died 24 May 1730, "aged about 24 years," and had been buried in the Granary Burying-Ground.

Charles Morris, Jr., son of Charles and Esther, married, probably soon after he became of age, Mary Read, who was born in Connecticut, probably at Redding, 14 Apr. 1716, a daughter of Hon. John and Ruth (Talcott). John Read, born at Fairfield, Conn., in 1679/80, a Master of Arts of Harvard in 1697, lived first at Redding, Conn., but after 1722 in Boston. In 1723 he was appointed attorney-general of Massachusetts, in 1735 he was elected a warden of King's Chapel, and in 1742 he was appointed a member of the Massachusetts Council. He died 7 Feb. 1748/9. Ruth Talcott was a half-sister of Gov. Joseph Talcott of Connecticut.

On a farm in Hopkinton, Mass., where Charles Morris the sailmaker had acquired property early in his married life (Middlesex Deeds), the younger Charles and his wife Mary Read seem to have settled. On 15 Aug. 1746 Charles Morris sold to Rev. Roger Price, rector of King's Chapel, Boston, a large tract of land in Hopkinton, on which was an unfinished house, which later was leased to and occupied by Sir Charles Henry Frankland, Bart. (Annals of King's Chapel, vol. 1, pp. 517, 518.) On 24 Oct. 1755 Charles and Mary Morris conveyed to their son Charles, for £300 sterling, the farm in Hopkinton "whereon they had formerly lived." Other transfers of land by Charles Morris, after he removed to Halifax, N. S., are recorded in the Middlesex Registry of Deeds.

In his history of Halifax (Nova Scotia Hist. Coll., vol. 8, p. 229) Dr. Thomas Beamish Akins says that Charles Morris was captain of a company at Louisburg in 1745; but while this may be true, no list of the officers in this expedition as yet compiled mentions his name. In Oct. 1746, however, Gov. Shirley sent six companies of a hundred men each to Annapolis Royal, N. S., to protect that place against recapture by the French, and of one of these companies Morris was captain. In Dec. 1746 the larger part of this force was sent to Minas, King's Co., to guard that settlement during the winter, and Morris was captain of the first company to reach the place. On 31 Jan. 1747 a detachment of French troops, under a Canadian officer named Jean Baptiste Nicholas Roche de Ramezay, marched from Beaubassin to Grand Pré and surprised the garrison in the dead of night. In the attack many New England men were killed, wounded, or taken prisoners, Lieut.-Col. Arthur Noble from Maine and his brother Francis, among others, losing their lives. Morris, however, to whom is attributed much bravery in repelling the attack, escaped, and in Aug. and Sept. 1747 was in command of his company at Annapolis Royal, Daniel Dyson and Robert Noble, lieutenants, and David White, ensign, being his subordinate officers.

Charles Morris had probably been trained as a surveyor, for under Shirley's direction in 1745 or 1746 he made a survey of the whole of Nova Scotia, with a view to British colonization. This survey was sent to the Lords of Trade in England, accompanied by a concise account of the state of the province at that time, and a copy of it may still be seen at Halifax. In 1749 Shirley, writing to the Duke of Bedford concerning Nova Scotia, refers to the plan and report of Morris, which he forwards. He says that Morris has distinguished himself by his behaviour at Minas and recommends that he be employed in further surveys in Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. S., was founded in the summer of 1749 by Col. the Hon. Edward Cornwallis and a company brought out by him from England. Almost as soon as he arrived, Cornwallis employed John Bruce, a military engineer, and Charles Morris, to plan and lay out the town. With this important service began Morris's career as "chief land surveyor" or, as later, "surveyor general of lands" in Nova Scotia. When the province was opened to British settlers, after the expulsion of the French, he was occupied in surveying the innumerable grants that were made to the Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island applicants for land, and at that time, and for many years later, he was perhaps the most important official, next to the governor, in Nova Scotia. In Apr. 1752 he was appointed a judge of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas, and 30 Dec. 1775 he took the oath as a member of the Council. When the first Nova Scotia assembly convened, 2 Oct. 1758, he and Benjamin Green, another Massachusetts man, also a member of the Council, were sent by the Council to administer the oaths to the newly elected members. For several years before his death, but from what date we do not now know, he was a judge of the Supreme Court, and when Chief-Justice Jounathau Belcher died, 29 Mar. 1776, Gov. Legge appointed him to act as chief-justice until a permanent appointment could be made.

In 1752 Morris is mentioned in a list of those who have lived in Halifax since 1749, his family then consisting of 5 males over 16, 2 females over 16, and 1 male under 16, in all 8 persons. Besides property in Halifax, where his house stood, perhaps in Sackville Street, he owned a farm at Windsor, N. S., and at Windsor he died before 17 Nov. 1781, his will having been made at Halifax 10 May 1781 and a codicil having been added at Windsor 11 Oct. 1781. He was buried probably in the Windsor churchyard, but his hatchment, with many others, hangs in St. Paul's Church, Halifax. His widow, Mary (Read), died at Halifax 17 Mar. 1782, "aged 67," and her tombstone may be seen in St. Paul's churchyard there.

Charles and Mary (Read) Morris had, it is said, nine sons and two daughters, as follows: Charles, born probably in 1731 or 1732, for whom see below; John; a son (probably); William, born at Hopkinton, Mass., 19 Feb. 1736/7; Hezekiah, born at Hopkinton 11 Mar. 1738/9; Mary, born 27 Mar. 1742 and baptized in King's Chapel 31 Mar. 1742, married — Legget (perhaps Thomas), and died before her father; Alexander, born at Hopkinton 21 Mar. 1743/4; Francis, baptized at Hopkinton 21 Dec. 1746; Samuel, baptized at Hopkinton 12 June 1748; James Ranstop, baptized at Hopkinton 20 May 1750; Sarah, born in Boston and baptized in King's Chapel 23 Dec. 1757, married first Dr. Malachy Salter and secondly, 21 Jan. 1788, Alexander Abercrombie Peters, M.D., of Boston, a surgeon in the U. S. Army, who died at Wilmington, N. C.

Charles Morris, son of Charles and Mary (Read), married Elizabeth —, and had Charles, baptized at Hopkinton, Mass., 18 Nov. 1759, William, baptized at Hopkinton 17 Aug. 1760, and between 1768 and 1775 other children whose baptisms are recorded in the registers of St. Paul's Church, Halifax, N. S. He died 26 Jan. 1802, aged seventy (tombstone). On 29 Mar. 1774 he had been sworn as a member of the Council of Nova Scotia, and on 17 Nov. 1781 had been appointed by Gov. Hammond to succeed his father as chief land-surveyor. Although not a lawyer, he became an assistant judge of the Supreme Court. On his death in 1802 his son Charles was appointed chief land-surveyor, and became a member of the Council on 2 June 1808. This last-mentioned Charles died 17 Dec. 1831, "aged 72," and was in turn succeeded in the surveyor-generalship by his son John Spry Morris, the office thus remaining in the Morris family for four consecutive generations.

The Morris family long kept its high standing at Halifax, and its name is perpetuated in the well-known Morris Street, on the south side of which, between Hollis and Water Streets, stood the house of the Charles Morris who died in 1831. An oil-portrait of a Charles Morris, painted, it is believed, by Robert Field and probably representing the owner of the house on Morris Street, is in the Provincial Museum at Halifax.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By JOHN ALBREE, Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 5 March, 1913. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the annual meeting were approved, and the monthly reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, and Council were accepted.

One corresponding member and nineteen resident members were elected by ballot.

The paper of the afternoon, Whaling Ventures and Adventures, was by George H. Tripp, Librarian of the Free Public Library, New Bedford. He described the methods of the whalemens in the dangerous pursuit, and related many incidents of the men who sailed from New Bedford when it was the greatest whaling-port in the world.

At 3.40 the meeting adjourned.

3 April. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the March meeting were approved, and the reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Twenty-five resident members were elected by ballot.

The paper of the afternoon, by Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, D.D., of Boston, was on Christ Church, known in modern times as the Old North Church. He related the perplexing legal situations that were met, growing out of the ancient constitution of the parish, and how they were adjusted. The work of restoration of the church was explained in detail, as well as the finding of evidence of the original conditions so that they have been reproduced with exactness. Lantern-slides at the close of the address showed what had been accomplished.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

The Committee on English Research desires to state, however, that although the Society has no official representative in England the Committee is employing Miss French for a part of her time as a searcher of records there along special lines for the benefit of the REGISTER.

ROGER KENYON AT BLOCK ISLAND.—In his Lancashire Pedigrees, London, 1873, the late Joseph Foster, Esq., in giving an account of the noble family of Lord Kenyon of Gredington, states that Roger Kenyon, son of Roger Kenyon of Peel, Esq., was educated at Cambridge and died s. p. The elder Roger Kenyon was governor of the Isle of Man and M. P. for Clitheroe, and his son Roger was born, according to Dugdale's Visitation, 29 Feb. 1659/60. He was the eldest son, the ancestor of Lord Kenyon being the fourth son of the elder Roger, Thomas, who was born in 1668. That the younger Roger did not die s. p., but married on Block Island and had a son Roger, is conclusively proved by the Block Island records, together with certain letters in the Kenyon Manuscripts, printed in the Fourteenth Report of the Historical Manuscripts Commission.

The Block Island records give the marriage, 11 Oct. 1683, of Roger Kenyon and Mary Ray and the birth of their son Roger, 23 Jan. 1684/5. This Mary Ray was born on Block Island 19 May 1667, and was the daughter of the venerable Simon Ray, one of the founders of the Block Island settlement, by his wife, Mary Thomas of Marshfield. Their granddaughter Catherine Ray, the wife of Gov. William Greene of Rhode Island, in writing of her grandfather's family in a letter dated at Warwick, R. I., 5 Mar. 1793, states that her grandfather's eldest daughter Mary "married an Englishman, who carried her to England, and she was the first American lady introduced to the king and kissed his hand." On 20 Oct. 1707 Sarah Dickens entered upon the Block Island records an oath that at the request of Mr. Roger Kenyon she wished to state that she saw his father, Roger Kenyon, married to his mother, Mary Ray, and that the said Roger Kenyon was the reputed son of Roger Kenyon Esquire of — in Lancashire. In the original record the name of the residence of this Roger Kenyon is almost illegible, but it appears to be Mareshere or possibly Manchester.

In the Kenyon Manuscripts there is a letter, dated at Liverpool, 19 July 1683, from Edward Tarlton to Roger Kenyon at Peel, reading: "My son Edward, being arrived from Barbados, gives me account that your sonne took occasion to leave Barbados and is safely arrived at New York, in America, where he teacheth gentleman's children, and is engaged there to continue for two or three years, by covenant with a gentleman there." Other letters in the collection show that this son's name was Roger, and that he subsequently returned to England and became a fellow of Cambridge University. In a letter, dated at Stockport 5 Apr. 1694 and addressed to his mother, Alice Kenyon, he writes that owing to his opposition to the then Government he had left the University and was at a farmer's house, learning the art of husbandry. He concludes with these words: "where I am very well employed in learning the art of husbandry and courting my landlord's daughter against the days prohibiting matrimony be over." It is clear, therefore, that at this date Mary (Ray) Kenyon was dead, and that Roger purposed to marry again. Other letters prove that he had been sold for some misdemeanor and transported to Barbados, whence he drifted to New York and thence to Block Island.

It would appear that the son Roger, born in 1684/5, sent to Block Island for proof of his father's marriage, and this explains the deposition of 20 Oct. 1707. This son died probably s. p. Shortly after the date of Roger Kenyon's marriage a John Kenyon was at Westerly, R. I., only a few miles from Block Island, and was taxed there in 1687, and from this John the numerous Kenyons of that section are descended.

Newport, R. I.

G. ANDREWS MORIARTY, JR.

WALKER-EDWARDS.—"3<sup>d</sup> day, March 15th 1725/6. Mrs. Palsgrave Walker, (whose Maiden name was Edwards) is buried. Bearers, Sewall. Davenport; Dr. Clark. Col. Fitch; Belcher esqr., Palmer esqr. Was laid in her Husband's Tomb in the old burying place. Lt Gov<sup>r</sup> there. Ministers, Mr. Colman, Mr. Cooper; Mr. Myles, Mr. Harris. After the Funeral Mr. Walker told me, their Marriage Relation had continued 44, years 2 Moneths 3 days." (5 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 7, pp. 371-2.) This is an extract from Judge Sewall's Diary. The editors of the diary attempted, but without success, to identify the deceased. In their note she is correctly given as the wife of Benjamin Walker, merchant, of Boston. In 1705/6 Walker and his wife, with Joshua Lamb and wife Susanna, convey real estate formerly belonging to John Alecock of Roxbury. (Suffolk Deeds, Lib. 22, fo. 399.) The editors are also confused by the name Palsgrave, as John Alecock had a son Palgrave, who later had a wife Esther. They suggest that Sewall may have mistaken Edwards and Edmunds, and that Mrs. Walker may have been a daughter of Joshua Edmunds of Charlestown, who is said to have married a daughter of Dr. Richard Palsgrave.

The source of the title of Benjamin Walker to part of the estate of John Alecock is shown by the will of George Alecock, son of John, of the parish of St. Katherine Cree Church, London, dated 27 Feb. 1676/7 and proved 9 Mar. following. (REGISTER, vol. 50, p. 119.) Of his lands situate in New England he gives one half part "to my cousin Benjamin Walker, citizen and pewterer of London," and one eighth part "to my kinsman Joshua Lamb." He also gives ten pounds "to my uncle John Edwards the elder." He makes Benjamin Walker, Zachariah Whitman, and Peter Thacher executors. A sketch of George Alcock's life is given in Sibley's Harvard Graduates, vol. 2. p. 420. His mother was Sarah, daughter of Dr. Richard and Ann Palsgrave. His paternal grandfather was Dr. George Alcock of Roxbury. There is no question that Benjamin Walker of Boston, merchant, is identical with Benjamin Walker, pewterer, who is mentioned in the will.

In the parish registers of Stepney, co. Middlesex, England, is recorded the marriage, 8 Jan. 1671/2, of Benjamin Walker of St. Botolph, Aldgate, pewterer, and Palsgrave Edwards of Green Banck, maid. Thus Sewall's statement of the maiden name of Mrs. Palsgrave Walker is proved to be correct, though he misstates by ten years the length of their married life.

In 1676 there was in Charlestown a chirurgicon from Lymehouse, Stepney, by name John Edwards, whose death is noted as follows in a narrative of Sir William Phips's expedition to Canada in 1690: Oct. 4, "this morning dyed Dr Edwards on board ye Hospital." He married, according to Wyman (Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown, p. 330), Elizabeth Walker, who died a widow 25 July 1694, administration on the estate being granted to brother Benjamin Walker of Boston. We believe that Wyman is wrong in his statement that John Edwards married Elizabeth Walker. It would seem, on the other hand, from the facts presented, that John Edwards was brother of Palsgrave (Edwards) Walker, and that Benjamin Walker was the brother of Elizabeth Edwards only by marriage.

It is probable that "John Edwards the elder," who is mentioned in the will of George Alcock as his uncle, was the father of John Edwards of Charlestown and of his sister Palsgrave (Edwards) Walker, and that their mother was a Palsgrave; but the exact relationship of the mother to Dr. Richard Palsgrave remains as yet unknown.

John Edwards, a son of John and Elizabeth, was baptized 13 Mar. 1686/7, and married, 29 Oct. 1694, Sybel Newman, daughter of Rev. Antipas Newman and his wife Elizabeth, who was a daughter of Gov. John Winthrop of Connecticut. Elizabeth (Winthrop) Newman married (2) Zerubbabel Endicott, son of Gov. John Endicott. Sewall writes in his Diary, 7 Dec. 1716: "Friday, Madam Elizabeth Endicott alias Winthrop, buried from her son Edwards': put into Gov. Winthrop's Tomb."

It was probably on this marriage that the following claim was based: "Upon a petition of Mr John Edwards of Boston Sheweth—That whereas there is a Tomb in the South Burying place belonging to the Late Governour Endicott, which has been unimproved for many years, and there being no family in Said Town nearer Related to the Said Governour Endicott family then his, Desires he may have Liberty granted him to make use of it for his family. Granted that the Said John Edwards has Liberty to Improne the Said Tomb until a person of Better Right to it appears to Claim it." (Boston Records.) The Edwards tomb is on the north side of the Granary Burying-Ground, nearly opposite Tremont Place.

This was not the only connection of the Edwards with the Endicott family; for John Endicott, son of Zerubbabel, who was a physician like his father and grandfather, Gov. John Endicott, resided for some time in London, where he married Anna, said to have been a daughter of Robert Edwards. His oldest son, Robert Edwards Endicott, was born in London.

John Edwards of Boston, goldsmith, who married Sybel Newman, was an undertenant of Madam Bridget Usher, previous to 1700, in her house on the north side of the town house, in what is now State Street. He was the father of John Edwards, the bookseller, whose shop in 1718 was next door to the Light Horse Tavern, on the south side of the town house, in King Street. The younger man died 7 May 1725; but the father survived him and lived until 1746. John, the goldsmith, was a member of the Artillery Company in 1699, and, according to the published history of the Company, joined it when he was about twelve years old. This history states that he was born in 1687 and was the son of the chirurgicon of Charlestown, Dr. John Edwards from Stepney, and also that he was a tithingman in 1701, at the age of fourteen. Of course this is incorrect, as the goldsmith married in 1694 and had, 3 Jan. 1695/6, John the bookseller, and later Thomas, Samuel, Joseph, who survived their father, Antipas and Richard, who died young, and three daughters, Ann, Elizabeth, who married Bartholomew Cheever, and Mary, who married Ebenezer Storer. At his death his house and shop were on Cornhill. A few years before his death he married, 26 Aug. 1740, the widow Abigail (Fowle) Smith of Charlestown, mother of Rev. William Smith of Weymouth. Her daughter Sarah had married in 1733 Samuel, son of the goldsmith. Abigail, daughter of Rev. William Smith, married President John Adams. Wyman makes no mention of the marriage of the widow Smith to John Edwards. She survived him and died in 1760, her daughter Sarah, wife of Samuel Edwards, being one of the residuary legatees.

Elizabeth, a sister of John Edwards, the goldsmith, married in 1697 John Allen, goldsmith, son of Rev. James Allen by his second wife, the widow Elizabeth (Houchin) Endicott, daughter-in-law of Gov. Endicott.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

MISSOURI HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—The Missouri Historical Society has now a permanent home in the Jefferson Memorial at Forest Park, St. Louis, Mo., a fire-proof building of great architectural beauty, which was erected with funds that remained after the closing of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The Society has the use of the entire building except the west wing, and has abundant space for its archives and for meetings of any character. This new home of the Society was formally opened to the public on the evening of 1 May 1913, when appropriate addresses were delivered by President W. K. Bixby, Gen. James Grant Wilson of New York, and others. The New England Historic Genealogical Society was represented at these exercises by Messrs. Addison Lyman Day and Wilbur Fisk Warner of St. Louis.

AARON SARGENT

By FRANK MORTIMER HAWES, A.M., of Somerville, Mass.

As the result of a fall, which he sustained on 21 February 1913, Aaron Sargent, Somerville's first city treasurer and one of her foremost citizens, passed away at his home, 290 Broadway, 23 March (Easter Sunday) 1913, at the age of ninety years and almost five months. In spite of his advanced years Mr. Sargent had been vigorous and active, and he was accustomed to make his way about town and even into the Genealogical Rooms on Somerset Street, Boston, unaccompanied. He even paid one visit to the new home of the New England Historic Genealogical Society at 9 Ashburton Place. For some days after the accident he seemed to improve, but the shock to his system proved too great. He sank into unconsciousness towards the last, and gently and peacefully fell asleep.

The funeral was held from his home the Wednesday following. Rev. William H. Pierson, D.D., formerly pastor of the First Congregational (Unitarian) Church, conducted the services, and many people prominent in public and private life were present. Dr. Pierson read from the Scriptures passages marked by Mr. Sargent for this occasion, and referred to his great service to his town and city, in his public and private capacity, and to his strong religious convictions. Mr. Sargent was an ardent admirer of Theodore Parker and his teachings, and to this fact the speaker made fitting allusion.

Aaron<sup>s</sup> Sargent, son of Aaron<sup>r</sup> and Sarah (Nichols) Sargent, was born at Charlestown, Mass., 29 October 1822. He was descended from William<sup>1</sup> and Sarah Sargent, who settled at Malden in 1638; later they were of Barnstable, where both died. The history of this branch of the Sargents was compiled by the subject of this memoir, the last edition appearing in 1895. Mr. Sargent's ancestral line was as follows: William,<sup>1</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> Jabez,<sup>4</sup> Silas,<sup>5</sup> Amos,<sup>6</sup> Aaron<sup>7</sup> (his father). Mr. Sargent was particularly proud of his mother's family, and in our last interview spoke, in his emphatic way, of his mother's energy and strength of character. At the same time, also, he paid tribute to the memory of his maternal grandmother, Dorcas, of the line of Ralph Smith. Other hereditary lines were those of Bucknam, Winslow, Lynde, Green, and Hillier.

Mr. Sargent attended the Bunker Hill School and was a pupil of Master Swan, a famous schoolmaster of that day. He was honorary vice-president of the Bunker Hill School Association, and at the first reunion delivered an historical address which appeared in the columns of the local papers. He enlivened the occasion, as was his wont, with a fund of anecdotes. "It was this loyalty to old friends and old days," as some one has said, "combined with a warm personal interest in every-day events, which endeared him alike to old and young. Among the lessons to be learned from his long and useful life is that of cheerfulness."

From 1838 to 1854 Mr. Sargent was employed in the counting-room of Nathaniel Winsor, and in the latter year became a member of the firm of Nathaniel Winsor & Co. (Sargent Genealogy, p. 91.) He came to East Somerville in 1846 and resided there until 1869, when he removed to his late residence at Winter Hill. He served on the School Committee of the town from 1858 to 1862, on the Auditing Committee from 1860 to 1862, and from 1868 to 1871 on the Finance Committee; during these same years he was a member of the Water Board.

Mr. Sargent was active in procuring the incorporation act, making Somerville a city in 1872. When the charter of the new city was signed by Governor Claflin, the pen of signature was sent to Mr. Sargent as a complimentary token of his service.

Upon the inauguration of the first city government Aaron Sargent was chosen city treasurer, and held this office until his resignation in 1881. "His office became a model in matters of business and he established a system of book-keeping there which has been adopted in whole or in part in several cities of the Commonwealth, and is still in use."

In 1883 Mr. Sargent became a director of the Bay State Brick Co., and served for a time as its secretary and treasurer. In 1889 he was elected treasurer of Woodlawn Cemetery, holding the office for seven years.

Mr. Sargent was especially conversant in matters relating to genealogy and local history, and compiled the Rymes, Barnard, and Sargent genealogies. He was a member of the Somerville Historical Society, and for many years of the New England Historic Genealogical Society; at the time of his death he was its oldest member, having joined the Society in September 1855. As a prominent Mason he was a member of Soley Lodge, A.F. & A.M.; Somerville Royal Arch Chapter, Orient Council; and Cœur de Lion Commandery, Knights Templars. He had served as recording officer of every Masonic order of his city, and also of the Commandery.

In 1846 Mr. Sargent married Miss S. Maria Adams, daughter of Joseph and Phebe P. (Moore) Adams, old residents of the town. (See Wyman's Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown for her ancestral line.) Mrs. Sargent died in 1893, in the house where she was born and married. It was here that Mr. Sargent and his family resided after 1869, and a street which was laid out through the old Adams estate is known as Sargent Avenue. Lucy Homer Sargent (Mrs. Otto H. Richter) and Aaron Eugene Sargent are the surviving children of a family of five. These, with three grandchildren, comprise the descendants of this couple.

In preparing this memoir the writer has drawn liberally from the obituary notice of Mr. Sargent which appeared in the Somerville Journal of 28 March 1913.

OLD BOSTON FAMILIES

THE SAVAGE FAMILY

9. THOMAS<sup>4</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas,<sup>3</sup> Habijah,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>) was born in Boston 20 Jan. 1692/3. Nothing definite concerning his early life appears, but it is probable that he accompanied his parents to Bermuda in 1705 or 1706 and that he remained there the rest of his life. He was called of Bermuda in Mar. 1717 and also in his brother Benjamin's will of Apr. 1750. He learned the goldsmith's trade probably from his father, but later in life became also a merchant in Bermuda.

He married in Bermuda, probably about 1714, ELIZABETH FOWLE, born and died probably in Bermuda, daughter of Rev. John and Love (Gibbons) (Prout) of Bermuda. Mrs. Love Fowle was the only child of Jotham Gibbons of Boston, who removed to Bermuda before 1656 and died there, and from him Mrs. Fowle inherited Squasachem Farm in Charlestown, Mass., a tract of land containing 480 acres, lying on the west shore of Mystic Pond, within the present limits of the towns of Winchester and Arlington.* Of this farm, also known as Scarlet's Farm, Mrs. Savage received, as her share of her mother's property, 53 acres, which she and her husband sold in 1717.

No record of the death of Thomas Savage has been found. Family tradition credits him with being the father of nineteen children, but thus far the existence of no more than eight of these has been proved, with a probability of Richard making nine.

* In 1655 Jotham Gibbons "of Bermuda" was in Boston and signed a power of attorney constituting Thomas Lake and Joshua Scottow his agents to look after his land called "Squasachem hill." This land, also known as "Squasarknis Farm," had been given to him, 13 of 11 mo. 1639/40, by the Indian Sachem or Squasachem Webicowits or Wee-Web-Cowet, in gratitude for the many kindnesses which the Indians had received from Gibbons's father, Edward.

Children, all except Richard and Thomas born in Southampton Parish, Bermuda:

16. i. JOHN,<sup>5</sup> b. 4 Nov. 1715.
  - ii. THOMAS, b. 26 Jan. 1717/18; d. young.
  - iii. HANNAH, b. 27 Feb. 1720/1; m. ——— DICKENSON; no further record.
  - iv. BENJAMIN, b. 6 July 1722; a merchant of Charleston, S. C., in partnership with his brother John; a Loyalist, who went to England during the Revolution; no further record.
  - v. EPHRAIM, b. 15 Aug. 1728; m. and had a dau. Ruth, who m. ——— Todd and lived at Charleston, S. C.
  - vi. ELIZABETH, b. 15 Sept. 1731; m. at Charleston, S. C., 24 Apr. 1751. WILLIAM BRANFORD. Two daughters, both of whom m. brothers or cousins named Horry.
  - vii. JEREMIAH, b. 25 Apr. 1734; m. SARAH ELLIOTT, bapt. 1735, dau. of Joseph and Edith (Whitmarsh) of Charleston, S. C.; living at Charleston 1780. He was an addresser of Sir Henry Clinton, and was banished and his estates confiscated. He probably went to England.
  - viii. RICHARD, date of birth not found; m. MARY CLIFFORD. He was a physician of Charleston, S. C. In his will, made 28 Oct. 1788 and proved 15 Jan. 1790, he mentions his brother John Savage, and gives a legacy to the Independent Church of Charleston. He probably had no children.
  17. ix. THOMAS, b. in Bermuda 18 Sept. 1738.
10. HABIJAH<sup>4</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas,<sup>8</sup> Habijah,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 22 Oct. 1695, probably accompanied his parents to Bermuda in 1705 or 1706. The following passage, taken from the History of the Island of Antigua, vol. 1, p. lxxxix, may refer to him: "November 30 [1716] Habbijah Savage of the sloop 'Bonetta' deposes that he was taken by two pirates between St. Thomas and St. Croix of eight guns and 80 or 90 men each, the one the 'Mary Anne,' and the other French."
- Savage was dead in 1750, and is called late of Norfolk, Virginia, in the will of his brother Benjamin. Neither the record of his marriage nor the name of his wife has been found, but at least two daughters survived him.
- Children:
- i. MARY,<sup>5</sup> m. in or bef. 1750 ——— CALNET.
  - ii. JANE, unm. in 1750.
11. BENJAMIN<sup>4</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas,<sup>3</sup> Habijah,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 8 Oct. 1699 and baptized at the First Church on the same day, probably accompanied his parents to Bermuda in 1705 or 1706 and returned with them to Boston in 1714, where he is found in Mar. 1716/17 and in Oct. 1721. Between this last date and 1732 he removed to Charleston, S. C., and in the latter year bought a pew in the Independent Church in that town. He was appointed a justice of the peace 7 June 1734. In 1738 he was appointed lieutenant of the Fourth Company of the Charleston militia, and in 1743 he is called a merchant of Charleston.
- He married at Charleston, 16 Jan. 1737/8, MARTHA PICKERING, a widow, with several children, whose first husband was probably Samuel Pickering, an English merchant resident at Charleston, who died there in 1737.
- Savage's will, made 25 Apr. 1750 and proved 3 Aug. following, is on file among the Charleston probate records, as is that of his widow, who died in Charleston between 2 Mar. and 3 Apr. 1761. There were apparently no children of this marriage.

12. THOMAS<sup>4</sup> SAVAGE (Habijah,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 5 Jan. 1709/10, became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1739, and was appointed its first sergeant in 1744, its ensign in 1752, its lieutenant in 1755, and its captain in 1757. He was a constable in 1735, clerk of the market in 1737, purchaser of grain in 1748-9, and a fireward from 1755 to 1758 inclusive. He made a general visitation of the town in 1754-5 and 1755-6, was a member of the Boston militia, and was appointed its captain in 1756. He became a justice of the peace 13 Nov. 1760.

He married first, in Boston, 26 June 1735, DEBORAH BRIGGS, born in 1713, died between 5 July 1747 and 30 Nov. 1749, daughter of John and Deborah (Cushing) of Boston and granddaughter of Judge John Cushing of the Superior Court of the Province; and secondly, at Charlestown, Mass., 30 Nov. 1749, Rev. Hull Abbot officiating, SARAH CHEEVER, born at Charlestown 21 July 1727, died at Milton, Mass., 6 Dec. 1812, daughter of Ezekiel and Elizabeth (Jenner) of Charlestown.

He died in Boston, intestate, 19 Dec. 1760.* His inventory, amounting to £7122. 6s. 4½d., was taken by Jonathan Cushing, Newman Greenough, and John Tudor, and includes 375 oz. of plate, a "Scrutire with Delphon on it," "48 Chairs various bottoms," a "Megogany Desk & Book Case," "3 Small Arms & 1 p<sup>r</sup> Pistols a Sword & Belt a Pike Gorget Sash Powder Flasks &c," "a Carved Horse," and "an old Chair Chaise & Harness." The real estate amounted to £2166. 13s. 4d., and included, besides his dwelling-house, a house and land on Ann Street, a house and shops near Scarlet's Wharf, and warehouses and "priviledges" on Long Wharf. A portrait of Thomas Savage, probably painted about 1755 by Joseph Badger, and now in the possession of a descendant in New York City, represents him as wearing a short peruke or bob-wig and dressed in a scarlet coat and waistcoat, trimmed with gold lace. A claret-colored sash, running from his right shoulder to his left hip, supports a sword. His right hand rests upon his hip, and his left arm, under which is his hat, is partly extended and the hand open.

Savage's widow was married in Boston, 22 Oct. 1765, to William Taylor, born in Jamaica 18 May 1714, died at Milton, Mass., 16 Feb. 1789, a Boston merchant and a Loyalist who was proscribed and banished in 1778, but later returned.

He was offered a surgeon's commission in the British army, but declined it, accepting instead a commission in the Patriot cause, dated 30 June 1775. He retired from his profession in 1798, and lived until his death at the corner of Washington Street and what is now called Hayward Place. No issue.

13. ARTHUR<sup>1</sup> SAVAGE (Habijah,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 19 July 1715, became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1738 and held minor town offices in Boston in 1738 and 1750-2. He was active in the militia, and rose to the rank of captain, a title by which he was commonly called, serving in that capacity at Fort Frederick, near Pemaquid, from 23 July 1739 to 20 May 1742. Later he was an auctioneer, and in partnership with William Winter, under the firm name of Savage & Winter, advertised as the proprietor of vendue-rooms on Wing's Lane (now Elm Street), Boston, in 1756. He lived in a "mansion house" on Ann Street, and owned considerable land in the vicinity of Pemaquid, as well as in Boston and at Douglas, Worcester Co., Mass.
- He married in Boston, 5 Feb. 1746/7, RACHEL (RUGGLES) CLOUGH, born at Braintree, Mass., 15 Nov. 1722, died in Boston Mar. 1789, daughter of John and Rachel of Braintree and widow of James, a leather-dresser of Boston, who died in Boston in 1742 and by whom she had a daughter, who died in Boston in 1751.

To his wife he leaves all his other personal property and all his real estate at the north end of Boston, one half of his lands in Maine and Douglas, and appoints her executrix.
- Arthur Savage's widow was married thirdly, in Boston, 6 Apr. 1768, to James Noble,† an Irish conveyancer of Boston, who died in 1772 and by whom she had one child, who died in infancy. She married fourthly, in Boston, in 1774, James Pecker, a prominent † James Noble's older brothers, Col. Arthur Noble and Ensign Francis, both fell at Grand Pré, N. S., Feb. 1746/7. They were all probably sons of Arthur Noble of Ennis-killen, co. Fermanagh, Ireland, and came to America about 1720. James Noble was the owner of much land in what is now Lincoln Co., Me., which he left by will to his nephew Arthur Noble, Jr., who lived upon the estate and in 1783, in compliment to his father, named the then newly-incorporated settlement, which had grown up on the estate, Nobleborough. Col. Noble's daughter Sarah married William Lithgow, and they were the great-grandparents of Hon. Charles Devens, a justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts and attorney-general of the United States.

physician of Boston, who survived her. In her will, made 1 Nov. 1775 and proved 26 May 1789, she leaves to Deborah Train, "by desire of my late Husband, Captain Arthur Savage," real estate in the north end of Boston, and "at the desire of my late Husband James Noble, Esquire," a "mansion house and barn," together with the land, on Hanover Street, to Noble's nephew Arthur, besides making bequests to her husband of real and personal property and leaving legacies to nephews and nieces and other relatives.

14. SAMUEL PHILLIPS<sup>4</sup> SAVAGE (Arthur,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 27 Apr. 1718, entered, early in life, the employ of Joshua Winslow, a prominent merchant of Boston, and in 1741 formed a partnership with David Jeffries of Boston. This partnership was soon dissolved, and he then became a merchant, with a shop near the Swing Bridge at the Town Dock. In the same year he was admitted to the Brattle Square Church, and in Mar. 1742 was chosen constable of Boston for the ensuing year. About 1740 he became much influenced by the preaching of Rev. George Whitefield and by the so-called "Great Awakening," and throughout his life was of a deeply religious nature. In Mar. 1749 and again in 1750 he was chosen a clerk of the market. In 1751 and 1752 he was a merchant, with a shop on the Town Dock, "next M<sup>r</sup> William Tyler's," his father-in-law. In the Boston Gazette of 20 Sept. 1756 Savage advertises that he has opened an insurance office "in Ann St. near the Town Dock," where "Policies will be underwrote by Gentlemen of undoubted Credit, and upon reasonable Terms." About 1760 the office was removed to King (now State) Street. In 1760 and 1761 he was a selectman of Boston. About 1753 he became a partner with his brother in the firm of Arthur Savage & Co., for the sale of general merchandise at 11 Long Wharf. They also opened a shop in the West Parish of Cambridge (now Arlington), "near the Meeting House," where in Sept. 1763 and in Feb. 1764 they advertise to sell, "at the lowest Cash Price in Boston," Bohea tea, sugar, powder, molasses, salt-fish, flour, raisins, etc. This firm was dissolved in the fall of 1764. Savage removed from Boston to Weston in Sept. 1765, and purchased near the Lincoln town line a farm, which was his home for the remainder of his life, although much of his time was passed in frequent visits to Boston. His house at Weston, considerably altered, is still used as a dwelling, and the tradition exists of his having kept slaves and of his having attempted the cultivation of the tea-plant. On 15 Dec. 1773 he was chosen moderator of the meeting held in the Old South Church in Boston to take action in regard to the tea-ships lying at Griffin's Wharf. On 2 Nov. 1775 he was appointed a judge of the Inferior Court for Middlesex County, being recommissioned 27 Nov. 1780. On 3 July 1782 he was appointed a judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Middlesex County and held this office until his death. He was one of the representatives from the town of Weston in the Provincial Congress of deputies which met at Concord 2 Oct. 1774 and in that which met at Salem five days later. On 30 Oct. 1776 he, with eight others, was appointed a member of the Board of War* of Massachusetts and was reappointed 7 July 1777. Soon after his appointment on this board Savage was chosen its president or chairman, a position which he held until the commission was dissolved at the close of the war. Throughout the Revolution he gave liberally to the Patriot cause of both his time and money, more than half of his property being lost during the war. His later years were embittered by this loss of property, by the death of a promising son, and by the long and distressing illness of his second wife, who, several years before her death, lost her reason and required constant care.

He married first, in Boston, 11 Nov. 1742, Rev. Benjamin Colman officiating, SARAH TYLER, born in Boston 21 Mar. 1717/18, died in Boston 12 Feb. 1764, daughter of William† and Sarah (Royall) of Boston; secondly, in Boston, 21 Dec. 1767, BATHSHEBA (THWING) JOHNSTON, born in Boston 19 Jan. 1725, died at Weston, Mass., June 1792, daughter of Benjamin and Bathsheba (Pason) and widow, with several children, of Thomas‡ of Boston; and thirdly, at Weston, 21 Jan. 1794, MARY MESERVE or MESERVIE, a native of the Island of Guernsey, who had been for over twenty years a member of his family as housekeeper and nurse for his second wife. She survived him, dying at Weston in 1810 at an advanced age.

He died at Weston, intestate, 9 Dec. 1797, and is buried in the Old Burying-Ground on Central Avenue in that town. His portrait and that of his first wife, both painted by Copley in 1763, are in the possession of descendants, the portrait of Mr. Savage being owned by John Richard Savage, Esq., of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., and that of Mrs. Savage by a great-grandson, Samuel Savage Shaw, Esq., of Boston. Copies of these portraits are in the possession of the compiler of this article. Another portrait of Mr. Savage, painted later in life, is owned by his great-great-granddaughter, Mrs. Wallace Fairbank, 23 Washington Square, North, New York City. The name of the painter of the later portrait is not known.

*The Board of War was established by a resolve of the House of Representatives, 29 Oct. 1776, "to order and direct the operations of the Forces in the Pay of this State, both by Sea & Land, by giving the Commanders of the Troops, Garrisons & Vessels of War, such orders for their Conduct & Cruises from time to time, as they shall think proper; such orders to be signed in their Name by the President of said Board, or in his Absence, by the Member thereof officiating as President pro tempore."

†"Boston, July 3 1758 Saturday last died in the 70th Year of his Life, William Tyler, Esq. a noted Merchant in this Town. By the Blessing of Providence on an early Application to Business, he acquired a large estate; and by his Uprightness in dealing with Mankind, he very justly sustained a fair Character. The State of Independence he was for many Years in, afforded him the Opportunity of being very useful in the World; and he never failed to improve the happy Talents he was blessed with, for this Purpose, in private and in public Life, to the Advantage of many and the Approbation of all that knew him." (Supplement to the New England Magazine, Aug. 1758.) His portrait, painted about 1750 by John Smibert, is in the possession of the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

15. ARTHUR<sup>4</sup> SAVAGE (Arthur,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 9 Oct. 1731, lived with his mother, after her second marriage in 1736, and his stepfather at Charlestown, Mass., until he came of age. He attended school, however, in Boston, for in 1741-2 he received instruction from John Proctor at the North Writing School, and in 1745 he was a pupil of Zachariah Hicks, Proctor's assistant. About 1753 he, with his brother, established the firm of Arthur Savage & Co., on Ann Street, near the Swing Bridge, afterwards moving to 11 Long Wharf, the partnership continuing until 1764, with another shop in 1763 in the West Parish of Cambridge. In the early fall of 1755 he left Boston for Chestertown, Md., where he remained for three years, buying grain which he sent to his brother in Boston to sell. From Maryland he went to St. Kitts and other West India islands, and returned to Boston in 1760. In 1762 he was a pew-holder in King's Chapel. In Nov. 1764 he sailed for London, where he arrived in Jan. 1765.* He returned to Boston in June following, having been appointed comptroller of customs at Falmouth (now Portland), Me., whither he removed in July, his family following him there in November. Savage's house in Falmouth stood on Middle Street, nearly opposite Plum Street, and was destroyed by fire in 1856. His sympathies were strongly British from the beginning of the troubles

* John Hancock, writing under date of 17 Nov. 1764 to a merchant in London, says in his letter-book: "Mr Arthur Savage is Passenger in Marshall, his business home is to obtain a credit for goods, he is recommended to me as an honest, industrious man, but no great Capital." And again under the same date, in a letter to Barnards & Harrison, merchants in London, Hancock writes: "The bearer of this is Mr Arthur Savage who has for some time carried on Business in the West India way in this place, but from the General decline of trade, and that in particular, he has quitted that Branch and now takes passage for London to Endeavour to establish a correspondence in the English way, he is recommended to me as an honest active man and one who is acquainted with trade from such a Recommendation joined with the desire of his Friends I take leave to recommend him to your Notice & Civilities, and if his plans succeed and he applies to you for a small parcell of Goods, I will be accountable to you as far as £300, that you are paid that Sum in time, in case you should Supply him with Goods to that amount. . . . Any notice or Civilities you may please to shew him I shall take as a favour."

which led to the Revolution, and during the absence in England of the collector of the port of Falmouth Savage ordered the revenue cutter of the Crown to seize a vessel for violation of the revenue laws, an act which so enraged the local Patriot party that he was mobbed and roughly handled, 12 Nov. 1771, and left for Boston immediately. (Maine Hist. Soc. Coll., Documentary History, vol. 14, pp. 143-7, Baxter MSS.) He remained in Boston in the employ of the customs there, living on Auchmuty's Lane, until the evacuation of the town by the British in Mar. 1776, when he with his family went with the army to Halifax. In the list of those inhabitants who left Boston at this time he is called "surveyor &c.," and the number of his family is given as six. By the act of 1778 he was among those proscribed and banished for loyalty to the King, but he had already sailed in July 1776 in the ship Aston Hall from Halifax for London. He lived in Brompton Row, London, until about 1790, when he moved to Great Quebec Street, Portman Square, where he remained until July 1791, moving then to 9 Nottingham Street, Marylebone, and, a few months later, to 12 Charlotte Street, Portland Place. Here he lived until the summer of 1795, when he moved to 4 Salisbury Place, New Road. In the fall of 1798 he had a severe stroke of paralysis, from which he partially recovered, and early in 1799 he removed to Homer Row, New Road, where he died of paralysis 21 Mar. 1801. In the Gentleman's Magazine is recorded the death of "Arthur Savage, esq. formerly of Boston New England."*

Savage was a man of antiquarian tastes and interested in seeing and in collecting curios, and he is mentioned several times in his Journal by Curwen, with whom he was on intimate terms in London, and with whom he several times made expeditions to view ruins or places of historic interest.†

Savage's financial situation after leaving America was much embarrassed. His furniture and plate lost at Falmouth and Boston he estimated as worth £200. His salary and perquisites as comptroller of the customs at Falmouth continued, however, until 1775, and from that date until 1782 he received a salary of £50 per annum. Writing to his brother under date of 25 Feb. 1778, he says: "Notwithstanding my sufferings in America, I am left here by the Ministry at Eighty Pounds Annual allowance [this was reduced in 1782 to £60] which will not above one third Support my family, while many from America, and who are Single Persons, have £200 Sterling Yearly allowed them," upon which his brother, on the margin of this letter, comments as follows: "If they [the British Government] treat their Friends thus, what must those expect whom they view as Enemies & Rebels?" Savage's income in * Willis in his History of Portland and Sabine in his American Loyalists have both erred in calling Savage an auctioneer, having confused him with his cousin of the same name (vide supra, 13).

† In 1789 or 1790 Savage gave to Rev. Wm. Montague, then in London, the rector of Christ Church, Boston, a leaden ball, with the following account of it: "On the morning of the 18th of June 1775, I, with a number of other Royalists and British officers, among whom was General Burgoyne, went over from Boston to Charlestown to view the battle-field. Among the fallen we found the body of Dr Joseph Warren with whom I was personally acquainted. When he fell he fell across a rail. This ball I took from his body; and as I never shall visit Boston again, I will give it to you to take to America, where it will be valuable as a relic of our Revolution." This ball is now in the possession of the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

London was largely increased by the generosity of his kinsman, John Savage (16) of Charleston, S. C., then a fellow-exile in London, and it was also due to his liberality that Arthur Savage's son was placed at school at Richmond in Surrey.

Arthur Savage married first, at the Brattle Square Church in Boston, 29 Dec. 1761, ELIZABETH STURGIS, baptized at the Brattle Square Church, Boston, 17 Feb. 1739/40, died in London 21 Mar. 1781, daughter of Prince and Elizabeth (Fayerweather); and secondly, at St. George's Church, Hanover Square, London, 23 Aug. 1786, MARY SMITHSON, of whose birth, parentage, and death no record has been found. She survived her husband.*

Medallions of Arthur Savage and his first wife, made in London in 1778 by James Tassie, are in the possession of a lady in Winchester, Mass., who is descended from a cousin of Mrs. Savage.

Children by first wife:

- i. FAITH<sup>s</sup> (name changed in 1785 to FIDELIA), b. probably in Boston abt. 1763; went to England with her parents in 1776; m. at St. George's Church, Hanover Square, London, 16 July 1793, Rev. RICHARD MUNKHOUSE, b. at Winton. co. Westmoreland, Eng., 1755, d. at Wakefield, co. York, 19 Jan. 1810, son of Richard and Mary (Thornton) of Winton. He matriculated at Queen's College, Oxford, in 1774, and was B.A., 1778, M.A., 1781, and B.D. and D.D., 1795. At the time of his marriage he was a curate at Pontefract, co. York, but in 1795 he was chosen the first incumbent of St. John's Church, Wakefield. In 1805 he was promoted by the Earl of Lonsdale to the vicarage of Wakefield and was instituted vicar on 20 Sept. of that year. Shortly afterwards he lost his sight and the complete use of his limbs (Gentleman's Magazine, vol. 80, p. 104), but he continued as vicar until his death. Mrs. Munkhouse was exceptionally well-educated, a delightful letter-writer, and displayed some promise as a poet. Some time after her husband's death she and her children removed from Wakefield, but whether she went or when or where she died has not been discovered. A miniature of her, painted in London in 1794, is owned by a descendant of her mother's cousin, living at Winchester, Mass. He went to England with his parents in 1776 and was placed in a private school at Richmond, near London. Late in 1780, at the desire of his cousin, William Savage (22), he left England for Jamaica, where he became a merchant at Kingston, established there the firm of Arthur Savage & Co., and later had large coffee plantations on the island. Three natural sons are mentioned by him in his will. This will of "Arthur Savage of Strawberry Hill in the parish of Port Royal and island of Jamaica"

* Samuel Curwen in his Journal and Letters, New York and Boston, 1842, p. 343, speaks of taking up lodgings on 8 Apr. 1782 at "Mrs. Smithson's, near the chapel, Brompton." This may be the person whom Arthur Savage married.

Her mother was Elizabeth Wyer, b. at Charlestown, Mass., 23 June 1730, bur. at Christ Church, Boston, 17 Apr. 1784, dau. of Edward and Elizabeth of Charlestown. Intentions of marriage between Arthur Savage, Jr., and Elizabeth Wyer were published in Boston, 4 July 1755, and in Charlestown on the following day, but the marriage did not take place.

He married at Charleston, 18 Apr. 1749, Mrs. ANN (SCOTT)

ALLEN, who, according to the South Carolina Gazette of 24 Apr. 1749, was "a handsome widow gentlewoman of great merit and fortune."

Child:

- i. BENJAMIN,<sup>6</sup> b. at Charleston, S. C., abt. 1750; m. ELIZABETH DUNN, and is said to have had a son John who was living at Charleston in 1864. (The Savages of the Ards, by George F. Savage-Armstrong, London, 1888.) Benjamin Savage went to England with his parents in 1776, and in 1784 his address was 11 Bury Court, St. Mary Axe, London. He was in London as late as 1790, but no definite later record of him has been found.*

17. THOMAS<sup>5</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas,<sup>4</sup> Thomas,<sup>3</sup> Habijah,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Bermuda 18 Sept. 1738, removed early in life to Charleston, S. C., where his elder brother John had already settled, and became a merchant and prominent citizen. In 1767 he was one of the commissioners of South Carolina and a member of the Charleston Company of Light Infantry. About this time he made extensive purchases of land in Bryan Co., Ga., which are still in the possession of his descendants. In Aug. 1775 he was elected a delegate from Charleston to represent South Carolina in the Colonial Congress at Charleston. In 1778 he was a part-owner of the Maryland sloop Mercury. He took an active part in the beginnings of the struggle for American independence, and the family tradition that he thrust a knife through a portrait of King George, hanging in his dining-room, shows the ardor of his patriotism. He was in the engagement on Sullivan's Island, 28 June 1776, and then and subsequently made himself so conspicuous that on 28 Aug. 1780 he was carried by the British, with other prominent citizens, to St. Augustine and kept there on parole for nearly a year. In the meantime his family, left behind in Charleston, had soldiers billeted on them and were subjected to extreme annoyance and insult. Later, with many others, they were sent by sea to Philadelphia, where they resided until they were joined by Mr. Savage. After the British evacuation all returned to Charleston. Savage's fortune had, in the interim, been much impaired by the war, his rice-fields burned, his cattle driven off, his negroes enticed away, and he himself overburdened with debts. Mrs. Savage's fortune had been secured to her by her father's will, and this she now used to help in paying her husband's debts. Mr. Savage spent the winters and springs during the remainder of his life upon his plantation in Georgia, endeavoring to rebuild his fallen fortunes; but his health failed, and after two trips to the West Indies he died at Charleston on 29 May 1786 and is buried in St. Michael's Cemetery there, where his widow erected to his memory a monument upon which his virtues are described at length. She was buried at Silk Hope, Bryan Co., Ga.

He married at Savannah, Ga., 21 Apr. 1767, MARY ELLIOTT BUTLER, born 19 Aug. 1748, died at Silk Hope, Bryan Co., Ga., 4 July 1789, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Elliott) of Savannah and called after her marriage the richest heiress in South

* William Henry<sup>6</sup> Savage (31), son of Samuel,<sup>5</sup> writing to his father from Jamaica in 1800, asks him to address all letters to him to the care of Bird, Savage & Bird, Jeffrys Sq., London. In 1808 this firm is given in the London Directory for that year as Bird & Savage, merchants, 31 Wilson St., Finsbury Sq. Benjamin<sup>6</sup> Savage was perhaps a member of this firm.

He returned to Charleston in 1770 and was admitted to the bar in 1771. He was commissioned to the House of Assembly in 1773, soon became a member of the Council of Safety, and was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. During the Revolution he was wounded in the scrimmage at Beaufort, and was one of the defenders of Charleston against Clinton's attack. Upon the surrender of the city he was paroled, but later was sent to St. Augustine as a prisoner of war until peace was declared. Soon after his release he was sent to represent the Beaufort district in the House of Representatives, was elected to Congress, and later became an associate law judge of South Carolina. In 1796 he was appointed U. S. district judge for Georgia and held the office until 1801. In 1803 he joined the Baptist Church of Savannah, and in 1804 was ordained to the ministry. Savage was later in partnership, until the Revolution, with his brother Habijah (19). He was one of the proprietors of Long Wharf, and in Jan. 1773 signed a petition as one of the proprietors of the Pemaquid Lands, situated in Lincoln Co., Me. He was also a "Son of Liberty." In the latter half of 1775 or early in 1776, owing to the general depression of business during the siege of Boston, he removed with his family to York, Me., where he continued his occupation as trader. In 1791 and 1792 he was a collector of excise in York, and he died there intestate 28 Oct. 1798.

He married in Boston, 3 Sept. 1767, MARY GREENOUGH, born in Boston 30 Oct. 1746, died at York, Me., 7 or 9 Jan. 1792, daughter of Thomas and Martha (Clark) of Boston.

He married in Boston, 10 Apr. 1765, ELIZABETH TUDOR, born in Boston 31 Mar. 1745, died there 2 Feb. 1787, daughter of Dea. John and Jane (Varney) of Boston.

He was graduated at Yale in 1786, and moved to Machias, Me., in 1790, where he became a highly-esteemed lawyer, but, owing to excessive modesty and diffidence, he was never a successful advocate. He represented Machias in the legislature in 1793 and for seven years following, and in 1803 was elected to the Eighth Congress. A violent attack of melancholia, to which he had been subject, prevented him, however, from taking his seat, and before the close of the term he became insane and continued so until his death. Five sons and one daughter, all born in Machias.

He was a brigadier-general of the Massachusetts Militia from 1803 to 1811. In 1812 he was chosen a commissioner to deliver to Congress the electoral votes of Massachusetts, and in 1816 was a delegate to the convention at Brunswick, Me., which dealt with the separation of Maine from Massachusetts. 20. EZEKIEL<sup>5</sup> SAVAGE (Thomas,<sup>4</sup> Habijah,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 17 Oct. 1760, lived with his mother (who became a widow about two months after his birth) in Boston until shortly after his fifth birthday, when his mother, having married again, removed to Milton, Mass., where Ezekiel lived until he entered Harvard College in 1774. After graduating at Harvard in 1778 he began to study for the ministry with Rev. William Smith of Weymouth, Mass., but it does not appear that he was ever settled as a minister over any parish, and owing to ill health he abandoned this profession about the time of his first marriage (1783). In 1783 he was a merchant of Boston, in partnership with his half-brother Habijah (19), but this partnership was soon dissolved, for Ezekiel Savage early in 1784 removed to Salem, where he continued to reside until about 1788, when he returned to Boston. In 1789 he was a "shopkeeper" on Fish Street, with a house on Fleet Street, and in 1791 and in 1793 he was called "tobacconist." In 1794 he returned to Salem, where as "Squire Savage" he was well known as a civil magistrate for many years. On 22 Feb. 1800 he delivered at St. Peter's Church, Salem, "An Eulogy on General Washington," which was published at Salem in 1800 by Joshua Cushing. In 1812-14 he represented Salem in the General Court. His office was on Essex Street, and he lived not far away, in an old, two-story, gambrel-roofed house, until 1808, when he moved into a new house on the corner of Broad and Hathorne Streets, where he died 22 June 1837. He is buried in a tomb in the Broad Street Burying-Ground, Salem. In his will, made the day before his death, he calls himself "esquire" and makes his daughter Margaret executrix.

He married first, probably at Milton, about Apr. 1783, MARGARET VOSE, born at Milton 4 Nov. 1763, died in Boston 1 Oct. 1793, daughter of Col. Joseph* and Sarah (How) of Milton. She became a member of the New North Church in Boston 5 June 1791. He married secondly, at Salem, 10 Dec. 1797, Rev. William Bentley officiating, ANN HATHORNE, baptized at Salem 3 Aug. 1766, died at Salem Oct. 1806, daughter of Capt. William and Mary (Towzell) of Salem; and thirdly, at Dorchester, Mass., 1813, Rev. John Codman officiating, PARNELL CODMAN, born at Charlestown, Mass., 11 or 17 Aug. 1760, died at Dorchester 16 Mar. 1846, daughter of John and Abigail (Asbury) of Charlestown.

* Col. Joseph Vose commanded a regiment in the Revolutionary War, and had a horse shot under him in one of the actions connected with the capture of Burgoyne.

three days later, entered the Boston Latin School in 1755 and Harvard College in 1762, where he was graduated in 1766. He taught school at Lincoln, Mass., from 1768 to 1771, and soon afterwards began the study of medicine with Dr. Benjamin Church of Boston. He lived with Dr. Church, taking care of his books and accounts (services which were rendered probably in partial payment for instruction received), until Dr. Church's relations with the British army were discovered. In 1777 he removed to Barnstable, Mass., where he settled as a physician.* On 3 July 1782 he was appointed a judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Barnstable Co. In 1777 he received from Harvard the degree of A.M. and in 1808 the honorary degree of M.D. In June 1814 he was elected a member of the American Antiquarian Society. He was a fellow of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and was much respected as a citizen and physician. He died at Barnstable 28 June 1831, and is buried beside his wife in the Goodspeed's Hill Cemetery at West Barnstable.

He married at Wellfleet, Mass., 18 Feb. 1777, HOPE DOANE, born at Wellfleet 24 Mar. 1756, died at Barnstable 22 Dec. 1830, daughter of Elisha and Hope (Rich) of Wellfleet and Boston. A portrait of Mrs. Savage, painted in 1816 by Gilbert Stuart, is owned by her grandson, Samuel Savage Shaw, Esq., of Boston.

Children, all born at Barnstable:

- i. SAMUEL,<sup>6</sup> b. 22 Apr. 1779; d. unm. at Kingston, Jamaica, 10 June 1800 and bur. there. In 1793 he was sent to school in Boston, and after an apprenticeship of three years with the firms of Windship & Jones and Stephen Codman in Boston and a nine months' trip to the West Indies, he left Boston in Nov. 1798 for Kingston, Jamaica, where he entered the employ of his cousin Arthur Savage (15, ii) and was soon made a member of the firm of Arthur Savage & Co. of Kingston.
31. ii. WILLIAM HENRY, b. 13 May 1782.
- iii. CHARLES, b. 5 Jan. 1785; d. at Matagorda, Tex., 23 Sept. 1840, and probably bur. there; m. in Boston, 18 Mar. 1807, SUSAN WOOD, bapt. at Pownalborough (Wiscasset), Me., 2 Sept. 1790, d. at Barnstable 10 May 1825, bur. in the Goodspeed's Hill Cemetery, West Barnstable, dau. of Gen. Abiel and Betsey (Tinkham) of Pownalborough.† After attending school in his native town, Charles Savage went to Boston abt. 1800 as an apprentice in a store, and from 1806 to 1810 was a member of the firm of Frazier, Savage & Co., dealing in salt and sea-coal on Russell's Wharf, at the foot of Congress St., Boston. This partnership was apparently dissolved in 1810, for in that year Savage's name appears in the Boston Directory with a place of business on Foster's Wharf. In 1813 he made a trip to Kentucky and Ohio. In the spring of 1816 he visited England and Ireland on a business trip, and in the

* The house which Dr. Savage bought at Barnstable was built in 1717 by James Payne, an ancestor of Robert Treat Paine, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. This house a few years ago was bought by a man of means and put into thorough repair, and still stands on the main street.

† Over Mrs. Savage's grave is a stone erected by her husband, upon which is the following inscription:

"Affection dedicates this stone to the memory of Susan, wife of Charles Savage, Am<sup>n</sup> Consul to Guatemala & daughter of Gen. A. Wood of Wiscasset, Maine. She was born August 1790 and died May 10 1825 in her 35th year.

"In her, piety, sincerity, charity & affability were so happily united with elegance of person and polish of mind as rendered her respected & esteemed by all who knew her. From a grateful sense of her affectionate tenderness & excellent deportment as a wife this stone is erected by him who knew her worth and laments her loss."

fall of that year he and his wife left Barnstable for Kentucky. Leaving Philadelphia 29 Nov. 1816, Pittsburg was reached 6 Dec. and Lexington 28 Dec., and in the latter town they made their headquarters, Savage making trips in the surrounding country before finally settling there. In May 1817 he was at Nashville, Tenn., where he writes of meeting Andrew Jackson. In June 1817 he formed a partnership at Lexington with Henry Prentiss of that town, to carry on a commission business in wholesale groceries and European goods. This partnership, owing to the defalcation of Prentiss, was soon dissolved, and in 1818 Savage and his wife were living at Louisville, Ky., where he was a member of the firm of Savage & Lewis, commission-merchants. The firm was dissolved 1 June 1819, and for a short time Savage continued the business alone. In June 1819 he entertained at Louisville President Monroe. He remained at Louisville until May 1823, when he and his wife went to Barnstable, where Mrs. Savage remained until her death. In Dec. 1823 Savage was in St. Louis and the adjacent country, and in 1824 went to Guatemala, where news of his wife's death reached him. He immediately returned to Barnstable, where in broken health he remained until Dec. 1825. From this time on he seldom visited Barnstable, but spent the remaining years of his life chiefly in Cuba and in Central America, or in extended business trips in the vast region west of the Mississippi. From 1828 he was for a while U. S. consul at Guatemala, and in 1830 he was for a brief time in the commission business at 41 New Levee, New Orleans. Fever and business reverses, however, at last undermined his health and overcame his spirit, and he died at Matagorda, Tex., in 1840. Mr. and Mrs. Savage had no children. A miniature of Mr. Savage, painted in Boston abt. 1810 by Miss Margaret Doyle, is in the possession of his grandnephew, Henry Savage, Esq., of Camden, S. C.

- iv. ELISHA DOANE, b. 21 Aug. 1786; d. unm. at Kingston, Jamaica, 17 May 1807 and bur. there. In 1803 he was sent to Boston to school, and after a nine months' trip to Jamaica in 1806 he left Boston in Dec. 1806 for Kingston, Jamaica, where he entered the employ of his uncle William Savage (22) of that place.

He was graduated at Harvard College in 1800, and after studying law in Boston and at Amherst, N. H., was admitted to the bar at Hopkinton, N. H., in 1804 and in the same year to the Massachusetts bar at Plymouth. He settled in Boston. He was a representative to the General Court from 1811 to 1815, a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1820, a state senator in 1821-2 and 1828-9, and, with two slight exceptions, wrote the act incorporating the City of Boston. He received the degree of LL.D. from Harvard in 1831 and from Brown in 1850. On 23 Aug. 1830 he was appointed chief justice of the

"Mr. Savage was graduated at Harvard university in 1810. The two lines on his tombstone from Young's Night Thoughts are peculiarly apposite; for doctor Savage and his lady had been previously called to bury at Kingston in Jamaica two beloved sons in succession, at about the age of twenty-one, Mr. Samuel Savage and Mr. Elisha Doane Savage; so just is the scriptural remark, all flesh is grass and all the goodness thereof as a flower of the field!" 22. WILLIAM<sup>5</sup> SAVAGE (Samuel Phillips,<sup>4</sup> Arthur,<sup>2</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 14 June 1750, was a pupil at the Boston Latin School from 1757 to 1764. In the latter year he went to Newburyport and entered the employ of his father's friend, Nathaniel Carter, a rich merchant of that town. In the spring of 1775, with letters of introduction from his employer to John Savage (16) of Charleston, S. C., he left Newburyport, with the intention of settling in business at Charleston. A serious illness in the summer of 1775 resulted in his removal to Bermuda to recuperate. John Savage had, in the meantime, gone to London, and thither in July 1777 William Savage went, evidently with the intention of increasing his business acquaintance, but still apparently with the expectation of returning later to Charleston. The unsettled conditions in South Carolina, however, caused him to change his plans, and after a residence in England of a year, he left in Sept. 1778 for Kingston, Jamaica, and in this place and in its vicinity he made his home for the remainder of his life. Here he became a prominent citizen and merchant, and a member of the firm of Duncomb, Savage & Co. In the summer of 1784 he made a visit to his native town, returning to Jamaica at the end of the year. About 1798 Savage with his two sons went to England, where he left them with relatives of their mother and returned soon to Jamaica. In 1799 he was appointed by President John Adams United States agent for the relief and protection of American seamen frequenting Jamaican waters. In Jan. 1800 he retired from the firm of Duncomb, Savage & Co., and purchased from the estate of his late wife a large coffee plantation, called Epping Farm, in the Blue Mountains, in the parish of St. David, where for several years much of his time was passed. For many years Mr. Savage represented most of the United States insurance companies in Jamaica. For nearly twenty years before his death he was senior magistrate of Kingston, one of the masters of the Jamaican High Court of Chancery, and president of the Hospital and Workhouse. Through the failure of a business associate he lost most of his property near the close of his life, and his later years were burdened by severe attacks of gout. He was a man of unblemished character and generous disposition, and was much respected in Jamaica.

He died at Kingston 23 Oct. 1827, and is buried in the parish churchyard there. His portrait, painted in middle life, is in the possession of his great-grandson, John Richard Savage, Esq., of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., and a miniature, painted in 1778, is owned by a great-grandniece.

He married first, at Clarendon, Jamaica, 31 July 1787, JANE COOPER DEMETRISS,* baptized in the parish of Clarendon 27 Mar. 1755, died at Kingston, Jamaica, 14 Mar. 1799, daughter of Cooper and Sarah of Clarendon; and secondly, at Kingston, 16 Sept. 1803, ANN SOMERSETT, widow of John Shackland Somerset of Kingston, born probably in England 1755, died at Kingston 26 Sept. 1819.

Children by first wife, born at Clarendon, Jamaica:

32. ii. JOHN, b. 18 July 1790.
- iii. JAMES RODON, b. 5 June 1792; thrown from his horse and killed 22 Nov. 1816; bur. in the Cathedral Burying-Ground at Spanish Town, Jamaica. He and his brother were in England with their mother's sister from about 1798 to 1800, when they returned to Jamaica. Early in 1802 he was sent to New England to the care of his uncle, Dr. Samuel Savage (21), at Barnstable and of Hon. Dudley Atkins Tyng at Newburyport and its vicinity. He entered Harvard College in 1808 and was graduated in 1812. He then studied law with his uncle, Hon. George Thacher, in Biddeford, Me., but soon returned to Jamaica, where in Oct. 1813 he became a bookkeeper on a large plantation thirty miles from Kingston. Later he was placed in charge of two plantations near Spanish Town. He never married.

23. JOSEPH<sup>5</sup> SAVAGE (Samuel Phillips,<sup>4</sup> Arthur,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>), born in Boston 13 (Boston records say 14) June 1756, spent his early years in Boston, and in 1765 removed with his father to Weston, Mass., where he lived until he entered the service of the Continental Army in Apr. 1775. He was commissioned second lieutenant in Furnival's company of Knox's artillery regiment, 26 Mar. 1776, and was taken prisoner by the British after the Battle of Long Island, 27 Aug. 1776. He became first lieutenant in Crane's regiment, Second Continental Artillery, 1 Jan. 1777; was commissioned captain 20 Sept. 1779, and served to 17 June 1783; was appointed commanding captain, Fourth Company, U. S. Artillery Battalion, 20 Oct. 1786, and captain of Artillery Battalion, U. S. Army, 29 Sept. 1789. He resigned 15 Oct. 1791, after a service of sixteen and one-half years, and returned to Weston, where he lived until his marriage to Miss Hubbard, when he removed to Berwick, Me. From 1 Oct. 1796 to 1 Jan. 1808 he was postmaster at Doughty's Falls, Me., this post-office after 1 Jan. 1818 being called Berwick. He died suddenly, intestate, at Berwick 20 Jan. 1814.† He was apparently married before he left the army, for he had a son who was born in 1789, but the name of the child's mother and the date of the marriage have not been found. He married at Berwick, Me., 16 Dec. 1793, CATHARINE HUBBARD, born at Hamilton, Mass., 13

* Various spellings of this name are found, among them being Demetros, Demetriss, Demetress, and Demetrias. Joseph Savage's second daughter (23. iv), who was named for William Savage's first wife, always spelled the name De Metris. The name is of Greek origin.

† "In Berwick, (Me.) very suddenly, Joseph Savage, Esq. 61 [sic], a man greatly esteemed and beloved by an extensive acquaintance, for his great intrinsic worth and pure benevolence of his heart." (Boston Daily Advertiser.)

Nov. 1767, died at Salem, Mass., 6 Feb. 1847, daughter of John* and Sarah (Woodbury). of Berwick.

Child:

33. i. SAMUEL ALDRIDGE,<sup>9</sup> b. at West Point, Orange Co., N. Y., 29 Oct. 1789. Children by his wife Catharine Hubbard, born at Berwick, Me.:
- ii. CATHARINE SOPHIA, b. 13 Nov. 1794; d. unm. at Salem, Mass., 10 Oct. 1840.
34. iii. CHARLES TYLER, b. 15 Mar. 1797.
- iv. JANE COOPER DE METRIS, b. 15 Mar. 1799; d. at Portland, Me., 16 July 1873; m. at Biddeford, Me., 29 Aug. 1818, her first cousin, SAMUEL PHILLIPS SAVAGE THACHER (14, ix. 1), b. at Biddeford 23 Apr. 1785, d. at Mobile, Ala., 5 Nov. 1842, son of Hon. George and Sarah (Savage) of Biddeford. A severe attack of typhus fever rendered Mr. Thacher an invalid from his fifteenth year until 1817. During this time he devoted himself, principally for amusement, to the study of the law, and in 1817 removed to Buxton, Me., and opened a law office. Owing to his inability to plead his client's cases, his income from his law practice was found insufficient for the needs of his family, and in 1832 he removed to Saco, Me., where his mother was living, and became a commission merchant. In 1840 failing health obliged him to seek a warmer climate, and in Oct. of that year he removed with his family to Mobile, Ala., where he died. Children: 1. Joseph Savage, b. at Buxton, Me., 10 July 1819; d. unm. at Mobile, Ala., 31 Oct. 1842. 2. Anthony, b. at Buxton 15 Mar. 1821; d. unm. at Mobile 30 Oct. 1842. 3. Lucy Savage, b. at Buxton 3 June 1823; d. at Washington, D. J., 4 Apr. 1911; m. in Chicago, Ill., 6 July 1859, Murry Nelson; six children.
- v. WILLIAM HENRY, b. 3 July 1801. After attending school at Berwick, he went to sea and when very young became master of a vessel. On the return voyage from Havana to Boston as master of the brig Elizabeth and Ann, the vessel ran aground in approaching Boston Harbor during a violent storm on the night of 5 Mar. 1829, and Savage and his entire crew were lost. The vessel apparently struck on Wintthrop's Bar, went to pieces off Great Egg Rock near Nahant, and at 8 A.M. on the following day had entirely disappeared. None of the bodies of the unfortunate persons was ever found. Savage's watch, attached to a piece of the cabin, his desk, and the log-book were washed ashore on Deer Island on the morning of 6 Mar.† A * John Hubbard was a grandson of Richard Hubbard, H. C. 1653, who married Sarah Bradstreet, daughter of Simon and Anne (Dudley), and was a grandnephew of William Hubbard, H. C. 1642, the minister of Ipswich and author of the "Narrative of the Indian Wars in New-England." Upon Lafayette's visit to Saco in 1825 Joseph Savage's widow was introduced to Lafayette, who had, many years before, personally rewarded her husband for his bravery during the Revolution.

† "Brig Elizabeth and Ann, Capt. Savage. The recent loss of this brig in Boston harbour was attended by circumstances peculiarly afflicting. She was owned by Jones Shaw Esq. of Northport, [Me.] was one of the best built and most elegant vessels ever launched on the Penobscot, and nearly new. On her return from the Havana with a rich cargo, having outtrode two of the most violent storms ever experienced on our coast, she had actually arrived within the limits of the harbour when she was overtaken by a third, driven upon the rocks, entirely separated, her cargo totally lost, every soul on board perished, and not even the bodies have been found. . . . The master of the Elizabeth and Ann, was W<sup>m</sup> H. Savage of Salem; and it would be unjust both to the living and the dead not to pay a passing tribute to his memory. . . . Savage was by no means an ordinary man, though only twenty six [sic] years of age, he had acquired information which few in his walk of life ever acquire. In addition to the skill of the navigator, the generous bearing and warm elevation of the sailor, he possessed the intelligence of the merchant, the feelings of the gentleman, and the accomplishments of the scholar. There is probably no individual of Savage's age and pursuits in this section of the country, who would have ranked before him. . . ." (Belfast, Me., Republican Journal, 15 Apr. 1829.)

miniature of Savage, painted shortly before his death, is in the possession of his nephew, William H. Savage, Esq. He was unmarried.

- 35. vi. SAMUEL PHILLIPS, b. 9 June 1803.
- vii. JOHN HUBBARD, b. 2 Feb. 1807; d. at Berwick 13 Feb. 1810.
- viii. SARAH WOODBURY, b. 12 Aug. 1810; d. at the home of her brother, Charles Tyler, at West Newton, Mass., 16 Sept. 1855, after several years of invalidism, during the last five years of which she was paralyzed, deaf, partially blind, and bedridden.

FROM THE RECORDS OF THE COURT OF REQUESTS

Complaint made by — [mutilated] IVERY of Hexton in co. Hertford, husbandman, that his father Robert Ivery made his will 30 August 1525, making his brother John Ivery and his eldest son Robert Ivery executors, and leaving to his son, this complainant, then twelve years of age or under, for his preferment and toward his living, two hundred sheep and twenty quarters of barley, valued at £30. After the death of the complainant's said father the executors proved the will and administered the estate. Complainant was under the rule and governance of one William Welche of Luton, co. Bedford, his godfather, at whose request the executors paid over to him the said sheep and barley, to the intent that he should employ the same to the most profit of the complainant, he agreeing to render the said sheep and barley, with the increase thereof, on demand. About two years since the complainant demanded of the said Welch said sheep and barley with the increase thereof, but he not only refused to surrender the same but sold them and retained the money. At St. John's day last past the said Welche made his will, appointing his wife Isabell and Thomas Steven of Luton his executors, and died leaving a good estate. Complainant has demanded his sheep and barley of these executors, but they refuse to satisfy his claim. Complainant is a poor man, and has no redress at the common law. He asks for letters of privy seal to be directed to the said executors, commanding them under penalty to appear and answer his complaint. [Undated, but probably about 1536.] (Public Record Office, Court of Requests, Bundle 11, No. 180.)

ROBERT IVERY of Offley, co. Herts, husbandman, sued Gregory Warren and Alice his wife [sic] in regard to the lease of a house in Offley, formerly the freehold property of the said Gregory in the right of his wife Alice. The lease was for twenty-one years from 12 December 27 Henry VIII [1535], and the said Alice died before the lease began, when the property went to her son and heir by a former marriage, Thomas Skypes. The said Gregory agreed to cause the said Thomas to confirm said lease if the said Robert Ivery would pay him 10 marks, which he did. The said Thomas has not confirmed the lease, and the said Gregory will not refund the 10 marks paid. [Undated, but after the feast of Pentecost, 28 Henry VIII, i.e., after 28 May 1536]. (Public Record Office, Court of Requests, Bundle 3, No. 258.)

FROM CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS

EDMOND IVOREY of Offley, co. Hertford, yeoman, son and heir of William Ivory late of Offley, deceased, complains in the Court of Chancery, 9 November 1624, that certain of his tenants refuse to pay him and claim that their lands are held not of the Manor of Westbury but of the Manor of Hitchin, the property of Prince Charles [afterwards King Charles I]. Complainant relates that for forty years before his death the said William was rightfully seized in his demesne as of fee, in the Manor of Westbury in Offley, and in other lands and tenements in Offley and Kimpton, the tenants of the said manor holding freehold and copyhold. Among other tenants Sir Edward Benstead, Knight, held about eighty years ago a freehold messuage called The Ley and a carucate of land in Kimpton containing 140 acres, a greater part held of the then lord of the manor at 15s. rent, and 4d. and four capons fealty and suit of court. About fifty years ago said messuage and land was conveyed to Sir John Brockett, who sold Ley and its grounds, and the purchasers came into court before the said William Ivory and his steward 15 January 31 Elizabeth [1588/9] to find out what part of said land belonged to the Manor of Westbury and what part to the Manor of Hitchin. The matter was settled, and the purchasers paid their rental for such part of the land as they held of the Manor of Westbury. The defendants reply, denying any knowledge of any such settlement, and claim that they hold and always have held their land of the Manor of Hitchin. (Chancery Proceedings, Charles I, Bills and Answers, I and J, Bundle 13, No. 29.)

ELIZABETH IVERY, widow of Edmond Ivery late of Hendlowe, co. Bedford, yeoman, deceased, son and heir of — [William] Ivery, brought suit, June 1631, against William Helder alias Spicer, Susan his wife, and Luke Ivery, Joseph Ivery, and Susan Ivery, sons-in-law and daughter-in-law [stepsons and stepdaughter] of the said William Helder alias Spicer. The said Elizabeth complains that her father John Woodley deceased gave her said husband Edmond Ivery as a marriage portion £500, and the said Edmond made a deed giving the manor of — [Westbury] in Offley and other lands in Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire to the said Elizabeth for life, with reversion at her death to her eldest son, making proper provision for the portions of the other children. When the said Edmond was extremely ill, with the illness whereof he died, said complainant being also so ill that she was like to die, the said William Helder alias Spicer, Susan his wife, formerly wife to the said Edmond's father and mother-in-law [stepmother] to the said Edmond, and Luke Ivery, Joseph Ivery, and Susan Ivery, his brothers-in-law and sister-in-law [half-brothers and half-sister] came to Hendlowe on pretense of visiting and comforting the said Edmond and this complainant in their illness, and the said Edmond, having no one else so near of kin to trust, gave them the keys of the boxes and rooms where his writings lay, that they might view the same and advise him regarding the settlement of his property. Complainant claims that the said defendants stole said deeds and also some bonds which they had delivered to him when he had paid money due them by the will of the father of the said Edmond, Luke, Joseph, and Susan Ivery, late husband of the said Susan Helder alias Spicer, and they now threaten to sue the estate of the said Edmond for legacies which they claim have not been paid.

Answer of William Helder alias Spicer, Susan his wife, and Susan Ivery, defendants to the complaint of Elizabeth Ivery, widow. The said Susan Helder alias Spicer acknowledges it to be true that she visited her stepson and his wife when they lay ill, but denies that he gave her any keys. He did, however, show to her a deed, which was unsealed, demising his lands for £500 to John Woodley with certain trusts for the benefit of his wife and children, which he asked her to keep. Coming again to visit him a second time, he asked to see the deed, which she showed him. Afterward, he having somewhat recovered from his illness, she gave him back the deed, which she supposes he destroyed, he having disposed of his estate for the benefit of his wife and children in another manner. She denies that she has or ever has had any bonds belonging to the said Edmond. The said Susan Ivery states that her father left her by will £100, to be paid her at the age of eighteen years. Her brother Edmond, as executor of her father's will, had paid her £40 and given bonds for the other £60, which is as yet unpaid. Denies that the said Edmond gave her or any of the defendants any keys or that she has any bonds belonging to him. [The reply of the other defendants, Luke and Joseph Ivery, is not to be found.] (Chancery Proceedings, Charles I, Bills and Answers, I and J, Bundle 12, No. 42.)

He married first, at St. Albans, 13 Apr. 1618, KATHERINE BEECHE, buried there 1 June 1635; and secondly, by licence dated 3 Oct. 1635, REBECCA AYLEWARD, buried at St. Albans 21 Dec. 1656, daughter of William. Robert Ivory was one of the chief burgesses of St. Albans in 1627 and was mayor in 1631, 1642, 1653, and 1664. When Charles II granted a new charter to the borough of St. Albans, 27 July 1664, he appointed Robert Ivory one of the twelve aldermen for life.

jurisdiction of his manor of Westbury. He married ELIZABETH WOODLEY, daughter of John, who survived him and was living in 1650. Shortly after her husband's death she sued his stepmother Susan (Waller) (Ivory) Spicer, alias Helder, wife of William Spicer, alias Helder, and also her husband's half-brothers and half-sister, Luke Ivory, Joseph Ivory, and Susan Ivory, for the return of papers which she claimed that her husband gave them to keep for him. She and her son John were also involved in several suits concerning land on which money was raised to secure the release of John from Hitchin prison, whither he had been taken for debt. His cousin John Ivory of Millbrook, co. Bedford, paid his debts to the amount of £1000, and for recompense took a lease for one hundred and fifty years of the manor of Westbury. This he transferred to various persons, who were sued by John Ivory and his mother Elizabeth for the recovery of the same.

Children :

- i. ELIZABETH, bapt. at Offley 27 July 1618; living 1650; m. HUMPHREY SONDON, and had a son Samuel.

- v. SARAH, b. probably abt. 1627; living 1656; m. MILES SMITH.

9. LUKE IVORY (William, Robert, Robert, Robert) of Offley, co. Herts, and Ealing, co. Middlesex, tallow-chandler, the testator of 1679, baptized at Offley 16 Jan. 1605/6, died, probably at Ealing, between 25 July and 4 Aug. 1679. He married there, 5 Nov. 1634, ELIZABETH HEMBRO (or HANBURY), daughter of Edward Hanbury of Ealing and sister of Luke and Peter Hanbury, emigrants to New England.* The evidence that absolutely identifies Luke Ivory, son of William of Offley, with the testator of Ealing in 1679 is the mention in the Ealing registers of the burial of his kinsman Daniell Waller, evidently either Luke's half-brother of that name or the son of one of his half-brothers. Luke Ivory was a man of substance and education, with a leaning toward Puritanism, if one may judge by his books. These books were doubtless sent to his daughter Dorcas Hovey in New England. It would be interesting to know if any of them are still in existence.

Children :

- i. JOHN, bapt. at Ealing 24 June 1636; bur. there 29 July 1636.

  - iv. DORCAS, b. probably abt. 1643.
  - v. MARY, bur. 23 Aug. 1645.
10. DORCAS IVORY (Luke, William, Robert, Robert, Robert) of Ealing, co. Middlesex, England, and of Topsfield, Mass., born probably about 1643, died at Topsfield 5 Nov. 1711. She was married at Ipswich, Mass., 3 Aug. 1665, to SERGT. JOHN<sup>2</sup> HOVER, who died at Topsfield between 22 Mar. 1717/18 and 7 Apr. 1718, son of Daniel and Abigail (Andrews) of that place; and they settled at Topsfield. How Dorcas Ivory came to emigrate to New England is not known. She may have gone over to visit her uncles Peter and Luke Hanbury, or the family of William Ivory of Lynn (if the latter was her uncle), perhaps leaving London on account of the plague raging there in the summer of 1665.

- i. JOHN, b. at Ipswich Dec. 1666; m. at Topsfield, 11 Jan. 1691/2. MARY DUNWELL; had issue.

[From the foregoing wills and parish register entries and from New England records the following Littlefield pedigree has been compiled:

1. FRANCIS LITTLEFIELD of Titchfield, co. Hants, the testator of 1618, was born probably about 1565, and was buried at Titchfield 22 Oct. 1618. He married first MARY ———, who was buried at Titchfield 29 Oct. 1605; and secondly, at Titchfield, 14 July 1606, ANNIS WIGG, a widow with two children, Elizabeth and Robert Wigg. She was probably the Anne Littlefield who was buried at Titchfield 5 July 1619. Francis Littlefield was a clothier by trade and left a good estate. His parentage has not been learned, but he had brothers, James Littlefield of Droxford and Richard Littlefield, and a sister Mary who married, 25 Jan. 1606/7, John Beane.

2. i. EDMOND, bapt. 27 June 1592.
- ii. NICHOLAS, bapt. 24 July 1595; bur. at Titchfield 12 Aug. 1595.
- iii. JAMES, bapt. 18 June 1598; m. at Titchfield, 17 Jan. 1618/19, JOANE JEFFERY, and had William, bapt. 5 Dec. 1619. and probably other children. He inherited his father's fulling-mill at Titchfield.
- iv. ANNE, bapt. 8 Apr. 1601; bur. at Titchfield 10 Apr. 1691.
- v. FRANCES, bapt. 6 Oct. 1605; bur. at Titchfield 29 Oct. 1605.

Children by second wife, baptized at Titchfield:

- vi. NICHOLAS, bapt. 28 Aug. 1608; bur. as Nicholas Little of Funtley (then a part of Titchfield, now a separate parish) 23 May 1677; m. ———. He is the testator of 1677, was a clothier, and lived at Funtley. Children: 1. Anne, bapt. 1 June 1641; m. Thomas Barrey of Shidfield. 2. Nicholas, bapt. 14 Mar. 1644/5.
- vii. JOHN, bapt. 13 Jan. 1610/11; lived at Funtley; m. (1) JONE ———, who was bur. at Titchfield 22 Dec. 1649; m. (2) ———. Children by first wife: 1. Jone, bapt. 11 Apr. 1641. 2. Ann, bapt. 12 Oct. 1643. 3. Francis, bapt. 21 Oct. 1645. Child by second wife: 4. Elizabeth, bapt. 27 May 1653.

2. EDMOND LITTLEFIELD (Francis) of Titchfield, co. Hants, Exeter, N. H., and Wells, Me., baptized at Titchfield 27 June 1592, died, presumably at Wells, between 11 and 24 Dec. 1661. He married at Titchfield, 16 Oct. 1614, AGNES (also called ANNE and ANNIS) AUSTIN, probably baptized there 1 Feb. 1596/7, daughter of Richard of Titchfield, the testator of 1623,* who in his will mentions her, her husband, and their three children, Edward, Francis, and Anthony Littlefield. With six children and two servants, John Knight and Hugh Durdall, she sailed for New England in the ship Bevis from Southampton in May 1638, giving her age as 38, although in reality she was 41. It is not known when her husband emigrated to New England, but he probably went thither with his elder son Francis before the rest of the family. He appears first at Exeter, where he signed the Combination 5 June 1639. He removed to Wells, Me., where he received a grant of land from Thomas Gorges 14 July 1643, and took the oath of allegiance to Massachusetts 5 July 1653. As he was his father's eldest son and heir, a settlement was probably made on him at the time of his marriage in 1614. At his death he left an estate of £588. 13s. 4d.

Titchfield is a most attractive old-world village. It formerly covered a much larger area, extending to Southampton Water and the Solent. The church contains an ancient and beautiful monument to the Earls of Southampton, one of whom was the friend and patron of Shakspeare. Titchfield Place, one of the seats of this family, was one of the abbeys dissolved by Henry VIII, but is now merely a picturesque ruin.

Children, baptized at Titchfield:

- i. ANNE, bapt. 11 Feb. 1615/16; bur. at Titchfield 2 Jan. 1616/17.
- ii. EDWARD, bapt. 17 Feb. 1617/18; bur. at Titchfield 13 June 1635.

By means of the exertions & benevolence of "The Society for propagating the Gospel" established in Boston, & some liberal minded gentlemen in Newburyport Portsmouth & other places, there is a prospect & hope that another place of worship will be erected on the Seite of the old one, & the means of religious & moral instruction be again regularly afforded to the unfortunate and almost forsaken people of these Islands.

Star Island, alias Gosport

August 10 1800

Gosport Oct. 29 1800

This day the stone building on the hill is completed and it is intended by the donors to be used as a place of public worship and as a school house and it is hoped it may be useful as a landmark for seamen.

The pews belong by purchase to the following persons:—

No 1 the minister for the time being

— 2 Mrs. Sarah Mace

— 3 Mr. John Caswell

No 4 Mr. Wm Pierce

Dudley A Tyng*

* As Morse points out above and elsewhere, Mr. Tyng was the prime mover in awakening an interest in the affairs of the Star Islanders. The money for the new church came chiefly from Salem, Portsmouth, Exeter, Boston, and Newburyport. This building, 24 feet by 36 feet on the outside, with walls two feet thick, was smaller than the other church, which was of wood and 48 feet long and 28 feet wide, but stood in the same place.

This meeting house destroyed by fire Jan'y 2. 1826 Divine providence seems to from [frown?] on this place.*

* The last six words of this memorandum have been scratched out, and some one else has inserted the words, "Roof and interior wood work," to indicate that the walls remained, as indeed they do to this day. It will be seen below (p. 105 of original records) that the church was rebuilt in 1830. This entry may have been made by Mr. Sewall, minister at this time, whose career, soon to be cut short, is noted on p. 35 of these records.

† The record ends here abruptly. The explanation of this entry appears to be, that an agreement was drawn up and signed; but, before a copy could be entered in the book, the delegates to the dedication were obliged to go away, availing themselves, as Shoalers used to say, of a "chance" to get ashore. The text of these articles may be found in 1 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 7, pp. 260, 261, but unfortunately the names of the subscribers are not given.

‡ Mr. John Low accompanied Mr. Morse on his visit to the Shoals to dedicate the new meeting-house in Nov. 1800, and spent a short time on Star Island as a missionary during the following winter, but was soon compelled by ill health to retire. In the spring of 1801 Mr. Josiah Stevens took his place, carrying out the purpose of the Society and other friends of the Shoalers with much success up to the time of his death in 1804. At first Mr. Stevens lived on Smutty Nose, Susanna Haley, whom he married, being of that island and a daughter of Samuel Haley, 1st. During the summer money was raised by a new subscription to build a parsonage on Star Island. Then the Stevens family moved into this house, which was the parsonage-house of many who came after him. It was destroyed by fire in the spring of 1905.

§ Mr. Pidgin was settled at Hampton.

|| The words "the Rev" are in another hand. Mr. Porter was probably still at Rye. Goss remained on the Shoals.

¶ The entry has this form either because Stevens was not ordained or because his commission as Justice was of recent date (7 Jan. 1802).

The Society at Newbury port for promoting Religious Instruction at the Isle of Shoals, visited this Island in September, 1830, and dedicated the New Meeting House. The Rev. Leonard Withington preached the dedication sermon from Genesis 28: 17 "How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of Heaven."

The Society then invited Clementina B. Peirce of Portsmouth to instruct the School on Star Island, under their patronage. She had previously engaged to keep the school 3 months, for Miss Peabody,† who had been employed by the Portsmouth Society

She accepted their invitation, and instructed the school for them 9 months. She left her charge the middle of October, 1831 — on account of her health, and returned to Portsmouth.

The school consisted of about 30 scholars, between the ages of 2 & 15.

The[y] were instructed in Reading, Writing, Spelling, Defining, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Plain Sewing, &c. The most of them were bright, intelligent children; their improvement was good, generally speaking. They had also the privilege of a Sabbath School which was regularly attended, and interesting.

Nor was the house of God wholly neglected, for though was no Minister here, yet relying upon the promise of our Saviour — "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them" we met together on the Lords day, and found it not a vain thing to serve the Lord.

Since last October there has been no school here; the Inhabitants feel the need of a school very much; O, that the Lord would put it into the hearts of his children in other places, to assist this people as they have done in times past, — and send them a teacher who shall faithfully instruct their minds, and also teach them "the fear of the Lord," which is "the beginning of Wisdom"

† Hannah Peabody is meant. Although she is not prominent in these records, she was long remembered by the Shoalers for her work there during three different periods of residence among them between the summer of 1821 and the autumn of 1829 or possibly later. There is little definite information about her career outside of this work. In the New York Times of 1 May 1879 attention is called to the poverty of a very old lady, Miss Hannah Peabody, living in the Argentine Republic, where she had taught and done missionary work for many years. She is described as a daughter of Dr. William Peabody of Corinth, Me. It is also stated that when nineteen years old she had "piloted a vessel through the difficult and rocky entrance to the Isles of Shoals." In 1829 she started for Chili, but mutiny on the vessel led to her being landed on the Island of St. Catherine, off the southern coast of Brazil. Endicott's "Peabody Family" (REGISTER, vol. 2, pp. 153, 361, vol. 3, p. 359) tells us little about Dr. William Peabody except that he was the son of Capt. Richard Peabody of Boxford, was born in 1768, married Sally Bean, lived in Frankfort, Me., as well as later in Corinth, had a sister Hannah and a daughter Hannah. Palmer's book about Corinth from 1792 to 1883 adds nothing to this except that William Peabody died in 1857.

There are now on Star Island 15 families, and the whole number of inhabitants, including hired* men, are 99

Seminary, Andover came to this Island on the 15th inst. to spend a short time in visiting and preaching to the inhabitants. We were very cordially received & entertained. The people gave very good attention to our instructions. The hope through the grace of God, that our labors will not be in vain May they prove a savor of life to many souls. Our efforts were commenced on Friday night, at the house of Mr Joseph Caswell with prayers and exhortations. On Saturday P.M. a meeting was held in the meeting house & the people were address[ed] by Messrs Cleland & Muzzy from Rev 3: 20 A meeting was held on the evening of the same day when Mr. Cleland addressed an attentive audience from 2 Cor. 5: 20 In the morning of Sat. we with some friends from Newburyport visited the school of Mrs. Chickering with which we were highly pleased.

Sabbath morning we visited the Sabbath School. At 10 o'clock Mr Pratt preached from Prov. 1: 24-27 At one oclock in the P.M. Mr Pratt again preached from Hebs 2: 3 The people paid good attention. In the evening Mr. Muzzy preached from Luke 19: 42 The house was fuller than at any previous time during our visit.

During our stay on the Island we were entertained at the house of Mr Joseph Caswell. The family bestowed on us every kindness & attention May the Lord reward them for all their efforts for our comfort. Sabbath afternoon we all visited Madame Caswell. We found her in a feeble state of health; but resigned to the afflictive dispensation of Gods Providence. May the Lord spare her if agreeable to his will, to be a blessing to those arround her her And when she leaves this world may she be received to heaven through Jesus Christ

BARBADIAN NOTES

By G. ANDREWS MORIARTY, JR., A.M., of Newport, R. I.

DURING a recent visit to the Island of Barbados, in search of data concerning certain of his ancestral lines, the writer of this article made a point of collecting everything that he found relating to New England and Virginian families. This field of research is a new and comparatively unknown one; for while many Americans are interested in investigating their ancestral lines in England, few are aware of the importance of the records preserved in this remote island, especially for students of the history and genealogy of the flourishing coast towns of New England and of old Lower Norfolk County, Virginia.

Barbados, fondly known to its loyal inhabitants as "Little England," is the most southern and eastern of the Caribbee Islands, being a little more than half way between New York and Para on the Amazon, or about 2000 miles southeast of the former city. It has been under British rule without any interruption since 1605, when the sailors of the Olive Blossom took possession of the island in the name of King James. The first settlement was made in 1627, under the auspices of Sir William Courten, a wealthy London merchant, at "The Hole," now called Holetown, and in 1629 the settlers under the charter of the Earl of Carlisle settled at the Indian Bridge, now called Bridgetown, the capital.

From the earliest days of the settlement the Barbadians were loyal to their king and devoted to the Church of England. At the time of the Cromwellian usurpation they proclaimed King Charles II, and under the leadership of Lord Willoughby of Parham drove the Dissenters from the island. So hostile were they to the Commonwealth that Sir George Ayscue was sent to reduce them, but such a stout resistance was made that they secured a most advantageous peace. Sugar-planting brought such prosperity to Barbados that by 1670 the population was reckoned at 150,000, of whom 50,000 were whites and 100,000 blacks, and this prosperity continued until the American War.

Barbados is one of the few British colonies still governed by its ancient charter, and the islanders, while always jealous of their rights and firm in defending them, have never found it necessary to rebel against their sovereign, but glory in their long history of unshaken loyalty to England and in the fact that the foot of a foreign invader has never desecrated their shores.

During a large part of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the connection of New England and Virginia with Barbados was extremely close. No history dealing with the American colonial period, save the recent admirable work of Professor Channing, has ever dealt adequately with the intercourse between these colonies.

And yet the Bostonian or Salemite of the middle of the seventeenth century was undoubtedly far more familiar with Bridgetown than with New Amsterdam or Fort Orange. The people of New England, Virginia and Maryland, Bermuda, and Barbados constituted the colonial empire of England at this early date, and these colonies were bound together by common ties of blood and language and by their hatred of the Dutchmen and Frenchmen who threatened to dispute with the English the supremacy of the Western World. Many of the New England settlers had brothers or kinsmen among the settlers at Barbados, while the exchange of timber and salt fish from New England for muscovado sugar and molasses from Barbados formed the principal trade of seventeenth-century Boston, Salem, and Newport. From Barbados came those ship-loads of molasses that were made into New England rum at Newport and Bristol, and the timber edifices at Barbados were erected with lumber brought from New England. Then again there were constant migrations of families between the two places. From Barbados came the Rodmans of Rhode Island and the Parrises of Massachusetts, while the tyranny of the Massachusetts theocracy drove many of her finest citizens who adhered to the Church of England to seek refuge among the congenial and cultivated planters of the southern island.

An examination of the records of Barbados will well repay the New England antiquary. They abound in references to New England and to New Englanders. Many a worthy who disappears early from our records will be found reappearing in those of this tropical island, while in the graveyard at the Bridgetown cathedral are to be found the names of many a famous New England family. The following notes form only a part of those taken by the writer during a three weeks' stay at the island. The work of research is made easy at Bridgetown by the fact that in the Public Record Office are to be found not merely the probate records and the land records of the island, with numerous documents pertaining to business transactions, but also transcripts of the registers of all the parishes of Barbados, the original registers in many cases having perished in the hurricanes that rage so frequently in the tropics. Calendars and indexes serve to point the way through the mass of materials. In some cases original wills have been preserved; in others the recorded copies only remain. If in the following notes the writer succeeds in arousing the interest of New Englanders in a far-away island, with which intercourse practically ceased after 1776 but with which, previous to that time, the closest relations existed, and if the facts here presented are of any help to his brother antiquaries in New England, he will feel that his time has been well spent.*

*The writer wishes to express his thanks to E. G. Sinkler, Esq., magistrate at Speightstown, for his courtesy and for the valuable information, collected in his long studies of the history of his native island, that he generously placed at the disposal of his visitor, to Edward Gillman, Esq., of the Registrar's Office, for his unfailing courtesy and interest, and above all to Edwin Fitzpatrick, Esq., of the Cathedral, for placing his expert knowledge of the records at the writer's disposal and for aiding him in his searches.

[This testator, who lived at Kingstown and Newport, R. I., was the son of Daniel Gould, the Rhode Island Quaker, who was barbarously whipped in Massachusetts at the time of the persecution. His mother was the daughter of John Coggeshall, sometime president of Rhode Island, who was driven from Massachusetts at the time of the Antinomian controversy.]

Proved 1 March 1694/5.

[This noted Old Newport worthy, the gallant Major who aided Church in the Pease Field fight, died, according to Austin, before 1702. This will fixes the date of his death within a few months.]

[Jonathan Hutchinson was the son of Richard Hutchinson (a brother of William of Boston), the London ironmonger, from whom the noble house of Donoughmore is descended. Eliakim Hutchinson, brother of Jonathan, was a Boston merchant, the founder of a highly respectable family, which was plundered and driven from Massachusetts at the time of the Revolution.]

LANGTON

The Will of ELIZABETH LANGTON of St. Michael's parish, Barbados, widow of Stephen Langton of St. Michael's, 8 March 1681/2. To be buried in the parish church. To my friend John Costeene of St. Michael's. Proved 24 March 1681/2.

[See Wyman, Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown, p. 733, for the Peachie family. The Visitation of Berkshire, 1665-66, gives the pedigree of the Langtons of Staneswick, co. Berks, and it appears that a William Langton of Staneswick, aged 45 on 18 Mar. 1664, married, as his second wife, Katharine, daughter of Henry Fisher of Warnidge, co. Wilts, and had issue, among other children, Charles, the fourth son, and Stephen, the seventh son. See Harleian Society's Publications, vol. 56, p. 238.]

FROM THE REGISTERS OF CHRIST CHURCH PARISH

1650 Francis Carter buried 24 July.

FROM THE REGISTERS OF ST. MICHAEL'S PARISH

1677 George and Ann Meges his wife buried 21 June.

1681 Richard Dobbs buried 24 March [1681/2].

FROM THE REGISTERS OF ST. PHILIP'S PARISH

1693 John Clifford buried 6 March [1693/4].

1694 Alice Clifford buried 20 June.

Francis Carter of Barbados, Planter, sells to Nicholas Simonds of the same island, for 500 lbs. of tobacco, the plantation where "I lived." Dated 4 January 1630/1; entered 1 January 1644/5.

William Shingleton of Barbados, gentleman, sells to Matthew Willett, gentleman, the one hundred acres "I purchased" of Richard Pere, Esq., and William Morgan, gentleman, in St. Andrew's parish. Dated 30 January 1646/7.

[John Clifford and wife Elizabeth were at Salem, Mass., as early as 1658. He resided at the lower end of Essex St., and had a large estate in Lynn, where he died in 1693. His only daughter married Capt. Jacob Allen of Salem and of Charleston, S. C., and was the ancestress of the Hilliard and Crowninshield families, the name Clifford being handed down as a given name in the latter family. In the case of Clifford v. Turner (Essex Co. Court Files), in which John Clifford sued Capt. Habakkuk Turner for certain salt fish shipped to the Barbados, there is a letter evidently addressed to John Clifford by George Maggs, dated at Barbados 31 Jan. 1671/2. Maggs calls Clifford his "loving cousin," and adds a postscript, saying: "Your uncle William Shingleton is dead and uncle Francis Carter and uncle Tiss are all dead and your sister Jean is married to one Dobbs he is a barber surgeon and lives under ye shop at ye bear. I do expect news every day from Gloster." The name "bear" was applied in all probability to that part of Bridgetown immediately south of the Indian Bridge, as there is a Bear Street in that section of the town to-day. Maggs appears to have been a tailor at Bridgetown, with plantations in St. Philip's parish.]

MAVERICK

Articles of Agreement dated 14 January 1649/50, between Mr. Nathaniel Maverick of New England, gentleman, and Capt. George Briggs of "ye Barbados Esq.," recite that Capt. Briggs hath bought of Nathaniel Maverick, with the consent of his father, Mr. Samuel Maverick, and with the advice and assent of his friends, Mr. Richard Vines and Mr. John Turner, who have also received a life order from Mr. Samuel Maverick, one island known by the name of Nodles Island, and Capt. Briggs binds himself to pay before 1 September 40,000 lbs. of white sugar at some convenient storehouse at the Indian Bridge or at the Hole.

An Indenture dated 31 July 1656 between Samuel Maverick of New England, gentleman, and his son and heir Nathaniel Maverick and Col. John Bury of Barbados, Esq., shows that by a deed of 15 February 1649/50 Samuel and Amias Maverick assigned to Capt. George Briggs "an island commonly called Nodles lying and being in the Bay of Massachusetts in New England," and that said Briggs by deed of 28 October 1650 conveyed the same island to said John Bury, and that a difference had arisen between the said John Bury and Samuel Maverick, and that the General Court at Boston had ordered on 7 June 1653 that said Bury pay or tender to said Maverick £700 at the storehouse next the sea in good well-cured Barbadian muscovado sugar.

John Parris of Barbados, merchant, sold to Nathaniel Maverick of said Island, merchant, one half a storehouse at the Indian Bridge, 1 September 1656.

The Will of NATHANIEL MAVERICK of the parish of St. Lucy's in the Island of Barbados, Esq<sup>re</sup>, 16 August 1670. To be buried by my son Moses Maverick under the southeast window at St. Lucy's Church. To my daughter Mary Maverick 40,000 lbs. of muscovado sugar, to be paid after her marriage or at the age of eighteen years. If my father come into this island, he is to be maintained out of my estate. To each of my overseers 5,000 lbs. of muscovado sugar, to buy them a ring with this inscription: "The Memoriall of a Dead friend." The rest of my estate to my sons John, Samuel, and Nathaniel Maverick, all under twenty-one years. Samuel and Nathaniel to be educated and bound as apprentices under able merchants. Overseers: my loving friends Col. William Yeoman, Maj. Samuel Lidcombe, and Capt. John Stearte. Witnesses: John Maverick, Samuel Maverick, William Lemon, and Richard Springer. Memorandum, 3 September 1672: My will and desire is that my mother Amias Maverick have £10 sterling per annum paid her as long as she liveth, and that my sister Mary Hooke have 1000 lbs. of sugar for a mourning gown. On 8 January 1673/4 Mr. Miles Scottow is made overseer in place of Col. Lidcombe. Proved 24 February 1673/4.

The Will of NATHANIEL MAVERICK of St. Michael's parish, Barbados, merchant, 9 March 1700/1. To son Nathaniel, under twenty-one years. To daughter Bella, under sixteen years. To wife Jane. Executors: wife Jane Maverick, Capt. Samuel Maverick, and Capt. Henry Harding. Proved 25 August 1701.

The Will of NATHANIEL MAVERICK of St. Peter's parish, gentleman, 3 October 1710. To son Samuel, under twenty-one years. To two daughters, Katherine and Elizabeth, also under twenty-one years. To wife Mary. To father Capt. Samuel Maverick. To sister Mrs. Elizabeth Barrow. To brother Samuel Maverick and son Samuel Maverick. To Capt. Samuel Osborn. Proved 25 October 1714.

FROM THE REGISTERS OF ST. MICHAEL'S PARISH

- 1682 Mr. Nathaniel Maverick and Mrs. Jone Battin married 27 July.
 1688 James Drinkwater and Mary Maverick married 25 January [1688/9].
 1696 Elias Maverick buried 4 July.
 1696 Elias Maverick Jr. buried 21 July.

[The records given above relate to the Maverick family of Noddles Island. Nathaniel, the testator of 1670, is the man of whom Savage, Gen. Dict., vol. 3, p. 181, hears no more after 1650. The agreement of 14 Jan. 1649/50 is of great interest to New Englanders, for in addition to Nathaniel Maverick there are found here Richard Vines, the early Saco settler, who removed to Barbados, where he died, leaving a will which has already been published (REGISTER, vol. 54, p. 148), and John Turner, in all probability an early Boston merchant who appears frequently in the Aspinwall Notarial Records and who probably removed to Barbados. He is perhaps identical with John Turner, gentleman, of Three Houses in the parish of St. Philip, Barbados. This latter John married the widow of Col. Reynold Alleyne and is certainly a cousin of Capt. John Turner of Salem, Mass., who built the well-known House of the Seven Gables.]

REDWOOD

The Will of JOHN REDWOOD of the island of Barbados, 20 July 1660. To my son John when he arrives at the age of sixteen years. To my wife Elizabeth and my brother Thomas Redwood. My kinsman John Ashhurst to be guardian to my son. Proved 7 January 1668/9.

[The testator was probably related to the Redwood family of Newport, R. I. Abraham Redwood came to Salem from Antigua, and his children settled at Newport, where they married into the Coggeshall family. Jonas Langford, father-in-law of Abraham Redwood, was a wealthy planter of Antigua, and in 1680 an Abraham Langford was living at Bridgetown, Barbados.]

RODMAN.

The Will of JOHN RODMAN of Christ Church parish, planter, 16 September 1686. To be buried in Christ Church parish churchyard near my deceased wife. To my wife Elizabeth Rodman my plantation in Christ Church. To my sons Thomas and John Rodman. To my daughters Ann Wayt and Katherine Brandroth [? Braithwaite]. Proved 4 November 1686.

Marriages

 1665 John Redman and Hannah Newman 10 April.
 1671 Thomas Redman and Sarah Pead 9 March [1671/2].
 1676 John Redman and Christina Gibson 15 May.

Burials

- 1656 Thomas Redman 26 July.
 1681 Sarah Redman 11 March [1681/2].
 1682 Christina Redman 25 October.
 1686 John Redman 15 October.
 1691 Elizabeth Redman 5 November.

John Rodman of St. Thomas's parish sold to Benjamin Eastchurch, Sen., of said parish, merchant, 5 acres there, 29 March 1670.

The Petition of Henry Odiame, Esq., administrator on the estate of Thomas Barnes, against Thomas Rodman, 19 Apr. 1671, shows that the said Rodman and wife did not take out administration on the estate of Thomas Pead, deceased.

John Rodman late of Christ Church parish in Barbados, chyrurgion, now of the Colony of Road Island, and Mary his wife, lately called Mary Scamon, only daughter and heiress of John Scamon some time of said Island, planter, sell to James Ayeford of St. Thomas, planter, for £200, a plantation of 33 acres in St. Thomas, 10 February 1683/4. Acknowledged at Rhode Island 6 June 1684 before William Coddington, Governor, at his New Lodge near Newport.

[The records given above throw light on the Rodman family of Rhode Island. Thomas and John Rodman came to Rhode Island about 1683. Both were doctors. John removed to Block Island and thence to Flushing, Long Island. Thomas remained at Newport, where he married twice. According to Austin he is said to have had, before coming to Newport, a wife Sarah, who died childless. The records given above show the will and the date of death of the father of the Rhode Island settlers, the burial of his second wife Elizabeth, the births of the two Rodmans who went to Rhode Island, the marriage of Thomas and his first wife Sarah Pead, and her death. It would also appear that Dr. John Rodman married a Christina Gibson before he married Mary Scamon. The Thomas Rodman who was buried in Christ Church parish 26 July 1656 may have been the grandfather of the two men who went to Rhode Island, and he may possibly have been the Thomas Reddman who embarked for Barbados and St. Christophers in the Ann and Elizabeth in 1635, aged 16 (Hotten's Lists, p. 70). A John Pead was in Christ Church parish in Dec. 1679 (ib., p. 483); also John Rodman, John Rodman, Jr., and Sarah Rodman (ib., p. 484).]

SILVESTER

The Will of CONSTANT SILVESTER of Barbados, 7 April 1671, was proved at Barbados 18 January 1671/2. In the record of probate the testator is called Constant Silvester nup de Brampton in Comitatu Huntingdon.

[This will was also proved in England, and an abstract has been published in REGISTER, vol. 37, p. 385.]

TATEM

The Will of NATHANIEL TATEM of ye Bermudas, now in ye Island of ye Barbados, mariner, signed at the Island of Barbados 3 April 1711. To son Nathaniel Tatem part of the 2500 acres which I bought of Joseph Church, lying in ye Elizabeth River in Virginia, and the remainder to my daughter Mariam Tatem and my daughter Martha Tatem. To my daughter Elizabeth Tatem my land on the southern branch of the Elizabeth River. To wife Elizabeth Tatem. Proved 18 May 1711.

[Nathaniel Tatem was the immigrant ancestor of a family now very numerous in Princess Anne and Norfolk Counties, Va., and in the neighboring North Carolina counties of Currituck, Pasquotank, and Perquimans.]

VEREN.

The Will of NATHANIEL VEREN of Barbados, "being now bound in this present expedition and not knowing how soon I may return unto my creator," 29 March 1655. To my daughter Mary Vering and my other child or children which my beloved wife now goes with my three negro servants Francisco, Sarah, and Nan, together with the stock at my plantation. If the children should die, their portion to go to my wife, and she to be guardian of my children. Entered in the bundle of deeds, 1653-7, p. 293.

Joshua Verin was one of the executors of the will of Thomas Thorne, 27 July 1668.

Katherine Thompson of Barbados, widow, for 2533 lbs. of good, dry, merchantable scraped ginger and muscovado sugar, sold to Nathaniel Veren three acres in the parish of St. Andrew over Hills.

[Nathaniel Veren and his wife Mary were ancestors of many of the old families of Essex Co., Mass. His daughter married Timothy Lindall, while his wife Mary married, as her second husband, Lieut. Thomas Putnam of Salem Village and became the grandmother of Gen. Israel Putnam. Mary Veren was perhaps an Ingersoll of Salem. It is unlikely that Nathaniel Veren resided long at Salem. His interests were in Barbados, where he was a planter, residing in St. Andrew's and St. Lucy's parishes in the northern part of the island. The expedition on which he was going in Mar. 1655 was undoubtedly the expedition against the Spaniards of Jamaica.]

WHITE

Resolved White of Scituate in New Plymouth in New England, gentleman, and his wife Judith, daughter of William Vassall of this Island, Esq<sup>re</sup>, sell to Nicholas Ware of St. Michael's, merchant, all his one fifth of two thirds of William Vassal's plantation in St. Michael's, on the west side of the gulf or river [i.e., the river that runs through Bridgetown], and all other lands inherited from said Vassal except that land where Vassal formerly lived in New England, lying in the townships of Scituate and Marshfield in New Plymouth or any other part of New England. Dated 17 March 1656/7; acknowledged by Resolved White's wife 20 March 1656/7; entered 24 March 1656/7.

Resolved White witnesses a deed of sale from Mary Vassall of Barbados to her brother-in-law, Nicholas Ware of St. Michael's, merchant, of her share in her father William Vassal's plantation in St. Michael's, 11 May 1657.

[These records prove that in Mar. 1656/7 and in May 1657 Resolved White was at Barbados, and this is the only instance found by the writer of a Mayflower passenger who was actually at Barbados.]

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

The Committee on English Research desires to state, however, that although the Society has no official representative in England the Committee is employing Miss French for a part of her time as a searcher of records there along special lines for the benefit of the REGISTER.

LANGDON BIBLE RECORDS.—The following entries are taken from a Bible printed at Oxford, England, by Thomas Baskett. Printer to the University, but without date. It is in two volumes, the first ending in the middle of a word in the last chapter of Job. On the first fly-leaf are written the words "Cost 18/. Sterling in London," and on the opposite page "Mary Langdon's July 1764." This Bible is now owned by Arthur L. Perry, Esq., of Gardiner, Me., a great-great-grandson of the original owner.

The Langdons were a well-known Boston family, and an account of them may be found in REGISTER, vol. 30, pp. 35-37. John Langdon (No. 7 of the pedigree in REGISTER), husband of Mary, the owner of the book, was a Boston merchant, and there is a tradition among his descendants that he gave yearly a dinner to the inmates of Boston almshouses. There was a Langdon tomb in the Copp's Hill Burying-Ground, where both John and Mary Langdon are thought to have been buried, and Langdon Place also exists as a memorial of the family. The record follows:

HOTCHKISS-JOHNSON-THOMPSON: ADDITIONS.—The following items relate to genealogies that have recently appeared in the REGISTER.

Elias Hotchkiss (96. REGISTER. vol. 67, p. 224) married first Almira Woodward and secondly Julia ———. I am indebted to Mrs. Natalie R. Fernald of Washington, D. C., for the name of his first wife. Probably all of his children were by his first wife.

In REGISTER. vol. 66, pp. 15-17, evidence was presented to prove that Walter Johnson of Wallingford was son of Jan Wouters of Branford, Conn., Flatbush, L. I., and New York. The following record from Branford, contributed by Miss Ethel Lord Scofield of East Haven, confirms this conjecture: On 31 Jan. 1703/4 John Wooters, "some time since a resident of Branford, now a Sojourner in the town of Wallingford," conveys land in Branford. Witnesses: John Hall and Walter Janson. (Branford Deeds, vol. 2, p. 203.)

Eleanor Johnson, who married 14 Oct. 1714 Joseph Cook of Wallingford and Goshen, and whose parentage has not hitherto been determined, was probably a daughter of Walter Johnson by his second wife. The names Walter and Lambert appear among her children.

John Thompson (4. REGISTER. vol. 66, p. 200) married Anne Vicaris at Boston 4th of the 6th month 1656. Mary Thompson (17. x. ib., p. 208) did not marry William Hotchkiss, whose wife Mary was daughter of Isaac Thompson (9, iii, 3. ib., p. 204).

CHAMPION GENEALOGY: CORRECTION.—I send the following correction of a statement in my Champion Genealogy, New Haven, 1891:

The first wife of Joshua Champion (7. p. 34) was Mary Mott, born at Lyme, Conn., 10 Mar. 1692/3, daughter of Samuel (not John) and Mary (Brockway). This is proved by the will of Samuel Mott, on file at New London, Conn., a copy of which was sent to me by G. Andrews Moriarty, Jr., Esq., of Newport, R. I. The birth of this Mary Mott is given in Mr. Moriarty's article on "Nathaniel Mott of Scituate and his Sons" (REGISTER, vol. 67, p. 25).

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

ROBINSON-WHITE-CARVER.—In the Boston Evening Transcript of January 24, 1906, an account was given of the discovery by William Prescott Greenlaw, Esq., Librarian of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, of the record of the marriage of "Mr. John Robynson & Mistress Bridget Whyte," 15 February 1603/4. Although the name of the wife of Rev. John Robinson, the minister of the Pilgrim church at Scrooby and Leyden, had been known for years, the place and date of the marriage were not known to genealogists until Mr. Greenlaw called attention to the record given above, which he had found in the then recently-printed marriages from the registers of Greasley, co. Notts, England. (See Nottinghamshire Parish Registers, Marriages, vol. 8, p. 99.) Greasley is a parish in the southwestern part of Notts, seven miles northwest from Nottingham and very near the border of Derbyshire. It is many miles distant from Scrooby, which is in the northern part of the county, where search for John Robinson's birth and parentage had been for the most part carried on.

Since the publication in the Transcript of the article referred to, the parents of Rev. John Robinson and those of his wife have been found (see The Christian Register, vol. 90, pp. 174-175, 203-204), and in The Colonial, vol. 1, pp. 46-47, a magazine recently established by the American Society of Colonial Families and published quarterly at 6 Beacon Street, Boston, the Robinson Genealogical Society presents Robinson and White records as follows:

The will of John Robinson, yeoman, of Sturton, co. Notts, dated 14 March 1613/14 and proved 19 August 1614, is given in full, copies of this will and of the other wills mentioned below having been obtained from the probate registry at York. The testator bequeaths to "John Robinson my eldest sonne," to his [the son's] wife, to "John their son," to "everie of their other children," to "William Robinson my Younger Sonne," to "the wife of the said William," to "everie of their said children," to "my sonne in lawe Roger Lauson," to "my Cosen William Fenton . . . and to his Daughter my God daughter." Other bequests also are made. Executrix: "my lovinge Wyfe Anne Robinson." Overseers: "my lovinge Cozen William Fenton" and "my lovinge sonne William Pearl."

Extracts are also given from the will of Ann Robinson, widow of the testator of 1613/14, dated 16 October 1616 and proved 16 January 1616/17. The testatrix bequeaths to "my sonne John my sonne and heir apparent," to "Bridgett Robinson Wife of my sonne John," to "John Robinson sonne of my said sonne John," to "every one of my said John his children," to "Ellen my sonne William his Wife," to "everie one of his [William's] children," to "four of the children of my sonne in lawe William Pearle that is to say to William Thomas Griginall and John Pearle," to "Mr Charles White of Sturton," who is appointed overseer of the will, and to "my said sonne William Robinson."

From these two wills it is clear that John Robinson, yeoman, of Sturton, co. Notts, and his wife Ann were the parents of Rev. John Robinson. Sturton, now known as Sturton-le-Steeple, is a parish a few miles southeast from Scrooby and is in the northeastern part of Notts, near the border of Lincolnshire. The registers of this parish are not known to exist for the period prior to 1638, and the record of the baptism of Rev. John Robinson has not yet been found.

An abstract of the will of Alexander White of Sturton, dated 15 March 1594/5 and proved 6 May 1596, mentions brothers John and William White, son Charles White, daughters Katherin, Bridget, Jane, and Frances (all under twenty-one), "my yonger Sonnes Thomas Roger and Edward White," and "Ellenor my lovinge Wife." This Alexander White was the father of Rev. John Robinson's wife.

In the will of John White of Newton, co. Notts, dated 16 March 1595/6 and proved 17 January 1605/6, "my necce Bridget White" is mentioned.

In this article in The Colonial the statement also is made that Catherine White, sister of Bridget (White) Robinson, married first George Legatt and, after his death, John Carver, the first governor of Plymouth Colony. In a manuscript volume in the Library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, which contains extracts from various English parish registers, are the following baptisms from the registers of Doncaster, co. York, to which the attention of the editor has been directed by Mr. Greenlaw, and which may be of importance to those searching for the ancestry of Governor Carver:

1567 M'ch 27 Willm, s. of Robte Caruer.

EARLY SETTLERS AT WEYMOUTH AND BRIDGEWATER, MASS.—In vol. 1 of Dwelly's Parish Records, published at Herne Bay, England, in 1913 and recently received at the Library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, is printed the first portion of the Bishop's Transcripts at Wells, England, "being those that are in the most fragile condition." On pp. 58-67 fragmentary transcripts of the registers of Bateombe, co. Somerset, are given, and several surnames are found there which appear in the list of the company that came to Weymouth, Mass., with Rev. Joseph Hull in 1635/6. (See the list of this company in REGISTER, vol. 25, pp. 13-15, reprinted in Nash's Weymouth, pp. 247-250.) These transcripts show that Robert son of Christopher Martin was christened 25 April 1597, that Christopher Martin was buried 10 May 1605, that Thomas Bartlett and Joane Martin, widow, were married 11 July 1607, and that William son of Christopher Martin was buried 5 August 1607. Sarah daughter of Timothy Taber was christened 18 February 1629/30, and there are other Taber entries. Among the other surnames in these Bateombe transcripts are Shephard, Lovell, Jesup, Persons, Horllarde, and Addams, all of which, allowing for variations in spelling, are found in the list of Rev. Joseph Hull's company. Richard Bernard, as rector, signs the transcripts for 1617 and 1629. Unfortunately the original registers of Bateombe do not go farther back than 1642, and there are many gaps in the early transcripts; but a search of the records of the neighboring parishes and in the probate registry at Wells might throw light on the ancestry of some of the Weymouth company.

In the transcripts of the Bridgewater (co. Somerset) registers, on p. 112 of the same volume, is found the record of the marriage of "John Cary & Ann Burridge," 20 April 1601, which may furnish a clue to the ancestry of John Cary of Bridgewater, Mass.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

MEMBERS OF THE

NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY,

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN :

My first duty is to thank you for the continued confidence you have again exhibited in electing me your president for another year. I assure you I shall do all in my power to serve the interests of the Society.

This is the first annual meeting in our new building, and this year marks the beginning of a new era in the history of this Society; hence we must put forth our best efforts to promote its growth and usefulness—not that this Society has been backward in its duties at any time, for in its entire history it has been served by official boards composed of men earnestly devoted to its interests, but that now, with better facilities, it has a wider field for the exercise of its energies.

This extremely convenient and attractive building, the possession of which we have so long contemplated as a consummation devoutly to be wished, but afar off, we now have the satisfaction of opening to students from all parts of the country who are interested in the objects of the Society, and such will always find a fraternal welcome to it.

When it was decided to undertake the erection of a new building, so greatly needed but so difficult of achievement, the question of means was a serious one, which might well awaken hesitation in prudent minds, for to incur an indebtedness of seventy-five and perhaps a hundred thousand dollars was a forbidding prospect; but by the generosity of our members who contributed to our necessities the work has been accomplished, and to-day our mortgage indebtedness is but $45,000. This is much less than any of us contemplated, but our enlargement will, of course, increase our annual expenditure, and it is most desirable to cancel this debt as soon as possible.

With the debt removed, and with an increase of membership which we can confidently look forward to, there is no reason why the usefulness of the Society cannot be largely extended.

This prompts me to speak of present conditions, so different from those existing when the Society was formed. Since that time the population of this State, of New England extraction, has decreased in percentage over one-half. The great increase in population of foreign parentage presents a significant problem which demands notice, and our Society, which is a patriotic one, should give it attention.

The nationalities which have most largely contributed to this increase are Irish, French, Jewish, and Italian, and to these, while extending a welcome to all, we should give especial encouragement. I am glad to mention the genealogical work of the Abbé Dejordy on the descendants of Franco-Americans, which is a harbinger of further useful efforts of this nature.

Of course it is likely to be asked: Will these foreigners take an interest in their family history? In reply, we must consider that a percentage of these new-comers are men of ancestry as worthy of remembrance as our own, and may well take an interest in preserving to their descendants the records of their worth; besides, we have had ample experience of the fact that hardly any man who gives his attention to the study of genealogy fails to find some ancestor in whom he may rightly have a feeling of pride. This may seem unimportant to the unreflective mind, but I think I almost utter a truism when I say that pride in one's ancestors, by which I mean a worthy regard for one's forbears who have distinguished themselves by virtuous and useful lives, is highly promotive of patriotism, in other words, that worthy family pride and patriotism are correlative. As the Abbé Dejordy has interested himself in the genealogy of his French compatriots in America, we may expect similar work to be undertaken by other nationalities among us, and I believe that you will agree with me that we should encourage it.

To become a united people as a nation, we must eliminate race prejudice, a wholly unreasoning sentiment, and regard all who have cast in their fortunes with us as fellow-citizens. We are, and are to be, more and more a composite people, and in this we may discern a Providential leading. It was a member of that remarkable race, the Hebrew, who with almost prophetic vision limned the first chart which guided Columbus through the sea of darkness to the New World. Three Italians, Columbus, Cabot, and Verrazano, were among our great discoverers; three Frenchmen, Cartier, Champlain, and La Salle, were among our great explorers: while two Italians, Martyr and Benzoni, gave us our first American history and our first book of travels. Men of the British Empire, English, Scotch, and Irish, took a commanding place in colonization, and their efforts, aided by the men of the nationalities mentioned and by others whose coöperation they welcomed, have made this nation what it is. Such is the lesson of history.

But I will not pursue this subject further, and will close by briefly emphasizing two more thoughts. The Council's Report refers to two subjects of immediate interest. The first is the increase of membership. During the past year we have increased our membership to twelve hundred and nine, a net increase of seventy-six. We should increase it to two thousand, and we can do so if every member will make exertion to that end. The second relates to foreign research, to sustain which requires unnecessary effort, the reason for which seems evident. Thus far this branch of our work has been of a general nature. We have been flinging wide a net without regard to the kind of fish we took, taking it for granted that in time they could be made use of. Might it not be wiser to direct our efforts to a narrower field, and make them of immediate and direct use to our own members? I can see no reason why a list of the members of this Society cannot be placed in the hands of those engaged in foreign research, with directions to search especially for the English connections of these members. If this is done, there will be no trouble in raising the necessary means to prosecute English research; besides, if discoveries useful to members are made, it will stimulate personal effort, and create a deeper interest in genealogical study. Let us no longer maintain this work unless we can do so heartily, as we cannot under present conditions.

Thanking you for your cordial coöperation in the past, I extend to each and all of you my best wishes for your welfare during the year before us.

PROCEEDINGS

THE sixty-ninth annual meeting of the Society was held on Wednesday, February 5, 1913, at 2.30 p.m., in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, President BAXTER presiding.

The minutes of the meeting of January 1 were approved, and the monthly reports of the Librarian, Corresponding Secretary, Historian, and Council were accepted.

One honorary member, two corresponding members, and nine resident members were elected by ballot.

The annual reports of the officers and committees having been distributed, it was Voted, That the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, the Treasurer, the Librarian, the Historian, the Council, including its Committees, and the Trustees of the Kidder Fund, being presented in print, and now in the hands of the meeting, be accepted and ordered on file with the originals.

The Society then proceeded to the election of officers and councillors.

President BAXTER appointed as temporary chairman CHARLES SIDNEY ENSIGN, Esq. Rev. ARTHUR WENTWORTH HAMILTON EATON and Messrs. LAWRENCE BRAINERD and MORGAN HEWITT STAFFORD, being appointed tellers, received the ballots cast.

During the counting of the ballots Mr. WALTER KENDALL WATKINS exhibited a large collection of lantern slides reproducing old views of localities in Boston, at various periods in its history, and related many incidents connected with the places shown.

The tellers reported the result of the balloting, 94 ballots having been cast, and the Chairman declared that the following were elected to the respective offices as designated:

JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER, of Portland, Me.

Vice-Presidents

President BAXTER, on resuming the chair, reviewed briefly the important work of the past year, and spoke of the future prospects of the Society and of the results yet to be accomplished.

It was then

Voted, That the proceedings of this meeting, with the annual reports accepted, the address of the President, and the biographical notices of the deceased members, be printed as a supplement to the April, 1913, number of the NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER, that a copy of said supplement be mailed to every member of the Society not receiving the REGISTER, to the families of members deceased during the past year, to donors in 1912, and to exchanging societies, and that the Council be charged with the execution of this order.

Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society enters on its records at this time its appreciation of the services rendered by the retiring officers, WILLIAM DAVIS PATTERSON, Vice-President for Maine, HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT, Corresponding Secretary, CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, Treasurer, and ARTHUR WINSLOW PEIRCE and MRS. ADELINE

FRANCES FITZ, Councillors, who have during their terms of office given of their time, their thought, and their counsel that the broad purpose of the Society, the collection and preservation of genealogical records for the public benefit, might be attained.

At 4 p.m. the annual meeting dissolved, and refreshments were then served to the members and to their many friends present.

JOHN ALBREE,

Recording Secretary.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL

Prepared by G. ANDREWS MORIARTY, JR., A.M.

THE year 1912 has been one of the most important in the history of the Society. Not only has a magnificent and spacious new building been erected, but a new and definite system of expansion, with a wider scope in the work undertaken, has been entered upon. An organized effort is being made not only to increase the membership but especially to increase the membership outside of Massachusetts, and to bring the Society into closer touch with persons interested in its work in the other New England States and indeed throughout the country, as well as to secure closer relations with kindred societies.

This policy of expansion finds its best expression in the erection of the new building, and brings with it a far greater drain upon our finances than ever before; accordingly the Council strongly recommends that all members of the Society interest themselves in raising funds to meet the increased expense of running this structure, as well as to pay off the indebtedness which it has been necessary to incur in its erection. The matter of the expense incurred in the erection of the new building will be treated more fully under that head.

Membership

With regard to the increase in membership, the year 1912 has been a most auspicious one; 139 new members have been added, including a number of life members, and only 23 old members have been lost otherwise than by death. The total number of members is 1209, showing an increase of 76 new members. This result is most satisfactory, and it is to be hoped that all the members of the Society will endeavor to make the increase next year still larger.

Finances

During the year the expenses of the Society have increased, owing to the unusual expenses that have been incurred in the erection of the new building, the cost of moving, etc., and owing to the fact that part of our income formerly obtained from the property on Allston Place is no longer available, because that property has been taken for a building-site. A detailed account of the Society's finances will be found in the Treasurer's report. At this point, however, the Council wishes to express its appreciation of the many generous subscriptions that have been given towards the new building fund, which have greatly lightened and indeed made possible the work of erecting this edifice, and to urge upon the Society the great need of increasing its income to meet the new demands upon it.

The New Building

The greatest work undertaken this year has been the erection upon the Ashburton and Allston Place property of a modern fire-proof and properly equipped building for the purpose of housing the priceless library and manuscripts of the Society. The total cost of this building has amounted to $127,801.88, of which $75,382.25 has already been raised by subscription, and a deficit of about $38,419.63 yet remains. While the Society is to be congratulated upon the large amount raised, it should be brought to the attention of every member that great exertions must still be made to secure funds to meet the large deficit in the total cost, and it is the hope and belief of the Council that it will have the hearty and active support of the Society in meeting the financial problem created by the erection of the new structure at 9 Ashburton Place. To meet the deficit the Society has authorized the President and Treasurer to borrow a sum not exceeding $85,000, and to give a note therefor payable in not more than ten years at a rate of interest not exceeding 5% per annum, and to deliver in the Society's name a power-of-sale mortgage on the Society's property at 9 Ashburton Place and 3, 5, and 7 Allston Place, but it has been necessary thus far to place a mortgage of only $45,000.

The architects chosen were the firm of Messrs. Brainerd & Leeds of Boston, while the general contract was given to L. P. Soule & Co. of Boston. The plumbing contract was awarded to W. H. Mitchell & Co., the heating contract to the Cleghorn Co., and the electric lighting to the M. B. Foster Electric Co.

The corner-stone of the new building was laid with impressive and appropriate exercises by the President of the Society on March 18, 1912, and on December 21, 1912, Forefathers' Day, the Library and offices were moved into their new quarters.

It is a matter of utmost importance that our priceless collections have been housed at last in a modern and fire-proof building, of such a size and such accommodations that every part of our vast collection of books and manuscripts will be henceforth accessible to members and to the public.

The old quarters at 18 Somerset Street were sold to Simmons College on advantageous terms, and were vacated on July 31, 1912. During the intervening months, until the new building was ready for occupancy, the Ashburton Place store of H. H. Carter was rented, and the books most used were installed therein for the accommodation of members of the Society.

As soon as the new quarters are in proper running order, it is planned to set aside a certain part of the new building for the use of such patriotic societies as may care to avail themselves of the offer, and thus, it is hoped, closer relations will be established with kindred organizations.

Publications

The amount and quality of the Society's publications during the year 1912 have been kept up to its high standard. It has been decided, in recognition of the munificent bequest of the late Robert Henry Eddy to the Society, that the suite of rooms set aside for the editorial staff be called the ROBERT HENRY EDDY MEMORIAL ROOMS, and that, beginning with January 1, 1913, all publications of the Society bear on their title-pages an inscription showing that they are issued from these rooms. It has also been decided to increase the number of copies of the REGISTER printed, beginning January 1, 1913, from 1350 to 1600, and to compile annually, in addition to the REGISTER and the Proceedings at the Annual Meeting, about 1200 pages of vital records, further printing of vital records being deferred until further action of the Council, which will be based upon the continuance of the present appropriation by the State. Meanwhile the work of compiling and verifying the vital records of various towns continues. In all, during the year 1912, over 1152 pages have been printed by the Society, whose publications are among the most important and valuable of their kind in the United States.

In the spring Henry Edwards Scott, Esq., was appointed Associate Editor, and in the autumn F. Apthorp Foster, Esq., who had so long ably edited the REGISTER and the other publications of the Society, resigned, and Mr. Scott was appointed Editor in his place. It was also decided, on the recommendation of the Committee on Publications, to organize the editorial staff so that it shall consist of an editor and two assistants, which latter may be employed on any editorial work of the Society, and to continue the present system of compiling the annual index of the REGISTER and the lists of recent books.

The Council wishes to congratulate the Society upon having obtained the valuable services of Mr. Scott as Editor, who, it feels sure, will ably carry on the admirable work done by his predecessors.

English Research

The work of the Committee on English Research has been carried on, as in the past few years, by Miss Elizabeth French with most satisfactory results, and each number of the REGISTER for the past year has contained an article of solid and satisfactory facts concerning the English ancestry of our early New England emigrants. This work, one of the most valuable carried on by the Society, has been supported by voluntary contributions only until this year, when the lack of funds on the part of the Committee made it necessary for the Council to appropriate $300 for its use. The present increased financial responsibilities of the Society render it very difficult for the Council to continue this appropriation, and it is urged that every effort be made by members of the Society to secure contributions towards this most valuable and satisfactory work of tracing the English ancestry of our early settlers.

The Council wishes to congratulate the Society upon a most successful and important year. It is a year that marks an epoch in our history. A new, adequate, and fire-proof building has been erected, and the influence of the Society outside of Boston has greatly increased, while closer relations than heretofore have been established with the various historical and patriotic societies. It is a year that points to much accomplished and to a still greater future, a future fraught with fuller and larger results than heretofore, but at the same time we must not forget that a wider sphere of work and usefulness brings with it greater responsibilities and added financial burdens. The extraordinary expenses of moving from our old quarters, the loss of income consequent upon the appropriation of the Society's property on Allston Place for the new building, and the financial load that we have taken upon ourselves in the deficit in the cost of this structure render it necessary that we should be far more active than in the past in securing funds for the Society and in increasing its membership; and accordingly all loyal members of the Society should bear this constantly in mind and work for the common good.

The Council wishes gratefully to acknowledge the generous contributions made to the Society during the past year, and to assure the largest donors of a perpetual recognition of their generosity in the names of the memorial rooms, but at the same time it expresses equally hearty thanks to other donors and assures them of the everlasting gratitude of the Society.

It wishes also to call the attention of the public at large to our new and splendid facilities for placing our treasures at their disposal, and to urge them to coöperate with the Society in its earnest work of preserving the memories of the founders of New England. It is with an increased seriousness, always the companion of larger undertakings, but with a fixed belief that still greater things are in store for the Society, that the Council turns towards the year 1913, with its promises of wider influence and greater usefulness.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON FINANCE, by John Albree, Secretary:

During the year 1912 there has been a number of changes in the investments of the Society.

The estate 18 Somerset Street, occupied by the Society for forty years, was sold to the Trustees of Simmons College, and a mortgage thereon for $37,500, with collateral agreements, was taken.

To provide funds to make effective the vote of the Council directing the transfer of $14,000 from the Robert Henry Eddy Fund to the Building Fund, there were sold

$5,000 Canada Southern Ry. Co. 6's, Jan. 1913 . . .	$5,038.42
$9,000 New York Central R.R. Co. 5's, Nov. 1913 . . .	$9,135.55

Also there were sold

$4,000 Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R.R. Co. (Southwestern Div.) 4's, Sept. 1921 . . .	$4,029.78
--	------------

And with the proceeds there were bought

$4,000 Milwaukee, Sparta & Northwestern R. R. Co. 4's, Mar. 1947 . . .	$3,789.78
--	------------

The estate 69 Bushnell Street was sold, and a mortgage for $3,500 was taken thereon. The Society has received one legacy. The late Caroline M. Martin of Dover, N. H., bequeathed a portrait of her father, Dr. Noah Martin (1801-1863), and the sum of $200, the income of which is to be used for its care.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY, by Helen Frances Kimball, Chairman:

The year 1912 has been an eventful one in the history of the Library, marking the removal of the genealogical collections gathered by three generations from the old home of the Society into new and safe quarters, where adequate space for future growth has been provided. Temporary quarters for the clerical work and the greater part of the strictly genealogical books were secured at 5 Ashburton Place, where from the 1st of August members were able to consult most of the books wanted. During the last half of July the balance of the books was placed in two huge storage vaults in the new building. On Forefathers' Day was begun the removal of the books from 5 Ashburton Place into the stack in the new building, and at noon of that day members began using books in the new Library. The removal was completed on the 30th of December.

The regular work of the Library has gone on as usual, but the year did not present as many opportunities as former years to acquire genealogies.

The transfer of the old property, 18 Somerset Street, to Simmons College on the 1st of August, which made necessary the removal to temporary quarters, has given the Society a very desirable neighbor, and materially assisted the financing of the new building.

There have been several changes in the Library staff, but no increase in the number of employees, and it is hoped that the new building can be administered without any substantial increase of the pay-roll.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS, by James Parker Parmenter, A.M., LL.B., Chairman :

The Committee on Publications reports that during the year 1912, in addition to the REGISTER and the Proceedings at the Annual Meeting, which together make a volume of 520 pages, the Society has published the Vital Records of Abington, in two volumes, containing 632 pages—in all 1152 pages for the year. During the last two years the publication of Vital Records by the Society has proceeded more rapidly than the Commonwealth with the appropriation at its disposal has been able to purchase them; and it has therefore seemed best to the Committee to defer the printing of the Vital Records of additional towns until those already published have been taken and paid for by the Commonwealth. This action of the Committee has been approved by the Council. In the meantime the work of preparing for eventual publication the Vital Records of several towns and cities in Massachusetts is making steady progress.

Towards the end of July, when the Society vacated the building at 18 Somerset Street which had been for many years its home, the office of the editorial department was transferred from the Marshall P. Wilder Hall in the old building to the temporary quarters of the Society at 5 Ashburton Place, where the work of the department was carried on for about five months. On December 21, 1912, however, the department was moved into the rooms designed especially for its use in the new building of the Society at 9 Ashburton Place. By vote of the Council these rooms have been named the ROBERT HENRY EDDY MEMORIAL ROOMS, in grateful recognition of the generosity of the late Robert Henry Eddy, a part of whose munificent bequest to the Society forms the Eddy Town-Record Fund and makes possible the participation by the Society in the work of compiling and publishing the Vital Records of Massachusetts towns. By a further vote of the Council all the future publications of the Society will be issued from these rooms and will bear on their covers or title-pages a statement to that effect.

At the October meeting of the Council Mr. F. Apthorp Foster resigned the editorship and also his membership in the Committee on Publications, and Mr. Henry Edwards Scott, who had been Associate Editor since early in May, 1912, was appointed Editor by the Council. The Committee wishes to express its appreciation of Mr. Foster's services and its regret at his withdrawal.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PAPERS AND ESSAYS, by Mrs. Ethel Stanwood Bolton, A.B., Chairman :

The following papers were presented during the year 1912 :

January 3. — "The Forefathers of Jamestown," by Rev. George Hodges, D.D., D.C.L., LL.D., Dean of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass.

January 31. — "Some Church Troubles of the Early Times," by Rev. Thomas Franklin Waters, A.M., of Ipswich, Mass. Annual Meeting.

February 7. — "The Beginnings of Party Government in America," by William Milligan Sloane, Ph.D., L.H.D., LL.D., of Columbia College, New York, N. Y.

March 6. — "Walcheren: the Land of the Swimming Lion," by Rev. William Harman van Allen, S.T.D., D.C.L., of Boston, Mass.

April 3. — "The New England Frontier about 1700," by Frederick Jackson Turner, Ph.D., LL.D., Litt.D., of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

May 1. — "The Dutch in America," by Rev. William Elliot Griffiths, D.D., L.H.D., of Ithaca, N. Y.

October 2. — "The Old-Time Gateway of the North," by Charles Selvin Jackson, A.B., of Lynn, Mass.

November 6. — "From the Stage-Coach to the Parlor-Car," by Charles Edward Mann, Esq., of Malden, Mass.

December 4. — "Who won in the War of 1812?" by John Charles States Andrew, A.M., S.T.B., of Lynn, Mass.

The meetings were held in Pilgrim Hall, as had been the custom for the two years preceding. Four of the papers presented during the year, "The Forefathers of Jamestown," "Walcheren: the Land of the Swimming Lion," "The Dutch in America," and "The Old-Time Gateway of the North," were illustrated, either with a lantern or reflectroscope.

The average attendance has increased this year, though not quite so markedly as before. The average for the year is 188. The largest meeting for many years was held in March, when three hundred and forty people listened to the Rev. Dr. William Harman van Allen. At that meeting about twenty were turned away because they could not be accommodated.

We have continued our practice of issuing guest tickets and also that of having a paper by some member at the annual meeting in January.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON HERALDRY, by Robert Dickson Weston, A.B., Chairman:

No occasion for holding a meeting of this Committee has arisen during the past year. The members of the Committee have, however, given advice and assistance to a considerable number of people who have written or interviewed them for the purpose of obtaining heraldic information. Some of these calls came from those whose interest in the subject was personal and genealogical; some from those who had been employed to carve or paint coats of arms. To all who applied to them the members of the Committee gave such assistance as the circumstances seemed to require or the time at their disposal permitted.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON EPITAPHS, by Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Epitaphs reports that during the year the following copies of inscriptions have been received from the donors as indicated, and the thanks of the Society are due to them for their gifts: Brockton (Mass.) Gravestone Records (two packages) and West Bridgewater (Mass.) Gravestone Records (three packages, one of which contains the inscriptions from the Ames Family Burying-Ground), from the Eddy Town-Record Fund; Inscriptions from the Old Cemetery in Groveland, Mass., from Lloyd Vernon Briggs, M.D.; Inscriptions on Gravestones in the Old Cemetery at Hancock, N. H., from E. S. Ware, Town Clerk; Uxbridge Cemetery Records, from Frederick H. Whitin; Old Churchyard Inscriptions, South Salem, Westchester Co., N. Y., from Mrs. M. L. Holman.

The success that has attended the appeals for the preservation of inscriptions in the Massachusetts graveyards can be duplicated elsewhere through the same agencies, that is, the members of patriotic societies and individuals who are actuated in the work either through a reverence for their ancestors or a realization that on these old and too often neglected memorials is to be found in many instances the sole record of the facts thereon inscribed. The use made of the inscriptions now in the Library shows how highly the work of the transcribers is valued.

The Committee again urges that this work be kept in mind, and that it be undertaken either in coöperation or by individuals in the many localities where the inscriptions are still unrecorded and subject to destruction.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION OF RECORDS, by David Floyd, Chairman:

The Committee on Collection of Records begs leave to report that sixty-one manuscripts have been added to the Library of the Society during the year 1912. These manuscripts consist of church, cemetery, and vital records, family genealogies, Bible records, orderly and account books.

In the new building there is a vault 15 feet wide, 40 feet long, and 21 feet high, for the storage of manuscripts and rare books. The Committee urges all those who have compiled family histories which they do not intend to publish to send copies of the same to the Society for preservation in its Library. The Society will also be glad to accept any manuscripts of a genealogical nature.

George Walter Chamberlain, M.S., Chairman :

The Committee on Increase of Membership submits the following report for the year 1912 :

Coöperation has been our aim. To the end that the Society might receive an increase from persons of clean character and of strong genealogical interests, a large number of enthusiastic members was added to this Committee to select from a wide circle of acquaintances a highly honorable and helpful membership. The results surpassed those of 1911, when one hundred and eleven new members were added to the membership of the Society. During 1912 one hundred and thirty-nine persons have accepted membership—an increase of twenty-eight over the preceding year.

From the first the growth of the Society has been slow, because a majority of the early members were well-advanced in years before accepting membership, and consequently the losses by death have been large each year.

During the year 1912 the deaths of forty members have been reported, thirteen members have resigned, and ten have been dropped from the membership enrolment, leaving a net increase of seventy-six members for 1912. The total membership of the Society is now twelve hundred and nine—the largest enrolment in its history.

With our magnificent library equipment, containing the largest genealogical collections to be found in America, we ought to double our present membership within ten years. We can offer much to people possessing character and culture—much that cannot elsewhere be found.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

Presented by WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW

AFTER more than thirty years of agitation of the question of adequate room and safety for the growth and protection of the Society's Library, a new, safe, and spacious building has at last been erected, partly on land purchased more than twenty-five years ago for the purpose, and the Library and the other departments of the Society have been installed therein. The Librarian has had a free hand in planning the new structure, and he has endeavored to put into enduring form his conception of the Society's present and prospective needs in this respect. The technical advisers in connection with this enterprise have been Messrs. Brainerd and Leeds, Architects; Alfred S. Kellogg, Engineer for heating, ventilating and lighting; Joseph R. Worcester, Engineer for footings and steel work; Dr. Myles Standish and Mr. Benjamin B. Hatch for colors and also for lighting; and Francis N. Balch, Esq., for legal matters. The unanimous approval of the many members who have examined the finished edifice is ample proof that these gentlemen have faithfully performed their duties; and the assistance, outside of their technical duties, rendered to the Building Committee by these gentlemen has been productive of financial results which have nearly, if not quite, balanced the cost of their technical services.

The arrangement of the Library will probably be conducive to an increase of the membership of the Society, better care and protection of the books in the Library, and more efficient service on the part of the Library staff. The reference library proper occupies the entire upper floor of the building, and is composed of two reading-rooms, a small conversation-room, over which, on a mezzanine floor, is the Librarian's room, and a book-stack. Rooms for the clerical work of the Library staff are on the second mezzanine floor, directly underneath the reference library, and are connected with it by the rear stairway and an intercommunicating telephone system. The entire time of one attendant in charge of the Library can be given to the assistance of members and visitors and the care of the books, while the remainder of the staff can devote their time to the routine work of the Library, without the frequent interruptions to which they were subjected in the old building. Whenever the number of visitors and members in the Library is too great for one person to handle, an assistant can be called from the staff-room by telephone. One of the reading-rooms is for the use of members solely, and has direct access to the book-stack by means of three aisles. The other reading-room, which may be used by the members, but is designed primarily for non-members, does not have direct access to the book-stack, and is practically under the continuous observation of the attendant in charge. This arrangement of the reading-rooms, together with the surveillance by the attendant, will prevent the usurpation of membership privileges, so frequently attempted in the old building, and also will tend to lessen the marking of books by that large class of persons who seem to feel it a duty freely to annotate or correct books which they do not own, without the consent of the owner and without regard for the laws of the Commonwealth which prohibit such marking. A proper limitation of the number of books in use at a time by a reader will also tend to reduce the rough usage of books and the consequent cost of rebinding. A much larger number of books, newspapers, and manuscripts is now accessible to members without the assistance of an attendant. These increased facilities for members, with the consequent marked distinction between the privileges of members and non-members which is likely to prevail hereafter, now that it is possible to enforce more fully the rules which were established years ago for the administration of the Library, ought to be productive of a substantial increase in the membership.

The type of metal book-stack chosen is especially adapted to the peculiar requirements of this Library, and wide aisles between the ranges permit comfortable access to the books. Only one-third of the total stack space has been utilized, yet this will be sufficient for the present for all of the Society's books relating to genealogy and kindred subjects. An abundance of light is admitted on three sides of the building through many large and small windows. All interior and exterior door and window openings in the Library are protected against fire from the outside by approved types of modern standard devices. The Library floor is a monolith with but two openings, the two stair-halls, and these are enclosed with incombustible partitions and equipped with metal doors.

The Librarian again recommends that the Library be limited closely to its main purpose — New England genealogy in a broad interpretation — and that donations offered outside of its scope be sent to more appropriate places. If this is done, the new building will be sufficient for many years.

The total accessions for the year number 464 volumes, 757 pamphlets, and 157 miscellaneous articles. Of these, 233 volumes, 239 pamphlets, and 8 miscellaneous articles were purchased; 188 volumes, 514 pamphlets, and 149 miscellaneous articles were given; and 43 volumes and 4 pamphlets were received in exchange. These accessions added to the estimated number in the Library as reported last year give 37,481 volumes and 36,251 pamphlets as the approximate number in the Library on December 31, 1912.

ROBERT HOVENDEN, F.S.A., F.R.H.S., of Croydon, Surrey, England, a corresponding member since 1893, died November 23, 1908. Since the publication of the brief notice in 1912 (REGISTER, vol. 66, Supplement, p. lxi), in which it was stated that all attempts to obtain an extended account of his life had failed, the following obituary notice from the London Times of November 25, 1908, has been received from one of his friends:

"The death took place on Monday morning, in his 79th year, of Mr. Robert Hovenden, the head of a well-known London firm of hairdressers' sundriesmen. Mr. Hovenden was the eldest son of the founder of the house and became a partner in the business with his father in the late fifties. In 1866 the firm started and have ever since continued to publish the first newspaper for the trade. Mr. Hovenden was one of the promoters of the (now) Incorporated Guild of Hairdressers and Wigmakers, and of a benevolent fund attached to the trade. After some years' membership, he was made Master of the Barbers' Medieval Guild, and the redecoration several years since of its hall in Monkwell-street, London, was carried out at his expense.* An industrious antiquary, he manifested a special interest in genealogies and parish registers, and, besides transcribing a series of these for the Harleian Society, notably those of St. James's, Clerkenwell, caused to be brought out at the Chiswick Press, some 20 years ago, a large volume of over 600 pages, of the 'Register of Christenings, Marriages, and Burials in the Parish of All Hallows, London-wall, 1559-1675.' Ten years later he was admitted a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries, and until his illness he was a regular attendant at its meetings."

WILLIAM DEAN of London, England, a corresponding member, since 1879, died in London May 3, 1911, aged eighty-one. He

On his return he entered the Harvard Law School, and received the degree of LL.B. from Harvard in 1854 and the degree of A.M. from the same institution in 1855. WILLIAM SMITH TILDEN of Medfield, Mass., a corresponding member since 1904, died at Medfield May 14, 1912. He was the only child of Eleazar Perry and Catherine (Smith) Tilden, and was born at Medfield April 4, 1830. He was a descendant of the immigrant Nathaniel<sup>1</sup> Tilden of Scituate, through Stephen,<sup>2</sup> David,<sup>3</sup> Stephen,<sup>4</sup> Stephen,<sup>5</sup> and Eleazar Perry<sup>6</sup> Tilden.

He was educated in the public schools of Medfield, and in early life showed a remarkable fondness for music. His father was a member of the choir of the Baptist church, and the boy sang in this choir when he was only six years old. In 1852 he constructed for the church an organ with seven stops, on which he played for the first time in November of that year, and for more than a half-century he served without compensation as organist and musical director in this church. His life-work was that of a teacher of music in schools. He was teacher in an evening singing-school, 1854-1864, and a teacher in the Freedmen's schools at Hampton, Va., and at Washington, D. C., 1864-1865. In 1857 he had been the leader of an orchestra of twelve pieces, in 1859 leader of a glee-club of fifty singers, and in 1861 he was leader of a brass-band of twenty-four members, which was at Fortress Monroe in that year and four years later played at the funeral of President Lincoln. Returning to Medfield to reside, he taught music in the public schools of West Roxbury, Salem, Newton, Marlborough, and Framingham, and was director of music in the Normal School at Framingham, 1884-1897. His musical publications, which appeared from 1872 on, included several music-books for schools, some of which he edited conjointly with Professor L. O. Emerson.

In Medfield he was called upon to serve the town as assessor, member of the School Committee, and trustee of the Public Library, and in 1879 he was representative to the General Court.

He was the author of "History of the Baptist Church in Medfield," 1877, of "History of Medfield," 1887, and of "Souvenirs of Medfield," and he delivered an address at the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of Medfield, 1901.

He married, November 6, 1853, Olive Mason Babcock, daughter of Lowell Babcock of Sherborn, Mass., but they had no children.

ABIJAH THOMPSON, a resident of Yarmouth, Me., a life member since 1884, died at West Medford, Mass., May 29, 1912, aged 84 years. He was the son of Benjamin Franklin and Hannah (Walker) Thompson, and was born on Pleasant Street, Woburn, Mass., in the house now occupied by the family of the late Walter Frost, July 29, 1827. Mr. Thompson's father, who built and owned this house, removed later to South Woburn, now Winchester, Mass., and was the projector and organizer of that town. Mr. Thompson was a nephew of the late Gen. Abijah Thompson of Woburn, and through Dea. Benjamin Franklin,<sup>7</sup> Maj. Abijah,<sup>8</sup> Sheriff Abijah,<sup>9</sup> Samuel,<sup>10</sup> Jonathan,<sup>11</sup> and Jonathan<sup>12</sup> Thompson, traced his line of ancestry to James<sup>1</sup> Thompson, one of the original settlers of Woburn, and prominent among those who fixed their abode in that part of the town which is now known as North Woburn. His mother, Hannah Walker, was daughter of Josiah Walker, Sr., of Burlington, Mass.

Mr. Thompson was interested in the history of his ancestors, and published sketches of his Thompson, Walker, and Converse lines. He was the founder and first president of the Winchester Historical Society, and did much towards preserving in print and in illustration the history of Woburn and Winchester, a large part of the expense being paid from his own pocket. He was skilful in acquiring the assistance of many experts, who aided him in his project and made his efforts a success.

For a number of years Mr. Thompson was a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.

He married, April 27, 1848, Maria, daughter of Stephen Swan of Arlington, Mass., who survives her husband. They had two daughters: Annie Mabel, born October 5, 1868, died September 21, 1873, and Martha Lillian, born September 9, 1871, died in 1890.

At the time of her death she was the widow of Thomas Frederick Cordis.

SAMUEL HIDDEN WENTWORTH, A.M., LL.B., of Boston, a life member since 1868, died in Boston November 10, 1912. He was born at Sandwich, N.H., July 16, 1834, the son of Paul and Lydia (Cogswell) Wentworth, and a descendant of Elder William Wentworth. His great-grandfather, Col. John Wentworth, was speaker of the House of Representatives of New Hampshire, 1771-1775, and a prominent supporter of the American cause. His grandfather, John, was a member of the Continental Congress and a signer of the Articles of Confederation. His father, Paul Wentworth, was a prominent merchant of Dover, N. H., who afterwards removed to Sandwich. His brother, Hon. John Wentworth of Chicago, Ill., was well-known in public life and was the historian of the Wentworth family.

Samuel Hidden Wentworth was graduated at Harvard College in 1858 and at the Harvard Law School in 1861. He also received the degree of A.M. from Harvard in 1868 and the honorary degree of A.M. from Dartmouth in 1879. He began the practice of law on Washington Street in Boston, January 1, 1862, and became eminent in his profession. He was a member of the Boston School Committee, 1872-1874, and representative to the Legislature in 1877. He was recording secretary of the New England Historic Genealogical Society for the years 1870-1873.

He was unmarried, and his next of kin were his nephews and nieces. To the New Ipswich (N. H.) Free Public Library, to the Congregational Church of New Ipswich, to Appleton Academy at New Ipswich, to the new Appleton Literary and Biblical Institution of New Hampton, N. H., and to Phillips Exeter Academy he bequeathed $1,000 each. He left $17,000 to the town of Sandwich, N. H., for the purchase of land and the erection of a stone or brick building to be known as the Samuel H. Wentworth Library, and to this institution he gave all his books and literary collections, and also $1,000, to be expended by his executors for solid, standard works on religion, science, philosophy, and history. In case the town of Sandwich does not accept the gift, the sum of $8,000 is to go to Harvard College to found a scholarship to be named after the testator, the income of which is to be used for deserving students, and the sum of $9,000 is to go to Dartmouth College to found free scholarships for similar purposes.

THOMAS HOOPER of Brookline, Mass., a resident member from 1891, died November 24, 1912. He was born at Bridgewater, Mass., May 18, 1856, the son of Thomas and Eloisa Rowland (Washburne) Hooper.

He was a manufacturer in Boston, compiled Part One of the Hooper Genealogy, published in Boston in 1908, and was at the time of his death a member of the Committee on Papers and Essays of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, having begun his service on this committee in 1910.

JAMES GOLDTHWAITE FREEMAN of Boston, a resident member since 1896, died at his country home at Weston, Mass., December 3, 1912, after a brief illness. He was born in Boston August 24, 1849, and was the son of Peter Wilder and Frances Anne (Dorr) Freeman. His grandfather, James Freeman of Boston, had been born at Eastham, and was connected with many of the old Cape Cod families, tracing his ancestry back to Gov. Thomas Prince of the Plymouth Colony, Elder William Brewster, and other Colonial worthies. Mr. Freeman's mother was related to many prominent Boston families, being the daughter of John and Esther (Goldthwaite) Dorr and the granddaughter of Ebenezer and Abigail (Cunningham) Dorr.

Ebenezer Dorr is said to have been one of the messengers who on April 18, 1775, carried into the country towns the news of the expected movement of the British troops from Boston on the following day (REGISTER, vol. 7, p. 139, and Harper's Monthly Magazine for May, 1875), and in this capacity he should not be confounded with another messenger, William Dawes.

After finishing his education in the Boston schools Mr. Freeman became a clerk in the office of the Boston Insurance Company, of which his father was for many years the president; but in 1873 he became a broker, and the following year entered into partnership with the late William Coombs Codman, and for nearly twenty-five years the firm of Codman & Freeman was well-known among the real estate brokers of Boston. During this period he showed his public spirit by serving as a member of the Common Council and as an alderman at a time when it was an honor to be such. The last fifteen years he has devoted to the care of trust property and the management of real estate, and latterly has had his nephew, H. Hooper Lawrence, associated with him. He was a director of the New England Trust Company of Boston and of the Real Estate Exchange, and president of the Edwards Manufacturing Company, operating large cotton-mills in Maine. He was also a trustee of the Clinton Street, Park Square, and Cushing Real Estate Trusts, as well as of the Boston Lying-in Hospital and the Massachusetts Charitable Fire Society.

He married at Weston, Mass., June 6, 1888, Caroline S., daughter of James B. Case, merchant and banker of Boston, and of his wife Laura, daughter of Moses Williams. Mrs. Case, as a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, was one of the generous benefactors who made the new building at 9 Ashburton Place possible. Mr. Freeman's Boston home was at No. 470 Beacon Street, and his country home was at Weston, where the Case family had been summer residents for over half a century. Mrs. Freeman survives him; but he left no children, his daughter dying about ten years ago and two other children dying in infancy.

He was a delightful man of high character and much usefulness in the community, where his presence will be missed. In his immediate family his death leaves a void that cannot be filled.

OF THE

THE NEW LIBRARY BUILDING
OF THE

---

THE main entrance of the new building (not shown in the photograph) is a fireproof passageway, constructed through the dwelling owned by the Society on Ashburton Place. But no appreciation of the convenience and adaptability of the Library can be obtained until one sees what has been accomplished on the land in the rear. This view of the Allston Place front, taken from the Commonwealth Hotel, corner of Bowdoin and Allston Streets, shows how the work has advanced.

The new building covers about 5,000 feet of land, and on the upper floor, devoted to the Library itself, there are 4,000 feet of floor space for the reading tables and the large book stack, arranged to ensure efficiency in the use of the Library.

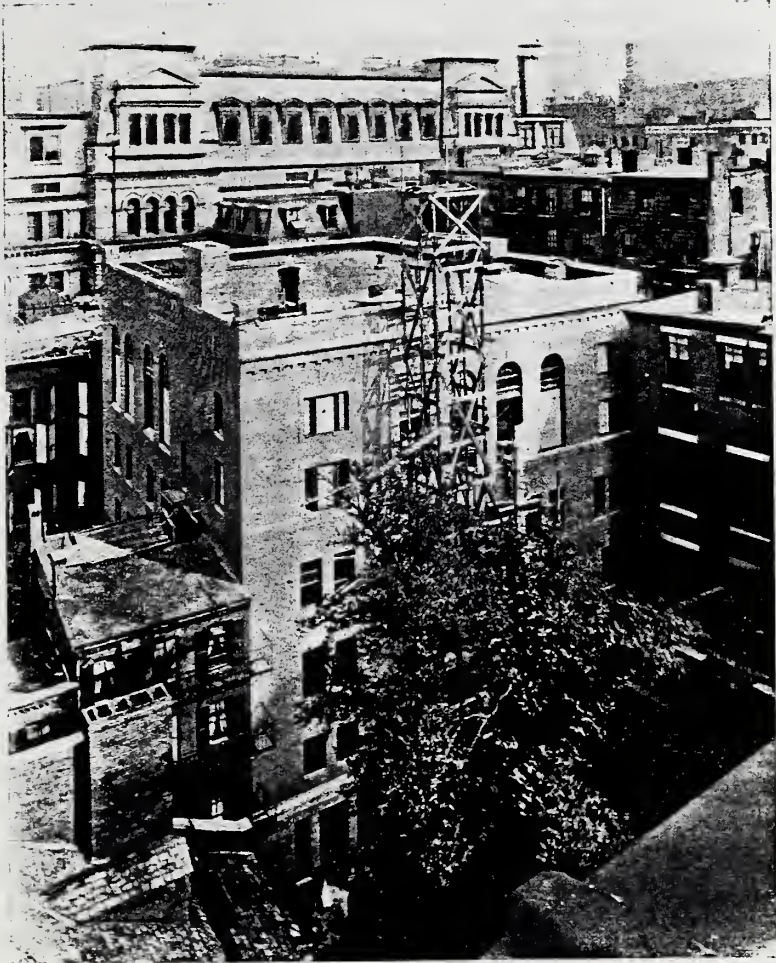

The eight large windows shown in the picture, four on each side, afford ample and unobstructed light. In the corner of the building, nearest the camera and on the Library floor, is the William Sanford Hills Memorial Room, and above it on a mezzanine story is a room for conversation.

Directly below the Library is the floor containing the editorial and the clerical departments. Still below that is the main entrance floor on the level of Ashburton Place. Here is the John Foster Memorial Room, to be used for the Council and committee meetings. The door shown in the picture on the lowest floor is an exit from the audience halls to Allston Place.

The large building in the background is the Suffolk County Court House, in which are the indispensable aids to the genealogist, the records of wills and deeds.

It is said of the new Library that it is "the last word on fireproof construction," and into this building it is expected that the books will be moved by November first.

IF THIS BUILDING IS TO BE DEDICATED FREE

FUNDS NOW IN HAND, WILL BE REQUIRED.

COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH

THE Committee on English Research wishes to make known to readers of the REGISTER as well as to all members of the Society and all others interested in the English ancestry of the early settlers of New England its need of funds for the continuance of the work in England.

By generous private donations during the past five years the Committee has been enabled to employ Miss Elizabeth French for a part of her time to carry on research work in England, and the results of her investigations among the probate records, parish registers, and other public documents of England have been published quarterly in the REGISTER. The work which for many years was carried on in England so successfully by the eminent genealogist, Henry F. Waters, Esq., has thus been revived by Miss French, and the importance of the uninterrupted continuance of this work will be evident to all who are interested in it.

Unless substantial contributions, however, are received without delay, it may be necessary to suspend this work; but in view of the good results already obtained it is hoped that the friends of genealogical research will provide a considerable addition to the funds of the Committee.

THE Committee on English Research wishes to make known to readers of the REGISTER as well as to all members of the Society and all others interested in the English ancestry of the early settlers of New England its need of funds for the continuance of the work in England.

By generous private donations during the past five years the Committee has been enabled to employ Miss Elizabeth French for a part of her time to carry on research work in England, and the results of her investigations among the probate records, parish registers, and other public documents of England have been published quarterly in the REGISTER. The work which for many years was carried on in England so successfully by the eminent genealogist, Henry F. Waters, Esq., has thus been revived by Miss French, and the importance of the uninterrupted continuance of this work will be evident to all who are interested in it.

Unless substantial contributions, however, are received without delay, it may be necessary to suspend this work; but in view of the good results already obtained it is hoped that the friends of genealogical research will provide a considerable addition to the funds of the Committee.

COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH

THE Committee on English Research appeals to all who are interested in the English ancestry of the early settlers of New England for contributions for the continuance of its work in England.

By generous private donations during the past five years the Committee has been enabled to employ Miss Elizabeth French for a part of her time to carry on this work, and the valuable results of her investigations have appeared quarterly in the REGISTER. The importance of continuing these researches, begun many years ago by Henry F. Waters, Esq., will be evident to all; but unless substantial contributions are received without delay, it will be necessary to suspend the work. Subscriptions may be sent to Charles S. Penhallow, Chairman, 803 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

The Chairman of the Committee will supply contributors to the English Research fund with blank forms for recording facts about immigrants in whose English ancestry they are interested. This information will be filed, and a copy will be forwarded to Miss French; but the Committee cannot guarantee that it will be practicable to follow up any particular clue.

PRESTON.—Wanted, the ancestry of Roger Preston, born in England 1614, came to America 1635, settled at Ipswich, Mass., 1639, married 1642 Martha ———, and had five sons and two daughters. At the time of his emigration he was living in the parish of St. Alphege, Cripplegate, London. Three men from Blackwell Hall certified to his conformity to the Church of England. Isaac Stedman, on the same list, was from Bid-denden, co. Kent. A search of the parish registers of St. Alphege dis-closed no Roger Preston there and but few Prestons.

Middletown, N. Y.

Memorial Biographies of deceased members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society. Vols. 1-9. Containing memoirs of members who died previous to 1890. This series of volumes is replete with historic and biographic lore, of constantly increasing value — great pains having been taken to make the memoirs complete and accurate. Only a small edition is printed. $2.50 per vol. or $10 for the 9 vols.

Waters's Genealogical Gleanings in England. These Gleanings abound in clues, which, if properly followed up, will enable the genealogist to pursue in the mother country investigations which without such aid would be practically impossible. 2 vols. $10.00

Genealogies of the Families and Descendants of the Early Settlers of Watertown, Massachusetts, including Waltham and Weston: to which is appended the early history of the town, with illustrations, maps and notes, by Henry Bond, M.D. Second Edition. With a memoir of the author, by Horatio Gates Jones, A.M. Two vols. in one. 1094 pages. Price $10.00

Abstracts of Wills in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury at Somerset House, London, England. Register Soame, 1620. The volume contains, in 607 pages, 1366 wills, comprising about 40,000 names of persons and over 10,000 names of places. $6.00

The Pioneers of Massachusetts. By Rev. Charles Henry Pope. An alphabetical compilation of genealogical data, gleaned from public and private records and other sources, both in England and New England, relating to the first settlers and founders of what is now the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, between the years 1620 and 1650, inclusive; with an introduction, tables, summaries, and cross-index. Boston, Mass. 1900. 4to. 550 pp. $15.00

VITAL RECORDS

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY is publishing, by a Fund set apart from the bequest of ROBERT HENRY EDDY to the Society, and known as The Eddy Town-Record Fund, the Vital Records (Births, Marriages and Deaths) of Towns in Massachusetts whose Records are not already printed, from their beginning to the year 1850, in books of 8vo size, in clear type, on good paper, and with cloth binding. The arrangement is alphabetical.

Subscription to these Records, if made in advance of publication, will be taken at the rate of one cent per page, which includes binding. Expressage extra.

Only a limited number of copies are being printed. The type is then distributed, and the extra copies held on sale at a considerable advance on the subscription price.
